circuits or a large financial interest in them. The proposals in hand were advanced by the British circuits, he said, although he declined to name those involved.

The Paramount official said that theatre business abroad is at its best level in years and that European circuits are anxious to make alliances that will assure them of a good supply of product. He reported that Paramount's foreign business has made rapid gains this year and that with the company's current releases maintaining and, in many instances, bettering the earlier marks, earnings of foreign subsidiaries this year should be the best for many years past.

stituted by Ascap earlier in Montana and Washington attacking the legality of similar state legislation in those states, but no decisions have been rendered yet in either instance.

The Florida and Tennessee actions will complete Ascap's defensive moves against state legislation designed to bar it from operating within state boundaries. Although anti-Ascap legislation was introduced in 26 states during the last legislative sessions it was enacted only in the five states in which litigation to determine its validity has been or will be instituted.

Circuits Believe Epidemic on Wane

although the schools were not reopened. Improvement in the situation was also reported in Chicago and throughout Ontario, where lifting of the ban on theatre attendance by children is expected daily.

Because of attendance declines following an outbreak of the disease in Omaha, three theatres closed.

Big Pictures to Be Used After Epidemic

OMAHA, Sept. 15.—Tri-States Theatre Corp. plans to bring back some of the big pictures which have been taking a beating at the box-office during the infantile paralysis epidemic as second features when the scare subsides.

Efforts to postpone playing dates of the pictures were futile. The Brandaes of the Singer circuit has had more success in getting postponements, however, "Lost Horizon" having been set back twice.

TIAJUANA, Sept. 15.—Mae Clarke, film player, and Stephen Bancroft, Pan American Airways pilot, were married here yesterday.

First Disney Feature Runs Over Million Dollar Mark

will be accomplished by the construction of sets in perspective, and the use of lights on each plane.

Roy revealed that his brother, Walt, had been toying with the idea of a feature for several years. It came to him first when he had developed the art of telling stories with Mickey Mouse and his other characters where he felt more could be done with them. Cutting the stories to get them into 900 feet became a problem and limited the field.

When duals spread to satisfy the bargain instincts of theatre patrons during the depression the price of shorts became regulated by the competition. Exhibitors had them classified as fillers, no matter how good they were and developed a tendency to lump them all into one category. About three years ago Walt put some men to work on the story for the forthcoming feature and it was developed pretty thoroughly before drawings were started. Since then from 200 to 600 men have been working on the animations. In expanding the organization to take care of this work trained animators have spent many nights teaching new men.

Disney says the organization is now built up to the point where he believes it possible to turn out one feature a year with the usual 18 shorts. Preliminary work is now being done on the second feature, "Bambi," but this may not actually be ready next year, because of the concentrated effort now being put on "Snow White."

Disney will be in town for two or three weeks.

Both Disney and S. Barret McCormick say they are not worried over the selling problem. Because of the unique nature of the film publications of every kind throughout the world are clamoring for information on it and the resulting publicity campaign probably will be outstanding. They think the public demand will precede the exhibitor demand as a result.

Arrangements are being made to have the dialogue done in English, Spanish, German, Scandinavian, Dutch, Portuguese and Italian. Other languages may follow. It will have a musical score throughout, and there will be individual songs.

done on the radio time and time again, is the major evil of film broadcasts to most exhibitors," he said.

Vincent pointed out that most of the $25,000 weekly which Metro will receive from the broadcasts "will go to the talent used," and added that "it is inconceivable that that company would jeopardize the earning power of its own pictures and theatres" for the balance of the fee.

The committee of which Vincent is chairman met with producers' representatives several times last spring in an effort to obtain complete revision of the type of broadcasts originating in Hollywood and employing film stars and material.

New Mexican Taxes To Go on Invoices

the Mexican Government hopes to collect from American concerns doing business in that country. Both taxes are payable in advance to the consuls at the shipping points, in the case of the film industry this being at Los Angeles.

The addition of the tax to the invoice value of the films shipped into Mexico is to be effective immediately, it was said.

Giroux Joins Technicolor

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—George R. Giroux, for the last four years a film salesman for RKO, has joined the staff of Technicolor as a field representative. His duties will be to establish closer contact between exhibitors and distributors on color film.

playing time is being accorded the company's current releases, he said, singling out full week bookings for "Hoosier Schoolboy" in numerous key spots.

The company will complete the first half of its production schedule on Dec. 1, at which time it plans to have finished 21 of its scheduled 42 productions for the new season. Three pictures, "Boy of the Streets," "Federal Bullets" and "The Marines Are Here," are scheduled to start at the Hollywood Studio in the next 10 days. Johnston said, with "County Fair" and a Tom Keene western set to follow within two weeks.

The company will set up its own distribution office in Paris for the Continent during the next few months and is completing a distribution set-up for South America at the home office. Pathe distributes for Monogram in Britain. The company has 30 domestic exchanges functioning.

'100 Men' Top In Two Spots On the Coast

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—"100 Men and a Girl," on a dual with "Reported Missing," started out in a big way in two spots here. At the Pantages it nearly doubled par on a take of $15,000, and at the Hillstreet the $10,200 gross was over normal by $2,200.

"Wife, Doctor and Nurse," with "Charlie Chan on Broadway," turned in $12,797, up by $297, at the Chinese and $16,095, over the line by $2,095, at Loew's State. None of the other first runs were impressive.

Total first run business was $103,594. Average is $112,700.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 15:

"Ecstasy" Ban Case To Be Heard Tuesday

A hearing will be held next Tuesday in Albany before the Appellate Division of the Third Department on Henry Pearlman's application for a writ of certiorari to review the censors' ban on "Ecstasy." Briefs have been filed by Pearlman in behalf of Eureka Prod., Inc.

Pearlman's brief contends the film is an artistic work, that it has been approved in other states, and that the admission of the film into the United States constituted Government approval which cannot be overridden by a state body.

Variety Club

Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15.—Barkers are extending condolences to ELMER SHARD, second assistant chief barker, whose mother passed away last week.

Reports from the bedside of JOE GOETZ, at Christ Hospital, are that his enforced rest due to a general run down condition, is beginning to show beneficial results.

LARRY LYONS has joined the tent's staff as assistant night steward.

Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.—M. B. Horwitz, chief barker of Variety Club, has set Sept. 25 as the date for the club's annual clambake. Unlike former bakes, this one will be held indoors, in the Allerton Hotel ballroom. FRANK BOYD is chairman of the committee in charge.

Activities of the "Queens-for-a-Day" will start with a luncheon for the ladies in the new club quarters of the Allerton on Sept. 21. MRS. LILLIAN DREW and MRS. PAULINE HORWITZ are in charge of this department of the entertainment program.

Chief Barker HORWITZ has inaugurated a policy of Saturday night entertainments during the winter season. The fun is to start at 11 P.M., and will include Keno, cards and what have you.

SIDNEY DANNENBERG, who heads the Warner publicity department in Cleveland, has been appointed in charge of all Variety Club publicity, as chairman of that committee.

Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15.—Special affairs this month will mark the birthdays of HARRY KALMINE, AL WEISS, TONY STERN, HARRY THOMAS, JACK MUNDSTUK, H. GOLDBERG and JIM ALEXANDER.

Four members had 100 per cent attendance marks for first 14 Monday Night dinners at the new William Penn headquarters. They were MIKE GALLAGHER, JOHN MALONEY, FRANK SMITH and JOE MISRACH.

The next initiation will be held Sept. 18, with the following scheduled to go through: WOZNACK, STERN, LEFTON, GOLDBERG, ROONEY, BASSET, KRAMER, HAMIL, DIMLING, THONSEN, POSNER, McSWIGAN, MOORE, THORPE, TOBIN, HILLER, COLLINS, ELMO and CASKEY.

Ladies' Day will be held every Tuesday afternoon during the fall and winter months.

HAROLD LUND is a regular visitor again now that Ross Federal has moved him out of the New York office and given him five cities to cover with Pittsburgh as his headquarters.

ART LEVY, who chairmanned the annual golf tournament, is getting a lot of pats on the back because there was a profit, $103, for the first time on record.

The annual banquet of Tent No. 1, which has come to be one of the outstanding showman events in the country, has been set this year for Nov. 14.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S
HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Love Is on the Air"

(Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—Another in the crop of film stories concerned with the radio, "Love Is on the Air" has in the first instance a misleading title, and on the whole cannot be counted as more than run-of-the-mill screen fare. There are no names to sell, and the film is probably not to be considered more than double bill material. There is a spattering of action, the introduction of gangsters and the inevitable effort to clean up the big city government, which serves to keep proceedings stepping at a fairly active pace.

Ronald Reagan is the ace news commentator, who is in trouble when he reveals too many truths about the city's big shots. June Travis has the kiddies' hour, and the two take care of the romance. Raymond Hatton and Robert Barret assist in the support. When the big sponsor, in league with the gang, clamps down on Reagan's broadcasting, the commentator, holding the station to his contract, is given the kiddies' hour. He succeeds in building it into a big thing, broadcasting with portable equipment at juvenile sporting events.

Accidentally he is led to the trail of the missing civic leader and reformer, and through fast action sequences involving a gun battle, police and all the rest, he brings about the cleanup of the gang, gets his old job back and Miss Travis in the bargain. Nick Grinde directed from a story by Roy Chanslor and screenplay by Morton Grant and George Bricker.

Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Saturday's Heroes"

(RKO)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—One of the first of the expected new crop of 1937 football college pictures, "Saturday's Heroes" emerges as very little above the routine. It will, of course, have the unquestioned advantage of timeliness, with the mind and eye of the American sporting public turning to the gridiron, but it may be that the general run of patrons will find a little bit too much of preachment in the film.

The writers, who include one author of the original story and no less than four authors of the screenplay, sank their collective teeth into the somewhat ancient bugaboo of the professionalism in allegedly amateur college football, plead the case of payment for college players, and shook the subject for all it is worth.

There are no names which the exhibitor can sell in the cast, and his best bet will be concentration on the football theme and the argumentative aspect of the story. Edward Killy directed from an original by George Templeton and a screenplay by Paul Yawitz, Charles Kaufman, Maxwell Shane and David Silverstein.

Van Heflin has the lead as the somewhat arrogant college football star, who is in love with Marian Marsh, the coach's daughter, who returns the sentiments. Heflin's friend, a sports writer, begins to hit at him when he becomes swell headed. Thrown out for ticket speculating, Heflin goes to a small rival school, enlists the aid of the president, and a sports writer, and proceeds to beat the old school, establish his name and lead the drive to end the racket in college football.

Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Overseas Previews

"The Diamond Trust"

(London Films-U.A.)

LONDON, Sept. 4.—This is a very slick adaptation of the Edgar Wallace novel and play. As a crime thriller, it is one of the most ingenious efforts of the late expert in that line and on the screen it gains immensely by the care which has been lavished on characterization. The leads are all good and the humorous relief provided by other characters balances admirably a plot which would be very far-fetched if played entirely straight. There is action plus, variety of setting, speed and a really tense finish. Released here as "The Squeaker," the film will be released in America as "The Diamond Trust."

Edmund Lowe plays Barrabal, a Scotland Yard detective who has been discharged for his fondness for drink, but who is given a chance

Short Subjects

"Shorty Cowboy"

(Paramount)

An amusing and entertaining short designed for children with Ward Wilson handling the narration in fine style. A chimpanzee is the star. He goes out west, lands in a desert town and soon learns that four bad men are wanted for holding up a bank. How he retrieves the stolen money and is instrumental in apprehending the bandits will keep the juveniles happily entertained. Grownups also will get a kick out of this one, too. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Glimpses of Peru"

(FitzPatrick-M-G-M)

In his usual finished style, James FitzPatrick here again delivers another exceptional travel film that combines personalities, superb Technicolor photography and an interesting narrative centering about a little known country. While the color throughout is fine, the closing scenes of dawn and sunset on Lake Titicaca are artistic triumphs, the kind that arouse spontaneous applause. Running time, 10 minutes. "G."

"Puppet Love"

(Vitaphone)

The cleverness of the art of puppetry is nowhere more clearly demonstrated than in this short, featuring in color Salici's Puppets. The figures are made to dance, play the piano and act, while a dance orchestra, in full equipment, goes to it. Fine for the youngsters and generally entertaining. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Community Sing 1-5"

(Columbia)

Gene Morgan and Donald Grayson endeavor to take the audience to the south in this number. The piece is set on a paddle-wheeled river boat and the tunes are strictly of the sub-Mason and Dixon line variety. It is pleasant stuff for the would-be singers. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Paramount Pictorial P 7-2"

(Paramount)

The great number and wide variety of horses, fine Nova Scotian seascapes and the recording of a tune by Duke Ellington for gramophone discs are offered in this short. The material is well handled and David Ross's narration with the seascapes is excellent. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Speaking of the Weather"

(Vitaphone)

This color cartoon is novel in idea, good in execution and generally amusing and entertaining. The characters on magazine covers, appropriate to the contents, come to life. The gangster robs the bank in Wall Street Magazine, the detective book cover comes alive and a chase ensues. A good cartoon. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Popular Science J 7-1"

(Carlisle-Douglas-Paramount)

Handsomely done in Cinecolor, this interesting subject again delivers exceptional screen fare. The items shown include angora rabbit breeding,

Radio-Music Negotiators Fail to Sign

Expressing satisfaction with the progress made to date in the A. F. of M. negotiations with the I.R.N.A. to bring about re-employment of musicians in the radio industry, Joseph Weber, president of the A. F. of M., nevertheless informed MOTION PICTURE DAILY that the union would, if necessary, appeal to Congress to remedy the situation if the present negotiations collapsed.

Yesterday's meeting between the International Council of the A. F. of M. and the committee representing the I.R.N.A. did not lead to the hoped for preliminary contract. The I.R.N.A. committeemen, however, were hopeful that definite results would be achieved at today's meeting, called for 10 A. M.

According to a request made by the I.R.N.A. committee, the A. F. of M. council set aside the Sept. 16 deadline. A new date, at which an agreement must be reached, was set for Oct. 1.

The unforeseen carry-over of I.R.N.A. negotiations cancelled the meeting set for today for the representatives of recording and transcription firms, scheduled to begin again at the offices of Ascap this morning. A new date for these meetings will be set tomorrow.

"You Don't Say" on WMCA

"You Don't Say," a new type of studio program, will make its debut on WMCA, Sept. 20, from 9 to 9:30 P.M. The audience will be asked to give the correct pronunciation and definition of words spelled by the announcer, and awards will be given to the winners in a series of elimination contests. The series will be heard Mondays through Fridays from 9 to 9:30 P.M., and on Saturdays from 9:30 to 10 P.M.

New Shows on the Air

"Kitchen Cavalcade"

The venerable Crosby Gaige returned his "Kitchen Cavalcade" to the networks yesterday after a summer-long hiatus. For the life of us, we cannot understand why the sponsor persists in presenting Gaige, a show producer who achieved more than a modicum of fame on Broadway, in a household melange like "Kitchen Cavalcade."

Gaige could do an interesting program based on theatrical reminiscences, backed by guest appearances of current and past show folk. Certainly a program such as we have just suggested would be more in keeping with Gaige's qualifications than a program on which he merely serves as a recipe giver.

The opening stanza offered a "Foodreel," giving interesting items of information about food; a recipe, containing of course the sponsor's food, and a silly skit showing how a father got out of an unpleasant assignment helping to shell peas by offering to aid his daughter study her home work. Needless to state, father quickly wished he had taken the pea-shelling assignment.

"Kitchen Cavalcade" is presented Monday through Friday from 10:45 to 11 A.M., on the NBC-Blue.

"Road of Life"

Irma Phillips' third network sponsored serial, "Road of Life," concerns itself with sketching the career of a self-educated young interne, one James Brent, who serves in the City Hospital in Chicago.

The theme, of course, is a natural one and should appeal to the listening audience the sponsor wants to reach—the mothers and housewives of America, who comprise practically the whole of the morning and late afternoon network listeners. "Road of Life" is presented twice daily, 11:15 to 11:30 A.M., on the NBC-Blue, and from 4:15 to 4:30 P.M. on the NBC-Red.

The script follows a familiar and well-trod story path which involves the impoverished mother who considers no sacrifice too great to advance her boy; the boy's childhood sweetheart jealous of the supervising night nurse at the hospital. The villain hasn't been fully developed as yet, but the horns and pitchfork are likely to be presented to a Dr. Parsons, chief surgeon at the hospital.

Procter & Gamble sponsors "Road of Life" in the interest of Chipso.

"Rise of the Goldbergs"

Molly, Jake, Rosalie and Sammy, all Goldbergs, are back on the air. For the 'steenth time. Like the babbling brook of the story book, "The Rise of the Goldbergs" threatens to run on endlessly. It towers, goliath-like, above all other script shows in radio.

Gertrude Berg, creator of the "Goldbergs," knows the people of her race. Into her mythical family of four central characters she has poured all the rich, lovable, philosophical qualities of all the diversified nationalities of the globe, but has endowed them with the idiom of her own people. However trite the expression may be, tuning in on the "Goldbergs" is like eavesdropping on a family you know personally.

Yesterday's episode opened with the family en route to the temple to celebrate Yom Kippur, Day of Atonement. Freshly returned from Hollywood, the Goldbergs renew many acquaintances along the street leading to the temple. All are happy save papa Goldberg, Jake, who is embittered because his old business partner, Mendel, was not at the depot to greet their arrival. Outside the temple doors, the Goldbergs encounter Mendel. For a moment it appears that Jake will hold the grudge, but when Mendel extends his hand and pronounces greetings for the New Year, Jake relents.

"The Rise of the Goldbergs" is offered daily at 12:15 P. M. over the NBC-Red. Procter & Gamble sponsors.

"The Voice of Experience"

M. Sayle Taylor's return to the air should make normal existence for his followers—and there are many—something to turn to with zest and a fresh outlook. His material, simple and lightly philosophical, is easily grasped by average minds and no doubt found uplifting.

In these initial broadcasts, he outlines the plan for future programs and invites participation by asking the audience to submit their various personal and domestic problems. A fine note is struck in the offer to mail copies of the various addresses to anyone interested.

In this program caught yesterday The Voice discoursed on the Nietzschean theory of "Living Dangerously." The advertising plug is tastefully

Three More Accounts Added to WHN's List

New WHN accounts include the following:

Beaumont Laboratories, program to be heard twice weekly starting Oct. 4, Mondays and Fridays from 7:15 to 7:30 P.M., and fed to WHN via the WLW Line. H. W. Kastor & Sons, Inc., is the agency. The contract is for 26 weeks.

Lamont Corliss & Co., starting Nov. 1, participation in the Ida Bailey Allen series for 26 weeks. J. Walter Thompson is the agency.

Barbarsol Co., a new series of Friday night programs from 7:45 to 8 P.M., starting Oct. 29. WHN will feed the program to WLW. Erwin, Wasey & Co. is handling the account. The contract is for 26 weeks.

Ascap Sues Station KVI

SEATTLE, Sept. 15.—A money-due judgment against KVI is being asked in Superior Court here by Ascap. Attorney Tracy E. Griffin, as authorized receiver for Ascap in this state, filed the complaint. It charges that KVI agreed in 1935 to pay the society $900 annual fees and five per cent of the net receipts for the privilege of broadcasting copyrighted musical numbers, and that none of this money has been paid. An accounting covering the last two years also is asked.

KOL May Join Mutual Net

SEATTLE, Sept. 15.—KOL, Columbia outlet, will probably join the Mutual network here about Sept. 26. Columbia's programs are scheduled to transfer from KOL to KIRO here on Jan. 1, but the change may occur this month in order to assure KOL a contract with Mutual.

minimized and consumes about a minute at either end of the broadcast.

"The Voice of Experience" which is sponsored by the Lydia E. Pinkham Co. is heard every day during the week except Saturday from 2 to 2:15 P.M. over WMCA.

"Children's Corner"

Pleasantly unimportant is the "Children's Corner" program which has resumed over CBS for a 15-minute shot beginning at 5:45 P.M. This is juvenile air show for which Dorothy Gordon won the 1937's Women's National Radio Award in that division last year. The youngsters, in good and indifferent voice, sang a variety of selections, including "Call to Arms," "Will You Remember?" from "Maytime," "Sailboat in the Moonlight," "Mine Alone" from "The Desert Song" and "Whispers in the Dark." The program is a sustainer and will be heard Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at the same period.

"Stop, Look, Listen"

"Stop, Look, Listen," is the title of the new transcribed series sponsored by Look Magazine and presented locally over WMCA. The program consists of recordings by well known orchestras and vocalists, interspersed by Look commercials. If one likes to listen to recordings via radio, the show presents moments of interest. The series is presented nightly from 11 to 11:30 P.M.

FCC Approves Permits for 3 New Stations

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Construction of three new broadcasting stations was authorized, one new station was given an operating license and several existing stations were granted changes in power or frequency at the weekly meeting of the broadcast division of the F.C.C.

Construction permits were granted Clarence A. Berger and Saul S. Freeman for a 1,200-kilocycle, 100-watt, daytime station at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; Twin City Broadcasting Corp., for a 780-kilocycle, 250-watt, daytime station at Longview, Wash., and Wyoming Broadcasting Co. for a 1,370 kilocycle station at Rock Springs, Wyo., using 100 watts power night, 250 watts day. The station granted an operating license was WSNJ, Eastern States Broadcasting Corp., Bridgeton, N. J., 1,210 kilocycles, 100 watts, daytime only.

Several Licenses Granted

Station applications approved included those of KID, Idaho Falls, Idaho, for increase of day power to 5,000 watts; WCBS, Springfield, Ill., increase of day power from 100 to 250 watts; KSFO, San Francisco, increase of day power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts; WSAU, Wausau, Wis., extension of time to operate at night with 100 watts power; KIEM, Eureka, Cal., increase of day power to 1,000 watts; WABY, Albany, increase of day power from 100 to 250 watts; WSMB, New Orleans, La., increase of day power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts; WBLK, Clarksburg, W. Va., extension of time to operate at night with 100 watts power; WBCM, Bay City, Mich., increase of day power from 500 to 1,000 watts; WIOD-WMBF, Miami, change of frequency from 1,300 to 610 kilocycles, and WEAN, Providence, increase of day power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts.

Applications Denied

The commission denied or dismissed applications for new stations filed by the Radiotel Corp., San Diego; United Broadcasting Co., Tulsa, Okla.; C. G. Hill, George D. Walker and Susan H. Walker, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Ward Optical Co., Fayetteville, Ark.; Peninsula Newspapers, Inc., Palo Alto, Cal.; Phillip Jackson, Brunswick, Ga.; Amarillo Broadcasting Co., Amarillo, Tex.; John D. Fields, Inc., Las Vegas, Nev.; Robert E. Clements, Huntington Park, Cal., and the Young People's Ass'n for the Propagation of the Gospel, Shark River Bay, N. J.

Applications of the Union-Tribune Broadcasting Co., San Diego, for a 1,480-kilocycle, 5,000-watt station, and N. B. Egeland, Roland Ia., for a 1,500-kilocycle, 100-watt, daytime station, were ordered set for hearings, as were applications of KAST, Astoria, Ore., for change of frequency from 1,370 kilocycles to 1,200 kilocycles, increase of day power from 100 to 250 watts and extension of time; WESG, Ithaca, for change of frequency from 1,040 to 850 kilocycles, and WMFR, High Point, N. C., for extension of time to operate at night with 100 watts power.

Hollywood Town Pump

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15. — Campbell Cereal Products has placed with KFI 39 15-minute transcriptions, "Rube Appleberry's Show," for Thursdays and Fridays to run to March.

Barney Smith, KFI-KECA publicity director, discovered this in a May, 1926 scrapbook: "G. Edward Elwell, with a three-tube set in his home in Bloomerg, Pa., 150 miles from the Atlantic Coast, holds the 1925 record for receiving KFI 68 consecutive nights. The only secret about his seemingly miraculous feat, according to Elwell, is that he knows how to operate and care for his equipment." Phil Baker will be a guest on the Paige-Butterworth-Ross program Sept. 21. Mutual has renewed its contract with Ray Perkins, comedian and master of ceremonies featured on the "Hi There, Audience!" show Sundays. John Nesbit and his "Passing Parade" went network beginning this week with a series of 52 Sunday comment programs on Mutual. Duart Company, manufacturers of Duart Cream of Milk, is the sponsor, and Howard Williams advertising office, the agency.

The J. Walter Thompson agency has placed with KECA a series of 65 fifteen minute transcriptions, "Land of the Whatsit," a children's program, for Safeway Stores, Inc. It started today. The Lux Theatre has booked Fredric March and Florence Eldridge for the 20th, but the vehicle has not been selected. "One Man's Family," broadcasting from Hollywood for the last month, will continue from here, instead of San Francisco, as originally planned. Sandy Roth has quit KMTR where he was announcer, program producer and publicity director to resume his medical studies. Dolores Ehlers resumes as publicity director and Bill Kelso, night supervisor, replaces Roth as sports announcer. Charley Davis has joined KMTR's sales staff.

Two Station Permits Are Sought from FCC

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Applications for two new stations have been filed with the F.C.C. by the Cumberland Broadcasting Co., Fayetteville, N. C., seeking a 1,340-kilocycle, 250-watt, daytime station, and the Spartanburg Herald-Journal Co., Spartanburg, S. C., proposing a 1,420-kilocycle station with 100 watts power night, 250 watts day.

The commission also has received applications from WRTD, Richmond, for an increase of power from 100 to 500 watts and change of frequency from 1,500 to 1,050 kilocycles, and WBAA, West Lafayette, Ind., seeking extension of time and increase of power from 500 watts to 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day.

To Protest KTBS Change

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Sept. 15.—St. Petersburg and Clearwater will unite in joint protest against a proposal that KTBS, Shreveport, La., be assigned a frequency of 620 kilocycles, the same as that used by the two Pinellas County stations.

A hearing will be held before the F. C. C. Sept. 27.

WKRC to Air Ohio Fair

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15.—WKRC, local Columbia-owned station, has installed lines in various buildings and on the midway at the Carthage County Fair, where Dick Bray, special events announcer, will interview celebrities attending the fair from Sept. 15 to 18.

The station also will have a booth on the grounds where photographs of local and CBS entertainers will be on display.

G. C. Willings to Retire

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 15.—George C. Willings will retire from all business and civic activities Oct. 1. Willings is vice-president and manager of the John H. Perry properties in Florida. He is the operating head of several newspapers and WCOA at Pensacola.

WNAD Planning for Educational Series

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 15.—A carefully planned educational program is the aim of officials of WNAD, Oklahoma University station, for the next year. Funds have been approved for the addition of a radio production man trained in the writing of scripts and preparation of radio programs, according to Homer Heck, program manager.

In addition to its educational program the station will have facilities next year for recording such programs as may be used in a proposed summer broadcasting series.

Governor Marland to Talk

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 15.—Gov. E. W. Marland will deliver a series of radio talks, beginning Oct. 1, over the eight-station Oklahoma network from 12 to 12:15 P.M. every Monday.

Although he is considered a likely candidate in the U. S. Senate race, Marland said he would "not discuss politics."

The broadcast will emanate from the state capitol. The network includes KTOK here, and stations at Shawnee, Enid, Ardmore, Muskogee, Ada, Elk City and Ponca City.

KGGF Joins Mutual System

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15.—KGGF, Coffeyville, Kan., day and night station, has joined Mutual, making the 59th Mutual station. The nearest other Mutual station is WHB, Kansas City. Hugh J. Powell and Stanley Platz own and operate KGGF, along with the Coffeyville Daily Journal. W. B. Darrah is commercial manager.

WCCO to Have New Studios

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 15.—WCCO, Columbia outlet, will move into new studios and offices in the Elks' Bldg., Feb. 1, according to E. H. Gammons, manager. The station will have 13,000 square feet of space on the second and third floors, about 50 per cent more than is available at present in the Nicollet Hotel.

Radio Personals

LOUIS K. SIDNEY will arrive from London aboard the Queen Mary, Monday. . . . Walter Moore of NBC's press department, has resigned. . . . Billy Swanson's orchestra will inaugurate a twice weekly program of dance music over Mutual this Saturday. . . . Joe De Maggio will be featured as a guest on Mary Small's "Junior Revue" Wednesday. . . . Senator Fishface has been booked for a vaudeville appearance at the Majestic, Paterson. . . .

Rockwell-O'Keefe has signed Billy Swanson and his orchestra to a management contract. . . . Jessica Drag-onette will present "Dearest Enemy" on the "Beauty Box Theatre" over CBS Sept. 22. . . . Phil Baker will make a guest appearance on the Packard program Sept. 21. . . . Maurice Evans was the highlight guest on the Vallee show last night. . . . Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge will be heard in the second Lux "Radio Theatre" presentation over CBS next Monday. . . .

CBS Program Changes, Renewal

Los Angeles Soap has renewed its CBS program for 13 weeks beginning Oct. 17. Chevrolet Motors has added four stations on the same network for the Sunday 6:30 to 7 P.M. period effective Sept. 26. Vicks Chemical has cancelled its program over one station in the hookup.

"Fortune Stories" to Start

"Fortune Stories," a new series of dramatic productions, will be heard every Friday from 10:30 to 11 P.M., starting Sept. 24, over the NBC-Blue. Edith Meiser will write the adaptations from the H. C. Bailey stories, creator of the fictional detective, Reginald Fortune.

Boxing Bouts on NBC

NBC will broadcast descriptions of the "Carnival of Champions" boxing bouts from the Polo Grounds, Sept. 23. The descriptions will be offered over the Blue, beginning at 8 P.M.

Dorseys Have Reunion

Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey had a radio reunion last night over Martin Block's "Make Believe Ballroom" program on WNEW.

"100 Men" Is Top in Phila. Holiday Week

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—With the most terrific Labor Day business since the pre-depression era, Philadelphia business hit high spots last Sunday and Monday.

Every house in town shared, the weaker attractions getting runover business from the hits, which played to long lines both days. Outstanding was "100 Men and a Girl," not only cashing in on rave reviews, but on the presence of Leopold Stokowski, local idol, in the cast. It grabbed $22,500, over par by $8,500 at the Fox and earned a second week.

Another smash was scored by the Earle with $21,000 for "Wild and Woolly" and its variety bill, up $7,000. "Thin Ice" took $17,000 at the Boyd and was held. The second week of "Stella Dallas" put $13,500 in the Aldine till and guaranteed a third week. "Varsity Show" made a good nine-day run at the Stanley with $19,000.

Total first run business was $110,500; the average is $85,960.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 9:

"STELLA DALLAS" (U.A.)

ALDINE—(1,300), 40c-55c-65c, 7 days, 2nd week. Gross: $13,500. (Average, $8,160)

"PLATINUM BLONDE" (Col.)

ARCADIA—(600), 25c-40c-50c, 7 days (also Louis-Farr fight films). Gross: $3,000. (Average, $2,800)

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)

BOYD—(2,400), 40c-55c-65c, 7 days. Gross: $17,000. (Average, $14,000)

"WILD AND WOOLLY" (20th-Fox)

EARLE—(2,000), 25c-40c-55c, 7 days. Stage: Hal LaRoy, Marjorie Gainsworth, Clyde McCoy Band, Sheila Barrett. Gross: $21,000. (Average, $14,000)

"100 MEN AND A GIRL" (Univ.)

FOX—(3,000), 40c-55c-65c, 7 days. Gross: $22,500. (Average, $14,000)

"VOGUES OF 1938" (U.A.)

KARLTON—(1,000), 25c-40c-50c, 7 days, 2nd run. Gross: $3,800. (Average, $4,000)

"SOULS AT SEA" (Para.)

KEITH'S—(2,000), 30c-40c-50c, 7 days, 2nd run. Gross: $3,700. (Average, $4,000)

"VARSITY SHOW" (W.B.)

STANLEY—(3,700), 40c-55c-65c, 9 days. Gross: $19,000. (Average, 7 days, $14,000)

"THEY WON'T FORGET" (W.B.)

STANTON—(1,700), 30c-40c-50c, 7 days. Gross: $7,000. (Average, $7,000)

Takes Virginia Houses

RICHMOND, Sept. 15.—Operation of the Byrd and Brookland here and the Bluebird and Rex, Petersburg, will be taken over by Neighborhood Theatres, Inc., Sunday, President Morton G. Thalhimer said here.

At the same time Thalhimer announced that Charles A. Somma had been elected a vice-president of Neighborhood Theatres.

Somma said his Hippodrome and Globe had been leased to the Lichtman Circuit of Washington.

Remodel Frisco Houses

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—More than $90,000 is being spent in remodeling the United Artists and Embassy, only independently-owned first class houses in the downtown area. The United Artists is closed for about 10 days, with "Stella Dallas" booked for the opening. A new departure will result in the picture being shown simultaneously at both houses.

to rehabilitate himself, if he can identify "the Squeaker," king of the London underworld, who inspires all the big jewel robberies but remains unknown, although he has a habit of denouncing his instruments to the police. Barrabal runs down the mysterious king of crime with the aid of a reporter and of a faked crook record of his own manufactured by Scotland Yard. He also captures the crook's fiancée for himself.

Detail is very ingenious and the mystery of "The Squeaker's" identity is well kept. There is a very strong last scene in which Lowe forces a confession from the thug by confronting him with the body of his last victim, after breaking down his nerve by a long stay in Scotland Yard during which, among other things, he is forced to watch a procession of the men he has sent to jail.

Lowe is admirable as the detective, with a whimsical touch which takes all the unreality out of the melodrama. Ann Todd plays up well to him as the girl in the case and Sebastian Shaw is just the suave sort of villain the story demands. Tamara Desni, Robert Newton, Stewart Rome and Alastair Sim all play well. William K. Howard has directed it with an obvious eye to American requirements.

Good entertainment, perhaps because the director has his tongue in his cheek, and good box-office wherever they like Lowe.

Running time, 77 minutes. "G"

Improve Warner Spots

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Warners are reopening and refurbishing a number of houses in this territory with the beginning of the fall season. The Strand in Newburyport is being refurbished and will reopen as a continuous run house, relegating the Premier there to a part-time operating policy. The Circle, South Manchester, and Capitol, New Britain, are also slated for reopening along with several others of the circuit.

In Cooperative Drive

SPOKANE, Sept. 15.—For the first time in two years, Spokane theatres cooperated to put on a Greater Movie Season campaign, including billboards, street banners, publicity tieups, newspaper and radio advertising.

Washington Prices Shift

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—All first runs here have changed their price scales. All stage-screen and all-screen "A" houses open at 35 cents, while "B" all-screen houses open at 40 cents until 5:30 P.M., shifting, respectively, to 66 cents, 55 cents, and 40 cents. The children's price remains at 25 cents at all times, except at Loew's Palace, where 35 cents is the minimum price.

Raise Waterbury Scales

WATERBURY, Conn., Sept. 15.—Five-cent admission raises have been made at the Carroll and Hamilton, operated by Jerry Mascoli and Fred Van Doren, respectively. The Carroll has adopted a 20-cent top and 25 cents on premium nights, while the Hamilton has gone to 25 cents regularly.

Irish Imports Value Off

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The value of 700,000 feet of film imported into the Irish Free State during July was £3,379. Last year's figures were 663,471 feet valued at £3,669. For the period of January to July, the imported footage was 4,808,786, value £26,875 against 4,906,923 feet, value £30,044 in the same months last year.

Guild Closed Shop Starts Here Monday

Eastern Office Notifies All N. Y. Producers

The "closed shop" governing talent employed in eastern studios will become effective on Monday, the eastern office of the Screen Actors' Guild stated yesterday.

The guild declared that notice to that effect went out to all producers in this area during the day and that it would have a checker on all sets of the signatory studios on Monday to see that all actors are guild members and to receive membership applications if any are not. For the present, however, the guild will honor actors' cards establishing paid up membership in any branch of the Associated Actors & Artistes of America until an agreement on the interchangeability of membership in these organizations has been worked out.

The guild's statement asserts that

See IA Coast Fight Holding Up AFL Entertainment Drive

Further action on the proposed working affiliation of all A. The Screen Actors' Guild, one of the chartered affiliates of the Four A's, is included in the jurisdictional claims of the I. A.

Begin Talks to End Fleischer Dispute

Negotiations for settlement of the Fleischer Studio strike are under way between representatives of the studio and the Commercial Artists & Designers Union, Arthur Krim of Philips & Nizer, Fleischer attorneys, said yesterday. There has been no development yet to suggest an early agreement, however, it was stated.

In addition to the studio and employees' representatives, Lou Diamond, short subject manager for Paramount, which distributes the Fleischer cartoons, is sitting in on the peace conference.

Shanghai Houses Reopening, Confidence Seen Returning

A brief, definitive resume of conditions, especially as they affect theatres, in Shanghai and other main Chinese cities, is contained in the following cable, sent by J. P. Koehler, representative of Quigley Publications in Shanghai, and transmitted through the facilities of the United Press. Received yesterday, the cable reads:

The Shanghai situation was eased considerably by the retreat of Chinese forces and the presence of more foreign troops, restoring confidence.

Cinemas are reopening with encouraging receipts. Nanking's censors are expected to resume operations in Shanghai within a few days. All public utilities are in full operation except in Hongkew and the eastern districts of the International Settlement. Comparatively small damage was done to theatres except two subsequent run houses.

Call Conference on Music Industry Code

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—A trade practice conference on the proposed music publishers' voluntary code was today called by the Federal Trade Commission, to be held in Washington, Oct. 4.

At the conference, which will be held behind closed doors, all members of the industry will be invited to air their views as to the desirability of the rules proposed by the Music Publishers' Ass'n for the elimination of unfair methods of competition and other unfair trade practices which may exist, including song plugging.

Following the conference, the commission will whip into shape such recommendations as are given the approval of the meeting and publish them for consideration of the industry as a whole, later calling another conference for final discussion, after which a decision will be made as to whether the code shall be given official approval.

Three Guilds Defy IATSE; Fight Grows

Intend to Determine Own Policies, They Say

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—The boards of directors of the Screen Actors' Guild, the Screen Directors' Guild and Screen Writers' Guild today took a definite stand in the I. A. situation. In a statement they declared the guilds "will continue to determine their own policies and guide their actions accordingly" in the face of the I.A.T.S.E. claim of jurisdiction over all film workers.

Calling attention to the statements that William Bioff, coast I. A. head, claimed the entire industry for his organization, the boards, in a joint statement said, "Lest any misapprehension result from these reported statements, officers of the guilds wish to state that Bioff is not authorized to speak for the membership of the guilds.

"These three guilds include in their membership more than 95 per cent of the active workers in their various fields. They are organizations designated by the workers as exclusive bargaining agencies in their respective fields to coordinate their activities and assist and protect their mutual interests. Whether or not Bioff has been quoted correctly we are not informed. We trust that he has not been, for there is no substantial body of directors, assistant directors, unit managers, writers or actors

Local 306 Agrees on 10% Wage Increases

After weeks of negotiation, major circuit heads and Local 306 have reached a tentative agreement whereby projectionists receive a 10 per cent increase, retroactive to Sept. 1.

Further discussions will be held on the scale which is to prevail for operators for the next two years. Indications are that a final agreement will be reached, making arbitration unnecessary. This is provided for in the 10-year master contract in the event both sides cannot get together.

Under the tentative pact, operators who have been getting $1.86 an hour will now receive $2.04. Originally Local 306 asked for increases ranging to 48 per cent.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

HOLLYWOOD will have to make up its mind that here is a case of cap doffing to London for once, at least. That once is "Victoria, the Great." Produced in England by Herbert Wilcox, this easily is not only far and away his top film, but also ranks among the first half dozen British "bests" ever to be turned out. If you were to press the point even slightly, we might unbend sufficiently to list it closer to the top. . . .

Wilcox, on behalf of his Imparator Productions, undertook a difficult job. The Victoria era saw a different world well on its way into the pages of the history books. The queen reigned long, lived through times of peace and war and witnessed the birth of the British Empire as encompassed in the control of India. Any effort to make a film based on her private and official life, of necessity, could not be an easy task. Where to delete and where to add, what incidents in the pageantry of the life at Buckingham, Windsor and Balmoral would translate themselves into terms of visual drama, not mere spectacle, and what not? Wilcox was not to be envied on that score. . . .

Of course, he had the strong love tie between Victoria and Prince Albert, her consort, to rely upon for his personalized interest. For his color and his pomp, the facts in history were more than sufficient. It is to his vast credit, consequently, to point out that, by and large, if not always, his mixing of the two came forth in an adroit and arresting fashion. If there are times when matters of state got in the way of matters of heart and hearth to the halting of the latter, probably the explanation is to be found in the natural difficulties which piled up in the path of the vehicle and its producer. . . .

"Victoria, the Great" has been fabricated on a large and lavish scale. Interposed in its black and white are two sequences in Technicolor. All through it and as an agreeable and complete surprise to this reviewer was the performance of Anna Neagle as the queen. You see, we have seen other Neagle pictures. We thought she was pretty bad in "Nell Gwynne," another and earlier Wilcox product. But here and by whatever method, she appears to have grasped a full and deep understanding of the emotional and dignified content in the part and her performance reflects that understanding. Anton Walbrook, as the prince, impressed us far less and left a sort of sneaking suspicion the producer might have happened upon a figure more romantic in the accepted mould. The secondary roles are played by a long and extremely competent cast which embraces H. B. Warner, Mary Morris and an array of English actors not known here. . . .

Usually, if not always, aware of the deep pit awaiting the forecaster of box-office material, this department is ready to admit that it envisions for this worthwhile British cousin a principal draw in the larger cities. Exactly how much interest an episodic commentary on the incidents in the life of the famous British sovereign will hold for the average audience in this country is a dubious matter. It will mean nothing, naturally, to the American exhibitor to read now that in England and throughout the Empire, this "Victoria, the Great" ought to make them break out with the national anthem. From the British angle, straight and unadulterated, the attraction ought to send them into the aisles. That is, if the Britisher falls in that direction when he is deeply stirred and entertained. No finer job of flag-waving for Mr. J. Bull has come across the path of these optics. . . .

"Victoria" Opens in London

London, Sept. 16.—"Victoria, the Great" had its world premiere at the Leicester Square Theatre tonight. Newspaper critics were impressed by the film, starring Anna Neagle. RKO will distribute throughout the world.

approximately $39,000 and for the second stanza took about $24,000. The Roxy will finish the second week of "Thin Ice" at about $40,000.

"Varsity Show," at the Strand in its second week, did approximately $15,000. The fifth week of "Souls at Sea" at two-a-day prices at the Globe ended with about $7,000. The second week of "Double or Nothing" was good for $40,000 at the Paramount.

"Borneo" and the Louis-Farr fight pictures boosted the Rialto take to $8,500. The first week of "Bulldog Drummond Comes Back" at the Criterion ended with about $11,000. The second week is expected to finish at $7,000.

Music Hall Bookings Set for Near Future

Bookings at the Music Hall are set for the next few weeks. "Lost Horizon" follows "The Prisoner of Zenda" with a tentative starting date of Sept. 23. "Stage Door" is next, and will be succeeded by "Victoria, the Great" and "The Awful Truth." Following the latter film, which is a Columbia release starring Irene Dunne, "Nothing Sacred," another from Selznick International, probably will go in.

Court Orders Film Cuts

DENVER, Sept. 16.—Following a protest from members of the vice squad concerning "Smashing the Vice Squad," Municipal Judge Philip Gilliam ordered several scenes cut from the film. He also said that if Denver managers display any more sex pictures that they will place themselves in danger of having their licenses revoked.

Revokes Theatre Permit

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—A daughter was born yesterday to Gary and Mrs. Cooper, who was the former Sandra Shaw of New York before her marriage.

Something New

Something new in department store advertising appeared in The Sun yesterday when Stern Brothers ran the following copy, which almost took up a full page:

"We predict the new movie, featuring Deanna Durbin, in '100 Men and a Girl,' opening at the Roxy, will be one of the outstanding hits of the year."

The ad further stated that "movies are NOT our line," but tied in the fact that the store was first to introduce Deanna Durbin fashions for girls.

The Newsreel Parade

Movietone News

Vol. 20, No. 2

(20th Century-Fox)

A fair assortment of clips made effectively attention-holding by virtue of clever cutting, good photography and a number of sound inserts wherein the narrator pops questions at various figures. The material is smartly paced.

There are shots of President Roosevelt calling his cabinet to confer on the Chinese problem, visitors to Robert Louis Stevenson's grave in Samoa, well-filmed scenes of acrobatics in Sydney, Australia; and the recent beauty contest winner, who gives her viewpoint of the near-walkout. In Hollywood, Clara Bow opens her "It" cafe, with a lame Swedish gag. There are film notables gathered there, too. Lew Lehr's Newsette spot has an Irish setter and her litter for the butt of his dialect. Ed Thorgersen comments on a collection of scenes of football activities, which range from Pittsburgh to Los Angeles.

A sequence of new developments in the Shanghai fighting was still in the developing tanks at the time of the screening yesterday. However, it went out last night under separate shipment. The running time of the complete reel will be approximately 10½ minutes. As previewed, it ran for eight.

News of the Day

Vol. 9, No. 200

(M-G-M)

President Roosevelt relating an anecdote on himself while attending graduation services of nurses at Hudson River Hospital highlights the latest issue of this company's newsreel. Several intimate scenes of Betty Cooper, who refused to accept the title of Miss America, at her home at Hackettstown, N. J., are diverting. "Lucky" Teeter, who performs some hair-raising stunts in an automobile at Brockton, Mass., is sensational.

Other scenes include advance material on the American Legion in New York with numerous reminders of the Armistice Day parade, firemen trying to control the chemical fire at Weehawken, N. J., the Trojan pigskin team in practice on the coast and the Narragansett special on a muddy track at Pawtucket, R. I., with Calumet Dick, five to one shot, tearing down the home stretch first.

About 200 feet of Sino-Japanese shots are to be included in this issue. The reel runs 8 minutes as it stands.

Paramount News

No. 13

(Paramount)

Shots of the drug factory explosion and fire at Weehawken, N. J., on Wednesday vie with pictorial treatment of the Ku Klux Klan charges against Associate Justice Black for spot news interest in the current Paramount newsreel release. There is little of a distinctive nature in either clip.

Smiles are injected into the Chicago public schools efforts to assign homework by radio to children kept from classes by the infantile paralysis epidemic and also into the opening of Clara Bow's "It" Cafe in Hollywood. Opening of the county fair season and alligator hunting in Louisiana swamps get the attention of the feature camera while the sports contributions are restricted to shots of the Argentinian and American polo teams at Westbury, L. I., and the softball championship games in Chicago. Observance of the 150th anniversary of the Constitution at the Statue of Liberty and by the issuance of a commemorative postage stamp complete a lack lustre reel which bears out editors' complaints of a scarcity of newsworthy happenings throughout the country.

Running time, 10 mins.

Pathe News

Vol. 9, No. 17

(RKO)

Pathe has what it describes as an exclusive called "American Nazis Exposed." It ought to stir up some excitement among the Nazi and anti-Nazi supporters. A Chicago reporter describes what he found in a country-wide study of Nazi activities. He stands before a background of Nazi publications and gives his talk. Scenes of girls and boys marching and saluting the swastika are shown.

A winter hair fashion clip shows a mass of curls and new kinds of ornaments. That ought to interest women. Scenes of the cabinet gathering at the White House and another of Justice Black are not particularly interesting. Views of salmon trying to leap the Bonneville dam are not novel.

Interest quickens with the showing of the Weehawken chemical fire photographed from the air and the ground and a steeplechase at Fair Hill, Md. Clem McCarthy can put a lot into a sporting event comment. Shots of the Coast Guard training ship off New London are beautifully photographed.

Pathe's commentators are improving. The reel sums up with four out of six as interesting subjects.

Running time, 8 mins.

Universal Newsreel

Vol. 9, No. 598

(Universal)

This number of the Universal reel is just another newsreel, featured by an excellent clip, which incidentally meant some fast work, of the Weehawken, N. J., chemical plant fire; a rough and tumble wrestling bout in San Antonio between two members of the allegedly weaker sex, and an extremely interesting shot of the manner in which construction work on the huge Bonneville Dam in Oregon was halted by a record run of salmon.

For the rest the reel is made up of rather routine clips of California's parade commemorating its admission as a state; U. S. troops off for the Orient; a box contraption for bottle-feeding 12 pups, which is good for a laugh; scrap metal bound out of New York, presumably for Japan; Cuba's revolutionary celebration; a calisthenics drill by the Rockettes, and the fast win, through the mud, of Calumet Dick in the Narragansett Handicap.

Running time, 8 mins.

RCA to Build Plant

HARRISON, N. J., Sept. 16.—A new RCA Radiotron factory is to be constructed here for the manufacture and storage of television tubes.

Cameras Sealed on Clippers to China

The fact that the U. S. Navy Dep't is actively engaged in building fortifications in the Hawaiian Islands, and also at Wake Island, Guam, and the Philippines, and is especially anxious that pictures of the progress of the construction, and its details, not be broadcast, came suddenly to light yesterday, via Universal Newsreel.

Charles Ford, editor of the reel, had dispatched cameraman Norman Alley to Shanghai, via San Francisco and Pan-American's China Clipper. Yesterday he received a fast wire from the coast indicating that the Navy had ordered all cameras sealed on the ship, and the wires burned to Washington to find out why. The answer was not long in coming—the fortifications and no pictures. It developed that shots may be taken inside the plane and the like, but the cameras must be sealed so that film cannot be dropped over the side or otherwise disposed of, and what is taken must be submitted to the Navy Dep't at Washington, where a rigorous scrutiny and clipping will be the order. What is left will go to the newsreels—for what it may be worth.

Not Honoring Film Passes in Shanghai

Harrison Forman, cameraman for the "March of Time," has reported to his home office by cable that both Chinese and Japanese military authorities at Shanghai had refused to honor photographic permits previously issued by the Nanking Government and the commander-in-chief of the Japanese fleet in Chinese waters.

Forman reported in his cable to Louis de Rochemont, producer, "We had a close shave in an automobile race with a Japanese plane that bombed and machine-gunned us . . . lucky escapes from Chinese and Japanese shells."

"War in China," in the current issue of "March of Time," has been chosen by the Museum of Modern Art Film Library for permanent preservation in its collection of documentary films.

K-A-O Votes Dividend

The K-A-O board of directors at its meeting yesterday declared a dividend out of capital surplus of $1.75 per share on the seven per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock for the quarter ended March 31, 1934, payable on Oct. 1, 1937, to holders of record at the close of business on Sept. 27.

Takes Warner Lineup

The Loew "minor" circuit, with 30 houses in the Metropolitan district, will play the entire Warner 1937-'38 lineup of features and shorts.

The Lion Roars

M-G-M's Lion went roaring yesterday, the home office bashfully reporting Paul O. Klinger, manager of the Rialto, Lewiston, Pa., advised them that "Broadway Melody of 1938" played to more than half the population of the town during a five-day run, and that it broke the house record of 15 years.

LITHO U.S.A.

it has received notice from the American Federation of Actors, the American Guild of Musical Artists, the American Federation of Radio Artists and the Hebrew Actors Ass'n, that their members will observe the guild's "unfair" producer list. Similar contracts have been made with Actors Equity Ass'n and British Equity. At present, there are 38 studios or producers on the guild's "fair" list, of which eight are operating here. Educational Pictures and The March of Time are not included in the "fair" list, but the guild's statement asserted that additions to the list are expected today.

Repeating a denial that the guild anticipated a strike call here, Mrs. Florence Marston, head of the organization's eastern office, said that "it is the attitude of the guild that any questions or problems which may arise between actors and producers can be amicably adjusted between the parties to their mutual advantage. The guild plans to move ahead conservatively and does not anticipate any necessity for drastic action."

Child Age Limit Lifted

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Health officials today lifted restrictions for admitting children to theatres by allowing juveniles 12 and over to attend. The former age limit was 16. High schools opened today for the first time this season. Children in grade schools continue to get lessons over the radio.

Meet on Union Scale

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Theatre heads and union representatives will meet tomorrow to negotiate a new contract. There is a possibility of the union men getting slight increases.

lieved likely that he will confer while there on the I. A. jurisdictional claims although it was denied that that was his object in making the trip.

The I. A.'s claims are not regarded seriously in New York theatrical union quarters, due largely to the fact that they have not been supported by any statement from George Browne, I. A. head. They are interpreted here as an outgrowth of the Screen Actors' Guild's suspension of Jane Tallent for makeup work during the coast strike. The I. A. protested the suspension, as Mrs. Tallent held an I. A. makeup workers' card, but was rebuffed by the Guild. Thus Bioff's current jurisdictional claims are regarded here as being more of a retaliatory gesture than anything else.

However, it is admitted by eastern theatrical union spokesmen that until some face-saving device is fashioned for both the I. A. and the Screen Actors' Guild to cover the incident there is little hope of disposing of the Hollywood jurisdictional claims of the I. A., and until that has been done there is no prospect of effecting the proposed working agreement among the entertainment unions. The I. A. and the four A's, with the American Federation of Musicians, would comprise the backbone of such a union affiliation. While a jurisdictional dispute between any two of them of the kind raised by Bioff remains unsettled, the consummation of a working agreement would be impossible, it is said.

Cantor Anniversary Will Be Celebrated

Eddie Cantor Anniversary Week, in recognition of his 25 years in show business, will be observed nationally Oct. 24 to 30. The executive committee planning the celebration includes Joseph M. Schenck, James A. Farley, Will H. Hays, Gov. Frank Merriam of California, Paul Muni and Louis B. Mayer.

An honorary committee of 100, including leaders in all fields, will sponsor the anniversary week. The celebration will be climaxed by a testimonial dinner at the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, Oct. 24, to be broadcast over networks.

favor of his post as head of the Associated Actors and Artistes of America, will be submitted to Equity members at their quarterly meeting at the Astor today.

The meeting will also hear appeals by four or five of the approximately 50 Equity members who were found guilty by the council of violating orders to continue work on struck W. P. A. theatre projects during the summer. Those convicted received fines of $50 with sentence suspended. The membership may either decide the appeals at today's meeting or designate committees to hear and act on them.

Ampa, Rolan at Helm, Off To Good Fall Season Start

By BILL ORNSTEIN

Ampa's new administration, with Ralph Rolan at the helm, got off to a fine start yesterday at Sardi's when the first weekly meeting of the season was held. More than 100 turned out for the occasion. Among the personalities present were: Stuart V. Doyle, former head of Greater Union Theatres, Ltd., of Australia; Sam Harris, editor of Today's Cinema, British film trade paper; George Elcock, partner in the Odeon Circuit of more than 250 English theatres in which United Artists has a 50 per cent interest; Nino Martini, who recently completed "Music for Madame" for RKO, and Hal Horne, who substituted for Walter Wanger. Doyle was in a gay frame of mind. He recalled "with mixed feeling that in the last five years" that the "ace" American advertising and publicity men have cost him $5,000,000 with their "artistic dreams."

"As your guest here today," he added, "I feel I am getting a little back." He went on to say that in Australia there is an organization similar to Ampa. He said it was the 47 Club and that he had attended several meetings.

Harris took a short bow. When Elcock was asked for his observations of the British industry, he said the press knew more about it than he did. However, he added that Odeon is building a new 2,500-seat theatre on the site of the old Alhambra, which is due to open in Leicester Square soon.

"One of the features of the theatre," he declared, "will be television. This will be an added attraction to the public. Odeon has been experimenting with television for some time and I don't believe it will detract from the screen entertainment for some time."

Martini was next. He took a bow.

Horne then took the floor, amid jeers and hisses. They were his cue to talk, and while he didn't say much he kept the audience in a happy frame. It was like old times for Hal, when he was president.

Agnes Melcoll and Walter Costen, winners of the Daily News Harvest Moon dancing contest, also were present. They will leave today for the RKO studios via American Airlines.

Michael Bezzeg, concert violinist, played two numbers. Sigmund Michota accompanied him on the piano.

After the entertainment was over none of the members wanted to leave. In fact, Rolan had to remind them that the meeting was adjourned. And then it took some time before the adieus were said and the room cleared.

for whom he could be said to be spokesman. For all these employees the guilds have been formed and will continue to act. They will continue to determine their own policies and guide their actions accordingly."

Bioff told MOTION PICTURE DAILY he had no comment to make on the guilds' statement. He said the I. A. had already enrolled 2,000 members among the minor workers since the announcement of the jurisdictional claim on Saturday. He also said that Schenck had called him last night from New York reiterating the earlier request of Victor Clarke and Edward J. Mannix to put off the organization of the creative talent ranks until Schenck's arrival here. He said Schenck told him he expects to be here early next week.

Bioff deplored the ineffectual craft organization as constituted at present outside of the I. A., saying that many groups have failed to obtain either agreements or satisfactory conditions with producers and after many efforts. The I.A.T.S.E., after observing their feeble efforts, he said, was now living up to its charter in claiming every craft and department in the production of films.

Asked concerning the claim over firemen and policemen and other groups that have no possible connection with production, Bioff said, "If these groups can organize outside the I.A.T.S.E. and obtain conditions satisfactory to them we don't want them. But if they can't, we shall help them by organizing them to obtain better wages, hours and conditions. The I. A. has a record of obtaining the highest wages in history for its members."

orderly and the health department has the cholera situation in hand. Cable service has been restored.

Emphatically there should be no thought of abandonment of business or wholesale discharge of experienced staffs.

The streets, except for protection from occasional stray "archies," are assuming their normal busy appearance. Local managers report present business small but not lost entirely. Hope for near future improvement. Although the situation is serious there is no cause for undue alarm at present. All well.

Erpi Sales Increase

Erpi yesterday reported 51 contracts signed for the installation of new Mirophonic equipment during the past three weeks. Equipment sales for the fall season are far ahead of the summer season, the company reports.

William Murphy Shifted

William P. Murphy, veteran Erpi sales representative in the lower New England territory, has been assigned to the New York Metropolitan area.

$2,523,813 Net for CBS In 6 Months

CBS yesterday reported a net income of $2,523,813 for the 26 weeks to July 3, comparing with a net of $2,086,850 for the similar period last year. This confirms the approximation made in MOTION PICTURE DAILY last week.

The earnings are equivalent to $1.48 per share, an increase of 26 cents per share over the comparable period in 1936. Gross income from sales for the period reported ran to $17,640,184 as against $13,163,457 for the first 26 weeks of last year. Gross profit was $3,001,899 after provision of depreciation amounting to $203,860 in 1936 and $248,452 in 1937. Additional miscellaneous net income of $52,711 swelled the gross net to $3,054,610. Estimated provision for Federal taxes of $530,797 results in the net of $2,523,813.

The earnings of $1.48 per share are calculated on the 1,707,950 shares of $2.50 par value stock presently outstanding or to be outstanding upon completion of an exchange of old stock at $5 par value.

Seven Contracts Are Set by Station WCKY

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Contracts for seven spot announcement campaigns, and for two transcribed quarter-hour programs have been placed at WCKY, L. B. Wilson's station.

Vick Chemical Co., through Morse International, 52 spot announcements; Red Top Brewing Co., through the Jesse Joseph agency, 52 announcements; Schwartz Tailoring Co., through the William F. Holland agency, 150 announcements; Citizens Motor Car Co., 52 spot announcements, direct contract; General Pharmacal Co., through the William F. Holland agency, 300 announcements. The quarter-hour transcriptions are for the Olds Motor Co., through D. P. Brother & Co., and Ironized Yeast Co., through Ruthrauff & Ryan, both for 13 weeks.

NBC Adds Disc Accounts

NBC's electrical transcription department new contracts include orders from KSRO, Santa Rosa, Cal.; WCBS, Springfield, Ill., and KOKO, LaJunta, Col. Renewals include: KTHS, Hot Springs, Ark.; WHP, Harrisburg; WWNC, Asheville, N. C.; CJOR, Vancouver, B. C.; KGBK, Tyler, Tex., and WFSB, Montgomery, Ala.

Becomes a Writer

Ranald MacDougall, who works in the mimeographing department at NBC, has written an original radio play which will be produced Sept. 22 over the NBC-Blue, from 8:30 to 9 P. M. NBC has recognized his talent, and within a few weeks MacDougall will be transferred to the script division as a continuity writer.

Electricity by Air To Be Tested Again

NEW CASTLE, DEL., Sept. 16.—Another test of transmitting electric power by wireless will be made within the next 10 days from the John C. Roberts Laboratories at Deemer's Beach to the J. Wirt Willis farm near Glasgow, by John C. Roberts, inventor of the method.

A relay station to receive the power waves has been set up on the Willis farm. The power will be sent from the transmitting plant at the laboratory to the farm and there picked up to operate a tractor and light about 100 electric lights.

Toscanini Series to Start on Christmas

The Toscanini series will begin Christmas night, from 9 to 10:30 P. M., and will be heard for 10 Saturdays thereafter at this time. The NBC-Red network will carry the broadcasts.

Toscanini will arrive here about Dec. 15, it was said at NBC yesterday.

As a preliminary to the maestro's assumption of leadership, NBC will broadcast six concerts at the same time and over the same network, beginning Nov. 13. Pierre Monteux will conduct the concerts No. 13, 20 and 27, and Artur Rodzinski will conduct Dec. 4, 11 and 18.

"Life of Mary Sothorn" Set

"Life of Mary Sothorn," a new series for Lehn & Fink, Inc., will be offered Mondays through Fridays from 5 to 5:15 P. M. over the CBS network. William Esty is the agency. The series will also be heard over WHN, New York, and WLW Cincinnati, under the same sponsorship, Mondays through Fridays.

School of Air Starts Oct. 18

The American School of the Air of CBS will return to the air for its ninth season Oct. 18, with an expanded program in which the National Educational Ass'n will participate. Another organization, the Progressive Education Ass'n, will also be represented this year.

Until May 6, the programs will be broadcast every day except Saturday and Sunday from 2:30 to 3 P. M.

New Shows On the Air

Dooley Back

Eddie Dooley, football expert of the New York Sun, resumed his seasonal stand on CBS for Chesterfield cigarettes yesterday in a series of football resumes and forecasts. He has been heard in similar series over CBS in past seasons.

Opening the period with a resume of last year's sectional and national games, Dooley swiftly plunged into the business of analyzing the chances of the college teams for the coming season, predicted those who would have contesting teams this year and advanced reasons why others, whom he named, would fall by the wayside. He also listed the coaching changes made in the past 12 months, in those instances where changes took place.

Like most sports writers, Dooley uses florid phrases extensively, but somehow flowery language and the gridiron game go hand in hand. The fans who listen to this type of show will enjoy his comments.

Dooley's schedule is for Thursdays and Saturdays, from 6:30 to 6:45 P. M.

BANNER

Operate on Shirley Lloyd

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Shirley Lloyd, vocalist with Ozzie Nelson's band, was rushed to City Hospital here today for an emergency operation after she was stricken with appendicitis on a train en route here.

Vick Program Advanced

The Vick Chemical Co. program featuring Jeanette MacDonald will have its inaugural over CBS one week earlier than originally announced. The series will open Sept. 26, from 7 to 7:30 P. M.

Ed Cashman Transferred

Ed Cashman, for the past six years serving in the production and program departments at CBS, yesterday was transferred to the Artists Bureau.

Radio Personals

LOU FRANKEL, radio editor of Tide, has resigned . . . Parks Johnson, of the "Sidewalks Interviews," will fly to Houston to visit friends next Tuesday . . . The Ford Bond baseball talks for American Cigar Co. fade from WFAA Oct. 13 . . . Four announcers have been assigned to broadcast the "Carnival of Champions" boxing bouts over NBC Sept. 23—Lynn Brandt, Chicago; Bill Stern and Clem McCarthy, New York, and Tom Manning, Cleveland . . . Signed for regular appearances on the incoming Jack Oakie Camel program are Stuart Erwin, William Austin, Raymond Hatton and Helen Lind . . . Wayne King will be heard exclusively over Mutual for sustaining period dance music beginning Sept. 26. It will mark the first King sustaining broadcasts in three years . . . Contrary to published reports, Eddie Duchin will be heard on sustaining over Mutual when he resumes his dance periods from the Hotel Plaza this fall. There has been talk that Eddie would not make these broadcasts because of his two commercial programs, but WOR has an iron-clad contract with the Plaza management for the Duchin music from the hotel.

Smiling Ed McConnell, severely injured in an automobile accident the other day, nevertheless will be on the air Sunday. . . . Jim Tully will be on Ripley's program Sunday for a guest appearance. . . . Bob Taplinger returned to New York yesterday after several days with his west coast publicity staff. . . . Bill McCune's band has been booked for a road tour by Music Corp. . . . "Dearest Enemy" will be the Jessica Dragonette vehicle Sept. 22. . . . Herbert Marshall will replace Don Ameche as emcee of the Chase & Sanborn hour for two weeks, effective this Sunday, while Ameche is on vacation.

IRNA Moves For Standard A.F. of M. Pact

The IRNA committee, following yesterday's meeting with the International Council of the A. F. of M., prepared to issue a questionnaire to all station owners so that a standard form of contract with the A. F. of M. may be drawn.

Salient questions to which an immediate answer will be asked are:

"What were your net receipts during the 12 months ending Aug. 31, 1937?"

"How much did you spend for staff musicians during this period?"

When the answers are received and the results compiled, the actual construction of a contract binding the industry to a stipulated annual expenditure for musicians' salaries will be drawn up. Recognizing that it will take time to make the compilation, the A. F. of M. again deferred the deadline date, this time to Oct. 15. The IRNA committee will resume meeting with the musicians' union next Tuesday.

This morning, the A. F. of M. will meet with the network heads to determine a course of action for the network key stations. This afternoon they will meet with the transcription firms.

Welcoming Programs For 2 Stations Set

Programs welcoming WHK-WCLE, Cleveland, to the Mutual network will be offered Sept. 26 and 27.

WHKC, Columbus, will salute the incoming Cleveland affiliates with a special show over Mutual from 6 to 6:30 P. M. The same day, from 6 to 6:30, WOR will offer tribute to the new member stations.

The following night, Sept. 27, from 9 to 9:30 P. M., WHK will return the salute to the network with a half-hour show.

Sealtest Plans New Show

Effective Oct. 17, the Sealtest "Sunday Night Party" series will be replaced by a new program titled "Rising Musical Stars." The series will feature concert fledglings, one to be selected each week after an audition by a committee comprising Alexander Smallens, Alma Gluck and Ernest Schelling. Another committee will determine which of the four artists appearing each month is entitled to an award of $500. The Sealtest program is now being handled by McKee, Albright and Ivey.

A New Form

NBC will issue its daily news report in a new form, beginning Monday. The new report will consist of two-column releases, printed on filmsy paper. The news will be teletyped daily from the press department to the printer who will mail it to editors from the printing plant.

Sounds Hope For Improved Quota Films

"Genuine Opportunity," Says Sam Harris

A hope that American companies, about to embark upon their own production in England will view such enterprise in "its larger aspect" and produce the quality pictures they are announcing was voiced yesterday by Sam Harris, publisher and editor of Today's Cinema, one of the two daily trade papers published in London. Harris arrived here Monday on the Normandie with George Elcock, one of three British partners of United Artists in the Odeon Circuit of which Oscar Deutsch is managing director.

Harris told MOTION PICTURE DAILY he envisioned a genuine opportunity for American production in England. "If any time at all is ripe, this is it. If American producers come through with the fulfillment of their promises, they will make their mark there. If they do not take advantage of their opportunity, such opportunity eventually

Univ. Corp. Adds to Its Holdings in "U"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Acquisition by the Universal Corp. in July of 180 shares of first preferred stock of Universal Pictures was reported tonight by the S. E. C. in its semi-monthly summary of the transactions of officers, directors and principal stockholders in the securities of their corporations.

At the close of the month, it was shown, Universal Corp. held 228,927 shares of Universal Pictures common, 220 shares of the first preferred and 20,000 shares of the second preferred stock.

"100 Men" Opening Beats 7-Year Mark

"100 Men and a Girl" yesterday chalked up the largest opening day's gross at the Roxy in the last seven years, the take for the day going over $8,000. The preview on Thursday night, according to the management, also was the largest ever for the theatre.

The theatre will open at 10 this morning and close 3 A.M. tomorrow

See Maxwell Move to Take Union Cinemas

Would Dominate Theatre Field as Result

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Following the death Wednesday of David Bernhard, chairman of the board of directors of Union Cinemas, Ltd., and father of C. F. Bernhard, founder and managing director of the circuit, the ordinary shares rose from six pence to two shillings yesterday. The rise created the belief that John Maxwell, head of Associated British Pictures, was buying David Bernhard's shares and taking control of Union.

Circles close to Maxwell discounted the report, declaring that although there had been talks relative to the circuit, they preceded the death of the chairman. Union Cinemas has 228 theatres. The company's securities, of five shillings value, were five shillings, six pence last April. His father's holdings gave C. F. Bernhard effective control of the company, and he

New Yorker to List No-Giveaway Houses

With its current issue The New Yorker begins a full page listing of first run and "a selected number of neighborhood houses where patrons are not too much harassed by Bank Nights, Screeno or chinaware," as the publication's announcement is worded. The department is in addition to the established listing of current films and theatres at which they are playing.

The initial list includes 17 houses under the "first run" classification; 11 Manhattan east side houses and 18 Manhattan west side houses. In the third classification are included the Palace and Loew's State. The department lists films which it considers of "more than routine interest" in bold face type.

Membership Sustains Equity Rule Appeal

For the first time in the history of Actors' Equity Ass'n appeals from rulings of the organization's council were sustained by the membership of the organization when the quarterly meeting of the membership at the Astor yesterday voted to set aside convictions of five members who had received suspended fines of $50 for failure to obey orders against parti-

Poll of Patrons

St. Louis, Sept. 17.—A city-wide poll was started today by the Star-Times and F. & M. with the distribution of questionnaires to patrons of the 42 theatres in the circuit. The poll will continue for 10 days and seeks to determine the likes and dislikes in entertainment.

ITOA to Ask Merger with Jersey Allied

Directors of the I.T.O.A., at a special meeting at the Astor yesterday, approved a proposal submitted by Harry Brandt, president, to seek a merger of that organization and Allied of New Jersey.

Brandt pointed out the advisability of one large organization in a territory served by the same exchanges and also stated that a united front by independent exhibitors would help to solve the problems of both organizations.

A delegation of 20 members will attend the Allied three-day convention in Atlantic City which will get under way at the Ritz-Carlton on Wednesday

Operators Hold Off Strike at Vancouver

A projectionists' strike in Famous Players Canadian theatres in Vancouver and Winnipeg, called for tonight, was averted yesterday following negotiations between N. L. Nathanson and J. J. Fitzgibbons, representing the theatre company and George Browne, president of the I.A.T.S.E. It was agreed to hold further meetings with the general understanding the new deadline would be extended to Oct. 4.

Nathanson told MOTION PICTURE DAILY last night he had every confidence in ultimately reaching an accord.

Empire Union Seeks C. I. O. Affiliation

Empire State Projectionists Union has made an application for a C.I.O. charter in New York, it was revealed yesterday by an executive of the local organization. The necessary money for affiliation has also been sent, but no decision has been made on granting the charter.

Report 653 Houses Have Raised Rates

Thirty - seven Circuits Have Participated

Approximately 653 theatres throughout the country have boosted admissions within the past few weeks, a survey made by a major distributing company reveals. Participating in the move have been 37 circuits, including independent and major units.

While the general results have been favorable, it was reported that in 15 situations paralysis caused a temporary setback at the box-office. In these instances, children under 16 were kept out of theatres.

It was pointed out that until two weeks ago, the increases had been made principally by affiliated first run houses with subsequent run theatres and independent exhibitors following shortly afterwards.

Commenting on the increases, Spyros Skouras, operating head for National Theatres, said he believed that before many weeks elapse a vast majority of theatres will join the parade. He claims that this will come as a result of the high cost of production.

Production costs are said to have doubled, while admissions are slightly below the 1930 level.

About 50 theatres in the Intermountain circuit, the Fox Midwest circuit and the Alladin, Broadway, Paramount and Tabor in Denver recently hiked price scales.

Writer Dispute Not Affected by IATSE

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17.—The I.A.T.S.E. claim of jurisdiction over film writers will have no bearing on the scheduled hearing of the Screen Writers' Guild petition for designation as the sole bargaining agency before the Regional Labor Relations Board, Dr. Towne Nydlander, director, said today.

The hearing will be Sept. 27, with

Alger Report
On RKO Plan
Ready Oct. 14

George Alger, special master who held hearings on the proposed plan of reorganization for RKO, disclosed yesterday that a tentative draft of his findings will be ready on Oct. 14.

A hearing will be held at his office on that date and the report will be read. Special Master Alger is required to determine whether or not the plan is "fair, equitable and feasible."

The submission of the tentative report will provide the various RKO reorganization committees with an opportunity of obtaining the special master's ideas of the plan prior to the making of his final recommendations to the Federal District Court. Thus, if Alger's tentative report shows a disinclination to approve any major phase of the RKO reorganization plan, the reorganizers will have an opportunity to submit additional testimony or to agree upon revisions before a final report is made.

Another advantage of the preparation of the tentative report is that, after hearings have been held on it, it will facilitate the preparation of the final report and recommendations and is expected to clear away many objections which might otherwise delay hearings on the plan before Federal Judge William Bondy and, thus, its ultimate approval.

Watt May Succeed to McGrady Labor Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Robert J. Watt, secretary and treasurer of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, affiliated with the A. F. of L., today was seen here as likely successor to Edward F. McGrady as Assistant Secretary of Labor. President Roosevelt is expected to name McGrady's successor early next week.

While Watt is an official of the A. F. of L., he is not believed to have the support of that organization for the department post, but is said to have been endorsed by John L. Lewis, head of the C.I.O. Watt has been neutral in the fight between the two organizations, but is said to be more progressive than is the policy of the A. F. of L.

RKO Staging Big Apple

RKO has completed arrangements with Arthur Murray for staging Big Apple contests in a number of local theatres. The Albee, Brooklyn, has featured the dance and last night the 16 contestants appeared at the Coliseum and tonight they will appear at the Kenmore, Brooklyn.

Next week the dancers will appear at the White Plains, Flushing, Prospect, Chester, Albee and Coliseum, in the order given, starting Monday.

Cochrane Coming to N.Y.

Tom D. Cochrane, general manager for Paramount in the Orient, will sail from Yokohama today on the President Grant for New York. He will arrive in Seattle Sept. 29 and will proceed directly to New York for conferences with John W. Hicks.

Allied Meet in Detroit

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—The annual convention of Allied Theatres of Michigan will be held in Detroit this year. A definite date has not been set as yet, but it probably will be about the middle of October. Plans for the convention were discussed at a meeting of the board, and will be completed at the next regular meeting in about 10 days.

Cliff Smith Dies at 51

ally will go to British producers," he declared.

At the same time, the British publisher frankly expressed his doubt about the outcome. He predicated this on several considerations. For one, he pointed out how frequently in the past 10 years executives of American organizations visiting in London had declared themselves for quality British production and how regularly this promise had not been kept. Furthermore, he stated he saw a very definite reason mitigating against any studio effort beyond the £15,000 production proposed in the new English quota.

Difficult for Small Firm

"Isn't it perfectly natural," he said, "that America should not seek to set the pace for British production. Hollywood now has the production industry thoroughly in its grasp. Obviously, it should and will seek to retain it. There would seem to be little reason for the deliberate creation of competition. If the circumstances were reversed, do you believe Britain would? You can answer that yourself."

Harris, therefore, and despite any statements as to British policy which may have been announced by American companies, veers toward the belief those organizations will not exceed £15,000 negatives in London. Assuming that the future would bear this out, he was asked wherein British production might look for its future. He replied:

"The smaller, independent producer is finding it increasingly difficult to arrange financing. This means that ultimately quality British product will be made by a limited group of well-entrenched studios.

"America, however, might take the 'bigger outlook.' There are not and never will be enough super productions to go around. American exhibitors, as well as exhibitors of the world, continuously need supers. If British producers make ordinary, cheap program pictures, neither America nor any other world exhibitor will run them, but if British producers can increase the total of supers, there will still be not enough to go around but the American industry will benefit by increased receipts and increased patronage. Therefore, why not aid British film production which, although it can never excel American films, can still aid American concerns and the American industry to get bigger houses, bigger prestige and bigger money?"

Conditions Are Good

Conditions, in general, are "very good" in his home country, Harris reported. Today he will leave for Hollywood with Elcock. It will be his first visit west in seven years, as it is his first New York visit in that length of time.

Elcock yesterday denied England was confronted with theatre overbuilding and, on this score, Harris bore him out. "As for Odeon," said Elcock, "our experience has demonstrated—and statistics back us up—that the potential film audience in Britain has not even been touched. We at Odeon are far more interested in build-

Hope Deferred

Now it can be told. Jack Cohn, Columbia vice-president, has a frustration—all his life he has wanted to be a professional baseball player, preferably at the Polo Grounds.

The news leaked out yesterday when Jack was selected by Columbia's team, which recently won the M. P. League championship, to present the awards to team members in advance of today's post season game with the Bronx American Legion team, which is to be played for the benefit of the House of Calvary Hospital. Cohn confessed that the event will be his nearest approach to a realization of his life's ambition.

ing theatres in new business centers and in areas where, by research, it is demonstrated to us a new theatre is essential. In many places, our houses, as a consequence, are not competitive with existing theatres, but actually the first theatre. We have also sought to attract new patronage by giving such patronage thoroughly modern houses, properly ventilated and properly seated."

Report John Maxwell Seeks Union Control will probably inherit those holdings.

If Maxwell were to acquire a controlling interest in Union Cinemas, it would make him unquestionably the dominant figure in the English theatre field. As the circuits total now, Maxwell's theatre company, Associated British Cinemas, Ltd., accounts for approximately 300 theatres. With Union's 228 he would have something more than 500 theatres under his control.

Under those circumstances, his nearest competitor in point of circuit totals would be Gaumont-British, controlling their major circuit and also Provincial Cinematograph Theatres, Ltd., accounting for approximately 300 theatres, and Odeon Theatres, Ltd., headed by Oscar Deutsch, with approximately 250 houses.

morning. There will be eight showings of the feature with six stage shows. The anticipated gross for the week is $75,000, with a second week assured.

The second week of "Thin Ice" finished at $47,000. The picture could have gone a third week, but was taken off because of heavy booking schedules.

Guests See Time Reel

Members of the China Society of America attended a special showing of the March of Time "War in China" number in the Music Hall preview room. Among those present were Admiral W. H. Intern'l Cinema Asks Registration

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—International Cinema, Inc., Los Angeles, today asked registration by S.E.C. of the proposed issuance of 50,000 shares of Class A common and 100,000 shares of common stock, the former to be sold at $5 per share and the latter reserved for conversion of Class A stock at a ratio of two shares of common for one of Class A.

The company expects to raise $200,000 from the operation, of which $50,000 will be used for new equipment, $100,000 for reduction of indebtedness and $50,000 for working capital.

The stock proposed to be issued is part of an authorization of 200,000 shares Class A and 1,000,000 common, 500,000 shares of the latter already being outstanding, 40 per cent in the hands of Regan-Day, Inc.

Listing the remuneration paid last year to its principal officers, the company reported that G. P. Regan, president; Bonar Russell, vice-president and general manager; A. C. Snyder, secretary-treasurer, and A. J. Guerin, laboratory manager, each received $6,500.

Technicolor Capital Filed

DOVER, Del., Sept. 17.—Technicolor, Inc., New York, has increased its capital from 1,000,000 shares to 1,500,000 shares no par value.

Writer Dispute Not Affected by IATSE

subpoenas already issued for representatives of 20 studios and of the Producers' Ass'n.

Because of the general interest in the case William Walsh, special board attorney, said he had asked that a special trial examiner be named.

It is understood that producers will fight the guild claims by saying that the Wagner Act does not apply in this case, because the production of pictures is intrastate business and because the act was drawn to protect workers in the lower brackets and not high salaried men like writers. The trial examiner may take the studio claim under advisement and permit the hearing to continue.

Officers of the Screen Playwrights will attend to defend the collective bargaining agreement they now hold.

A new agreement for makeup men was reached today at a meeting of I. A. representatives and producers.

The Directors' Guild made new recognition demands on the producers.

Membership Sustains Equity Rule Appeal

icipating in a strike on a WPA theatre project last May.

Although the meeting was attended by approximately 600 members, it was stated that less than five per cent of the voting strength of Equity was represented. Five of the approximately 50 members tried and convicted by the council brought the appeals to the membership. As all the cases involved identical charges the membership's action is regarded as applicable to those who did not appeal.

Kenneth McKenna, a member of the Equity council, presided at the meeting in the absence of Frank Gilmore.

Newsreel Parade

Universal Newsreel

Vol. 9, No. 599

(Universal)

With new material on the Chinese-Japanese "undeclared" war at hand by Clipper plane, Universal stole a march by shipping next week's first reel yesterday, the entire contents devoted to the hostilities.

The resourcefulness of George Krainukov and Howard Winner, the reel's cameramen at the front, and the editing of Charles Ford and his men here, must stand as one of the ablest jobs of pictorial reporting and editing the reels have seen in many a long year. The issue is historic, documentary material, at the same time crowded with the pulse of battle, the fright and flight of civilians, the ravages of war and its gruesomeness.

The resourceful Krainukov, by nerve and bluff, boldly went behind the Japanese lines, into the Wayside sector of Shanghai, took exclusive close-ups of the Japanese commanders, swept the Bund with the cameras as "archies" cracked and planes dropped their missiles, caught the Japanese troops sharpshooting behind street barricades, saw fleeing and terror-stricken Chinese, herded out of their ruined homes, hurrying by the smashed bodies of soldiers killed in action, ends with a stark shot of a dead soldier being shoved into a yawning common burial pit, with a background remark from the commentator, "What Price Glory?"

Running time, 9 minutes.

N. W. Alley to Shanghai

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17.—Norman W. Alley, who has been in charge of the local office for Universal Newsreel, is flying to Shanghai on the China Clipper to coordinate the work of George Krainukov and Howard Winner, cameramen, who have been turning in sensational shots of the conflict there.

Samuel Savitt will have charge during Alley's absence.

Ask Permit for New Odessa, Tex., Unit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Authority for construction of a new broadcasting station at Odessa, Tex., was asked today of the F. C. C. by the Odessa Broadcasting Co. The station would operate by day on 1,310 kilocycles, with 100 watts power.

Also filed with the commission was an application from the Panama City Broadcasting Co. seeking a new 100-watt daytime station at Panama City, Fla., for change of frequency from 1,420 to 1,500 kilocycles.

Power increases are proposed by three stations filing the necessary papers, WNEW, New York, seeking a boost from 2,500 to 5,000 kilocycles; WGBI, Scranton, an increase from 500 to 1,000 kilocycles, and WCPO, Cincinnati, an increase from 100 to 250 watts.

Appeal FCC Station Denial

FALLS CITY, Neb., Sept. 17.—Oscar Johnson, owner of two theatres here, and his brother, Carl, who operates a theatre at Red Oak, Iowa, have retained Attorney James H. Hanley of Omaha and Washington, D. C., in filing an appeal in U. S. District Court at Washington from the F. C. C. decision denying them a license to build a broadcasting station here.

Will Replace "City Sleeps"

Bowey's, Inc., sponsors of the current series "While the City Sleeps," will replace it with a new script show titled "Terry and the Pirates." The new program is based on the well known cartoon strip of the same title. It will begin Nov. 1, and will be heard Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 5:15 to 5:30 P. M. on the NBC-Red. Stack-Goble is the agency.

Kellogg Renews "Girl Alone"

Kellogg Co. has renewed its network serial, "Girl Alone," for 13 weeks, effective Oct. 11. The series is heard Wednesdays through Fridays from 12 noon to 12:15, over the NBC-Red. N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., is the agency.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Louis B. Wasmer, 41, died here today after an illness of a year. Wasmer is the owner and operator of stations KHQ and KGA.

AFM Defers Talk Pending IRNA Deals

The International Council of the A. F. of M. yesterday informed the representatives of transcription companies and the three networks that all negotiations with them would be deferred until it had settled with the I.R.N.A. relative to bringing about a new deal for musicians in radio. The A. F. of M. will resume its parleys with transcription companies Oct. 18. Thus the union estimates that it will have reached a satisfactory accord with the I.R.N.A. within 30 days.

Meanwhile, the full text of a letter issued to the broadcasters of the nation by the I.R.N.A. committee became available to MOTION PICTURE DAILY late yesterday. Stating that "the difficulties that are involved are incredible," the I.R.N.A. committee traced the history of its negotiations with the A. F. of M. and pointed out that the non-network stations are now entirely at the mercy of the federation. The letter strongly urged each broadcaster to attend the N.A.B. convention in New York City Oct. 12. The committee stated it was "imperative" that the station owners fill out and return immediately the questionnaire that accompanied each letter. The committee informed the broadcasters that it has retained the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst to conduct the inquiry.

"Country Fair" Is New Script Series

Star Radio Programs, Inc., has released a new half-hour feature titled "Country Fair." The new program is the result of many inquiries from stations for such a show. The background for the program is a country fair, providing opportunities for hill-billy music and rural touches. The scripts feature such events as livestock judging, wood chopping contests, etc. "Country Fair" will have two main characters, although the script is arranged for one-man narration with sound effects and music.

Star Radio will release the program in lots of 13 scripts each. The first release is ready, with more to follow.

WCPO Gets Cincinnati Games

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—WCPO, Cincinnati Post station, will broadcast all football games, at home and abroad, including night games, in the schedule of the University of Cincinnati.

Harry Hartman, sports commentator, will be at the mike throughout the series.

Sisson to Succeed McAvity

Edgar Sisson will become manager of the radio department at Lord & Thomas, New York office, next week. He will succeed Tom McAvity, who has been named radio manager of the Lord & Thomas office in Hollywood.

Zanuck to Present Power

Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production at 20th Century-Fox, will personally introduce Tyrone Power to the air audience Oct 3, when Power begins his new series for Woodbury-Jergens Co.

New Shows On the Air

"Special Edition of the Air"

"Special Edition of the Air" is a compact, informative program which presents news especially selected for women listeners. It is probably the most representative program of its type on the air.

The "Hollywood News Girl," Alan Prescott and Gabriel Heatter share the period, with Heatter yielding the lion's share of the time to Prescott and the "Hollywood News Girl." More of Heatter and the period would achieve a better balance than it has now.

The "Hollywood News Girl," of course, chatters about films, and does it entertainingly. Her reviews of pictures are admirable. Prescott's "P's and Q's" talks, this one on how to set properly a formal dinner table, held no interest for us, but no doubt he has a palpitating audience of housewives tuning in on him regularly. Heatter has almost nothing to do, offering little more than sketchy headline readings and no editorial comment.

"Special Edition of the Air" is presented over WEAH only by the Borden Milk Co. BANNER

NAB Board to Meet Here on October 12

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A special meeting of the board of directors of the National Ass'n of Broadcasters has been called for Oct. 12 at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, to consider demands of the A. F. of M. The meeting was postponed from Oct. 4 because of expected lack of hotel space here during the World Series.

The association has authorized representation at the North American Radio Conference at Havana in November and the World Radio Conference at Cairo, Egypt, in February.

Peterson Joins Erwin, Wasey

Ruben Peterson, Jr., has joined the Erwin, Wasey agency as director of radio publicity. Innes Harris, who formerly doubled in production and publicity, will now devote his full time to production.

Lou Amis, formerly director of radio for Erwin, Wasey, now occupies a similar position at Brooke, Smith, French & Dorrance.

S. C. Fuller Quits KDKA

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Samuel C. Fuller, who as Uncle Sammy has directed the KDKA Kiddies Klub for years in addition to doing several other programs, has resigned to join the production department of WLW, Cincinnati. He will take up his new duties there Sept. 27.

To Star Ritz Brothers

The Ritz Brothers will be starred in the "Hollywood Hotel" production of "Life Begins in College," Sept. 24. Also in the guest star roster for the program is Tony Martin and Joan Davis.

union, C.I.O. has not decided whether or not to step into the entertainment field. In the event a favorable decision is made, the Empire State union will be recognized as the local unit, it was stated. A committee of the C.I.O. is scheduled to meet in New York next week to take a stand on entering the theatrical field.

Empire State here has no connection with the operators union on the coast with the same name. The California organization has made overtures to the local group, but the latter thought it unwise to affiliate because of the distance.

Meanwhile, Empire has signed the Sam Baker circuit of five theatres in Long Island. At the request of the Police Dept., Empire has withdrawn its pickets from Broadway until the visiting legionnaires depart for home.

Decks Cleared For New Deal Involving FCC

McNinch Starts Today As Commission Head

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—With Frank R. McNinch, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, detached to assume a like position on the F.C.C., expected to take the oath of office Monday, decks have been cleared at the F.C.C. for a vigorous attack upon "intrenched monopoly" and other evils in the broadcasting industry.

With no experience in radio matters, McNinch is expected to devote himself to the development of regulatory principles for the control of broadcasting and other forms of communication, in line with President Roosevelt's policies as carried out in the power commission.

The new F.C.C. head has had several conferences with the President during the past week.

Expect Dallas Suit To Get Going Today

DALLAS, Sept. 19.—The Government's action against the Hoblitzelle Interstate Circuit and eight major distributors to test the validity of admission price regulation in subsequent runs through contracts providing the maintenance of specified minimum admissions is expected to go to trial here Monday before Federal Judge Atwell, as scheduled. The court has indicated that both sides have had full opportunity to prepare their cases and

Omaha Censor Move Revival Is Talked

OMAHA, Sept. 19.—Mayor Dan Butler is reported to be preparing to carry out his threat of last spring to revive the City Welfare Board as a board of censorship for films and stage plays here.

The Mayor's plans, shelved for the summer because some of the men and women he wanted on the board were vacationing, originated in a squabble over scripts of "Idiot's Delight" and "Tobacco Road" on the stage, and two sex pictures on the screen.

Iowa Showmen Hail Decision on Pinball

OMAHA, Sept. 19.—Iowa exhibitors are hailing as a sure business stimulant the decision of District Judge F. L. Shankland at Des Moines that pinball machines are gambling devices.

In his decision, Judge Shankland upheld Attorney General John H. Mitchell's contention that pinball machines are banned under the gambling laws revised by the last legislature and lifted a temporary injunction previously granted the Automatic Merchandisers' Ass'n. It was brought out during the hearing that the association's 3,000 members, who do not include all the pinball machine operators in the state, grossed $1,500,000 last year.

Mitchell immediately started a drive to seize all pinball machines not voluntarily removed. Slot machines already have virtually disappeared from the state.

British Audiences Favor Double Bills

LONDON, Sept. 8.—British audiences in general appear to favor double features to one long feature and short subjects, it is indicated in the survey for 1937 conducted among theatre patrons by the Bernstein organization, circuit operating a large number of English theatres.

In all, 159,723 replies were received, covering 11 different points relative to the habits and tastes of British filmgoers. The vote in favor of double bills as against singles and shorts was 79.5 per cent for and 20.5 per cent against. A total of 76 per cent approved stage shows in combination with films.

With both sexes and all age groups, war pictures rate lowest in popularity.

F.&M. Getting Big Response To St. Louis Questionnaire

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—Response to questionnaires being distributed by F. & M. Theatres in conjunction with a city-wide poll being conducted by the Star-Times is most gratifying, according to executives of the circuit. The poll, which started Friday, will end Sept. 27 with daily results being published in the local afternoon paper.

"By filling out this Star-Times-F. & M. questionnaire, you will help secure for yourself and your family the kind of entertainment you prefer," the questionnaire states. All of the circuit's 42 theatres distribute the questions to patrons.

There are seven questions with subdivisions.

Merger Soon

Canadian Universal distribution will be absorbed by Empire Films, Ltd. "shortly now," N. L. Nathanson, who recently purchased a substantial stock interest in the former company, declared over the weekend.

The move, of course, has been anticipated since the Nathanson-Canadian Universal deal was effected some weeks ago.

Sales Policies Up At Allied Meeting

Sales policies of Paramount and M-G-M will highlight a product survey to be made by Allied of New Jersey at the three-day annual convention which will get under way Wednesday at the Ritz, Atlantic City.

All members recently pledged themselves not to purchase Paramount because of the six features withdrawn from the 1936-'37 contract. While several exhibitors have conferred with Paramount sales executives at the local exchange, they have declined to discuss agreements until the convention took a final stand.

M-G-M is said to be asking higher terms than last year and while numerous theatre owners have expressed a willingness to buy, they have declared they cannot meet the terms asked.

Two other highlights scheduled for the last two days are the proposal by Harry Brandt, president of the I. T. O. A., to merge both organizations which are served by the same exchanges, and election of officers for the ensuing year. Brandt is expected to speak on Thursday with the elections slated for Friday morning.

Studio Parley Is Demanded By Directors

Guild Action Threatened If Producers Refuse

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19.—The Screen Directors' Guild, through the negotiating committee of Howard Hawks, John Ford and Edward Sutherland, has served notice on the producers that a continued refusal to negotiate with the designated guild representatives constitutes an infraction of the labor laws enacted by Congress. They advised the producers that a refusal to commence negotiations or failure to fix a date will be taken before the guild "for whatever collective action may be required."

Reciting the history of the guild attempt to negotiate with the producers, which was halted when the latter sought to break the guild into two component parts, one for directors and the other for assistants and unit managers, and of the guild refusal to do so, the letter sent by the committee said:

"Under these circumstances it has become our duty to demand that

Midwest Price Rises Cause No Complaints

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19.—Reaction of patrons to box-office increases in the area are reported to be good. This was the gist of statements by Fox Midwest managers to E. C. Rhoden, head of Fox Midwest, at the circuit's convention.

Another circuit that has made general increases throughout the territory is Commonwealth Amusement, and C. A. Schultz, its head, states that his managers are reporting favorable reaction to increases where these have been in effect several weeks.

He is on a combination business and pleasure trip. He will be here from three to four weeks and will inspect American laboratories and their methods while in this country.

Legion Approves 12 Of 14 New Pictures

The National Legion of Decency found 12 of 14 pictures reviewed last week unobjectionable for either general or adult patronage. Two features were classed as "objectionable in part." The new classifications follow:

Class A, Section I—Unobjectionable for general patronage, "All Over Town," "Escape by Night," "Las Quatro Miltas," "My Dear Miss Aldrich," "Mystery Range," "Roaring Guns," "She Asked For It," "Sudden Bill Dorn" and "Western Gold." Class A, Section II—Unobjectionable for Adults, "Stage Door," "Susanne in Bade" and "Wenn Frauen Schweigen."

Class B—Objectionable in part, "Wine, Women and Horses" and "Wife, Doctor and Nurse."

Rogers Coming East

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19.—Charles R. Rogers will arrive in New York Tuesday on Universal business. There, he will meet Danielle Darrieux, French star signed by the company, and escort her to the studio. She will arrive on the Normandie Sept. 27.

Bolle to Sail Sept. 29

Otto Bolle of 20th Century-Fox will sail Sept. 29 on the Normandie for England, en route to South Africa where he will establish an office for the company. Bolle recently spent four months in Johannesburg making a survey. M-G-M is the only company at present distributing its own product in that territory.

Frisco Scales Raised

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—After considerable discussion, operators of local suburban theatres have raised both matinee and evening admission prices a nickel. A majority of downtown subsequent run houses fell in line.

A similar move has been made by Oakland subsequent runs within recent months.

Seattle Unions Gaining

SEATTLE, Sept. 19.—Approximately 95 per cent of theatre employees are now affiliated with A. F. of L. theatre unions, it is claimed.

Several conferences between exhibitor committees and the union representatives over wages and hours have been held, but no scale has been agreed upon for usherettes, doormen or cashiers.

Suggests Union Talks

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The C. E. A. Council has recommended to all branches of the association that they accede to any requests made for conferences by the National Ass'n. of Theatrical Employees. A copy of the London Branch's agreement with the union is also being circulated. In many districts there has been a policy of non-recognition of trade unions.

First Fields at Denham

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Twentieth Century-Fox's first Gracie Fields picture will be made at the Denham studio, a deal to that effect having been completed between Joseph M. Schenck and Alexander Korda before the former sailed for New York. Sam Engel, the producer, is on his way from America. Monty Banks will direct.

studios represented by your committee undertake forthwith to bargain collectively with the guild in the manner prescribed by law and to advise you that any refusal on your part to commence negotiations or failure to fix a date therefor will be taken immediately before the entire guild for whatever collective action may be required."

The letter was addressed to Darryl F. Zanuck, Jack Warner and Edward Mannix and copies were sent to studios with complete senior guild membership. The letter continued,

"We do not wish to be understood as reflecting in any sense upon the capacity of your committee or its authority to act for the particular studios represented, but on so vital a question it is necessary that we have explicit assurance that each studio is fully apprised of the nature of the controversy between us. Only in that event would the guild feel justified in taking collective action against them."

It is imperative, the letter declared, that the responsibility be fixed for whatever industrial unrest may result from refusing to split the guild in accordance with the producer demand. The guild stated in the letter, "You must accept full responsibility for the controversy inevitably provoked and for whatever measures are necessary to protect the integrity and freedom of the guild."

Guild Pacts Here Unsigned by Three

the company had had an opportunity to confer with Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the guild, who is expected here by motor from the coast within the next three or four days. Several minor objections to the contract have been raised which will be left to Thomson to decide, she said. Pending the decision, Educational has agreed to conform to all of the requirements of the guild contract without, however, actually signing it.

Mrs. Marston said that March of Time has agreed to conform to all provisions of the contract, but refuses to enter into a signed agreement. Mentone, she said, regards the terms of the contract as prohibitive from the cost standpoint. Mrs. Marston said that, failing to reach agreements, "stop work" orders, which she differentiated from "strike" orders, would be issued against the studios.

Chicago Critics Resign

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Carol Frink, film critic on the Chicago Herald-Examiner, and Maxine Smith, who held a similar position on the Chicago Evening American, have resigned. Miss Frink left for Washington to assume a newspaper reporting job there, while Miss Smith has made no announcement of her future plans. Paul T. Gilbert has taken the Herald-Examiner job while Dorothy Deare has assumed Miss Smith's reviewing.

Futter Sees British Costs as Excessive

The costs of producing in England which confront American companies planning to send their own executive, technical and talent figures abroad for quota production purposes may prove to be prohibitive in the long run and may prevent the establishment of American studios abroad, according to Walter Futter, former Hollywood producer who has been engaged in English production for several years.

Futter, who is visiting New York on business, was interviewed at his hotel on Saturday. While here, he plans to arrange for distribution of his recently completed picture, "Jericho," which has Henry Wilcoxon, Wallace Ford and Paul Robeson in its cast.

The producer described the more or less general belief that pictures can be made more cheaply in England than here as a "fallacy," referring, of course, to pictures which would be acceptable to the American market. He declared that investments in the better British studios, which he said are as well equipped as any in Hollywood, represent sums so large that studio rentals are two or three times what a producer would pay for similar facilities in Hollywood.

Lists Some Obstacles

British studio rentals, he said, commonly represent an amount equivalent to the overhead charge on a Hollywood production for executives' salaries. He also pointed out that because of British income taxes and the elapsed traveling time to and from Hollywood and London, American actors inevitably demand double their Hollywood salaries for an assignment abroad. In addition, he said that financing, which is commonly handled through underwriters, is made costly by pyramiding agents' charges and frequently represents an interest charge of 11 per cent.

Futter drew the conclusion that because of the indicated 25 per cent cost provision of the quota, a producer established in England would be able to make a picture for approximately $500,000 which could cost a Hollywood company $750,000 if its own executives, technicians and talent were assigned. He pointed out that the salaries of these would not be applicable to the cost provisions of the quota.

that any new request for a postponement will be regarded unfavorably.

The Government's case is in charge of John Erhard, assistant U. S. district attorney here, and B. W. Henderson, special assistant attorney general, who arrived from Washington during the week. The defendants will be represented by the law office of John Moroney, local attorney; Louis Phillips of the Paramount home office legal staff, and Sidney Schreiber of the M.P.P.D.A. legal staff, New York.

Prior to the opening of the trial, it was believed here that all essential testimony could be completed within three or four days, as stipulations covering approximately 80 per cent of the evidence have been agreed to by the litigants.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Life Begins with Love"

(Columbia)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19.—Strictly formula material, "Life Begins With Love" is pulled up away from its story to an extent by comedy, but not sufficiently to make the finished product any more than routine fare, of double bill suitability. It's the old story of the playboy of wealth who ducks out of a bad situation, meets up with the real thing at a home for children, and with the aid of a pestiferous, but clever youngster, salvages a wasted life.

Edith Fellows, who plays the nasty but clever youngster, virtually takes the picture. The adult leads are shared by Douglass Montgomery and Jean Parker. The two do their best with the material at hand, but cannot do much with it at best.

The original story was by Dorothy Bennett and the screenplay by Thomas Mitchell and Brown Holmes. Montgomery, in a drunken moment, gets himself, his wealthy grandfather and smart bride-to-be into a bad situation, and worse publicity. To avoid the crowd, he slips away, ending up in the children's home, at the mercy of Miss Parker, who takes care of the children, and Miss Fellows, orphan who lives at the place with Miss Parker.

He enjoys himself, working for the first time, until the youngster discovers who he is, at which point the fireworks start, ending as expected with new leaf turned, the romance concluded and everybody happy. Raymond McCarey directed.

Running time, 69 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Bank Alarm"

"Bank Alarm" is a moderately exciting G-Man melodrama. The story meanders along a routine course and the acting is adequate. The plot while slow moving, is well-knit and manages to hold a certain amount of interest.

Conrad Nagel is the Government agent who is investigating a number of minor bank stickups with the aid of Eleanor Hunt. Their efforts are foiled more or less by the culprits until the local G-Man chief is murdered. From that point things start to move and soon the guilty parties find things getting warm. After a final coup Nagel and the police get close on the bandits' trail. However, they kidnap his sister which move complicates things. Miss Hunt, in the meanwhile, works herself in with the outlaw chief and the chase is really on. Nagel and the authorities soon after catch up with the bank robbers, rescue his sister and settle with their quarry. The story is interwoven with a number of sub-plots that are satisfactorily knitted at the conclusion where identities are revealed and scores settled.

Miss Hunt and Nagel carry their roles well. Wheeler Oakman is deadly enough as the heavy. Wilma Francis, an attractive blonde, portrays Nagel's sister. Vince Barnett supplies comedy as a clumsy, but well-meaning, photographer and general handy man. Louis J. Gasnier directed.

Running time, 61 minutes. "G."

Fox Midwest Shifts Numerous Managers

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19.—Fox Midwest has shifted a number of managers.

In Kansas City, as a result of the resignation of Herb Goldberg of the Isis, Ed Mater is the new manager. He has been at the Warwick. Morrill Moore, manager of the Rockhill, goes to the Warwick. Glen Carroll, Apollo, shifts to the Rockhill, with Doc Hitchler succeeding Carroll. Ralph Wallace, manager of the Linwood, now is at the Gladstone; Charles Morrill of the Gladstone has gone to the Vista, and Tommy Garrison has gone from the Vista to the Benton. John Creamer of the Benton becomes manager of the Linwood, and Dale Havelone, assistant at the Madrid, becomes manager there.

Ed Koegel, formerly of West Frankfort, now is manager of the Orpheum at Cape Girardeau, Mo. H. M. Burnett has been moved from Benton, Ill., to West Frankfort, while Ed Whaley, formerly West Frankfort assistant, goes to Benton as manager.

With the resignation of Ike Campbell at Winfield, Kan., C. H. Zile, Arkansas City, shifts to Winfield. Ted Davis, Moberly, Mo., has gone to Arkansas City, Kan.; Bill Souttar, Hays, Kan., now is manager at Kirksville, Mo. H. L. Golladay goes to Moberly, Mo., from Kirksville. Max Van Buren of Lyons, Kan., now is in Hays. W. J. Scott, Palace, Wichita, is now at Lyons. Bill Laughlin of the Midland, Hutchinson, Kan., shifts to Wellington, Kan., with Mike Lehman, Wellington, going to the Uptown, Wichita. Al McClure, Strand, Hutchinson, now is manager of the Midland there, and Maurice Eby, his assistant at the Strand, becomes manager. Paul Hiltner of the Uptown, Wichita, moves over to the Palace.

The combined preference of men and women is: thriller adventure, first; musical comedy and society drama, second; comedy and love romance, third; historical, fourth, and war, fifth. A definite dislike of thrillers in favor of society drama is noted as age advances, the report indicates. Musical comedies are generally liked by all.

A total of 44.8 per cent of patrons attend the theatre twice a week, 30.4 per cent once a week, 15.6 per cent three times a week, five per cent more than three times a week, and only 4.5 per cent less than once a week. The vote of preference for advertising films in the theatre was about evenly divided, for and against. Among short subjects young men like sport subjects and older men travel material. Clark Gable, Gary Cooper and Charles Laughton head the list of favorite masculine players, and Norma Shearer, Myrna Loy and Greta Garbo head the feminine list. Laughton is most pleasing to men, Robert Taylor to women and Ginger Rogers to young men.

Favorite pictures were "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "Under Two Flags," "David Copperfield" and "Captain Blood."

THE NEW UNIVERSAL'S 100 MEN AND A GIRL

The one picture they're all talking about!

IRNA Makes An Appeal for Stations' Aid

The I.R.N.A. special advisory committee, in an effort to arouse lethargic independent broadcasters, has issued an urgent appeal to station owners everywhere to attend the N.A.B. special convention in New York Oct. 12. The letter also traces completely the progress made by the I.R.N.A. with the A. F. of M. in the negotiations to avert a threatened general musicians' strike in the industry by framing a contract to absorb more musicians in radio.

William S. Hedges, chairman; Emile Gough, Samuel R. Rosenbaum, John J. Guim, Jr.; Edwin W. Craig and Mark F. Ethridge, the I.R.N.A. committee, collaborated on the letter. It follows:

"This letter is urgent. This committee is composed of men who can ill spare the time to do what you have asked of it. The difficulties involved are incredible. The entire committee has now been in session daily and nightly in New York since Wednesday, Sept. 8, conferring with representatives of the union, the networks, station owners, accountants and others, and reporting to the convention which took place in New York, Sept. 10 to 12. Representatives of 192 stations attended in person or by proxy. The committee has also been assisted by George W. Norton, Jr., of WAVE, Louisville, and John Shepard, 3rd, Yankee Network, Boston. Considerable progress has been made in carrying out the program described in the letter the committee sent you Aug. 26. The matter has now reached a stage where your immediate cooperation is essential.

Outlines Its Efforts

"Before the convention opened, the committee arrived at a tentative understanding with executives of the Federation. This was based upon an estimate that the networks affiliates as a group, including the network owned and managed stations but excluding the originating key stations, employed about 775 staff musicians at a total salary of approximately $1,500,000 during the preceding 12 months. There were staff musicians employed in 109 stations out of all the 259 in the group; 150 of the affiliates employed no musicians whatever. The eight originating key stations employed about 360 staff musicians. Among the non-network stations, 85 stations out of a total of about 325 stations employed a total of about 420 staff musicians. Grand total approximately 1,555 staff musicians, more or less. We have no accurate figures. So far we have been furnished these figures only by the locals, through careful compilations made by William J. Kerngood, secretary emeritus of the American Federation of Musicians. We have been compelled to rely on these owing to the failure of the industry to respond to the N.A.B. questionnaire sent out the end of August.

A. F. M. Sought 3,500

"The original formal demand of the federation was to create new jobs for 3,500, later revised to 3,000 men. This committee steadfastly demonstrated it would be impossible for the industry to survive such a burden. Finally the committee agreed to recommend to the networks affiliates as a group, as above defined, to expend a total per annum of $3,000,000 for staff musicians, which would approximately double the number of jobs in this section of the industry. The federation officials finally agreed to recommend this to their executive council, provided the increase in present payroll of staff musicians is $1,500,000 in any event and the distribution of this increase among the stations is fair and equitable so as to spread employment through the country. This committee did not undertake to make any recommendation as to employment in non-network stations or key stations.

"The convention on Sept. 10 and 11 approved the committee's recommendation in principle and requested the committee to develop a formula for distribution of the added labor cost among the affiliates. The committee was also requested to negotiate with the federation for a standard uniform trade agreement for the industry which would be used by every station in concluding a deal with its local, the local retaining autonomy as to wages, hours and local working conditions, but the gross station expenditure, or allocated quota, being fixed by the industry itself and approved by the federation.

"The committee also brought to the convention an offer from the networks regarding the extent to which the networks were prepared to cooperate with the affiliates in sharing the burden of this added labor cost. This was demanded by the committee on the ground that if the affiliates were incapable of carrying the load alone there could be no networks. This offer was not favorably received by the convention and the committee was requested to negotiate further on this subject. This is being done. Your committee is endeavoring to obtain an increase in the offer. In view of the difficulty and expense involved in calling another convention to consider this question before the date set by the federation as a deadline, your committee will take the responsibility of recommending to you by mail the acceptance or rejection of the final offer received, and, in case of acceptance, the method of distribution of the proceeds. In case of rejection, your committee will feel compelled to abandon further efforts to distribute the load for the affiliates and will step aside. In such event the strike will probably follow promptly.

Urges Attendance Oct. 12

"The convention also sent a sub-committee to the meeting of the board of directors of the N.A.B. held in New York Sept. 11 and 12 to call to its attention the danger facing the entire industry by reason of its failure to have adequate representation and collective bargaining machinery in this crisis. It was pointed out that the non-network stations are now entirely at the mercy of the federation if the demands regarding recordings and transcriptions can, as they very probably can, be enforced by it. As a result the N.A.B. has decided to invite every station in the industry to a special convention in New York Oct. 12, the earliest feasible date. That convention will, it is hoped, consider means for setting up machinery for dealing more effectively with this problem and any future problems affecting the entire industry. Even though you may have attended the recent convention of networks affiliates, it is most important that you attend or be represented at this special convention because of the far-reaching character of the decisions which will be reached.

"Meantime the executive council of the federation met in New York with your committee Sept. 15 and 16. It ratified the approval given by its officers to the plan of settlement with the networks affiliates. It approved the formulation of a national trade agreement for uniform adoption in the locals, subject to local action on questions where local autonomy cannot be impaired. All the points to be included in such a trade agreement were fully discussed. Numerous requests were advanced by either side, some rejected, some accepted. A draft of the trade agreement, in the form finally reached, is now being prepared by your committee and the federation's counsel.

Seeking Basic Formula

"All of this is, however, subject to adoption of a formula for distribution of the labor cost. At the convention an advisory vote taken disclosed that the affiliates were fairly evenly divided between a formula based on published rates and one based on net revenue. The objection, in many cases, to the rates basis, was that the published rate is a national rate on which only a small proportion of the actual business is accepted. The objection to the revenue basis was the unwillingness of many to disclose this figure to competitors and to unions. After further careful study since the convention your committee is pretty well convinced the inequalities involved in the use of the rates as a basis will cause so many complaints it cannot be satisfactorily relied on, at least as the sole criterion. Any formula adopted will have to give at least some consideration to the factor of revenue.

"In order to attempt to protect stations from improper disclosure of this figure when furnished, it has been decided to operate this inquiry through a highly reputable nationally known firm of certified public accountants. Every station is requested to furnish the figures to this firm. Ernst & Ernst has agreed to act for this purpose. In case of question, the certificate of Ernst & Ernst will be accepted without any competitor or union having the right to examine your books. The totals, however, for each station and for the group, must be accessible to your committee in order that it may make the computations necessary for devising an acceptable formula. For this purpose a questionnaire has been prepared by this committee, aided by a sub-committee composed of John Shepard, 3d,

New Shows On the Air

"Gridiron Smoker"

"Gridiron Smoker," new series of football commentaries, on WHN each Friday at 9:15 P. M., should receive a rousing welcome from the football listeners of this area, for the series contains everything calculated to please and entertain the followers of the gridiron sport—informative discussions of plays and players, a tribute each week to a coach, re-enactments of past games, a guest appearance each week of a college player, ruling interpretations, college tunes by an orchestra and chorus, etc. It's the first production job, too, of Gene Ford, who recently was appointed to the station by Louis K. Sidney, and we're happy to report that the program distinguishes itself mainly in its production, definitely big-time. Ray Saunders does the commentary and re-enactments.

BANNER

and Emile J. Gough. This is being sent you under separate cover together with explanatory notes. The pink sheet should be carefully filled out and all questions answered by you within 48 hours of receipt of this letter. This is imperative if you wish to benefit by the protection which the work of this committee will afford you.

"In view of the necessity for obtaining this information the executive council of the federation has, at this committee's request, deferred the operation of the resolution authorizing the calling of a national strike, from Sept. 16 to Oct. 15. It is therefore absolutely essential that sufficient progress be made by that time to convince the federation of the good faith of the industry, and this means you. Otherwise the conclusion of these negotiations will be conducted in a state of hysteria and hostility and there will be losses and bitterness we are striving to avert."

Pantages Joins List Of Air Commentators

To the increasing list of Hollywood screen commentators in radio this season, add the name of Lloyd Pantages, who has been signed for a new series over CBS by Raymonds, Inc. The contract is for 13 weeks and begins Oct. 17, from 2:30 to 2:45 P. M.

The series will be titled "Lloyd Pantages Covers Hollywood," and will be broadcast over 19 stations of the network. The program will originate in the studios of KNX, Los Angeles. The Milton Weinberg Advertising Co., Los Angeles, is the agency.

Three New Programs Set for WHN Time

Contracts for two live new series and for a spot announcement campaign, have been closed over WHN.

Bernard Perfumers, Inc., will present an as yet untitled show Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8:30 to 8:45 P. M., beginning Nov. 16. The contract is for 52 weeks through the Sell Johnson agency.

E. Griffith Hughes, Inc., will offer a script series Mondays through Fridays for 26 weeks, starting Sept. 27, from 4 to 4:15 P. M. Stack-Goble is the agency.

New York State Bureau of Milk Publicity, through J. M. Mathes, Inc., will begin a spot announcement campaign of 26 weeks duration, effective Sept. 27.

FCC Hearings Plentiful in Current Week

Heinz Adds KMBC to List

The Heinz Co., sponsors of the "Magazine of the Air" on CBS, has added KMBC, Kansas City, to the network for the early broadcast. KMBC formerly carried the repeat.

ing the past few weeks and his statement that his chief job would be "to help formulate fundamental policies and principles" is taken in Washington as indicating the possible adoption of an entirely new philosophy by the commission with respect to administration of the communications act.

Appointed by the President with instructions to clean up the commission and avert a threatened Congressional investigation, McNinch has something less than four months in which to deal with problems that were years in the making.

Among the major questions on which the commission must act if it is to escape Congressional criticism are alleged domination of broadcasting by the major networks, the threat of a "machine molded" public opinion through newspaper acquisition of stations, trafficking in licenses and real equalization of service between the various zones.

Not all of the F.C.C.'s problems can be resolved without further direction from Congress, such as the raids on stations by newspapers, which now own or operate some 200 stations with probably 50 or more applications pending.

The present situation has been building up for several years. Dissension among the members of the commission made difficult the adoption of any set plan for dealing with its problems. The way for a new deal was paved with the retirement last June of Commissioner Irvin S. Stewart and the death not long after of Chairman Anning S. Prall.

Their successors, T. A. M. Craven, who had served as chief engineer, and McNinch, were selected by the President with a view to averting possible scandal through a Congressional investigation, approval of which was prevented last session only by steamroller tactics in the House Rules Committee.

In putting McNinch in as head of the commission, it is said, President Roosevelt in effect served notice upon the other members of the F.C.C. that they would be expected to cooperate in the cleanup movement. Unless they give their whole-hearted support to the new chairman, it is expected, more new blood will be injected into the commission, with some of its present members transferred to other posts.

Agency Has Program To 'Scoop' Winchell

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—A local agency is trying to sell a program which features a news commentator. The idea calls for the commentator to appear over either CBS or MBS prior to Walter Winchell's broadcast and read A. P. or United Press dispatches. Also some Hollywood and Broadway gossip.

The agency feels this would be a natural for some account that wanted a program to "scoop" Winchell as they maintain that most of the actor-columnist's material on his Sunday night broadcasts is gleaned from the INS newswire.

California Starting Educational Series

ALAMEDA, Cal., Sept. 19.—An ambitious tie-in of radio with education has been undertaken by the city school department, in cooperation with Oakland's KLV and the University of California. Six afternoon programs weekly are aired to more than 600 northern California schools.

The weekly schedule includes—Monday, literature; Tuesday, natural history; Wednesday, California history; Thursday, kindergarten and commercial geography; Friday, American history.

N. E. to Get Football Resumes

Football resumes over a special regional network of CBS stations in the New England area will be given for 10 weeks, Fridays from 6:15 to 6:30 P.M., under the sponsorship of the Atlantic Refining Co., beginning Sept. 24. The resumes will be broadcast over the CBS stations in Boston, Hartford, Providence, Worcester and Springfield, with WEEI, Boston, the originating point. Radio Sales, Inc., handled the contract for CBS, through N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc.

The new series adds to an already tremendous football broadcast schedule undertaken by Atlantic Refining Co. this season.

Emily Post on CBS Net

Emily Post, in a new series titled "How to Get the Most Out of Life," will be heard Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:30 to 10:45 A.M. over the CBS network, beginning Oct. 19. The Florida Citrus Commission will sponsor.

The series will be offered over a network of 32 stations. Ruthrauff & Ryan placed the contract, which is for 52 weeks.

WQXR Add Accounts

New accounts on WQXR include a spot campaign for the Ford Motor Co., placed through McCann-Erickson, Inc.; spot announcements for Pomay Cosmetics, placed direct; spot announcements for the Union News Co., placed through M. H. Hackett Co., and a half-hour weekly program for 26 weeks for the Hammond Organ Co., placed through J. Walter Thompson Co.

Barnsdall Takes "Fun Bug"

The Barnsdall Refining Co., beginning Sept. 26 from 2 to 2:30 P.M., will feature a weekly series titled "The Fun Bug" over CBS. Billy Franz, comedian, will be featured. The supporting cast includes a chorus of 60 voices and an orchestra of 20 pieces. The program will originate in the Adkar Temple, Tulsa, Okla.

Tarshish to Resume Oct. 10

Jacob Tarshish, "The Lamplighter," will return to WOR Oct. 10 in a series for the North American Accident Insurance Co. The series will be broadcast Sundays from 7:45 to 8 P. M. The Franklin Bruck Advertising Corp. is the agency.

"U" Takes Time on WOR

Universal Pictures have engaged the facilities of WOR to exploit the showing of "100 Men and a Girl" at the Roxy. Fifty-word time announcements are offered several times daily over the station. J. Walter Thompson placed the account.

Now Wears Hat

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—For more than 10 years KYA's Ernie Smith, sportscaster, was one of the original "bare-headed boys" of northern California. He never wore a hat.

Then came a sponsor of one of Smith's sports shows—a sponsor who dealt in men's clothing and hats. He insisted on the mikeman wearing one of his natty chapeaux.

Even his best friends don't recognize him now.

F. & M. Ballot Gets Big Early Response

Number six: "Do you prefer stage shows with movies? Yes or no. If yes, check the type of stage show: prominent band, singers, dancers, vaudeville."

Seven: "Do you prefer two features or one feature picture with short subjects?"

At the end of the questionnaire, patrons are asked to list whether they are male or female and whether they come within four age classifications. The first is under 16, second, 16 to 25; third, 26 to 40; four, over 40.

Stuart Denies A. T. S. To Join Mich. Allied

DETROIT, Sept. 19.—Reports that American Theatre Science, Inc., may merge with Allied or Cooperative Theatres of Michigan are flatly denied by Frank E. Stuart, general manager.

Stuart says no move has been made by "any officer of the A.T.S. for a tieup," that the organizations will stay apart and that there is no quarrel between them insofar as the A.T.S. is concerned.

To Open 3 Near Denver

DENVER, Sept. 19.—Fox, Westland Theatres, and Souris & Ade are opening three theatres in the Denver exchange area.

Fox is equipping the Serf, Las Vegas, N. M., just completed by Najeb Maloof, for opening soon. Fox leased the house from Maloof. Without a theatre since 1930, Grants, N. M., will soon have the Lux built by Souris & Ade. Westland will reopen the Rialto at Pueblo, Col.

Party Reservations Gain

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19.—Although the Variety Club of Pittsburgh's annual banquet at the William Penn Hotel is still two months away, reservations are already pouring in for the affair. The dinner will be held Sunday night, Nov. 14, following the Pitt-Nebraska football game. John H. Harris is again chairman.

Actors Guild Files Here

ALBANY, Sept. 19.—Screen Actors Guild, Inc., Los Angeles, chartered under California laws, has filed a certificate of statement and designation in the office of the secretary of state to enable it to do business in New York State. A certificate has been filed also by Modern Talking Picture Service, Inc., chartered under Delaware laws.

Radio Personals

BOB STANLEY has been appointed WOR house conductor by Alfred Wallenstein, general musical director of the station. . . . Tommy Dorsey's band will appear at the Metropolitan, Boston, to fill a week's engagement beginning Sept. 22. . . . Bobbie Dolan, Al Goodman and Richard Himber have been signed for the late fall and early winter "Hit Parade" commercials on CBS. . . . Talulah Bankhead and Henry Fonda will offer some scenes from "Camille" during the inaugural program of the Kate Smith series Sept. 30 over CBS. . . . Joe Cook and Joan Edwards will make guest appearances on the final "Summer Series" program over CBS Sept. 26. Phil Baker returns to this show the following Sunday. . . . Al Pierce and his Gang, after a personal appearance tour which took them to all sections of the country, will be back in New York permanently for the Sept. 28 CBS broadcast. . . . Clark Gable will star in the Lux "Radio Theatre" production of "Cimarron" Sept. 27.

Drop Sweepstakes Case

MARION, O., Sept. 19.—Acting on a motion unanimously adopted by City Council to which the question was referred, City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart will drop further prosecution against George E. Planck, manager of the Palace, recently acquitted by a Municipal Court jury on a charge of operating a lottery in connection with Sweepstakes.

Seek Bank Night Ban

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 19.—Councilmen Robert Gammage and W. T. Gordon are sponsoring a bill aimed at Bank Night in local theatres.

Miss Holm for "Tarzan"

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19.—Eleanor Holm has been signed by Principal Prod. for the role opposite Glenn Morris in "Tarzan's Revenge."

Studios Again Deny Demands Of Directors

Tell Guild to Take Case To Regional Board

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Producers, through Darryl F. Zanuck, head of the studio, negotiating committee, have invited the Screen Directors' Guild to take the issue of collective bargaining for their crafts either to the Regional Labor Board or the courts and have reiterated their stand that the producers would not deal with the guild as an agency for the directors and assistants and unit managers.

Replying to the guild committee letter of Friday night, Zanuck wrote, "We wish to assure you that the producers desire peace and harmony throughout the industry to the end that all persons in and connected with the industry may receive the benefits

Gable Leading Poll Of St. Louis Patrons

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—Clark Gable was leading in the selection of favorite actor in the early returns on the questionnaire on programs and players being conducted here by the Star-Times and Fanchon & Marco. The first tabulation was taken from 721 answers to the questionnaire which is being distributed in all of the circuit's 31 houses.

Following Gable, in that order were: Ronald Colman, Paul Muni. Among actresses were, in order: Myrna Loy, Claudette Colbert, Kay Francis, Loretta Young, Norma Shearer. Child performers were led by Shirley Temple, Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew. Musical comedy was the choice for type of film, and cartoons were the designated favorite among shorts. A total of 305 prefer double features, and 309 one feature with shorts.

Loew's Union Deals Call for 10% Raises

Increases up to 10 per cent are provided in the two and three-year contracts signed by Loew's with operator and stagehand unions in all situations except Indianapolis and a few. Poli spots in New England.

IA Emblem Demand Waiting Schenck, Mayer Coast Talks

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—William Bioff, personal representative on the coast of George Browne, president of the I.A.T.S.E., and head of the organization here, has declared that enforcement of the union's demands that all pictures carry the I. A. emblem as screen credit will be held off until the arrival of and conferences with Joseph M. Schenck and Louis B. Mayer.

Schenck is due here by plane tomorrow from New York, and Mayer will leave England on the Normandie on Wednesday, is scheduled to arrive in New York next Monday, and probably will proceed by train to the coast from there.

Bioff said the extension was taken at the specific request of Schenck. The I. A. called for the emblem originally "to insure the projection of prints throughout the country by our projectionist members of the I. A."

On the other hand, Joseph Cambiano, international representative here for the Carpenters' International, has arrived, announcing the suspension of the studio carpenters' local committee on the basic agreement under which

M-G-M Seeks Protection of Stars on Air

Sidney Asserts Programs Will Help Exhibitors

M-G-M's radio show, for which General Foods has signed starting Nov. 4, will be designed to protect the company's stars on the air, Louis K. Sidney, head of WHN, stated yesterday upon his return on the Queen Mary from a 20-day vacation abroad.

"We want to see that our stars get the right material, so that it will not only help them but the exhibitor as well when he plays our pictures," he asserted.

"The idea is to help exhibitors. There's no profit in the show for us. It is an exploitation proposition. May-

ALLAN ROBBINS, first born of the HERMAN ROBBINS, and DOROTHY BRILL were married on Sunday, the function having been confined to the immediate families. The nuptials, scheduled for later in the year, were thereby hastened by a sizeable handful of weeks. The honeymooners are now somewhere in the south, ALLAN having determined to re-visit the Staunton Military Academy, where he once went to school, as an early stop.

CHARLES E. MCCARTHY, director of advertising and publicity at 20th Century-Fox, officially returned to his desk yesterday following a lengthy recuperation from a recent illness. He was sporadically at work last week, but yesterday marked the first regular day at his stint.

SOL LESSER has acquired "Stow-aways" by DON BLANDING for BOBBY BREEN, and S. J. BRISKIN, RKO vice-president, has bought "It Couldn't Happen Again," by MEL RIDDLE and ALEX RUBEN, as a starring feature for VICTOR MOORE.

JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM reported back at his Motion Picture Herald desk yesterday, took one look at the accumulations which had piled up during his hospital siege and sighed. Merely that.

EARLE JAMESON, head of Exhibitors Delivery Service, and GEORGE HARTMANN of the Armour, Kansas City, have returned to Kansas City after a week's visit here.

ROY H. HAINES, eastern and Canadian sales head for Warners, returned yesterday from a trip to Detroit, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

GEORGE BATCHELLER, Jr. leaves for Hollywood tomorrow. It is a permanent shift and the objective, of course, is a mark in production.

AL LICHTMAN has arrived from the coast.

HUNT STROMBERG arrived in Hollywood yesterday to start work on "Marie Antoinette" with NORMA SHEARER as the star for M-G-M.

LELAND HEYWARD arrived from the coast yesterday by plane and flew to Boston last night to attend the opening of "To Quito and Back."

WILL H. HAYS was serenaded at his office yesterday by the band of a Boston American Legion post composed of postal employees.

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK, A. C. BLUMENTHAL and DON AMECHE left for Hollywood last night via American Airlines.

SIDNEY R. KENT is ill at home and is not expected to return to his office at 20th Century-Fox for a couple of weeks.

ARTHUR ABELES, Brazilian branch manager for Warners, goes back to his tetrityr the middle of next month.

MARC LACHMANN director of studio publicity for Universal, is slated to arrive from the coast Thursday.

HARRY KEIPER, purchasing agent for the U. A. studios, arrived in town yesterday by plane.

TED CURTIS, back in Rochester from three weeks' vocation in Maine, has left for Hollywood.

O. HENRY BRIGGS, president of Pathe, will return to his office today after a trip to the coast.

BILLY HALOP, one of the kids in "Dead End," has returned to the coast.

SAM MARK is in town from Hollywood and the Goldwyn studio.

HENRI ELLMAN is in town from Chicago.

events with unusual human interest angles. Frank Knight, chief announcer of WOR, will report various foreign stories, particularly those relating to the British Empire. Sidney Walton, Joseph Boley and Mark Hawley will be assigned to spot news events. Gregory Abbott will specialize on matters pertaining to disaster, war and tragedy.

The sports commentators will include Bob Carter of WMCA, who will be assigned to horse racing; Bill Slater of the Colonial network, football, and Joe Bolton for baseball, track and college athletics.

A. J. Richard, editor of the reel, said: "We are not departmentalizing Paramount News. We have selected these nine specialists from radio because we feel that their voices will lend added impetus and audience interest to photographed news happenings."

Conn. Games Action
To High Court Soon

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., Sept. 20.—Following Judge Alfred Baldwin's report that he would reserve decision on the Bank Night case against Ernest Dorau, manager of the Palace, the new test case is expected by New Haven counsel for Bank Night interests to reach the state Supreme Court within a month.

The case was presented in the Superior Court for Middlesex County on an agreed statement of facts setting forth in detail the Bank Night system as used generally and by this theatre in particular. In the original conviction in the Middletown court Dorau was charged with violating the lottery statute, the gift enterprise statute and the club statute, and was fined $13.

Mrs. Kaufman Resigns

Beatrice Kaufman, eastern story editor for Samuel Goldwyn, resigned yesterday. No successor has been chosen.

National-U. A. Sign

Contracts whereby National Theatres will play United Artists new product in the same situations as last season have been signed by George J. Schaefer, for the distributor, and Spyros Skouras, for the circuit. The deal was finally consummated last week after lengthy negotiations.

Closes RKO Cuban Deal

HAVANA, Sept. 20.—R. K. Hawkinson, Latin American sales manager for RKO, has closed a new contract renewing the company's distribution arrangement with Cia. Cubana de Peliculas, South America, covering the 1937-'38 product. Pedro Saenz acted for Cia. Cubana.

Report "Zenda" Records

United Artists says "The Prisoner of Zenda" has broken all records, both in attendance and money, at the Palace, Stamford, and has set new opening day records in Providence, New Orleans and Norfolk.

The picture has been held over in 19 spots where it has opened.

N. O. Shows Due Sept. 29

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—On Sept. 29 the St. Charles will be opened by three competitive corporations as a unit vaudeville, home talent or otherwise, and any tab and traveling combinations that may drift to the deep south. The lease is held by representatives of the Saenger Corp., Loew's State and Mort Singer, who controls the Orpheum and Liberty theatres.

A new corporation has been formed under the title of the St. Charles Amusement Co. with A. Miles Pratt, owner of the theatre, as president.

Film Offices to Close

Paramount, RKO and Warners will close at noon today and indications last night were that other major and independent companies would cease operations early in the afternoon. The legionnaires and that all-day parade up Fifth Ave. are the reason.

Winner "U" Agree

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Charles Winninger has settled his disagreement with Universal over his role in "A Young Man's Fancy" and has gone to work.

Warners-Lightman
Deal to Be Set Soon

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—Closing of the deal whereby Malco Theatres of Memphis will take over 10 Warner houses in Kentucky is expected within the next two weeks, M. A. Lightman, Malco head, said today. Preliminary papers have been signed already and the deal will become effective immediately upon its closing.

Included in the deal are two theatres in Danville which Lightman plans to consolidate with a group which he operates for Paramount. Seven towns are involved in the take-over.

Lee States G. B. Not To Produce on Coast

Reports that G. B. was planning to produce in Hollywood yesterday were denied by Arthur Lee, vice-president of the company, who has just returned from a quick trip to California.

Lee yesterday saw for the first time "Non-Stop New York," first of the new season's releases, and said that theatres throughout the country are doing a tremendous business.

CIO Milwaukee Unit Has Been Disbanded

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 20.—The United Theatrical Workers' union, which recently signed agreements covering janitors, ushers, cashiers and doormen of 14 local independent neighborhood houses, has voted to disband because C. I. O. headquarters at Washington, has failed to issue a charter, according to Gale Dexter, business agent.

According to Gunnar Mickelsen, state C. I. O. director, the failure of the national C. I. O. to grant the charter is in line with recent statements of policy by John L. Lewis that the C. I. O. plans to stay out of well organized A. F. of L. fields.

Because it did not hold a charter from the national union, the group had also failed to receive recognition from the state labor relations board. Disbanding of the union, which claimed a membership of 200, leaves the A. F. of L. unions in possession of the industry here. All local houses employ projectionists affiliated with the A. F. of L.

Organizing in Windsor

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—The labor situation in Ontario has become further involved through the organizing of employes of the theatres in Windsor, the Canadian city opposite Detroit. Those who are being urged to join the new union are the ushers, doormen, cashiers and ticket-takers, no reference being made to the projectionists.

The new Windsor union is known only as Local 115B and there has been considerable conjecture as to its sponsors, the suggestion being made that it is being promoted by the C. I. O. If this is the case, it is the first appearance of a Lewis unit in Canadian theatre circles.

Charles Vidor Back From European Trip

Charles Vidor, director under contract to B. P. Schulberg, returned yesterday on the Queen Mary from a six-week vacation abroad. With his wife, Karen Morley, he visited London, Paris, Vienna, Budapest, Venice and St. Moritz.

Vidor said this was his first trip abroad since he came to this country several years ago. He will remain in town for two weeks to look over shows before entraining for the coast. Miss Morley is scheduled to do a show on Broadway. She has had a number of offers, Vidor said, and hasn't decided which to accept.

On the same boat was Leon Gordon, who for the past eight months has been in England in charge of the writers on "A Yank at Oxford," first British picture to be made by M-G-M at the Denham studios. Gordon said that work started on the picture last Wednesday and also commented on the unusual reception given Robert Taylor on his arrival in London. He will leave for the coast by train today.

Frank Lawton and Evelyn Laye also returned from England. They have been in London for the past six months, Miss Laye having appeared in a stage show. Lawton said he will appear in "French Without Tears" for Gilbert Miller on Broadway.

Bernard Gottlieb, French manager for Grand National, came in on the ship to visit his mother, who is ailing.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Dangerously Yours"

(20th Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—This is a modest little picture distinguished from most of those in the who-stole-the-jewels? bracket, as to workmanship, by the coherent direction of Mal St. Clair, who manages to keep the constantly snarling story thread common to this type of product untangled and comprehensible throughout. Save for its lack of important cast names it is soundly presentable stuff.

The story is a variant of the familiar one about the attempts of several parties to purloin a valuable gem aboard a liner bringing it from Paris to New York. Cesar Romero, Phyllis Brooks, Jane Darnell and Alan Dinehart are the first four names listed in the cast, in that order, and it appears to have been a part of the casting director's scheme to make an honest man, histrionically speaking, out of Romero, who disapproves at considerable expense to the success of the picture by playing the part self-consciously and as though missing the hail of lead which normally puts early end to his acting chores. Of the others Dinehart does the best job, although it is relatively small, while Miss Brooks' performance gives promise of better things anon. Jane Darnell and Douglas Wood supply effective support.

This time only one of the romantically paired persons interested in the jewel, the man, turns out to be in fact a minion of law and order, the girl reforming, of course, and sharing the fadeout as a wife on parole to her husband. Before the picture gets to this stage the usual attempts have been made to steal the jewel, with the usual misadventures, and action has moved from Paris to New York.

Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"The Wrong Road"

(Republic)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—The combination of a good story, acting and direction give this picture far better entertainment character than its cast names would indicate. It is a dramatic romance built on a problem play premise. The plot is novel; the dialogue, action and situations with which it is embellished give the theme an impressive appeal.

A disillusioned boy and girl steal $100,000 and think that a few years in prison will be a cheap price to pay for the future happiness their loot will bring. Jail doesn't do much to either, but the pursuit of an insurance company official, a friendly nemesis, does. Paroled, they go seeking the music box in which the money had been hidden. Encountering many adventures that threaten physical danger to both, reason comes to the girl through the sermonizing of the insurance man. She pleads with the boy to return the money, but he has paid too big a price for it to want to let it go. Not until he realizes himself that they can't win does he surrender to honesty and love.

Richard Cromwell, Helen Mack and Lionel Atwill carry the leading roles with sincerity and conviction. They are capably supported by Horace MacMahon, Russ Powell, Billy Bevan and Marjorie Main. Effective character portrayals are made by Joseph Crehan, Arthur Hoyt, Sid Saylor and Chester Clute.

James Cruze's direction shows that he has not lost any of those touches that once made him a top liner in his field. The original story by Gordon Rigby, who was aided by Eric Taylor on the screen play, is an intelligent combination of elements that should play upon the more tender emotions. Neighborhood and secondary theatres should find "The Wrong Road" a popular audience attraction.

Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Stars Over Arizona"

(Monogram)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Scenery, singing and steers are parties of the second part. A hero who must stop trouble, a villain who is bound to make trouble and a girl caught between are parties of the first. Dirty work on the range, in the corrals, in a murder and in the courtroom, has its innings. These precede the shoot-'em-up battle in the hideout, in which the death rate is terrific. But crime pays its price, law and order triumphs, and, as a result, an outdoor-action-adventure film in which are incorporated all the A,B,C's of cowboy-badmen melodrama will be offered for the edification of those who like that kind of entertainment.

The present day generation of kids should find all this exciting. So should older generations who cut their motion picture eye-teeth on

"A Neckin' Party"

(Vitaphone)

There is something for the exhibitor to sell in this subject, since it features Edgar Bergen and the remarkable Charlie McCarthy, who are by way of being among the most popular figures on the air today. The yarn has Charlie invited by Bergen to visit Mexico, where Charlie nearly has himself hanged by an irate suitor. The story isn't of consequence, but Bergen's clever ventriloquism is something to see—and sell. Running time, 11 mins.

"Soak the Poor"

(M-G-M)

A bristling "Crime Does Not Pay" number that packs a wallop as it illustrates the methods used by gangsters who manipulate relief tickets and use their strong arm tactics against helpless grocers. The material is well-knit and excitingly composed in such a manner that it makes it an engrossing subject. Running time, 16 mins. "G."

"How to Start the Day"

(M-G-M)

Here is a subject close to practically every film-goer, and if he has a sense of humor that is appreciative of Robert Benchley's exposition of his waking up theory he will find this short much to his liking. Benchley does his familiar stuff in good style. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Stranger Than Fiction No. 40"

(Universal)

The general idea of this series is aptly followed in this latest issue. It is the usual, cleverly handled assortment of peculiarities that are reliably interesting and possess a good degree of entertainment. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Pacific Paradise"

(M-G-M)

Cliff Edwards is the focal point for this delightful collection of scenes in and about Hawaii. There are modern treatments of native numbers, various interpretations of the hula and fair comedy by Edwards. It is set at a beach club and the Pacific Ocean makes an excellent background. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Pooling Deal Opens Indianapolis House

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—The Indiana, 3,200-seat house, dark virtually all last year, will rejoin the list of first runs here in the near future, the result of a pooling agreement between Monarch Theatres Corp. and the Fourth Avenue Amusement Co. of Louisville.

Monarch operates the Circle and Indiana here and Fourth Avenue the Apollo. The deal involves all three houses, which will be managed, beginning Sept. 24, by the newly formed Greater Indianapolis Amusement Co. This firm has assumed responsibility for 10-year leases on all three houses. Harry Katz of Monarch was named president of the new company; Fred J. Dolle, president of Fourth Avenue, vice-president and secretary, and D. H. Long of Fourth Avenue, treasurer.

which will flow from the united and cooperative efforts to produce the best pictures.

"There seems to have arisen between us an issue not of wages or of hours or of working conditions, but of what constitutes a proper bargaining unit. Your contention is that the form of your organization does not properly concern producers.

"We, on the other hand, are of the opinion that your organization is composed of irreconcilable and inconsistent elements and is the kind of organization with which we cannot and should not be required to deal as a unit. It would be most unfortunate, not only to the producers and to the members of your group, but to the vast number of other persons whose interests are involved, and the public as well, if the controversy on this point should lead to any disturbance in the operation of the studios.

"We do not question that you feel that you are right. There is, of course, serious doubt whether the Wagner Labor Act applies to the present situation, but either the National Labor Relations Boards or the courts or both exist to determine the issues involved.

"Accordingly, we suggest that if you are unwilling to accede to our views as heretofore expressed, the question be left for determination by the appropriate tribunals."

Pending such a move, Zanuck said the producers have invited negotiations to adjust any grievances which may arise.

Serves Notice on Laboratories

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—William Bioff, I.A.T.S.E. head here, has served notice on the laboratories not now having I.A. contracts that they must sign closed shop agreements and grant a 35 per cent wage increase to employees within 10 days.

The I.A. already has agreements with Technicolor and Consolidated. Affected by the new demand are Cinecolor, International Cinema, Dunning Color, National Screen Service, Williams Shots, Western Film and Pacific Title.

M-G-M Office Staff Signs

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—In the face of the I.A.T.S.E. claim of jurisdiction over studio office workers M-G-M today signed a three-year agreement on working conditions and wage scales with the Studio Employees' Guild a non-labor affiliate composed of 500 clerical workers. The organization is intramural.

Drop Winnipeg Duals

WINNIPEG, MAN., Sept. 20.—Double bills have been dropped by the Capitol here, under a new policy adopted by Famous Players Canadian Corp., by which single film attractions will head the programs at both the Capitol and Metropolitan. Other local Famous houses will continue with double bills for the time being, it is stated, but an effort is being made to break away from the dual attraction idea.

westerns. It doesn't leave out anything that might thrill the imagination of either age.

"Stars Over Arizona" presents a promising outdoor actor in Jack Randall. This is his second film. He looks something like Robert Taylor and his voice is almost the same. But he rides, fights and shoots like a combination of all the old two-gun heroes. He sings and makes love like the newer generation of cowboys. Warner Richmond is a proper heavy and Kathleen Elliott is satisfactory as the girl. A full platoon of western character actors comprise the stock support.

Robert Emmett wrote the original screenplay. R. N. Bradbury produced and directed. Neither, with the assistance of the cast, omitted anything that might be necessary in an adventure melodrama.

Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

"The Game That Kills"

(Columbia)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—An active yarn, with a hint of murder, the expected skullduggery of a gambler, and a number of misunderstandings which serve to complicate the romance, all played against the fast-moving background of professional ice hockey, "The Game That Kills" is good routine material and falls nicely and helpfully into the double bill category.

Charles Quigley and Rita Hayworth, in the leads, are not precisely selling names for the marquee, J. Farrell MacDonald being the only well known name in the cast, but showmen should have little trouble catching the eye of the younger element with concentration on the ice hockey background, as that sporting season grows near.

D. Ross Lederman, action film specialist, directed for speed and attained it, from a screenplay by Grace Neville and Fred Niblo, Jr. The team of which MacDonald is manager, but which is secretly owned by a gambler, is hit by the death on the rink of one of its stars, a supposed accident with another player of the same team. Joining the team is a new man from Canada, Quigley, who turns out to be the brother of the man killed, and who believes that the death was murder. Romance develops between Quigley and Miss Hayworth, MacDonald's daughter. The complications develop when the girl, assigned by a sports editor friend to get to the bottom of the unexplained loss of games, believes Quigley to be the chief bribe-taker. Actually, he is getting evidence which, in a fast finish, ends the trail for the gambler and crooked players and brings the romance and the season to a successful conclusion.

Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Two-Gun Sheriff"

(Columbia)

What will distinguish "Two-Gun Sheriff" from the standardized western is the excellent casting of the principal players and character parts. The production, in general, is in good taste, particularly the photography.

Charles Starrett plays the title role and very well, too. He is handsome, rides well and is a better actor. As sheriff of Remuda Gap he becomes involved in a murder case where his best friend is implicated due to romantic difficulties with the murdered man's daughter. Starrett's pal goes on trial and is found guilty. He is released from jail by his sweetheart who thinks a lynching party is approaching. Starrett is deprived of his office and does a little sleuthing. He uncovers a faint clue. Later he travels to Buckhorn, a nearby town, and with a certain amount of ingenious maneuvering locates the clue-strewing murderer. Justice is appeased in a rather highly dramatic scene which leads up to an exciting shooting match.

The cast includes Barbara Weeks, an appealing heroine who is fine in her hole as the troubled heroine. Bruce Lane and Edward Peil also do well by their parts. Frank McGlynn has a brief moment. Leon Barschar directed.

Running time, 63 minutes. "G."

Two short subjects finished, one at M-G-M and the other at RKO, Columbia started one, and one at RKO is still shooting. Five are preparing, and 11 are being edited.

Guild Closed Shop Starts in the East

The Screen Actors' Guild here declared its "closed shop" provisions in effect in eastern studios yesterday, as scheduled, but with three important local producers still unsigned. They are March of Time, Educational and Mentone.

The guild has granted Educational several additional days in which to discuss objections to the contract with Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the guild, who is due in New York from the coast this week. Meanwhile, the company is complying with all provisions of the guild contract.

Florence Marston, eastern secretary of the guild, said yesterday that no action is being taken against Mentone and March of Time other than to inform guild members and cooperating talent unions that the two companies have not signed a guild contract. This means, Mrs. Marston said, that union actors will refuse work in those studios.

Talks Are Continued On Fleischer Strike

Efforts to negotiate a settlement of the Fleischer Studio strike are scheduled to be continued today after a tentative agreement reached over the weekend failed to get the approval of the union yesterday.

A spokesman for the Commercial Artists & Designers Union, which was designated the representative for the Fleischer employees by the National Labor Relations Board recently, said that the agreement was rejected because Fleischer withheld recognition of the union, although wage, hour and other concessions were agreed to by the studio.

Alliance Operators Raised

ALLIANCE, O., Sept. 17.—Union projectionists in the three theatres here, Morrison, Columbia and Strand, have been granted a 10 per cent increase retroactive to Sept. 1.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Double Wedding"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—As a piece of unvarnished farce, "Double Wedding" goes all the way in nonsensical foolishness. Done in slapstick style, it makes no concessions to suave or smart comedy as it pursues its helter-skelter pace. Dialogue, situations, characterizations and action combine to provoke unrestrained laughter.

William Powell and Myrna Loy are the stars. Florence Rice, John Beal, Jessie Ralph, Edgar Kennedy, Sidney Toler, Katherine Alexander, Donald Meek and Mary Gordon are the supports and miss no opportunities to add to the gayety of the occasion.

The producer, Joseph L. Mankiewicz, gets his name only in the main credits. He, with Jo Swirling, writer of the screenplay, and Richard Thorpe, the director, have taken a Ferenc Molnar play, stripped it of anything that might savor of dignified amusement and have given Powell and Miss Loy, et al, material that results in a laugh volcano.

In a vague but revealing manner the show adapts the taming of the shrew premise. Miss Loy's mission in life is to dominate the affairs of all coming in contact with her. She is determined that her sister, Miss Rice, and Beal shall marry. Powell is an auto trailer Bohemian with no sense of responsibility. As pieced together the plot is to have Miss Rice and Beal married and Powell and Miss Loy married. So many ludicrous gags are introduced that the basic plot is often side-tracked for nonsensical interludes.

The amusement character of the whole film may be gauged from the climactic sequence in which, after Powell has been knocked into unconsciousness, Miss Loy's hatband brushes across Kennedy's nose and he makes a wild swing to Miss Loy's chin that sends her to join the recumbent Powell. The whole thing may not make sense, but it surely makes nonsense.

With the Powell-Loy combination to attract the uppercrust patronage and the furious fun sure to become known to the crowd, "Double Wedding" looks like an attraction that will add much to fall programs. Any house can present it with an assurance of profit.

Running time, 85 minutes. "G."

Overseas Previews

"The Mutiny of the Elsinore"

(Argyle-A.B.P.)

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Magnificent shots of a "windjammer" under sail in fair and foul weather and clever camera work in shots in the rigging and from the masthead are the outstanding features of this British adaptation of Jack London's story. It really does give one understanding of what a beautiful thing a sailing ship was.

The dramatic values in "The Mutiny of the Elsinore" are not nearly so well reproduced as the pictorial, but there is certainly plenty of episode and the struggle between a crew in rebellion and a writer-passenger who, loving the captain's daughter, is forced to protect her and the ship, is popular material, even if handled crudely in some details.

Paul Lukas is the novelist-hero; Kathleen Kelly the girl; Lyn Harding, the tough first mate Pike, and Michael Martin Harvey puts up a very clever picture of a "sea lawyer" in the foc'sle.

The popularity of the original and the pictorial qualities of the film are the main assets.

Running time, 77 minutes. "G."

finishing touches on the arrangements with English interests. He recently returned from London after a lengthy stay and for the past few weeks has been conferring with Goldwyn on the deal. Rose could not be reached for comment at his hotel last night.

Grand National Has Eight Films Ready

Eight Grand National pictures have been completed recently, five will start soon and eight others are in various stages of preparation, Edward L. Alperson, president, said yesterday on his arrival from Hollywood to spend a week at the home office.

Those finished include Stuart Erwin in "Mr. Boggs Buys a Barrel," formerly "Face the Facts," by Clarence Budington Kelland; Wallace Ford in "He Wanted to Marry," tentatively titled; Jimmy Newill in "Renfrew of the Royal Mounted"; George Houston in "Wallaby Jim of the Islands"; Eric Linden and Boots Mallory in "Here Comes Flash Casey"; Tex Ritter in "Tex and the Boy Scouts" and "Frontier Town." Frank Gay has completed "King of the Sierras," which is the last of five pictures promised by Condor.

The five which will be placed in work shortly are: Anna Sten in "Love Me Again," with Victor Schertzinger producing; the second Schertzinger-Sten combination tentatively titled "Strad"; "Honolulu Honeymoon"; "The Deer Slayer," by James Fenimore Cooper; "Grand Canyon," probably in color. Because of weather difficulties the last named film may be made in black and white, according to Alperson.

In preparation are: "Snow Covered Wagons," the second Wallaby Jim story, the next Flash Casey picture, Benny Ziedman's "Love Runs Into Money" and "Rogues Gallery"; the next Renfrew and Shadow stories, and the third Anna Sten film tentatively titled "Yes, Madame."

High intensity projection is not a luxury which the smaller theater must forego. It has become a competitive necessity. Two or three years ago only ten per cent of all theaters were using high intensity projection — today 5000 theaters have it.

- 3-LOWER ARC CURRENT

The new SIMPLIFIED HIGH INTENSITY projection is true economy. It gives you two to three times as much light on the screen as you can get from low intensity projection. Yet the cost per light unit on the screen is so much less that all this extra light and improved projection can be covered by one admission per show.

This new projection provides snow-white light essential for satisfactory color reproduction and gives any theater modern, eye comfort projection that is as good as that of the big de luxe houses.

$21,000 over par, while "Double or Nothing," aided by Eddie Duchin on the stage of the Chicago, took $40,000, or $8,000 over normal. The third and last week of "The Life of Emile Zola" showed a good $14,000, with reports that the film could stay another month.

"100 Men and a Girl" topped the Washington takes, with $15,500 at RKO Keiths, over normal by $4,900. It was held over and may continue for a third week. "Lost Horizon" continued big with $8,400, up by $4,100 at the Metropolitan, to which it moved from the Earle.

New Haven's grosses were led by "Broadway Melody of 1938" and "Think Fast, Mr. Moto," on a dual at the Poli, with $10,000. "Stella Dallas" was strong at the Roger Sherman, taking $7,200. After a record first week at the College, "Dead End," paired with "The Lady Escapes," did $4,000, or $1,200 over par.

"Thin Ice" went to town at the Hippodrome in Cleveland taking $16,000 and bettering average by $4,500. It was moved to the Allen for a continued downtown run. "Topper" was in the money with $18,000 at Loew's State, and "Varsity Show" held up in its second week at the Allen with $6,500.

In Milwaukee, "Dead End" and "Public Wedding" at the Warner accounted for a neat $7,300, over par by $2,300. "Broadway Melody of 1938," teamed with "One Mile from Heaven," ran a close second with $10,000 at the Wisconsin.

"Super Sleuth" was good for $14,000 against an $8,000 average at Loew's in Montreal, aided by "Hollywood Hotel Revue" on the stage. "Thin Ice" drew a strong $10,500 at the Capitol.

"Thin Ice," dualled with "One Mile from Heaven," topped the San Francisco takes at the Paramount, gross-ing $16,000, over par by $3,000. The $9,000 "Stella Dallas" took at the United Artists in its second week was good.

Oklahoma City had a quiet week, but "Thin Ice" ran ahead of the field with $6,900 against a $4,000 average at the Midwest.

The Main Street in Kansas City did the best comparative gross in a mild week, "Varsity Show" and "Hideaway" taking $9,700, over par by $1,700. "Thin Ice" did $7,800 in six days of its second Fox stanza and was moved to the Uptown for a third. "Lost Horizon" clocked a good $12,800.

"Dead End" hit the high spots in Cincinnati, taking $17,800 at the Albee. "100 Men and a Girl" was runner-up, doing $15,500 at the RKO Palace, and continuing at the RKO Capitol.

"Confession," assisted by Phil Spitalny on the stage, took $24,600 at the Michigan, while "You Can't Have Everything," aided by Dave Rubinoff on the stage, took $23,500 at the Fox in a holdover.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" captured Denver in a big way, accounting for a smash $16,000 at the Denver, more than double the normal. It was moved to the Aladdin. "Thin Ice" was strong at the Broadway with $3,500 in a third downtown week, and was held for a fourth. "Lost Horizon" likewise was in the good money.

Seattle liked "Lost Horizon" to the box-office tune of $10,000 at the Liberty, which doubles the house's average take. "Thin Ice" on a dual with "One Mile from Heaven," did its share at the Fifth Avenue, with $9,250. The bill was held.

"100 Men and a Girl" held its power in Philadelphia in a second week, taking $17,000 at the Fox, over par by $3,000. "Stella Dallas" held up, with $9,000 at the Aldine in its third week.

the carpenters have a working agreement and closed shop at the studios.

The local officials here were notified that all conversations concerning the basic pact will be made henceforth by officers of the International.

This is seen as meaning either a fight on the I. A. jurisdictional claims or a swing by the International officers to recognition of the jurisdictional claims of the I. A.

Cliff Mace, local business agent of the carpenters, said it means a fight, but informed quarters are doubtful of such an eventuality. The carpenters' local members here are irked at the I. A. for not obtaining an additional 10 per cent raise at this year's basic agreement conference in New York. Last year the carpenters wanted a 15 per cent increase but refused to accept 10 per cent. The producers did nothing about it and gave only the general 10 per cent increase this year. In other words, the other crafts in the basic agreement have received 20 per cent in the last two years, while the carpenters have obtained only 10 per cent.

Actors to Avoid I. A. Fight

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—"The Screen Actors' Guild will do everything in its power to avoid a fight with the I.A.T.S.E., but if a fight comes the I. A. will start it and the guild will finish it," said Aubrey Blair, executive secretary of the Junior Screen Actors' Guild, before a meeting of junior guild extras and bit players last night.

The question of the I. A. jurisdictional claim over the actors was brought up from the floor in a lively session, with various factions of the guild attempting to bring about a change in the guild's present policies. Blair, in answer to a question, said that while the guild owes the I. A. something for past support, it is in no way intended to permit that organization to govern the Actors' Guild.

"Thin Ice" Up With $16,000, San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—"Thin Ice," on a dual with "One Mile from Heaven," was in the big money with a take of $16,000 at the Paramount. This topped normal by $3,000.

"Life of the Party," with a stage show, reached $17,000 at the Golden Gate, and "Double or Nothing," dualled with "London by Night," were good for $7,500 at the St. Francis. "Stella Dallas" held up to $9,000 in its second week at the United Artists.

Leases Salt Lake House

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 20.—Intermountain Theatres has signed a long-term lease for a new 1,800-seat theatre now under construction on State St. and Broadway. The Tracy Loan & Trust Co. negotiated the deal.

"Dallas" Hits $36,000, Big For the Loop

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—"Stella Dallas" was the most attractive thing in the Loop last week and gave the Oriental a $36,000 gross, which was $21,000 better than average. This was the first attraction to play the Oriental on the new advanced price scale which came about with the booking of "A" films into the house.

The return of Eddie Duchin to the Chicago plus "Double Or Nothing" on the screen was a popular combination, getting $40,000 which was $8,000 above normal. The final week of the "Life of Emile Zola" was in the big money and the picture could have stayed another month. The gross was $14,000.

The State-Lake, with "Flight from Glory," the Palace, with Bobby Breen in person, and the Roosevelt, with "Varsity Show," all did strong business. "Dead End" at the U. A. continued in the big money at $21,000 for the second week.

Quits National Theatre

SEATTLE, Sept. 20.—H. Stanley McLeod has resigned as manager of National Theatre Supply's local office and will enter the theatre equipment business for himself. He is being succeeded temporarily by Robert P. Haase. After Jan. 1, the office will be in charge of Heaton Randall, now head of the National office in Salt Lake City.

Pick Kay Francis' Next

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Although Kay Francis has a suit on file seeking declaratory relief from her Warner contract, the studio has announced "A Prayer for My Sons," the Hugh Walpole novel, as a vehicle for her. Billie and Bobbie Mauch will be in the supporting cast.

"Broadway Melody" Big in New Haven

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 20.—"Broadway Melody of 1938" and "Think Fast, Mr. Moto" led the town with a gross of $10,800, over the usual Loew-Poli take by $2,800. The bill was held at the College.

"Stella Dallas" at the Roger Sherman took $7,200, over average by $2,600. "On Such a Night," with a stage revue, turned in $6,300, up by $1,500. After a record first week of $13,000, "Dead End" and "The Lady Escapes" piled up an additional $4,000 at the College, over par for the house at lower admissions by $1,200.

Set New Rules For Canadian Broadcasting

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—Effective Nov. 1, entirely new restrictive regulations for broadcasting in the Dominion under the auspices and control of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. have been passed by the corporation's board of governors of which N. L. Nathanson, president of Famous Players Canadian Corp., is one of nine members.

The new conditions, just announced by Gladstone Murray, general manager, include the following:

Liquor, wine and beer advertising is prohibited except in those provinces where such promotional work is permitted under provincial statutes.

Advertising time on any commercial program originating in Canada is restricted to 10 per cent, as compared with five per cent under the previous code.

Food and drug advertising must be submitted to the Federal Dep't of National Health before being put on the air as a protection for the public.

Fortune telling, crystal gazing or other foretelling advice must not be broadcast, while other prohibited material includes: any act or thing prohibited by law; the price of goods, services or admissions; programs or announcements of any insurance company not registered to do business in Canada; information regarding bonds, stocks, shares, units or royalties other than the securities of the Dominion, provincial or municipal governments or public service corporations, except that daily quotations can be given without comment; dramatized political broadcasts; political broadcasts for two days preceding an election and on election day; the actual proceeding at any trial in a Canadian court; abusive comment on any race, religion or creed; obscene, indecent or profane language; malicious, scandalous or defamatory matter; false or deceptive statements; all references to birth control or venereal diseases; programs presenting a person who claims supernatural or psychic powers or who supports to answer or solve questions or problems submitted by members of the public, and false and misleading news or rumors.

News broadcasts are restricted to official announcements by the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., news bulletins supplied by the Canadian Press, Ltd., or local news presented by a newspaper or such news as collected by the employes of a broadcasting station. Spot commercial announcements are generally forbidden between 7.30 P.M. and 11 P.M. on week days and are entirely prohibited on Sundays. Mechanical reproduction of a program during the same weekday hours are also prohibited except by special permission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—New accounts using KYA include Swiss Diamond Palace, Zinke's Shoe Renewing, Dickerson's Shoes, Dr. H. Hoagland, Travellac Publications, the Fur Doctor, Electric Appliance Society, Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. and Lydia Pinkham.

McNinch Postpones Taking F. C. C. Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Determination of Frank R. McNinch to carry on as chairman of the Federal Power Commission until the conclusion of that body's holding company hearings will make it impossible for him to take over the position of chairman of the F.C.C. until about Oct. 1, it was made known today.

He had been expected to move over to the F.C.C. this week, but at the last moment decided to stay for the finish of the holding company fight which he initiated as head of the power commission. This will probably require two weeks or more.

Jessel and Talmadge Are Set for Mutual

After many conflicting on-and-off-again reports, it develops that Georgie Jessel and Norma Talmadge have been signed definitely for the "30 Minutes in Hollywood" participation series over Mutual. Ben Locke, who will produce the program, is authority for the foregoing.

The series will feature Jessel and Miss Talmadge, Tommy Tucker's orchestra, Amy Arnell and a juvenile singer. It will originate in the studios of KHJ, Hollywood, and will be heard locally over WOR from 6 to 6:30 P. M. The program is slated to begin Oct. 10. Its local sponsor is not known at the moment. The Redfield-Johnstone agency is handling the show.

To Air Alabama Games

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 20.—Football broadcasting plans for WSHN have been completed, all important games played by Alabama teams will be aired. Most of the games played by Alabama and Auburn will be called from the field and listeners all over the state will get the returns on a state network keyed on WSHN.

WJTD at Tuscaloosa, WALA of Mobile and WHBB of Selma will tie into the network originating at WSHN. The games will be sponsored by W. K. Kellogg Co.

Roe Gets New WCAE Post

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—Charles Roe, announcer at WCAE, has just been named first assistant to Dave Olsen, head of production at the station. Olsen took over his new post when Ed Harvey was transferred to New York and made program director of the Hearst New York State network.

Announcer to Teach

Lincoln, Sept. 20.—J. Gunnar Back, head of KFAB-KFOR's continuity department, has been signed by Gayle C. Walker, director of the University of Nebraska's school of Journalism, to teach two radio classes each week for the year. Gunnar is not new at the game, having taught at the University of Wisconsin, while with Madison radio stations.

RCA Communication To Deal with AFTA

RCA Communications, Inc., an RCA subsidiary, has granted full bargaining recognition to the American Radio Telegraphists' Ass'n. for all its radio operating personnel. The union recently won a NLRB election in New York.

RCA agreed after the election here to recognize the union nationally if proper proof of membership was shown to the NLRB. This proof has been produced. Negotiations are now underway for a contract, RCA having asked for a week to prepare figures and counter proposals made by the union. The ARTA is shortly to be known as American Communications Ass'n.

RKO Signs Healy as Radio Contact Man

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—RKO today signed Frank Healy as radio contact man for the lot. He will correlate all air activities. Healy was formerly an NBC publicity man in New York and is now connected with the Helen Ferguson publicity office. He will start work next week.

His job will be to boost music over the air, work out broadcast schedules for players to prevent their air work from interfering with production and to set special programs for lot names and product on the air.

RKO is the third studio to have an air contact man. Bill Bachmer is at M-G-M and Ruby Cowan is at Paramount.

Standard Oil in New Program

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—A new series, "Standard Oil Broadcasts," sponsored by the company bearing that name, will begin over the NBC Pacific Red network Sept. 30, Thursdays from 11 to 11:45 A. M., E.S.T. McCann-Erickson, is the agency.

duced "Showboat" and "Hollywood Hotel" on the air, in charge.

"With a few exceptions like Greta Garbo and Norma Shearer, we have the right to cast our players in radio shows. The film contracts have a clause to this effect," Sidney added.

The WHN head emphasized the fact that the show would aid the exhibitor in exploitation of stars and that the shows would prove beneficial to the box-office.

After arriving in London on Sept. 1, Sidney flew to Rotterdam, then to Prague and Budapest. He remained two days in Budapest, then took another plane to Vienna, where he spent a day. The next air jaunt was to Brussels and then to Paris, where he stayed over for two days. From Paris he returned to London. He met Louis B. Mayer, Benny Thau and Howard Strickling in Paris and London.

Sidney denied he would forsake New York for California where the air shows are to be produced. He said that as soon as he had cleared a few important matters, he will make a trip to Hollywood to get the new show started. He will spend as little time as possible on the coast and will continue to make his headquarters here.

Mayer Party to Sail Wednesday

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Louis B. Mayer, Benny Thau and Howard Strickling will sail Wednesday on the Normandie for New York and Hollywood. The party will remain in New York for a few days and then proceed to the west coast.

Quaker State Net in Commercial Opening

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—After existing in name only for the past year, the Quaker State regional network, organized by WFIL after a loosely knit existence for political broadcasts, will get under way commercially. Its first full length account has been placed by N. W. Ayer for the Atlantic Refining Co. Starting Sept. 24, 10 quarter-hour weekly stanzas will be used to present a preview on the weekend's big football classics.

With WFIL serving as the key station, the football forecast series will be carried by the Quaker State hook-up including WSN, Allentown; WGAL, Lancaster; WRAW, Reading; WHP, Harrisburg; WEST, Easton; WKOK, Sunbury; WGBI, Scranton; WRAK, Williamsport; WBRE, Wilkes-Barre; WOLK, York; WAZL, Hazleton; WJAC, Johnstown, and WWSW, Pittsburgh.

Two Join WFIL Staff

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Announcer Jay Faraghan and Roy La Plante, production man, have been added to the WFIL studio staff. Both of the new men are products of local stations, Faraghan coming from WTEL and La Plante from WHAT. Another addition is Margaret Hanley, formerly with the WIP program department, who takes over the secretarial duties for business manager Roger W. Clipp.

Thomas Halted by Legion

The Legion inflicted a grievous wound to a radio program Sunday. The program is recovering. The communique from the front follows:

Pawling, N. Y.—Lowell Thomas, scheduled to broadcast from his home here last night at 9:30 P. M., over Mutual in the first of the Commentator Magazine series, took the afternoon off to engage in a baseball game with the other eight of the "nine old men." This was a tactical error.

Starting back for Thomas G.H.Q., accompanied by Charles Payson, publisher of Commentator, and figuring to hit zero hour by a wide margin, the convoy ran into the A.E.F. of 20 years ago, headed for Broadway, beer and ballyhoo. In other words, Legionnaires in trailers by the dozen.

Result: Arrived at G.H.Q. at 9:36 for a 9:30 broadcast. They saved the day somewhat by slicing in a talk over WOR only from 9:45 to 10 P. M.

Seeks New Station

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Authority to construct a new broadcasting station at Livingston, Mont., has been asked of the F. C. C. by the Roberts-MacNab Co., in an amended application seeking use of the 1,210-kilocycle channel. The station would operate with a power of 100 watts night, 250 watts day. Other applications included requests of WIP, Philadelphia, for an increase of day power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts, and WDZ, Tuscola, Ill., for increase of power from 250 to 1,000 watts.

Nancy Brooke KDKA Librarian

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—Nancy Lyda Brooke, formerly secretary to Marjorie Stewart of the "Microphone Playhouse," has been named music librarian at KDKA. Miss Brooke will have charge of the music files for the station and will be responsible for the copyright clearance on all musical programs.

New Shows on the Air

"Passing Parade"

Most engaging of the vocal essayists in network radio is John Nesbitt, whose "Passing Parade" is now offered over Mutual instead of NBC. In radio about six months, the California youngster—they tell us he is but a few years over his 'teens—is already in the class of Edwin C. Hill, Boake Carter, and the other topflight commentators, and his sun has just begun to ascend. We liked him six months ago when he inaugurated his talks over NBC. We like him even more now.

Nesbitt shrewdly eschews spot news and presents instead tales that drip with human interest. As for example, his story of the paralyzed girl who was taken to the beach by friends and placed underneath the boardwalk as a shield from the sun. Somehow or other the friends forgot about the helpless girl . . . night came on, the crowds departed, and the tide came in. All night long the girl sat on the sand, clinging to one of the boardwalk poles as the tide rose, higher, higher, until it came up beyond her waist. She screamed for help all night, but the beach was deserted. She was discovered at dawn by a fisherman and died the next day in the hospital.

Another interesting subject was a discussion of causes for divorce, past and present. Past: Mary Heath, wife of Jeremiah, sued for a divorce in Colonial days because her husband beat her with a stick. The divorce was granted not because of the beatings, but because Jeremiah used a stick which was wider than the size of a man's thumb. Present: An English woman recently sued for divorce because her husband took to bed with him 20 cats. The judge denied the divorce because there is no law against taking cats to bed.

"Passing Parade" is sponsored by Duart Sales Co. and presented Sundays at 9 P. M. over Mutual.

"John B. Kennedy-News"

John B. Kennedy, a forceful speaker and astute judge of national and international affairs, now broadcasting twice weekly for the Kendall Refining Co. over WJZ, is the dependable type of artist who always can be depended upon to give his sponsor more than even value in exchange for his salary.

"John B. Kennedy-News," is presented Tuesdays at 7:45 P. M. and Saturdays at 6:45 P. M. over WJZ.

"The Eton Boys"

This entertaining quartet returned to the air yesterday on a sustaining period that will be heard hereafter on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:15 to 5:30 P. M. over CBS. Here is light, frothy stuff, cleverly delivered and consisting of numbers that lean more to the humorous. The initial broadcast offered such songs as "The Miller's Daughter—Mary Ann," "Satan's Holiday" and "The King's Horses," among others.

"Hotel" Anniversary Oct. 1

"Hollywood Hotel" will celebrate its fourth anniversary on CBS Oct. 1 with a gala program featuring many screen personalities as guest artists. The dramatization will be based on the picture, "Madame X," featuring Warren Williams, Gladys George and John Beal in the principal roles.

BANNER

Hollywood Town Pump

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—"Camel Caravan" will be broken into two parts, with the Jack Oakie "College" emanating from here for the first half hour, and Benny Goodman's "Swing School" from the east for the second. Raymond Hatton's contract calls for his appearance only as a football coach on the Oakie show. The split was made for possible dropping of either show if audience reaction isn't good, it is said.

Alfred Span of New York's CBS office is here to assume charge of the KNX sound effects department. . . . Fredric March and Florence Eldredge, his wife, starred in "The Outsider," famous Dorothy Brandon play, on "Lux Theatre" tonight . . . Al, Harry and Jimmy Ritz will present a tabloid version of 20th Century-Fox's "Life Begins in College," on "Hollywood Hotel" Sept. 24. . . . Conrad Nagel will be director, commentator and actor on the "1847 Silver Theatre" on CBS starting Oct. 3. The first drama will be Rosalind Russell and James Stewart in the first installment of "First Love," original play by Grover Jones, film writer.

Olsen and Johnson will take their radio troupe on a northwest tour, following the Sept. 22 broadcast. They air from San Francisco Sept. 29, Seattle Oct. 6 and Portland Oct. 13. Carol Loffner will replace Ted Fio-Rito as bandmaster for the trip.

Starting Sept. 30 and continuing for a year, Globe Department Stores will sponsor "Saving Sue and Her Husband Jack," on KECA Mondays through Fridays. The W. Austin Campbell agency placed. It's a live talent script show. . . . Horlick's will present "Lum and Abner" on KFI for a year starting Sept. 27. Lord and Thomas placed. . . . Burns and Allen will change their NBC Coast red time from 6:30 to 7 P. M. to 7:30 to 8 P. M., P. S. T., starting Sept. 25. . . . Gertrude Niesen will be Ben Bernie's guest Sept. 22.

Teresa Aezer, soprano, has been added to the music library of KFI-KECA, replacing Donald Estep, who resigned to continue his U. C. L. A. course. . . . Starting Friday, Bob Garrett will present "The Hollywood Tattle Tale," film gossip column, on KMTR. It's a weekly program.

CBS Holiday Today

CBS employees have been granted the day off today so that they may witness the day-long American Legion Parade.

Variety Club Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—The latest additions to the club roster are ARCHIE FINEMAN and MIKE SHAPIRO, active members, and BERNARD GELDER, an associate.

BOB HALL was guest-of-honor at the last dinner and he promised to be on hand again for the annual banquet Nov. 14.

BERNIE ARMSTRONG and his wife, DOROTHY BUSHEY, had most of the KDKA crowd out for their sponsorship of Family Night.

Although the banquet is still two months away, more than 250 reservations are in.

GEORGE TYSON is putting in an appearance again after his three months in Atlantic City, where he directed the annual Showmen's Jubilee and Beauty Pageant.

DICK STABILE and GEORGE BARRIE did their bit in the entertainment attending HARRY KALMINE's birthday party.

Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—M. B. HORTWITZ, chief barker, has announced Dec. 4 as the date for the annual Variety Club Ball. It will be held in the ballroom of the Allerton Hotel. Col. NAT WOLF, Warner zone manager, is general chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The Variety Club also has scheduled a Keno Party to be held election night, Nov. 2, at which $1,500 will be given away in prizes. First prize is $1,000, with five other prizes of $100 each.

Columbia Deal Ends Los Angeles Tangle

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Columbia ended a first run jam in downtown Los Angeles and Hollywood today with the signing of a deal with the RKO Hillstreet and Pantages too take the entire lineup.

The deal will start with "Lost Horizon." It will go in after the end of the run of "100 Men and a Girl."

The second picture will be "The Awful Truth" and the third will be "I'll Take Romance."

This arrangement gives the theatres three studios to draw from, RKO and Universal having cleared their programs some time ago. Columbia had a deal with Paramount downtown for first runs of important pictures, but it was called off when the Paramount refused to drop stage shows for the "Lost Horizon" run and balked at the percentage asked.

Norma Shearer Back To Work Next Month

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Norma Shearer's return to the screen was definitely set today with a decision to make "Marie Antoinette" here and not in England, as originally planned.

The picture will be started next month with Hunt Stromberg producing. It will be the first of three important pictures he has lined up. Others will be "The Thin Man's Return" and "Idiot's Delight."

Sidney Franklin will direct Miss Shearer.

Cole Admits Allied Backs Texas Action

Testimony Given Second Day of Trust Suit

DALLAS, Sept. 21.—Col. H. A. Cole, president of Allied of Texas, admitted today that his organization had been a factor in bringing the Federal anti-trust suit against the Interstate Circuit and major distributors. He was on the stand most of the morning as a Government witness in the second day of the case.

Cole told the court he had gone to Karl Hoblitzelle, president of Interstate, to protest the proposed contract to keep second run pictures at 25 cents. Cole quoted Hoblitzelle as saying that he wanted to help exhibitors, but Cole testified that he had insisted the contract would work a hardship on small operators who wanted to charge 10 and 15 cents.

Cole also said that he had talked to a number of branch managers of major companies, including those of Columbia and 20th Century-Fox, and they had informed him they were opposed to the plan and that attorneys had advised them they considered it illegal.

Monday's session was largely de-

Goldwyn-Korda United Artists Buy Details Ready, Says Rose

Financial arrangements for the purchase of the stock interest of Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks in United Artists by Samuel Goldwyn and Alexander Korda are set, David Rose, vice-president and financial adviser of Samuel Goldwyn, Inc., stated yesterday.

Rose will sail today on the Queen Mary for London, where he will confer with British bankers and Korda. He declined to mention the bankers, but stated he expected to return with Korda within a month, if not sooner. Rose's trip is for the purpose of ironing out a few details which remain to be completed before the options held by Korda and Goldwyn can be exercised, he added.

When Korda sailed for England several months ago, he said that he and Goldwyn will control United Artists under the deal, each holding a half interest. Approximately $6,000,000 is involved.

Record Year Foreseen in Ross Survey

A record sales year faces the film industry, it is indicated in a two-week nationwide economic survey of 29 key distribution centers and surrounding areas just completed by Ross Federal Service, Inc. The prospects for a year in which all previous box-office records are expected by the Ross organization to be surpassed are based on three chief factors.

In the first place, economic conditions throughout the country are showing a decided upturn. A large amount of spendable money is being gathered in the farm areas, where crop expectations and realizations are unusually high this year. The upswing is expected to continue despite labor unrest, epidemics and other localized factors.

Secondly, the previously unequalled production budgets of all major companies are seen as indicative of high box-office receipts by reason of concentration by the coast studios on big pictures.

Thirdly, the improvement in economic conditions and the prospects of big pictures and consequent high grosses have spurred exhibitors throughout the country to reopen and improve their theatres, with theatre

Japan Forbids Film Imports To Year's End

The Japanese Finance Ministry has issued a decree prohibiting the importation of any films from any source, with the single exception of newsreels, from now until the end of the year, it was learned from official sources here yesterday.

The decree is an emergency "war" measure and under its provisions even newsreels which are admitted must have a special entry permit. Films already on hand in distribution offices in Japan are not affected by the decree and may be released. As several American companies are known to have an appreciable number of unreleased films in Japan no immediate shortage of pictures is expected. Paramount and M-G-M together are reported to have approximately 50 unreleased features on hand in Japan.

It was also reported that the decree went into effect on Sept. 4, at which time Government officials at Tokio are said to have recommended the removal of admission charges to baseball games throughout Japan both to replace an expected curtailment in theatre attendance and to increase the availability of wartime recreation for the populace.

Guilds Draw Battle Lines On the IATSE

Inter-Talent Council Is Named to Confer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.—Opposition to I. A. T. S. E. encroachments on jurisdiction of film crafts, already organized, formed definitely on several fronts today. Most important was the naming by the Screen Actors' Guild of an inter-talent council to confer with the Screen Directors and Writers on mutual problems.

In a move by the Actors' Guild board of directors last night they named Ralph Morgan, Franchot Tone and Elizabeth Risdon to the council with Robert Montgomery, president, as ex-officio member. The guild announcement did not mention the I. A. jurisdictional claim.

The second most important factor in the I. A. fight is the signing by a total of four studios of contracts with their white collar employees. M-G-M signed yesterday and Paramount, 20th Century-Fox and Warners today announced the signing of pacts giving office employees wage increases and instituting an improvement in working conditions.

Negotiations had been under way for some time and the actual signing

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

DIPPING into the convenient mail bag, right side of the desk and bulging, this came out from a well known independent exhibitor operating in a prosperous near Middle Western city:

"I read with great interest the fine business that the Music Hall rolled up during the past many years. I have also compared the intake from my various neighborhood theatres on the same pictures and now I am fully convinced that nearly any picture that does a smash business in the Music Hall will do only fair business in the neighborhood theatres. I am going to give you an honest résumé of the same pictures you refer to and let you see for yourself as to why I make such a statement." . . .

True to his word, the correspondent did. Here is his list, rearranged to conform with original Music Hall compilation from which he drew his inspiration. However, the reshuffle is by title; his comment, naturally, remains unaltered:

TOP HAT—Not mentioned and presumably not played.
PRISONER OF ZENDA—Not yet played, but "very good business" predicted.
SWING TIME—Good.
LITTLE MINISTER—Only fair.
LITTLE WOMEN—Good.
RAINBOW ON THE RIVER—Fairly good.
CAVALCADE—Fairly good.
WALTER WANGER'S VOGUES OF 1938—Not yet played, but "fair business" forecast.
FOLLOW THE FLEET—Good.
ONE NIGHT OF LOVE—Fairly good.
ONE MAN'S JOURNEY—Not even fair.
NANA—Poor.
PRIVATE LIFE OF HENRY VIII—Good.
CARDINAL RICHELIEU—Fair.
MORNING GLORY—Not even fair.
WHEN YOU'RE IN LOVE—Fair.
STAR IS BORN—Very good.
TOPAZE—Not even fair.
MARY OF SCOTLAND—Poor.
MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION—Very good.
MY MAN GODFREY—Very good.
LOVE ME FOREVER—Fair.
BROADWAY BILL—Very good.
THAT GIRL FROM PARIS—Fair.
SEVENTH HEAVEN—Fair.

"I felt that a small man's experience on the very same pictures you write about would be interesting to you and probably give you something more to write about," he concluded. On a day when the hardy Legionnaires are blaring their way up the Avenue and the air is full of shredded paper and bombers, he was quite right. His communication did make columnizing easier, even if it established little that was conclusive. His own deduction that "nearly any picture that does a smash business in the Music Hall will do only fair business in the neighborhood theatres," it seems to us, is cinching it with a great deal more finality than his proffered evidence reveals. Within the confines of his own experience, attraction like and like, he is correct in his conclusion. When he sets out to speak for all neighborhood theatres, versus the Music Hall, he stands on thin ice and this has nothing to do with Sonja Henie.

Circuit operators to whom excessively long shows mean less frequent turnover and, thus, greater overhead, if not decreased profits, are complaining again about Hollywood footage. This is no criticism let loose at a particular studio, but at all studios. The tendency has been in evidence for months now. We had something to say about it from the coast when the year was younger. Then, the endeavor was to point out how worthwhile attractions ran the danger of dissipating their entertainment content by the anti-climax method, an old and constantly-with-us Hollywood custom. . . .

Now the circumstance is still around and, if anything at all, is more flagrant. Not alone is it the anti-climax which is responsible. Extended and overplayed sequences in the beginning, and before and after the middle, continue to poke substantial blows at well-knit and cohesive jobs of picture making. The consequences where the man running the theatre enters into it, are apparent, of course. But there are other consequences from which the public cannot be divorced and there you have what ought to be the prime consideration. To assume that a film well-done in seventy-five minutes will emerge just as entertaining a job in ninety or one hundred and ten or as an improved job for each additional minute of screen time is a fallacious approach. There are those at the studios who do not understand or appreciate this. A corrective follow-up decidedly is in order. . . .

Jack Cohn was one entire smile yesterday. Let him tell it: "Our three-year deal with the Music Hall gives us a maximum of one-third of that theatre's playing time. 'Lost Horizon', as your own key city reports should have told you [they have], is doing a whale of a business." Harry is in town and, widely at variance with his usual advance caution on new product, is talk-

Suits Filed by Ascap Charge Infringement

Renewing its drive against alleged infringements of copyrighted songs by music sellers and song book publishers, Philip Cohen, attorney for Ascap, today filed on behalf of the society Federal Court suits demanding $250 for each infringement assertedly made by Resk & Co., Charles Resk, Lucien & Co., Al Lucien, Metz & Co. and Carl Metz.

Also filed on behalf of Select Music Publishing Co., Famous Music Co., and Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., Inc., were similar suits against the Crescent News Co. and Roy Cowan on alleged infringements. The drive is aimed at publications giving words and sometimes the music of songs in an unauthorized manner. Cohen said the sheets are now being sold in grocery stores, book stands and other places.

Nebraska Theatres Pay Ascap $11,250

LINCOLN, Sept. 21.—Ascap collected $11,250 from 250 theatres in Nebraska last year, it was shown in the findings of facts submitted to the Federal statutory court here today which will decide the constitutionality of the state's legislation barring Ascap from operating in Nebraska. The findings complete the information which the court has asked for and a decision is expected within the next few weeks.

The findings also showed that Ascap received $22,361 from nine radio stations which paid $4,137 each; 24 restaurants paid $56 each and 24 hotels $360 each. Dance halls paid $25 each. The theatre assessments were $45 each. The society reported that it paid $53,984 of its Nebraska collections for the year to 41,000 composers whom it represents. Lancaster County (Lincoln) returned $14,435 in revenue to Ascan, and Douglas County (Omaha) $22,361.

Control of Springer Houses to Be Split

Interest in the seven upper Broadway theatres recently taken over by Skouras Theatres on a long-term lease from the estate of Jack W. Springer will be split three ways, it was learned yesterday. George Skouras, William White and RKO will be the three partners, but what percentage of interest each will have has not yet been decided.

Included in the group of theatres are the Beacon, 77th St., Stoddard, Thalia, Symphony and Olympia.

White and RKO now have an interest in the Skouras circuit, exclusive of the recent additions.

ing at length and all in adjectives on 'The Awful Truth'. Then the Grace Moore film is on the way up. "Now you tell me why I shouldn't smile." Searching for a reply, we end this without having found one. . . .

The Los Angeles city council on Monday adopted an ordinance fixing the boundaries of that part of the city which from now on will be known as Hollywood. Officially. A progressive step. Now the blame can be fixed. . . .

Music Hall to Play "Snow White" Xmas

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" has been booked into the Music Hall for Christmas Week. The picture, which has been completed in black and white, will run one hour, 26 minutes. The first reel in Technicolor has just been finished.

Ned E. Depinet and Nate J. Blumberg, who have just returned from the coast, saw the black and white print and said that the picture is everything that has been predicted for it.

Spencer Tracy in a Grand Comedy Drama, 'Big City'

By EILEEN CREELMAN.

They don't often have surprise hits out in Hollywood. Only once in a long while does a picture sneak up on Broadway and turn out to be one of the funniest, most likable films of the year. "Big City" is such a film. Yesterday it opened at the Capitol Theater, an unpretentious picture filled with chuckles, thrills and more than a few loud guffaws.

Spencer Tracy and Luise Rainer, each of whom has been outstanding this year in important dramas, "Captains Courageous" and "The Good Earth," are teamed for the first time in "Big City." Mr. Tracy gives his usual steady performance, giving to the role much more than even its authors probably expected. Even with Mr. Tracy in it, "Big City" is not a starring vehicle. This is a writer's film, and a director's. A good cast simply helps matters along, helps quite a bit. But it is the writing and directing that make the picture.

Mr. Tracy plays the American husband of a young immigrant. It gives him a chance for comedy, for tenderness, for a bit of drama.

"Big City" has somewhat the flavor of "Lady for a Day." The last two reels are a grand piece of comedy drama hokum, with such celebrated athletes as Jack Dempsey, Jim Jeffries, Jimmy McLarnin and Man Mountain Dean taking part in a hilarious rough-and-tumble fight. They seemed to be having as much fun as the audience.

Frank Borzage, the director, has kept both comedy and drama lively from the opening scene to that last explosive laugh at the finish. The story tells of a quarrel between rival taxi companies, of a murder carried out by one company, of the efforts of the independent taxi owners to protect the immigrant girl, who is framed and accused of the murder. They hide Anna, transferring her from hideout to hideout, while the police rave. That last mad sequence comes just in time to save her from deportation.

Bombings Are Revived

A revival of bombings occurred late Monday night in seven local theatres when tear gas bombs exploded in the Royal, Alpine, Lane, Manhattan, Ward, Rosedale and Square in the Bronx and Manhattan.

As a result of the repeated bombings of theatres during the past nine days Mayor LaGuardia yesterday offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the indictment of those responsible.

Osgood Perkins, 45, Dies in Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Osgood Perkins, 45, died here last night at his hotel following his opening performance in "Susan and God" with Gertrude Lawrence. Death was due to heart failure. Mrs. Perkins and a five-year-old son survive.

Perkins began his professional career with the Theatre Guild in New York, and appeared in a number of plays on Broadway. His most recent screen appearance was in "Gold Diggers of 1937" for Warners last year. He made his first screen appearances in 1929 for Pathe.

Goldin Rites Today

Monogram is giving serious consideration to the production of quota pictures in Czechoslovakia and Poland, according to Ritchey. In both countries, 100 per cent distribution is guaranteed for all pictures made at local studios.

Films Entertainment Only, Says Milliken

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 21.—Films "confine themselves to the business of furnishing wholesome entertainment and cannot replace the teacher or preacher and cannot substitute for parental training of children," asserted Carl E. Milliken, secretary of the M. P. P. D. A., before the Maine Universalist convention today.

Under the leadership of Will H. Hays, he said, the industry "has developed its own self-government to make certain that accepted standards of morality are not flouted and the canons of good taste are not offended."

Universal Board Meets

A meeting of the board of Universal Pictures was held last night. J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of the board, said that "routine business, such as a discussion of what pictures should be made and what shouldn't" occupied the session.

Charles R. Rogers, executive producer, who arrived from the coast yesterday to attend the meeting, plans to remain here a week or 10 days.

Harry Cohn Here

Harry Cohn, president of Columbia, is in town from Hollywood on a short visit. The chief purpose of the trip was to see the stage version of "You Can't Take It with You" which will be one of the big Columbia releases this season. Cohn expects to return west on Saturday.

Jersey Allied Meet Gets Started Today

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 21.—Allied of New Jersey will open its annual convention at the Ritz-Carlton tomorrow with an eastern directors' meeting scheduled as the highlight for the day.

Abram F. Myers, general counsel; Nathan Yamins, president of the national organization, and several other directors are slated to attend.

The first general session is to be called in the Trellis room at 3 P. M. and will last two hours.

Thursday's schedule calls for committee meetings to start at 10 A. M. in the Trellis room, a trade show, a general session in the afternoon, from 2 to 5 P. M., a cocktail party in the Palm Court of the hotel and the annual banquet at night.

On Friday, the last general session will be held prior to the election of officers.

During the sessions, members will make a product survey of all companies and outline sales policies.

Harry Brandt, president of the I. T. O. A., on Thursday will propose a plan for the merging of his organization with the New Jersey group.

Italian Offer to Wilcox

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Herbert Wilcox, on his return from Italy after the award of the first prize at the Venice Film Festival to "Victoria the Great," stated that the Italian Government had invited him to make a series of pictures in Rome, offering special production facilities and financial aid. He will discuss the proposition after his return from America.

voted to arguments of attorneys for each side.

George S. Wright, chief of several attorneys for the theatres and distributors, said that the right of the owner of a copyright to defend its value was challenged in this case. He said that Karl Hoblitzelle and R. J. O'Donnell, principals of the Interstate, had taken over the theatres from bankruptcy, alleging too, that the operation of their chain still left room for competition.

The Government, in outlining its case, charged the companies were operated under a monopoly and in restraint of trade.

Much of the case will hinge on the policies of operating subsequent runs, it was indicated when Henderson, Government attorney, charged that the firms named had forced a price of 25 cents for second runs.

Sues on His Story

Quirico Michelena Llaguno yesterday filed suit in the U. S. District Court for the Southern District against 20th Century-Fox charging "deliberate piracy" on his story, "Paz en la Guena." He alleged "The World Moves On," released by 20th Century-Fox in Mexico as "Paz en la Tierra," is an infringement of his work and claims he obtained a judgment against Fox Films of Mexico, S. A., in the Federal and Superior Tribunal Court in Mexico on that ground. Now he seeks a permanent injunction against further distribution, damages and an accounting of the profits.

"Confession," Spitalny Best Detroit Draw

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—"Confession" on the screen of the Michigan, with Phil Spitalny and his girl orchestra on the stage, led in a close "name" race with the Fox which featured "You Can't Have Everything" and Rubinoff and his violin.

The take at the Michigan was $24,600, up by $4,600. At the Fox the $23,500 gross was over par by $3,500. The Fox show was a holdover.

"New Faces of 1937" showed a neat profit on a take of $11,700 at the Madison.

Total first run business was $82,300. Average is $70,000.

was done in the face of the I. A. T. S. E. claim over white collar workers. A meeting of the Society of M. P. Film Editors last night heard leaders tell of the producer refusal for further negotiations because of the I. A. jurisdiction claim. They also heard Donald Ogden Stewart of the Writers' Guild urge them to retain their identity and not accede to the alliance claims. Dudley Nichols, president of the Screen Writers, headed a writers' delegation attending the editors' meeting.

About 200 editors signed notarized statements that the I. A. had no authority to speak for them.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.—The Screen Writers Guild today appointed Jane Murfin, Boris Ingster and Philip Dunne as members of the Inter-Talent Council of Actor, Writers and Directors Guilds to fight the I.A.T.S.E. Charles Brackett, acting president of the Writers Guild, is a member ex-officio.

The directors and guild officers will ask Frank Capra, William Wellman and Richard Wallace to serve for them although no definite appointment has yet been made.

"End" Is $17,800 Hit in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21. — "Dead End," with a $17,800 take at the RKO Albee where $12,000 is normal, led last week's box-office parade. The film was shifted to Keith's.

"100 Men and a Girl" was the runner-up, giving the RKO Palace $15,500 against a $10,000 average. It continues at the RKO Capitol. "Broadway Melody of 1938" went to $3,600 for an $850 plus sign on its fourth downtown week at the RKO Grand.

"Stella Dallas" came within sight of par with a $6,200 take on its second downtown week at the RKO Capitol, and was moved to the RKO Grand for a fourth stanza.

Total first run business was $63,250. Average is $58,700.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 16:

"DEAD END" (U.A.)
RKO ALBEE—(3,300), 35c-42c, 7 days. Gross: $17,800. (Average, $12,000) Moved to Keith's.

The order has also been extended in Wauwatosa, local suburb, while at Stanley, Wis., all schools have been ordered closed and children under 16 banned from theatres.

Decide on "Tovarich"

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21. — Warners have changed the title of "Tonight's Our Night" back to its original, "Tovarich."

"Dead End" Is $21,500 Lead In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—The smash of last week was "Dead End" at the Penn. It grossed $21,500, which was enough to give it a second week at the nearby Warner.

Both of the holdovers continued to show surprising strength, "Lost Horizon" doing $10,250 at the Alvin and "Thin Ice" $8,100 at the Fulton. A product jam forced the Alvin to yank the picture after the second week, but the Fulton is keeping "Thin Ice" for a third and possibly fourth. Glen Gray's Casa Loma band kept "Knight Without Armor" in the Stanley's profit column at $19,500.

Total first run grosses were $63,050. Average is $43,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 16:

"LOST HORIZON" (Col.)
ALVIN—(2,000), 25c-50c, 7 days, 2nd week. Gross: $10,250. (Average, $5,500)

IRNA and AFM Groups Meet With No Agreement Reached

The special IRNA committee appointed to draft a trade agreement for the 258 stations embraced in that group and the A. F. M. international committee met in a 12-hour session yesterday in an effort to reach an accord but fell short of the mark.

Broadcasters and federation officials said, however, that they were in agreement over the basic points of the contract which was written by Samuel E. Rosenbaum of WFIL, Philadelphia. The dispute, they said, was caused by the wording of several of the stipulations. What these were, however, was not revealed.

The IRNA trade agreement committee appointees are Rosenbaum and Emil Gough, of Hearst Radio, Inc. John Shepard was present at yesterday's conference, however.

A tentative agreement was reached before the close of the meeting, it was said by Rosenbaum. He will return to Philadelphia today to revise the document for resubmission to the A. F. M. If the revised document is met with A. F. M. approval it will be sent by mail to the IRNA special advisory committee who will in turn submit it to the general IRNA membership.

Asked how many station owners had returned questionnaires recently sent them by the IRNA requesting data on their operations, Gough said that it was his understanding that a number had been received and that many other station owners had wired their intention to comply.

Start "Man on Street" Series

ADA, Okla., Sept. 21.—As a part of the regular daily broadcast of "Parade of the News," KDKA has begun a "Man on the Street" broadcast. For several weeks the station had been presenting news and features on the half-hour program, but decided the personal interviews with persons on the street would be more interesting. The program will be presented on Tuesday and Friday mornings.

Add to NBC Salesmen

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Harry F. Anderson, sales manager of the Western Division of NBC, has added two new members to his sales force. They are William Bernard Ryan and Ramond A. Smart. Ryan has been with Foster & Kleiser, outdoor advertising company, for the past nine years. Smart is recently graduated from the University of Washington.

Joins Radio Committee

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Leslie Joy, station manager of KYW, has been appointed to the radio committee of the Poor Richard Club, circle of advertising men. Plans have already been made for KYW to broadcast the weekly luncheon sessions of the club, starting next month.

Gilman Heads Ad Club Unit

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Don E. Gilman, vice-president in charge of NBC's western division, has been named chairman of the Radio Department of the Pacific Advertising Club's conclave for June, 1938. The meeting will be held at Los Angeles.

Star Radio Gets Out "Neighbors" Booklet

Star Radio Programs, Inc., has released the new "Good Neighbors" sales brochure to all stations in the U. S. and Canada in a promotion drive for the series. The brochure was prepared by Star Radio's sales promotion division as a presentation to be used by station salesmen.

The folder contains many merchandising plans, including copies of "Penny Stretchers," press releases, an outline of the "Good Morning Neighbor Club" plan, and copies of special membership certificates. A complete audition script and a reprint of an article on woman's programs by Gay Lee, author of "Good Neighbors," are also part of the brochure.

Latest stations to sign for "Good Morning Neighbors" are WORL, WMPS, KOVC, WSPD, KTAT, and CFAC.

WNBX to Affiliate With CBS Sept. 26

WNBX, the largest station in Vermont or New Hampshire, and the only network station in Vermont, will become an affiliate of CBS, effective Sept. 26. WNBX is in Springfield, Vermont, and operates with a power of 1,000 watts, day and night. The station will sever its current Mutual affiliation when it joins CBS.

WNBX is operated under the direction of the Twin States Broadcasting Corp., Harry C. Wilder, president. Phil Hoffman, formerly with the Iowa network, is manager; Charles Denny, director of sales.

Renew "Voice of Hollywood"

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—The program for Manhattan Soap Sales Corp. on KNX, "Voice of Hollywood" has been renewed for 13 weeks, effective Oct. 1. The series is heard Friday afternoons and features Thomas Conrad Sawyer and Ruth Jordan. Milton Weinberg Adv. Co. placed the account.

Blue Diamonds for WMCA

Herbert's Blue White Diamonds begins a new series on WMCA, effective October 17. While details for the new series are as yet incomplete it is understood that the program will be a variety show presenting a group of singers and a 13-piece orchestra in an hour's broadcast weekly on Sundays at 12:30 P. M.

Jessica Dragonette to Sing

Jessica Dragonette will sing at Madison Square Garden tonight for the American Legion after her CBS broadcast for Colgate-Palmolive-Peet of "Dearest Enemy." Her repertoire for the Legionnaires will include "Indian Love Call" and "Old Folks at Home."

"Romancers" Back to WOR

"The Romancers," in a quarter-hour program sponsored by the Weston Biscuit Co., will return to WOR in a new series beginning Sept. 26, from 9:15 to 9:30 P. M.

Radio Personals

HILDEGARDE will arrive here Thursday aboard the French liner Champlain . . . Another returning radio voyager aboard the same liner will be Wilfred Pelletier . . . Virginia Bruce will support Clark Gable in the Lux "Radio Theatre" production of "Cimarron," Sept. 27 . . . Bobby Feldman has left WNEW to return to WMCA to extend that station's late night dance series . . . Kirsten Flagstad will make her first radio appearance of the season on the Ford "Sunday Evening Hour," Oct. 3 . . . Martin Starr, WMCA reviewer, will be dispatched to Washington this Saturday for an airing of the opening of John Golden's out-of-town tryout of "Susan and God" . . . The review will be heard at midnight and will be fed to WMCA through WOL. With regular out-of-town reviews planned this means that WMCA is now leading all other studios in coverage of dramatic shows. It now features Broadway first night reviews of Broadway shows and reviews of London shows given the same night they open in the British capital . . .

Drops Suit Against Carter

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 21.—The $100,000 slander suit which Governor Hoffman instituted against Boake Carter over the commentator's criticism of his conduct of the Hauptmann case, has been dropped. The governor granted a general release to all parties involved, comprising Carter, Atlantic Broadcasting Corp., WCAU Broadcasting Co., Philco Radio and Television Corps. of New York and Pennsylvania, and the Philadelphia Storage Battery Co.

Holtman to Join NBC

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 21.—John Holtman, chief announcer of WFBM the last year and an announcer for the station for five years, will join the NBC mike staff in Chicago next week. Ben Wilbur of WHKC, Columbus succeeds Holtman.

"For Women Only" on WNEW

The American Institute of Food Products will sponsor "For Women Only" over WNEW for 52 weeks, beginning Sept. 27. The program is offered Monday through Saturday from 8:45 to 9:15 A. M. The Schillin Adv. Co. placed the account.

Dave Carter Joins H. A. Bruno

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.—Dave Carter, until recently west coast director of publicity for CBS, has been appointed general representative on the Pacific Coast for H. A. Bruno & Associates, New York publicity firm.

Schoelwer to Start 4th Year

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—"Whispering" Eddie Schoelwer will begin his fourth consecutive year of broadcasting under the sponsorship of Solway Furniture Co., Sept. 22 over WKRC.

Knell WEEI Producer

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—John Knell has joined WEEI, Columbia-leased outlet, as a continuity man and producer. He had been with WHDH, for four years.

Symphony Series to Be Given 28 Weeks

The Philharmonic Symphony series, an exclusive CBS feature since 1930, will this year be given for 28 weeks, an extension of four weeks over last year. John Barbirolli will conduct for all but one month of the term, and Deems Taylor, CBS consultant of music, will serve again as commentator.

The soloists set thus far for the series include Kirsten Flagstad, Beal Hober, Richard Bonelli; the pianists, Walter Gieseking, Josef Hoffman, Vladimir Horowitz, Mischa Levitski, Eugene List, Guimar Novaes, Artur Rubinstein and Ernest Schelling; the British duo-pianists, Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson; the American composer, Abram Chasins as soloist in his own piano concerto; the violinists, Mischa Elman, Georges Enesco, Jascha Heifetz, Yehudi Menuhin, John Corigliano, Mischel Piastro, Joseph Szigeti and Efreim Zimbalist; the cellists, Gregor Piatigorsky and Joseph Schuster.

New Television Show Planned in England

LONDON, Sept. 21.—On Sept. 28, a new type of television item will be broadcast from the B.B.C.'s station at Alexandra Palace. Titled "Turn Round," it is a comedy against the background of the arrival at and departure from Southampton of the liner Empress of Britain.

Film shots have already been made on board the liner. When these are televised they will be linked by story episodes transmitted direct from the studio. It is the first instance of film "matching" in British television.

Renew "Hawthorne House"

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—"Hawthorne House," half-hour dramatizations sponsored by Wesson Oil and Snowdrift Sales Co., has been renewed for an additional 52 weeks on NBC's Pacific coast Red network. The program originates in this city, and is heard Sundays. The new contract begins Sept. 26. The Fitzgerald Advertising Agency handles the account.

XEMO to Open Power Plant

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 21.—XEMO, Tijuana, will throw the switch on its own power plant during the next few days, making the border broadcaster entirely independent of outside juice. The station has installed two 40,000-watt International Harvester diesel generators. The only high-level modulator in southern California, XEMO, although using 5,000 watts power, gets the effect of 7,500 watts.

Renew "Friend" Program

The Beneficial Management Corp., sponsors of "Your Unseen Friend" on CBS, has renewed the program, effective Oct. 4. Beginning with the renewals the program will be presented at a new day and time, Saturdays from 8 to 8:30 P. M.

Bowey's Shifts Agency

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Bowey's, Inc., Chicago manufacturers and distributors of Dari-Rich have appointed Stack-Goble as their advertising agency effective Oct. 1. The agency will take over the production of "While the City Sleeps" which is currently on the NBC-Red network.

New Shows on the Air

"The Girl from Maine"

If there are any listeners who want to hear of the stirring virtues of the State of Maine potatoes, its blueberry crop, the excellence of its oysters, trout, in fact its complete piscatorial family, we recommend the new Mutual series featuring Marjorie Mills' talks. Miss Mills' program is, of course, sponsored by the State of Maine's Development Commission.

It seems to us that the State of Maine would have accomplished its advertising aims in much better fashion by spending its money in newspapers rather than by presenting a radio program such as it now boasts. Radio is essentially intended to entertain first, and to sell something secondly. Even the most blatant of the commercial programs try to entertain somewhat, although only a small minority succeed. This series—at least the opening stanza—made no effort whatsoever to amuse its listeners. Miss Mills and the Governor of the State took up the entire period praising the virtue of the Pine Tree State edibles.

"The Girl from Maine" is offered Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1:15 to 1:30 P. M. over Mutual.

"You Don't Say"

"You Don't Say" is an audience participation program, but this one varies the formula by asking the contestants to guess correctly the pronunciation of words. Most programs of this type are spelling bees, or are an out-and-out quiz.

All programs of this type have the common virtues of involving listeners as well as participants, and sugar-coating the dissemination of information. We, and we venture to say a great many of those who listened in, learned in pleasant fashion that we pronounce many words incorrectly. Joe Tobin and Sid Walton conduct the studies. There are awards for the winners of cash and merchandise. Beginning next week, Barney's, Inc., will sponsor the series.

"You Don't Say" is presented over WMCA nightly, except Sundays, from 9 to 9:30 P. M.

Consolidated Edison Show

The one stand-out quality of "New York Today and Tomorrow," new local series for the Consolidated Edison Co., is the Mark Warnow band. And just to keep the praise within a family circle, the most outstanding contribution to the evening's music was the rendition of Raymond Scott's work, "Power House." Scott is Warnow's brother. For the rest, the program was but fair to middlin'.

Warnow's numbers invariably are distinguished for their excellent arrangements and last night the organization excelled itself. The musical score included a medley of tunes from the musical comedy, "Babes in Arms," a renaissance of the old musical comedy tune, "Running Wild," "I Got Plenty of Nothin'" from "Porgy and Bess," and the already sufficiently praised "Power House."

Dr. Orestes Caldwell, former FCC commissioner and now editor of a radio trade magazine, dons the mantle of a Jules Verne in offering previews of the years to come. New York City 50 years from now, he predicted would be distinguished by its lack of noise by virtue of rubber-paved streets; traffic would be robot-controlled; stratosphere airplanes would arrive regularly from Europe.

The program is presented over WEAJ Mondays from 7:30 to 8 P. M.

"Campana Vanity Fair"

It failed to be much of a show which Campana Sales aired over the NBC Blue Monday evening. For years, the sponsor of "The First Nighter," this time it is "Campana Vanity Fair" with Cal Tinney as the master of ceremonies broadcasting from Chicago and Sheila Graham piped in from Hollywood with a two-time shot of film chatter. There was some vocalizing which was pretty good and a jazz band accompaniment which was better.

Tinney, with an Oklahoma drawl, actual or otherwise, tried to do a Will Rogers and came off a very poor second, third or fourth. Miss Graham's line of comment was the usual sort of alleged inside emanating from Hollywood. Larry Duncan's impersonation of Eddie Cantor could have been a great deal more expert and, aside from all of that, his imaginary experiences with the ghost of Billy the Kid decidedly were not funny. Douglas Wilson, tenor, was acceptable.

The program, on behalf of Italian Balm, is down for a Monday night spot from 8:30 to 9 P. M.

"Continental Revue"

"Continental Revue" brings back to public life for the first time in many moons Olga Baclanova, at one time a prominent film personality. Miss Baclanova has a surprisingly nice voice, but the new half-hour WOR sustaining period is a distinct disappointment.

French, Russian, Gypsy and other foreign tunes predominated and it was somewhat taxing to listen to unfamiliar folk and love tunes, sung in the native tongues by Miss Baclanova and Raoul Nadeau, the companion vocalist. Bob Stanley's orchestra, too, was smitten by the continental atmosphere of the show. A straight variety show, headed by Miss Baclanova would be a welcome substitution for the program now offered.

"Continental Revue" is offered Mondays from 8:30 to 9 P. M.

Promotions in RCA Victor

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 21.—Promotions in the RCA Victor sales executive organization were made by G. K. Throckmorton, executive vice-president. L. W. Teegarden has been placed in charge of radio tube sales to wholesale distributors with M. F. Blakeslee coming here from Chicago to take over his post as Eastern division manager. Richard A. Graver, formerly manager of the Cleveland district, takes over the Chicago district, with A. G. Kemp, formerly package goods sales representative in Cleveland, appointed manager of the Cleveland district. E. J. Rising, formerly manager of the San Francisco district, takes a similar post in Los Angeles, replacing E. W. Isenhower, resigned.

production at the Warner studio at Teddington and to be present at the closing of the deal for the Old Daly Theatre in London. S. Charles Einfeld, director of advertising and publicity, returned to New York with the Warners.

The 19 Warner features ready for release are "Larger Than Life," "Without Warning," "Submarine D-1," "Sergeant Murphy," "Sh! the Octopus," "Evidence," "The Great Garrick," "She Loved a Fireman," "Over the Goal," "Expensive Husbands," "Missing Witnesses," "The Perfect Specimen," "Adventurous Blonde," "First Lady," "Alcatraz Island," "It's Love I'm After," "Back in Circulation," "Blazing Sixes," "West of Shanghai."

"Woman" Grosses High

Warners report that "That Certain Woman" is ahead of many other Warner films in its first four days at four key city theatres.

Warners Issue Big Pressbook on "Zola"

S. Charles Einfeld's exploitation and publicity staff at Warners has done a real job in the press book on "The Life of Emile Zola." Characterized by a distinguished and dignified front cover appearance, the book measures 22 inches by 17 inches, is bound in heavy cardboard, colored an off-red and cream. The figure of the Academy award statuette is at the top of the heavily bordered copy section on the front cover.

The book contains 18 pages of promotion ideas, advertising campaign suggestions, reviews, publicity copy and samples of advertising paper. In addition, in the inside back cover, a slip sheet includes New York newspaper and trade paper reviews, excerpts from magazine reviews and other material. A.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.—Wallace Ford, stricken Saturday with what was diagnosed as a gall stone ailment, is confined to his home. He just completed "He Wanted to Marry" at Grand National.

Refuse to Lift Ban On Games in Omaha

Omaha theatres be dissolved immediately.

Wright said he based his motion on the ground that the state admits it is not certain where the Omaha game constitutes a lottery. He said Attorney General Richard Hunter himself admits the question of whether the drawings are lotteries is undecided.

Paul Chaney, former assistant Attorney General under Wright and now the state's special Bank Night counsel, recommended that the court continue the injunction and reserve decision on Wright's motion until either the Omaha or Beatrice, Nebraska, Bank Night case is settled.

Bank Night Sues Parlay

Boston, Sept. 21.—Bank Night, through a case entered in the United States District Court here by Attorney George S. Ryan, charges Harry Bloomberg and Meyer Gruber of the B-G Film Co. with having caused Bank Night in New England to suffer loss and damages amounting to at least $10,000. Roy Heffner, Bank Night distributor, charges the two, distributors of Parlay Cash Night, with infringement, unfair competition, violation of copyright, and with combination and conspiracy to injure or destroy Bank Night in this district.

The case harks back to a former infringement suit against Parlay Cash Night, in which the copyright question was not given the importance it is in the new suit, wherein Bank Night lost. The resulting decision read in part that Bank Night and similar premium schemes enter into the public domain the first time they are publicly operated. Therefore, the decision continued, Bank Night and similar setups may be copied and used without fear of infringement of the formers' rights and without necessity of royalty payments.

It is this decision, more than the Bank Night defeat by Parlay Cash Night, that Affiliated Enterprises is attempting to supersede.

Pathe Closes Coast Deal on Laboratory

both companies will retain their own financial setups, but each will take care of the other's interests. The name of the local plant will be changed to International-Pathe Film Laboratories.

Pathe has one of the largest laboratories in the east at Bound Brook, N. J., and also is building a smaller plant in New York to handle newsreel and other rush processing.

International was launched here two years ago and has been doing printing for a large number of independent companies, including Grand National and Monogram. Pathe is financially interested in the new Monogram company.

In effect, the new tieup gives Pathe western representation, a plan which had been proposed several years ago, but which did not materialize. At one time Pathe was considering building its own plant here.

O. Henry Briggs, president of Pathe, returned from the coast Monday after a three-week trip, which included several stopovers en route.

The Newsreel Parade

Movietone News

Vol. 20, No. 3

(20th Century-Fox)

Four commentators report the news and discuss the styles in the latest release by Truman Talley's staff. It is highly diverting with political events, sports, women's fashions and a fish story by Lew Lehr rounding out the subject.

First there are highlights of the legionnaires' invasion of New York. Next is a speech by President Roosevelt on the Constitution. This is followed by scenes showing a cargo of airplanes and munitions being unloaded from the Wichita, following the President's embargo on the U. S. ships carrying war supplies to Japan and China. European statesmen are shown signing an agreement at Nyon, Switzerland, to wipe out submarine piracy in the Mediterranean. This is coupled with pictures at Geneva, where the peace plan is discussed. Indians of Celilo, Ore., are shown catching Chinook salmon on the Columbia River. Lowell Thomas handled the narration up to this point.

Helen Claire describes new fall styles in women's hats. The trend is to taller and wider brims and crowns. Lehr is his old self in telling about the submarine which is built like a fish. The device can stay under water four hours.

Four sports events are detailed by ed Thorgersen. They include the last big British turf event when Chumleigh, an 18 to 1 shot, comes in first at the St. Leger Stakes. Helen Wills Moody tries for a comeback in a doubles play on a Los Angeles tennis court. Coach Smith of Pittsburgh puts the Duquesne "Dukes" through their paces, and then 125 sailboats are shown participating for the President's Cup on the Potomac.

News of the Day

Vol. 9, No. 201

(M-G-M)

American Legion high-jinks in New York prime this fast-moving reel. But sport and spectacular action scenes seem to dominate. There is serious stuff, too, in President's Roosevelt's Constitution Day address, and the return of the President Hoover from the Orient where it was bombed while removing refugees.

Other sequences present yacht racing on the Potomac, the unveiling of the head of Lincoln at Mount Rushmore, S. D.; Indians netting salmon at Celilo Falls on the Columbia River, steeplechasing on Long Island, John Roosevelt and his fiancée and outboard racing on the James River at Richmond. The reel runs eight and one-half minutes. Yesterday's Legion parade will be included.

Paramount News

(Paramount)

A certain diversity is lent to the Paramount reel with the introduction in this issue of nine new commentators, led by Gabriel Heatter as chief of staff. Five of the new group bring their voices to this issue, which is hardly more than routine in content. The most engaging and entertaining shots, of course, are those depicting a few of the high jinks indulged in by the Legionnaires in New York. Heatter handles that vocally.

For the rest, Bill Slater follows a fast outboard motor race, watches Helen Wills Moody on the court in Hollywood and hands a few laughs with a screwy wrestling match. Bob Carter is on the primary vote in New York; Gregory Abbott is on the Nyon conference, Nazis parading in Germany and the unloading of a shipment of planes bound for the Orient. Joseph Boley takes a look at the Roosevelts, the President on the Potomac and his son, John, at a softball game at Pawling, N. Y.

Slightly long running time is accounted for by an introduction of the new Paramount reel and backgrounded shots of the commentators.

Pathe News

Vol. 9, No. 18

(RKO)

Here is a good newsreel release. Where it includes events of national interest it finds an angle of its own, albeit somewhat in The March of Time manner, from which to present it. Where the events are more prosaic it turns to action to make or keep them interesting. The single exception to this procedure is the clip on President Roosevelt's Constitution Day address in Washington. That is presented "straight" and, in consequence, perhaps, is the least intriguing part of the release.

For its own "slant" on the K.K.K. charges against Associate Justice Black, the reel goes direct to Ray Sprigle, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reporter who uncovered the alleged evidence against Black and who tells his story for the reel in a direct and highly interesting manner. The romance of John Roosevelt, the President's son, and Anne Clark of Boston is pictured against the background of a good softball game between a Summer White House team and neighborhood celebrities at Pawling, N. Y. Helen Wills Moody's tennis comeback at Los Angeles and Gar Wood, Jr.'s, victory in the outboard motorboat championships at Richmond are told in well photographed action pictures.

The American Legion convention in New York is reported in a fashion which catches the spirit of the conventioners—prankish, alcoholic, parade and drill minded and a devastation to Times Square traffic.

It has been impossible for some time past to send money out of Japan, the American distributors were quoted as saying.

Clark Gable Leads Poll

St. Louis, Sept. 21.—The first 7,000 questionnaires in the Fanchon & Marco poll being conducted in the Star-Times rate Clark Gable, Robert Taylor and William Powell first, second and third, respectively, among the male stars.

For the child players Shirley Temple leads Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew in second and third places respectively.

Myrna Loy has been voted the most popular actress; Claudette Colbert is second and Loretta Young third.

Musical comedies and cartoons are the favorite types of films while duals find greater favor than the single feature and short bill.

Winchell Taking Rest

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.—Walter Winchell has suspended his column in the New York Daily Mirror and the newspaper syndicate he has been serving due to nervous exhaustion.

TEN CENTS

Pick NBC Web To Air M-G-M Ether Shows

Comprehensive Hookup Being Lined Up

The M-G-M program plum goes to NBC.

The new series, which will present the roster of M-G-M stars and featured players, will be offered under General Foods sponsorship over the Red network, Thursday nights from 9 to 10 P. M. The current Maxwell House "Showboat" series will give way to the new offering beginning Nov. 4. The Benton & Bowles advertising agency handled the pact.

The contract is for two years, with, it is supposed, the usual cancellation

August Federal Tax Drops to $1,599,242

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Declining for the second successive month, Federal admission tax collections in August amounted to $1,599,242, it was reported tonight by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The month's receipts were nearly $34,000 under the July income of $1,633,088, the bureau disclosed, but were $215,000 above the August, 1936, total of $1,384,107.

Theatres in Pueblo Reopen; Scare Wanes

PUEBLO, Col., Sept. 22.—Theatres here were permitted to reopen at noon today, following a brief shutdown due to an infantile paralysis scare. Admittance, however, was restricted to those over 18 years of age. Theatres and schools in Fort Collins are closed and public gatherings forbidden. One death from the disease has been the cause of alarm in each town, but the weekend is expected to see a letup in the number of cases.

Suit by Para. Trustee May Start Monday

Trial Will Begin If No Settlement Is Made

Attorneys for Charles D. Hilles, Paramount trustee, are prepared to proceed with trial on Monday of the first of two actions against officers and directors of the company during the years 1927 to 1931 if the long-discussed settlement of the action has not been agreed upon by that time, official sources stated yesterday.

Indications are that a settlement may not be reached by Monday, but even the start of the trial will not preclude the possibility of an agreement being reached subsequently, it was said. Providing the negotiations reached a promising stage following the opening of the trial, the court proceedings would be suspended to facilitate efforts to conclude them.

Meanwhile, the settlement discussions are continuing and it was stated that there is still a possibility that they may be concluded by the end of the week. The inability of several of the defendants to agree upon settlement terms with the trustee's representatives is understood to be the barrier to a disposal of the suits. A pre-

Distributors' Letters Go in Dallas Trial

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—Overruling the objections of defense attorneys, U. S. District Judge W. H. Atwell permitted letters between various distributor defendants in the anti-trust suit here to be introduced as evidence.

Witnesses admitted writing them, but contended the agreement between distributors and the Interstate Circuit for the maintenance of subsequent run admissions was fair to exhibitors, the distributors and the public.

Among the letters introduced was one passing between J. H. McIntyre, Memphis RKO manager, and Jules Levy, general sales manager. The letter requested Levy to decide whether

Quick Action Promised for U. A. Options

Rose Promises Action;
Korda Coming Here

Notice of intention to exercise the options held by Samuel Goldwyn and Alexander Korda for the purchase of United Artists stock will be given to Charles Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford shortly after the arrival of Korda from England in about three weeks, David Rose, vice-president and financial adviser of Samuel Goldwyn, Inc., told MOTION PICTURE DAILY in his cabin yesterday just before the Queen Mary sailed for Southampton.

"The deal is set," he emphasized, "and I cannot talk about it at this time. The options will be included in a plan I am not in a position to discuss until I return with Korda."

Rose said he would probably sail from England on the next trip of the Normandie. He added he did not expect to be in England more than a week.

Asked if American interests would participate in the $6,000,000 financing, Rose declined to comment, but flushed and smiled as if to say, "You want me to talk and I can't; not just now."

However, he did deny that Warners were to participate, but reports continue to persist that Mervyn LeRoy will join Goldwyn and Korda, both financially and as a producer.

Weeks Resigns As GB Sales Manager

George W. Weeks has resigned as general sales manager for G. B., effective Nov. 1, Arthur A. Lee, vice-president in charge of distribution, stated yesterday. The country will be split into two divisions, with Arthur Greenblatt, circuit contact at the home office, being named to the eastern divisional sales post. Ruth Roland, Long
Silent Star, Dead

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Ruth Roland, star of silent films, who amassed a fortune in real estate and has been prominent in business here for several years, died today at her home. She had been ill for some time.

Her husband, Ben Bard, and her aunt, Mrs. Edith Thompson, were at her bedside. The body was taken to Forest Lawn Cemetery pending the making of funeral arrangements.

Miss Roland was born in San Francisco. She first went on the stage as a child actress. Her first film was made in 1912. She achieved fame for the first time in "Ruth Roland Serials" and appeared in a long list of features up to 1930. Later she toured for RKO and for Fanchon & Marco. She also appeared in a number of air programs for CBS.

Hap Hadley's Wife Passes

Funeral services for Nina M. Leahman, wife of Alvin C. (Hap) Hadley, will be held on Friday at 2 P. M. at the Church of the Ascension. Mrs. Hadley died Monday in Miami.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S
HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Madame X"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—In common with the contemporary and commercially comparable "Stella Dallas" and "The Prisoner of Zenda," Alexandre Bisson's "Madame X" possesses that rare quality of favorable familiarity which distinguishes the popular classic from the trite. Like them, it has been screened many times both as itself and under disguise without leave but never so well. It would seem to follow in simple showmanly deduction that the picture may be expected to give a proportionately gratifying account of itself at the box-office.

With her performance of the name role earlier portrayed on stage and screen by as fine a list of topflight emotional actresses as is to be found in anybody's autograph album, Gladys George lifts herself once and for all into the thinning blue of cinema immortality. Neglecting no facet of the deeply etched characterization, she succeeds by some esoteric artistry in endowing it with a freshness and understated realism that brought a seasoned preview audience fully versed in all the answers to the edges of its chairs in unashamed tears.

John Beal, Warren William, Reginald Owen, Henry Daniell, Emma Dunn and Luis Alberni contribute support of a high order. The screenplay by John Meehan conditions certain story details to the modern concept, but deprives the plot of no essential ingredient. John Kevin McGuinness produced the picture with equal recognition of the play's proper place among the all too few dramatic dependables. Sam Wood's direction is flawless.

Running time, 70 minutes. "A."

"Danger—Love at Work"

(20th Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—For those patrons who like completely and wholly nonsensical material, served with a liberal helping of laughs, "Danger—Love at Work" should provide an entertaining hour or so. For other patrons it may be considered entirely too ridiculous, bordering on the inane, but in general it is good fun.

There is a host of good names and comedy talent in the cast, including Jack Haley, Ann Sothorn, in the leads, and Mary Boland, Edward Everett Horton, Walter Catlett and Margaret Sedden and Margaret McWade, the "pixilated sisters." Haley and Miss Sothorn burst into the theme song on one occasion, and it is a tuneful and catchy number.

Haley is the wealthy younger partner in a law firm, assigned to acquire a handful of signatures on a purchase of land for a client from an erratic family consisting of Miss Boland, Miss Sothorn, an infant prodigy, Walter Catlett, the old maid sisters and a few others, all competing in a demonstration of eccentricity. To complicate matters Horton, as the dominating fiance of Miss Sothorn, attempts to prevent the deal and is continually in Haley's hair.

Eventually Haley gets his signatures, but not until he falls in love with Miss Sothorn. Horton makes a bad deal when he thinks he finds oil on the property, and Haley and Miss Sothorn produce a flock of laughs as they go in pursuit of the various scattered and scatter-brained members of the family. Otto Ludwig Preminger directed.

Running time, 80 minutes. "G."

the plan proposed by Interstate was justified and in accord with RKO's sales policy, and whether it would interfere with sales elsewhere in the United States.

On cross examination he said "United States" was a typographical error and what he had meant was Texas. He said the letter had been written before the plan went into effect, but since it had been inaugurated he believed it sound and fair to all.

R. J. O'Donnell, general manager of Interstate, took the stand after the noon recess.

During Tuesday's session several neighborhood exhibitors were put on the stand by the Government. With little variation they told the story of how they were compelled to charge 25 cents admission for Class A pictures and how they got no patronage.

"I tried to charge 25 cents for these pictures," Sam Kirscheimer, typical of several, said. "My people would not pay it."

Cite 15-Cent Limit

Some said they operated in the poorer sections of town and that their patrons preferred westerns and melodramas not under the Class A rule, but all agreed that their patrons would not pay over 15 cents.

George Wright, defense attorney, under cross examination made them admit there were no restrictions on westerns and melodramas and that there were companies offering such pictures with no restrictions. They admitted, too, that they were operating profitably on such pictures.

Wright pointed out at the opening of the trial that owners of copyrights were permitted to protect their property.

Hoblitzelle Heard

The NRA was among the causes of setting up a price control scheme, Karl Hoblitzelle, president of Interstate, said as the defense took up its side of the case late in the day. Hoblitzelle returned from Hollywood where he was on vacation when the trial was called.

He said, too, that a number of show houses in the chain had been taken during bankruptcy and put on their feet. He said he was placed with the alternative of cutting prices to a destructive degree or devising a scheme where all might survive and the public be served.

"At that time the Government was encouraging moves to stabilize industry of all kinds," he said, "and I tried to work out a plan fair to all."

Hoblitzelle said the advertising he gives first runs gives him an interest in subsequent showing in addition to his interest in protecting the copyright.

Holdovers on "100 Men"

Universal reports that "100 Men and a Girl" has been booked for a third week at the Fox in Philadelphia. The company expects more holdover engagements on the film than any they have had for years.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Arizona Gunfighter"

(Republic)

The dramatic structure of the early part of "The Arizona Gunfighter" is particularly good for this sort of production. The motive with which the story receives its impetus is logical and the events that follow are handled well. The latter half of the film, however, is a let-down. The acting and characterizations are good although the leading man delivers his lines with a stiff-lipped monotone. The heroine of the piece gives the usual outdoor girl performance.

Bob Steele knocks off two killers who have murdered his father. He rides away and joins up with a Robin Hood-ish gang that looks after the interests of the small rancher. After two years the leader of the group breaks up his band and, in company with Steele, rides to a part of the state where they are not known. Steele is established as a rancher and his benefactor goes to jail, voluntarily. But the dispersed gang soon start marauding again under the leadership of a bank robber. Steele becomes aware of this and, visualizing the outcome, appeals to the governor, who releases his friend. Together the pair track down the desperadoes and in a noisy and cleverly done gun-battle eliminate the trouble.

Sam Newfield directed. The cast of able supporting players includes Jean Carmen, Ted Adams, Ernie Adams, Lew Meehan, Steve Clark, Karl Hackett, John Merton and A. C. Henderson. Bob Kline photographed. The original story is by Harry F. Ohmstead.

Running time, 60 mins. "G."

GN-ABFD Relations Closer, Says Baker

Relations between Grand National and A. B. F. D. of England are much closer now that they have been, Reginald Baker, managing director for the British company, stated yesterday prior to his sailing on the Queen Mary for London after a six-week trip here.

"Grand National will release a minimum of six of our pictures in America," Baker said. He added that Basil Dean would visit this country the latter part of October or early in November.

Guild Permits Work For March of Time

The March of Time was included in the Screen Actors' Guild list of approved producers yesterday pending further action by the company on a clarification of its position in refusing to sign a contract with the guild.

The indicated action which may be taken by the company is either an appeal to the board of directors of the guild or an effort to effect an understanding with Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the guild, on his arrival here within the next few days. Pending such action, March of Time officials informed the guild's office here that the reel would conform with all provisions of the guild contract, as a result of which guild members will be permitted to work for the reel, it was said. This has been impossible since the guild shop went into effect in the east last Monday.

Florence Marston, eastern representative of the guild, said that the reel's principal objection to signing a contract with her organization was that it considered itself a "newsreel."

"The answer to that is," Mrs. Marston said, "that the guild doesn't."

Luther Reed, Inc., local commercial film producer, was added to the guild's list of signatories yesterday, Mrs. Marston reported.

Fleischer's Union Talks Resume Today

Negotiations between representatives of the Fleischer Studio and of the Commercial Artists' & Designers' Union looking to a settlement of the four-months-old strike of Fleischer employees will be resumed today, union headquarters said yesterday.

What promised to materialize into a settlement was upset early in the week when, according to union sources, Max Fleischer refused to recognize the union as the exclusive bargaining agent for all of the employees, although agreeing to certain wage, hour and other beneficial concessions. Union spokesmen said yesterday that no agreement would be possible without recognition of the union by the studio.

Increase Operator Pay

ALLIANCE, O., Sept. 21.—Theatre operators and Ray Wallace, general manager of Tri-Theatres, Inc., which own and operate all of the local theatres, reached an agreement whereby the operators will receive approximately a 10 per cent wage increase during the coming season. The average operator scale is now $45 a week.

Dutch Indies Reel Dropped in Holland

By PHILIP DE SCHAAAP

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 10.—The new Dutch East-Indian newsreel, produced by ANIF, suddenly disappeared from the theatres of Holland, after having been shown for several months. Dutch exhibitors refused to continue use of the reel, because of its poor quality. The manager of Profiliti, the company handling the reel here, has gone to India to reorganize the staff.

As a result of the success of "Pygmalion," starring Lilly Bouwmeester, N. V. Filmex, the producer of the film, plans two or three pictures for next season, with production scheduled to start next month. It is expected that the first of the new films will be another G. B. Shaw play. Negotiations have been made for the production of French versions of the films. Ludwig Berger is expected to direct.

Denies Token Danger

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—Although Kansas theatremen report zinc sales tax tokens there must be handled with care to prevent zinc poisoning, especially to cashiers who handle them constantly, the State Health Commissioner of Missouri, Dr. Harry F. Parker, asserted upon the eve of Missouri's distribution of the zinc type token, that he had never heard of such a thing. "Missourians have nothing to worry about on that score," he said.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—An inventory of the estate of Edward J. Grubel, theatre man who died last November at the age of 66, has been filed in Kansas City, Kan., Probate Court. The valuation was placed at $584,166, mostly in bonds and stocks, with some real estate. The entire estate was left to his brother, Frank C. Grubel.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—M-G-M has acquired all of John Galsworthy's novels and short stories having to do with the Forsythe family. These include the five novels called "Forsythe Saga" and a series of short stories published over a period of years.

The company also has just bought Marcel Pagnol's play, "Fanny."

Manages Warner House

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 22.—Eugene Brassil, assistant at the Roger Sherman, has been named manager of the Capitol, New Britain, to be reopened by Warners on Sept. 30. The Capitol, Strand and Embassy, Warner New Britain houses, will all have a first run policy. Irving Hillman will be the new assistant at the Roger Sherman.

Skolsky to King's

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Sidney Skolsky, former Hollywood columnist of the New York Daily News, has been signed by King's Features, Inc., to write a syndicated column.

Sidney Skolsky's new column is slated to appear in The Daily Mirror here.

N. J. Allied Hits Gambling; To Cooperate with New York

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 22.—Co-operation with New York City independents and a fight against the proposed horse-racing, pari-mutuels betting amendment to the State Constitution were considered here today by Allied Theatre Owners of New Jersey. A proposal for a "Little NRA" and the airing of grievances against Paramount are scheduled for tomorrow. The organization represents 175 larger independent theatres in New Jersey. The 18th annual convention is being held at the Ritz-Carlton.

The New York proposal calls for a joint committee of three each from Jersey Allied and Independent Theatre Owners Ass'n of New York, to join in the working out of common problems, each organization retaining separate identity. New York has over 500 members and 300 theatres but is not connected with Allied States.

Newbury Names Committee

Lee W. Newbury of Belmar, president of New Jersey Allied, appointed Louis Gold, Newark; Irving Dollinger, Linden, and I. Marks, Dunellen, to the joint committee.

Sidney E. Samuelson of Newton, New Jersey director, former president, warned delegates to look into the pari-mutuel proposal. A decision is expected tomorrow after he makes a full report.

Jersey exhibitors are studying a proposal to be fully outlined tomorrow by Abram F. Myers for a "Guffey Act" for films, modeled after the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, to enforce fair trade. Tomorrow also includes election of officers.

Regional Directors Meet

The eastern regional directors of Allied States met separately today, planning an expansion into new eastern territories. Included were Nathan Yamins of Fall River, Mass., national president; Myers, Samuelson, as member of the national executive committee; Newbury, Arthur Price, Baltimore eastern national regional vice-president; Herman Blum, Baltimore, national treasurer; Arthur Howard, business manager of Independent Exhibitors of New England, Inc., and J. B. and A. Fishman, leading Connecticut independents.

Ohio ITO Meet Sept. 30

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—P. J. Wood, secretary of the I. T. O. of Ohio, has called a directors' meeting for Sept. 30, for the consideration of some special matters in addition to the transaction of routine business.

Vote for Duals, Comedy

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—With over 11,000 votes counted in the Fanchon & Marco poll being conducted by the Star-Times, preference continues to be shown for the lighter forms of entertainment and duals among the neighborhood house element.

Clark Gable still leads Robert Taylor and William Powell as the most popular male star and Myrna Loy is far out in front of Loretta Young and Claudette Colbert who follow in second and third places respectively.

The order in the child player division reads: Shirley Temple, Jane Withers, Freddie Bartholomew.

Restrictions

Salem, Ore., Sept. 22.—New and drastic regulations on pictures here provide that films may be shown only after approval by the Portland censor board, that all theatres must close at midnight, and prohibit the sale of tickets for admission after midnight.

Academy Will Issue Sound Tracks Book

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Within a few weeks, exhibitors throughout United States and Canada will receive a bulletin from the Research Council of the Academy illustrating the 10 different kinds of sound tracks now being used by studios for release prints.

Recent developments in sound recording technique and equipment have made it possible for the studios to utilize various types of recording for various purposes, sometimes using one type track for dialogue and another type track for special musical effects and so forth.

Following many inquiries, it was decided to prepare a technical handbook to be sent to approximately 17,000 theatres to assist in obtaining the greatest possible advantage from new developments in sound.

Drive on Sunday Closing

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—A fight to force the closing of theatres along with other places of business on Sundays is threatened by the Retail Confectioners' Ass'n in retaliation to a move by the Columbus Retail Clerks' Union which seeks to enforce the Ohio blue law to prohibit the sale of staple groceries on the Sabbath. Both organizations say they are determined to gain their objective.

Col. Sets Three Deals

Long term franchises have been closed by Columbia Pictures with Griffith Theatres, Inc., operating in Oklahoma, Dallas and Denver, and the Joe Blumenfeld and Nasser Bros. circuits of San Francisco, the company reported yesterday. The new long term pacts supplant one-year deals and include short subjects and serials as well as features.

Stuart Erwin Quits G. N.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Stuart Erwin has quit Grand National because of dissatisfaction with stories. He has just finished "Mr. Boggs Buys a Barrel." He has two picture commitments with 20th Century-Fox.

Ricketson Reports Increases Accepted

Public reaction to the five and 10-cent admission increases in the 50 Fox Intermountain theatres has been very good, Rick Ricketson, operating head for the circuit, said yesterday.

"There hasn't been one complaint," he declared.

No other increases are planned, Ricketson said. He will remain here until Monday before returning to Denver.

N. Y. Incorporations

ALBANY, Sept. 22.—The reorganization of the Roxy headed the list of film companies chartered here recently. They include:

Lott Theatres Corp., New York, capital $20,000, by Jesse Long, Michael Goldreyer, Maurice Turst.

May Tax Cooling Plants

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—City Manager C. O. Sherrill is studying the possibility of recommending to the City Council that air conditioning plants be taxed to finance enlargement of the city sewerage system, which is being overtaxed from the discharge of water from many of the air conditioning systems.

Heads Charity Drive

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—Arthur Cole of Paramount has been named chairman of the film cooperative committee for the Allied Charities Campaign here this fall. This is the sixteenth consecutive year Cole has served.

Pick Lily Pons Title

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—"Hitting a New High" has been chosen as the title of Lily Pons' next for RKO. The tentative title has been "It Never Happened Before."

Col. Remodels Offices

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—Remodeling of its offices here has been completed by Columbia, which has renewed its lease for five years.

liminary agreement on a settlement which aggregated $2,150,000 was upset recently when individual defendants failed to ratify the proposals tentatively agreed upon by attorneys. Other defendants are reported to have sought leave to make the agreed upon payments to Paramount over a period of years, rather than in lump sums, but permission to do so was refused by the trustee's representatives, it was said.

The first of the suits involving recovery of sums alleged to have been lost by Paramount through the guaranteed redemption of stock issued for expansion purposes is scheduled to go to trial here in state Supreme Court on Monday. The second suit, involving the recovery of sums alleged to have been made through participations in a Paramount employees' stock purchase plan, is scheduled for trial in the same court during October. No definite trial date for the second suit has been set yet, however.

New Play Bright, Amusing; A Featherweight for Films

By PLAYBOY

The faces were the same, old faces and the haberdashery new at the Morosco last night as the tardy season made its second effort to get under way. But, get under way it actually did with a piece called "George and Margaret," by Gerald Savory.

Far more a zephyr than a wind, it whipped up. Yet there was what this reviewer is very certain was a willing-to-be-pleased audience acting up with more indulgence than the proceedings, by actual worth, rated. The array of first nighters was simply regaled with chuckles, laughs and bellows.

"George and Margaret," as a play, is not as good as all that. It has its moments. As a matter of fact, it has a lot of moments, largely compressed into the first of three acts. The second is amusing and diverting and the third is positively dull until in walked Gladys Henson as Beer. You should be told that Beer is the English maid who replaces Gladys in the Garth-Bander house in Hampstead, which is in London's suburbs. Gladys is leaving because Claude, the first born and a pretty solid, if stolid, sort of fellow, has fallen in love with her and Irene Browne, who is Mrs. Garth-Bander, had to get another domestic. Beer never speaks a line that the audience hears. But she has a funny walk and a funnier curtsy and she did all but panic the audience last night. So much so, in fact, that, for individual howls, nobody in the cast at any time quite approached her.

Dialogue Sparkles

This very lightweight job of play-writing depends upon its crisply written lines. For nothing much takes place. Frankie, the daughter, falls in love with Roger and, at the final curtain, love finds its level. The mother of the slightly whacky brood continues to flightily go on her course and the father, a forgetful and pleasant nonentity, on his.

Despite the slower spots, and they are there, the cast is uniformly and consistently good. Miss Browne is excellent in what Hollywood knows as the Alice Brady and Mary Boland manner. Morland Graham, the father, is competent enough. Arthur Macrae is an infectious younger son and Rosalyn Boulter, quite captivating as Frankie. Alan Webb essays Roger,

"Clock Cleaners"

If this, first in the new Walt Disney series, is any indication of the Mickey Mouse and Silly Symphony cartoons to be released by RKO this season, the distributor will have a formidable lineup to offer exhibitors.

It's a Mickey Mouse subject with Pluto and Donald Duck assisting the rodent in cleaning a gigantic clock in a tower. There are ramifications, complications and a varied assortment of antics which provide nine minutes of wholesome humor.

At a trade showing at the Astor, 1,000 exhibitors, their wives and children were in a riot of laughter. And when a short can do that, it's in the bag. The music and color are swell, too.

ORNSTEIN

the successful lover, and Moya Nugent, Gladys.

John C. Wilson, who had a great deal to do last season with the affairs of Noel Coward, produced "George and Margaret," two characters who flow through the play and are never seen. The Warners are in on the production and were on deck last night in complete entourage to see firsthand what they had bought.

As a picture, this property falls into the "Call It a Day" classification. Light, amusing, actionless and ready to go with the slightest of winds.

RKO Signs Dance Team

Agnes Melcoll and Walter Cosden, winners of the "Harvest Moon" dance contest conducted recently by the Daily News, have been signed by Pandro Berman to appear in "Having Wonderful Time."

Miss Melcoll and Cosden returned from the coast yesterday after a visit to the RKO studios to fill several engagements in the east. Berman will start production of the picture upon the arrival of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who is due Sept. 30 on the Normandie to appear in a leading role.

Skouras Has Big Sendoff

Adam and Mrs. Adams, George Balsdon, and other associates of National Theatres and the Skouras circuit.

One thing Spyros forgot—his golf clubs. He tried to get his chauffeur to bring them down at the last minute, but it was no use. So, I. Lincer, traffic manager for 20th Century-Fox, will send them on to Greece where Skouras plans to do plenty of golfing.

There were several boxes of cigars sent Skouras as gifts, but Spyros wasn't so happy about that. He said he couldn't smoke them all by the time he got to France and the outcome would be that he would have to pay an import tax on all unsmoked cigars, or throw them overboard.

Charles Skouras, who was expected with Ricketson to see his brother off, was missing. He sprained an ankle while hunting last week and had to return to his home in Beverly Hills for medical attention.

"100 Men" 2d Week Leader, Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—"100 Men and a Girl," on a dual with "I Cover the War," was a second week smash in two spots—the Hillstreet and Pantages. At the Hillstreet it grossed $13,500, over normal by $5,500, and at the Pantages the $15,000 take was nearly double par.

The showing was exceptional because only "Big City" and "One Mile from Heaven" at Loew's State got into the profit column, with the exception of "Yiddle with His Fiddle" at the Grand International.

Total first run business was $106,968. Average is $112,700.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 22:

"THE LIFE OF EMILE ZOLA" (W. B.) CARTHAY CIRCLE—(1,518), 50c-$1.50, 7 days, 2nd week. Gross: $13,864. (Average, $17,000)

"BIG CITY" (M-G-M) "ONE MILE FROM HEAVEN" (20th-Fox) CHINESE—(2,500), 30c-55c, 7 days. Gross: $11,000. (Average, $12,500)

Kearney to Show Films

KEARNEY, Neb., Sept. 22.—Although city councilmen deny they intend to compete with commercial theatres, local exhibitors expect to lose some revenue as result of plans to install projection equipment at the open air theatre being built at Harmon Field Park here with assistance of PWA funds.

The council intends to put a screen on the 60-foot stage and show educational films from time to time in the summer seasons, in addition to presenting outdoor spectacles.

Warners Sign Fidler

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Jimmy Fidler, radio commentator and writer, has been signed by Warners to make one picture a year. His first will be "Broadway Goes Hollywood" which will be started shortly after the first of the year.

Selznick Signs Holtz

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Lou Holtz has been signed to a long term contract by David O. Selznick. He will make his film debut in "The Earl of Chicago."

"100 Men" Big In 2nd Week, Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—"100 Men and a Girl" was still an outstanding draw in its second week at the Fox, the $17,000 take going $3,000 over normal in spite of Constitution Week festivities and Yom Kippur.

"Stella Dallas" held up to $9,000 in its third week at the Aldine, and "On Such a Night" with Horace Heidt and his band at the Earle reached $19,000, but elsewhere business was dull.

Total first run business was $77,100. Average is $78,320.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 16:

"STELLA DALLAS" (U.A.)
ALDINE—(1,300), 40c-55c-65c, 8 days, 3rd week. Gross: $9,000. (Average, $8,160)

Variety Club

Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22.—Members of Tent No. 10 turned out in formal attire for the opening ceremonies of the club's home in the striking "Irish Castle," one of the stately old residences of this city.

The club has been in the home one year, but the party makes everything official now. Hank Henry's orchestra played and the dance studios of Barker Louis Stockman provided a revue and floor show. CARL NIESSE, chief barker, was in charge of arrangements and SOL GREENBERG and MARC J. WOLF were on his committee.

Next event on the tent's calendar is a business meeting and stag party Sept. 27.

Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—The annual Variety Club golf tournament at Meadow Lake attracted 85 players, including a number of managers of Fox Midwest theatres in town for their annual convention, and other theatre and exchange men. Approximately 230 attended the dinner to see the floor show from the Fox Tower, eat, and watch the presentation of 65 golf prizes.

Toastmaster ELMER C. RHODEN handled the evening event, with SENN LAWLER presenting the golf prizes with chatter. LAWRENCE BREUNINGER and ROY DUNNICK tied for first prize on the links.

Members of Fox Midwest's 100 per cent club sat at a special table for 13.

T. R. THOMPSON, W. J. BENJAMIN, and ROBERT F. WITHERS handled the arrangements for golf; HARRY McCURE, STANLEY CHAMBERS and LAWLER took care of the entertainment; L. E. POPE, HOMER BLACKWELL, EARL JAMESON, GEORGE BAKER and LOU HONIG provided prizes; FINTON JONES, FRANK HENSLER and SAM ABEND sold the tickets, and W. P. BERNFIELD, LEO FINKELSTEIN, WILLIAM G. FORMBY and MIKE ROTH publicized the affair.

St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—The St. Louis Variety Club will hold an all-day picnic at the North Hills Country Club Sept. 30. The formal program will open at 1 P. M. and continue until midnight or thereabouts. The formal program will include golfing, swimming, baseball and races during the day and a dinner-dance at night.

Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The first luncheon of the new season for Tent No. 11 will be held Sept. 27 at the Willard Hotel, with SAMUEL A. GALANTY, ALVIN NEWMYER and TOM O'DONNELL as the kings-for-a-day.

Special guest of honor will be CLARK GRIFFITH, president of the Washington American League Baseball Club, who will be presented an honorary membership for his aid in making the recent boxing contest a success.

Remodeling in K. C. Area Tops Last Year

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—The volume of remodeling and new building of theatres in this territory is reported here to be in excess of the same period a year ago.

T. H. Slothower has under way a new $25,000 550-seat house at Oxford, Kan., where he now operates one. He also operates the State in Wichita, on which he has completed renovation at a cost of $8,000.

The new $30,000 Mystic, G. C. Hooper's 600-seat theatre in Carthage, Mo., is scheduled to open Sept. 20.

Fox Midwest is remodeling the Strand in Salina, Kan., and the Gem in Topeka, Kan.

Sam L. Sosna's remodeling of the Sosna, Manhattan, Kan., includes new Mirrophonic sound, new screen and a new marquee, on which he is spending about $4,000.

Gets U. A. London Post

LONDON, Sept. 13.—H. R. Schleman, formerly press officer of United Artists here, has become director of publicity in a reorganization following the resignation of Edmund Quarry, formerly in that post. The new press officer is John Downing, recently with New World and Herbert Wilcox Prod. Emil Lucas, recently with RKO and Columbia, has been appointed director of Continental publicity.

Will Manage New Odeon

LONDON, Sept. 13.—W. H. Thornton, at present in charge of the London Pavilion, has been appointed general manager of the Odeon.

Fight Ad Licensing Measure in Scotland

LONDON, Sept. 13.—An attempt will be made by film interests to obtain amendment of the Licensing of Advertisements (Scotland) bill, which will be introduced in the next Parliamentary session. The bill provides for the licensing of all sites used for advertising display and also that, in the case of places of entertainment, only one advertisement shall be displayed upon each street frontage.

The aim of the bill is the control of unsightly signs and the preservation of public amenities, but the trade view is that in its present form it may severely handicap Scottish exhibitors. The C.E.A. will probably try to obtain amendments.

Indo China Business Off

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Although there has been some improvement in the economic situation in French Indo China during 1937, film companies report no increase in their receipts and business throughout the colony's theatres was poor, according to a report to the U. S. Dep't. of Commerce from American Consul Quincy F. Roberts at Saigon.

Harris Joins Hirst

Sidney Harris, associate editor of The Billboard, has resigned, effective Saturday. He has accepted an offer from the Hirst Circuit to become general assistant to Isie Hirst, president, and national director of publicity and exploitation. He was with The Billboard for 12 and a half years. The circuit operates nine theatres.

Agreement on Musicians Is Reached Here

FCC Approves Licenses for Five Stations

A definite trade agreement, acceptable to the A. F. of M. and the special IRNA committee assigned to negotiate a contract which will bind the 258 independent radio network affiliates to spend an additional $1,500,000 yearly for musician salaries has resulted from the meeting Tuesday evening, it was learned yesterday. Copies of the contract are now in the mails to the IRNA station owners.

The agreement was written by Samuel F. Rosenbaum of WFIL, Philadelphia, chairman of the special committee appointed by the IRNA advisory committee to negotiate for that group. He was assisted by Emile Gough of Hearst Radio, Inc., and John Shephard of the Colonial network.

Rosenbaum's original draft submitted to the A. F. of M. International Council early Monday was not satisfactory to the music czars, but a document acceptable to both elements was finally achieved at the close of the session.

Weber Reticent

Joseph Weber, president of the A. F. of M., said yesterday that he could not reveal the details of the contract without the permission of the IRNA committee, but he admitted that a mutually satisfactory contract had been achieved.

The International Council of the A. F. of M. adjourned yesterday and will reconvene again Oct. 15 when it will meet again with the IRNA advisory committee for the final settlement.

Before adjourning, however, a special A. F. of M. committee was selected to meet with the network heads tomorrow to draft an agreement for the key city stations in Los Angeles, Chicago and New York. The special A. F. of M. committee comprises Weber, James Petrillo of Chicago, and Fred Burnbach, secretary to the International Council.

"Look for Woman" New Series

"Look for the Woman" is the title of a new feature to be presented weekly over WOR beginning Sept. 26, from 11:15 to 11:30 A. M. The Deltah Cosmetic Co. will sponsor. At the microphone will be Peggy Grady, who will present news stories in which women play the leading part.

Legion Favors "Cavalcade"

The "Cavalcade of America" series, sponsored by the DuPont Co. over CBS, has been named the program "most acceptable and worth while to the general family audience" by the National Radio Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary.

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The broadcast division of the F.C.C. has ordered operating licenses granted to a number of stations, as follows:

WBHP, Wilton H. Pollard, Huntsville, Ala., 1,200 kilocycles, 100 watts; WAYX, Waycross Broadcasting Co., Waycross, Ga., 1,200 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; WCBF, WCBF, Inc., Chicago, 1,080 kilocycles, 5,000 watts; KRLD, KRLD Radio Corp., Dallas, 1,040 kilocycles, 10,000 watts; WJAR, Outlet Co., Providence, 890 kilocycles, 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day.

Rendering decisions on examiners' reports, the division authorized increases of power for WPEN, Philadelphia, from 250 watts night, 500 watts day to 1,000 watts; WRAX, Philadelphia, from 250 watts night, 500 watts day to 1,000 watts; and WGL, Fort Wayne, from 100 watts day to 250 watts day.

Newspaper Group in Plea

Applications of the Decatur Newspapers, Inc., Decatur, Ill.; Athens Times, Inc., Athens, Ga.; Port Angeles Broadcasters, Port Angeles, Wash., and Walker & Chapin, Oshkosh, Wis., for new stations were ordered dismissed.

The division ordered hearings held on applications of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Salt Lake City, for a new international short-wave station at Saltair, Utah; WACO, Waco, Tex., for increase of day power from 100 to 250 watts; WFIL, Philadelphia, for increase of day power to 5,000 watts, and WFBR, Baltimore, for increase of power to 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day.

New Stations Sought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Applications for authority to construct new broadcasting stations have been filed with the F.C.C. by the Evening News Press, Port Angeles, Wash., seeking 1,500 kilocycles, 100 watts power night, 250 watts day, and Kenneth H. Thompson, Whittier, Cal., seeking 1,170 kilocycles, 100 watts power.

The commission also announced receipt of an application from WTAR, Norfolk, for increase of power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts.

Foods Sign Mary McBride

General Foods Corp., which recently reserved the 12 noon to 12:15 P. M. Monday, Wednesday and Friday time on CBS, has signed Mary Margaret McBride, newspaperwoman and author, to fill the niche with a commentary program based on topics of the day. The series will begin Oct. 4. Young & Rubicam, Inc., is the agency.

"Lights Out" Resumes Sept. 29

"Lights Out," mystery series written by Arch Oboler, which has been absent from its familiar NBC spot for the past few months, will be returned Sept. 29, and Wednesdays thereafter at 12:30 A. M. on the Red network.

Sponsor for Bouts

RCA-Victor will sponsor tonight's Carnival of Champions boxing bouts over the NBC-Blue network. The decision to sponsor was a last minute one.

Northwest Stations To Discuss Hookup

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 22.—Representatives of the northwest radio stations which will affiliate with Don Lee-Mutual shortly will meet here tomorrow to complete arrangements for the network hookup. It is now definitely established that KALE will be among the stations joining.

The call letters of the stations which will be represented at the meeting follow: KRNR, KSLM, KORE, KOL, KMO, KGY, KXRO, KVOS, KPQ, KIT, and KALE.

NBC Network to Air M-G-M's Ether Shows

present with the General Foods Corp. The series will cost the sponsor an estimated $20,000 weekly for stations and talent.

Billy Bacher, who was signed recently by M-G-M as a producer and placed in charge of the studio's then forthcoming radio activities, will supervise production of the program. The series, of course, will emanate from Hollywood.

Oklahoma Football Sale Stands

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 22.—The final obstacle in the way of the University of Oklahoma athletic council's sale of exclusive broadcasting rights on nine football games to the Kellogg Cereal Co. through WKY has been removed by the board of regents which has refused to nullify the contract.

Rival stations and networks had protested the contract, but they did not appear at the meeting.

To Use Television Trailers

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Early in October the B. B. C., in its Alexandra Palace television transmissions, will regularly use a "trailer" feature in each Friday's program, showing the highlights of the next week's transmissions. In some cases players will appear in person; in others a film will be the trailer.

No Successor to Winchell

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Walter Winchell will continue to remain off the air for several successive Sundays but to date no successor has been chosen to carry on his Jurgens program. George Fisher, who subbed for Winchell last week, will not be able to continue because of previous contractual commitments.

Fields Broadcasting Limited

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—W. C. Fields will appear on the Chase & Sanborn hour only when shooting schedules on "The Big Broadcast of 1938" will permit, it was admitted today by the J. Walter Thompson agency to which Fields is under contract.

Radio Personals

BEVERLY DEAN, publicity director and production manager of WHK, which joins the NBC-Blue network Sept. 26, is in town to discuss affiliation arrangements with NBC...

Jean Sablon has signed another 13-week contract with NBC, and will not return to France. He is heard on the RCA "Magic Key" and on his own sustaining program. . . . Conrad Nagel will make an appearance on Vallee's show tonight. . . . Edna Ferber will talk between acts of the Lux "Radio Theatre" show Monday night. . . . "Stop, Look and Listen," program title of the Look Magazine series, heard here over WMCA, has been changed to "Streamlined Revue." . . . Shep Fields, who concludes his "Streamlined Rhythm" show Sept. 26, will leave for Hollywood immediately after the final broadcast to begin work in Paramount's "Big Broadcast of 1938." . . . Helen Morgan will serve as Charlotte Buchwald's guest on WMCA's "Playgoer" series tomorrow. . . . CKLW's program director, John Gordan, became a father again this week, a boy.

WGAR to Salute CBS

WGAR, Columbia's new affiliate in Cleveland, will salute the network Sept. 26, from 6 to 6:30 P. M. in a special dedicatory program. Rachel Van Cleve, coloratura soprano and Walberg Brown's orchestra will fill the musical portion of the program. Bob Feller and John Brown, Cleveland Indian pitchers, will appear as guests. John F. Patte, general manager of WGAR, will make the welcoming address.

WCAU Women's Club Returns

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—The WCAU Women's Club of the Air has returned to its daily schedule after a summer layoff. The participating shows are heard at 9:15 A. M. and 2:15 P. M., with visual meetings on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Barbara Boyd and Elsie Carol will alternate on the broadcasts with Ethyl Felt handling promotion and publicity.

H. F. Anderson Quits NBC

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Harry F. Anderson, for the past eight years sales manager of the NBC Western Division, has resigned, effective Oct. 1. Sydney Dixon, who will fill the post, will operate from his present office in Hollywood, where he has been in charge of sales. William Bernard Ryan of the San Francisco sales office will become San Francisco sales manager.

Mutual to Receive Medal

Radio Stars Magazine will award its Medal for Distinguished Service to the Mutual network Oct. 2. The presentation will be made on the "Hi There Audience" series. Lester Grady, editor of Radio Stars, will make the presentation.

Mutual, incidentally, will celebrate the third anniversary of its formation Oct. 2.

I. Dollinger President of N. J. Allied

Meet Hears Myers' Plea For "Little NRA"

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 23.—Irving Dollinger of Linden today was elected president of Allied of New Jersey in the last business session of the three-day annual convention held here at the Ritz-Carlton. Simon Meyers of Moorestown was named vice-president; David Snaper of New Brunswick, treasurer; Jacob Unger of Hillside, secretary.

Dollinger succeeds Lee Newbury, who has been in the post for two years. He recently told MOTION PICTURE DAILY that business pressure would not permit him to continue that post for a third time.

Maurice Miller of Passaic was elected assistant treasurer; William C. Hunt of Wildwood, Frank P. Gravatt of Atlantic City and Louis Gold

Kansas Letter Fails To Reach Will Hays

Will H. Hays has not received the letter which was supposed to have been sent him by the Kansas City, Kan., Chamber of Commerce requesting his aid in repairing the damage done to civic pride by the refusal of Kansas City, Mo., exchange and theatremen to make a "first run town" of Kansas City, Kan., a spokesman for the M. P. P. D. A. head said yesterday.

The loyal Kansans believe their Granada and Electric merit first runs, but the economic royalists on the Missouri side refuse to waive their 14 to 28-day protection over the two houses. Hence the reported plea for Hays' intervention.

Roach Bullish on Il Duce; Will Produce with Junior

By BILL ORNSTEIN

Hal E. Roach, accompanied by Vittorio Mussolini, son of Il Duce; Mario Del Papa, writer; and C. C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the Hays organization, returned on the Rex from Italy yesterday 100 per cent sold on Premier Mussolini and what he has done for the poor and rich of that country.

There has been a lot printed on what Roach was supposed to have accomplished in Italy. Some of it is true, according to the producer, but most of it can be discounted for less than one per cent.

In an interview at his office late yesterday afternoon, Roach spoke on the score as it stood as far as he was concerned. He had just left Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's and M-G-M, and was late. But he gave reporters about a half-hour and spoke his piece.

"Vittorio Mussolini is here on a holiday as far as the kid is concerned," Roach began. "He's going into the

Ampa to Hold Series Of Company Meets

Plans are being considered by the Ampa board of directors to turn one meeting over to each company. Executives and film personalities of each firm will be invited to speak to the members of the Ampa and the industry at large.

Yesterday's session at Sardi's was virtually turned over to RKO with the exception of one former film star. She was Olga Baclanova. Oscar Straus, who wrote the music for "Make a Wish," and Marion Claire, who sings several numbers in the same Bobby Breen picture, flanked Ralph Rolan on the dais.

None, apparently, was in a talkative mood. All preferred to take a bow and let it go at that.

Roxy Allowances of $12,869 Are Sought

Petitions for allowances totaling $12,869 in the Roxy reorganization were the first filed in the U. S. District Court yesterday. Addison S. Pratt, Russell V. Cruikshank and Argyll R. Parsons were the petitioners.

Pratt, who acted as special master to determine the fairness of the Roxy plan, asked $10,000 in fees and $119 in disbursements. His petition stated that he spent two months holding hearings; that 2,659 pages of testimony were taken and that he submitted a 78-page report together with 53 pages of opinion. Directors to Abandon Talks With Studios

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—In a public statement issued last night, John Ford, A. Edward Sutherland and Howard Hawks, the committee of the Screen Directors' Guild, indicated the guild's decision to break off negotiations with the Producers Ass'n and leave the next step in the controversy up to a vote of the membership.

The carefully phrased utterance reviews the previous exchange of documents between the directors and the producers and continues, "Some months have passed since the guild has attempted to secure the alleviation of conditions affecting the rendition of services by its members. For the con-

Agreement in Para. Trustee Suits Signed

Total of $2,150,000 to Await Court Approval

An agreement to settle for $2,150,000 in cash the two actions brought by the Paramount reorganization trustees against officers and directors of the company during the period 1927 to 1931, and certain other defendants, was reached and signed yesterday by the parties to the actions, MOTION PICTURE DAILY learned from official sources.

As a result of the settlement agreement, trial of the first of the two suits, which was scheduled to begin on Monday, will be adjourned until late in October, and trial of the second suit until an even later date. The first case is set for trial before Justice Isidor Wasservogel in N. Y. Supreme Court, which reconvenes on Monday after the summer recess. The adjourned dates will be decided when the case is called at that time, although the trustee's attorneys endeavored yesterday to agree upon the dates in advance.

The adjournments are necessary inasmuch as the suits cannot be withdrawn without the permission of Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, whose approval of the settlements

Selznick East Soon

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—David O. Selznick plans to leave for New York in a couple of weeks. George Cukor, who will direct "Gone with the Wind," probably will accompany him.

'Blow Ye Winds' Becalmed;
A Dull, Badly Written Job

By PLAYBOY

The cyclorama was properly and romantically blue. The boat, filling most of the stage in front of it at the Forty-Sixth Theatre was a salty and nautical-looking affair with plenty of sail and a boom seemingly accurate as to detail. The sea-going department, by the time we tacked into the wind in Times Square and ultimately reached the haven of the midnight typewriter, had warped in for the night. That left us pretty much on the sand bar Henry Fonda made for in "Blow Ye Winds." The idea was to somehow verify our slight seafaring knowledge that the boat used in this play by Valentine Davies was a yawl. For yawl suggested yawn which was what this endeavor turned out to be. In our unfunny manner, we abjectly hoped the line might be humorous.

But skipping over this as painlessly as you will permit, we go adamant on you and positively insist upon the yawn. Eight scenes in three acts meant carrying this pretty far. It had to do with a great deal of bother about practically nothing. Doris Dalton goes a-summering, meets Fonda. They have an affair, but this, mind you, is love. She is an A.B., an A.M. and a Ph.D. and not a very interesting person, to boot. Anyhow, the conflict is between her love for Fonda and her career and Fonda, his love for her and his boat.

Mostly Verbiage

If a cohesive drama, or comedy for that matter, can be made of that Valentine Davies didn't do it. The talk goes on and on. And on, Fonda and Miss Dalton wear down the hinges on the door leading into her living room by their convenient appearances and re-appearances. When it's all over, Miss Dalton plays an emphatically dirty trick on faithful Joe, who has been hanging around and hoping, and goes back to Fonda and the Borealis, third angle in this dull and uninspired triangle.

Walter Wanger gave up Fonda for this part. Wanger could not have read the script and Fonda apparently was not much impressed himself. Miss Dalton struck us as a pretty bad actress or, at least, pretty bad on this occasion. But Edgar Stehli, as crusty Dr. McKnight, had little to do, yet did it so well he made the others recede far into the background which was what they deserved anyway.

Arthur Hopkins, the producer, originally planned "Blow Ye Winds" for a Tuesday night opening. Legionnaire traffic was blamed for the postponement until last night. It would have been just as well if the traffic snarl had continued.

Durkee Men Shifted

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23.—With the opening of the newest Durkee house, the Northway, here, some changes in personnel have taken place. Joseph Schlee has been made manager with James Airy as assistant; William Liebig has gone from the Fulton to the Gwynn; George Elders from doorman at the Ambassador to assistant manager at the Fulton and Dean Thurman from assistant at the Patterson to manager at the Gwynn.

It will be all right to turn the clocks back upon retiring or getting up in the morning.

G. B. Regional Meet
To Be Held Sunday

G. B. will hold a meeting of eastern sales forces at the home office on Sunday, Arthur A. Lee stated yesterday. Meetings of this kind are to be held before the release of each production, he said, in accord with the plan of selling pictures individually. "Non-Stop New York" will be discussed.

Among those who will attend will be: Marcel Mekelburg, Boston; Charles Leach, New Haven; Herbert Given, John Schaeffer, Philadelphia; W. A. V. Mack, Joseph Kaliski, Washington; George Rosenbaum, Buffalo, and Joseph Loeffler, Cleveland. Home office men who will be present will include: George W. Weeks, Arthur Greenblatt, Albert Margolies, Al Selig, Claude Macgowan, C. F. Schwengeler, B. J. Kearney and Basil Shea. Clinton M. White, newly appointed assistant general manager, will preside.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Ebb Tide"

(Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Technicolor gets its sea legs in this fascinating picturization of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Ebb Tide" and film audiences the world around get something different, substantial and satisfying to thrill to and talk about. It is doubtful if color film ever has had so severe a test or has given so fine an account of itself. The purely pictorial quality of the production would distinguish it, if it were half so sound as it is dramatically. So would the powerful performance of Oscar Homolka in his first appearance before an American lens.

These are, however, but highlights of a rounded whole produced on a grand scale by Lucien Hubbard and directed with superbly distributed emphasis by James Hogan from Bertram Millhauser's well developed screenplay.

Frances Farmer and Ray Milland play the romantic leads adequately and Lloyd Nolan makes a somewhat fantastic villain seem credible, but the major histrionic honors go to the dour Homolka and the droll Barry Fitzgerald, both of whom portray vile characters deservedly discontinued by gunfire before the final fadeout.

Stevenson's story, it will be recalled, picks up three South Sea Island beachcombers, places one of them in command of a pestilence-stricken sailing vessel with his associates as mate and steward and brings them through typhoon and thwarted piracy to an uncharted island under the illicit rule of a sophisticated white fanatic. Two of the beachcombers are destroyed by sustained subservience to alcoholic thirst and criminal ambition while the third is regenerated. Incidents involved in the working out of this result are far from commonplace and the tempo of their presentation is in consonance with the tidal movement suggested by Stevenson's title and traced out in his story.

Scenes ashore and afloat are spectacularly beautiful and many of them are dolly shots achieving third dimensional effect in a remarkable degree. The typhoon sequence in mid-picture drew a salvo of applause from a preview audience.

Running time, 94 minutes. "G."

"Life Begins in College"

(20th Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—The merry, madcap Ritz Brothers, in their own starring vehicle, which is at the same time a fast-stepping, well-told college football yarn of amusing improbabilities, offer ace laugh entertainment for any audience. In a word, the boys go to town, which means that their own peculiar brand of insane comedy hits the high spots.

Sharing the laughs is Joan Davis with her characteristic song renditions and in expert support are Tony Martin and Gloria Stuart, for the romance; Fred Stone, the coach; Nat Pendleton, the Indian who shows them how football should be played. A smart touch was the introduction of Ed Thorgeren, Movietone News ace sports commentator, to handle the broadcast of the big game. He is natural and offers a touch of the real thing with his clear, incisive voice.

There are a flock of tunes, all good, done by Pollack and Mitchell, of which "Sweet Varsity Sue" should be heard for many a football day. It was the work of Charles Tobias, Al Lewis and Murray Mencher. William A. Seiter directed for speed and comedy and did a fine job. The screenplay was by Karl Tunberg, and Don Ettlinger, suggested by a series of stories by Darrell Ware. Sidney Kuller, Ray Golden and Samuel Pokrass were responsible for the Ritz Brothers material.

The Ritzes are a trio of insane tailors on the campus of Lombardy, and they bounce in and out of the picture, whose story concerns the effort of Stone to hold his job by turning out a winning team. The Ritz Brothers discover that Pendleton is an oil well millionaire, force the dean to let the coach have another chance and Pendleton cleans up for the team. Through the yarn, as well, runs the romance of Martin, star replaced by Pendleton, and Miss Stuart, the coach's daughter. Complications arise through misunderstandings and the efforts of a jealous girl to spoil the romance.

The football games are real, loaded with punch, and interspersed with hilarious comedy as the Ritz boys go in—and out—of the games. Even the last minute winning touchdown is accomplished by them—on a wild comic note, as one of them drives right through a goal post.

Running time, 93 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"Air Express"

(Universal)

The three monkeys, Meany, Miny and Moe operate an air service. Moe flies the airplane. They have valuable diamonds to deliver, and a baby ostrich consigned to Eddie Bonns. The ostrich raises merry hell in the air, swallowing the diamonds and finally wrecking the ship. Moe, surviving the crash, revenges himself by switching on the ignition after the ostrich has swallowed the motor. There are fine touches of clever animation in the film and a number of laughs. It will satisfy. Running time, 6 mins. "G."

"Screen Snapshots 16-13"

(Columbia)

Outstanding clips in this reel are the scenes of Gene Autry putting his horse, Champion, through its paces; a premiere on a rainy afternoon and the opening of Bing Crosby's race-track. The rest of the reel is also interesting, but to a lesser degree. The avid filmgoers should enjoy it. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Mexican Mural"

(20th Century-Fox)

An expert and beautifully handled collection of shots that embraces the better aspects of the Mexican scene. The negative was shot in sepia tint and the well-cut sequences are backgrounded with appropriate tunes. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Framing Youth"

(Roach-M-G-M)

The "Gang" is in radio here in this latest chapter of its childish interests. Spanky, as manager of the station, is threatened by "Butch" to keep "Alfalfa" from an amateur contest. However, Spanky cannot do this and face "Alfalfa," so they go on. Spanky gets a shiner for his reneging, but you should see the other fellow. It's fine for the child audiences. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"The Big Apple"

(Educational)

A meager plot concerning the lighter side of college life serves as an introduction for the acrobatic brand of terpsichore that is at present the thing. There is nothing much to it, but it has many youthful faces and much activity when the boys and girls start to give out. A little publicity in a trailer will draw the audience for this short. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"The Boss Didn't Say Good Morning"

(M-G-M)

Indigestion in his boss's interior almost wrecks Jack Mulhall's home, family and mind in this short which will interest a great audience. The ailment causes the grouchy superior to let the morning salutation slip by. This worries Mulhall and his imagination starts to run amok. But in the later sequences things work out satisfactorily and there is peace in the Mulhall domicile again. It is different stuff that will hold attention. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Newsreel Parade

Movietone News
Vol. 20, No. 4
(20th Century-Fox)

The extraordinarily clear weather and the length of time it took the American Legion parade to pass up 5th Ave. enabled Movietone cameramen to get a variety of shots of the big parade. The photography is outstanding.

Army planes are shown at an angle with the Empire State Bldg. in the background, from the air looking down on the kaleidoscopic scene and from buildings. It is exceptionally well done.

Four other clips make up the reel. One shows Jacqueline Cochrane making a new woman's plane record of 293 miles an hour. It is described by Helen Claire. Another is the crowning of the Kansas City Jubilesta queen. A third is another of Lew Lehr's Newsettes showing something flying like a bird, with closeups following which give the details of the mechanical freak. Lehr's dialect description is funnier than anything he has done in a long time.

Both the Yankees and Giants, prospective World Series contenders, are shown in action. This clip is handled expertly. Four out of five of the numbers are very much worthwhile.

Running time, 9½ mins. J.

News of the Day
Vol. 9, No. 202.
(M-G-M)

The American Legion parade is the first and best clip in this number of the reel. Closeups, shots of the crowd, roof-views of the 18-hour march and shots of the squadron of planes overhead combine to make this first class coverage, indicative of the magnitude of the parade.

Short clips include views of the Dinosaur Park, composed of figures of prehistoric animals, being built in the west; a good clip for women has Perc Westmore telling and showing them how to use makeup and dress their hair to the best advantage for various types of faces, an ingenious farmer whose tractor-plow is rigged on a maypole and plows the farm in an unending circular manner as a wire draws it closer at each circle. Sport shots finish the reel with speed and entertainment as the Yale team is shown in practice and the international polo match supplies some fast action.

Running time, nine minutes. A.

Paramount News
No. 15.
(Paramount)

The Legion parade up 5th Ave. is the highlight of this newsreel. About eight minutes of clips have been added to the regular issue, some of the footage supplying a few laughs, while other scenes will rouse cheers in home towns where exhibited.

Again, the entire list of new commentators is introduced, each being an expert in his line. Sidney Walton describes the record run established by Ab Jenkins, American speed king, at Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah.

President Roosevelt congratulates A. J. Richard on the 10th anniversary

"An Asset to Our Country"

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

My dear Mr. Richard:

I learn with pleasure that your newsreel is celebrating its tenth anniversary.

Since the inception of newsreels, I have been a constant and interested observer of them. Their function has become more and more important.

Only through accurate and fairly presented news, regardless of its presentation on paper in print, or depicted upon the screen, can the public decide the questions of the day.

Efforts of the newsreel industry to meet these higher requirements are an asset to our country.

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. A. J. Richard,
Editor, Paramount News,
New York, N. Y.

In a letter to A. J. Richard, editor of Paramount News, President Roosevelt recognizes the ever-increasing functional power of the industry's newsreels. The text, reproduced above, is included in the current issue of Paramount News.

of the newsreel. The letter is shown and read by Gabriel Heatter, chief commentator. Mark Hawley handles the sequence which shows a Spanish warship putting into an English port for repairs at Falmouth, Loyalist refugees at Bayonne, France; Indians at work at Celilo Falls, where Chinook salmon is being caught; and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and his bride taking up residence at Charlottesville, Va., near the University of Virginia where the President's son is studying law.

Bill Slater comes through with a dramatic pigskin review of last year, showing several of the top notch players in action.

Running time, 16 minutes. O.

Pathe News
Vol. 9, No. 19
(Pathe)

The war in China occupies first position in the latest issue of this reel. The material is well cut, graphically showing the feverish activity behind the lines and many quick glimpses of first-hand action. One stark scene, in particular, shows the execution, unedited, of a group of suspected spies. The stuff is gory and will bring gasps from the audience.

The bulk of the reel offers shots of that farmer in Louisiana who lets his tractor run an 80 mile circuit, unattended, while he reads a newspaper; a tuna contest in the Bay of Fundy, Wall Street big-wigs flying to work in seaplanes and almost slipping into the drink, an explosion in Paris believed to be the work of terrorists. Finally, the lengthy American Legion parade. The reel is good.

Running time, 8½ minutes. P.

Universal Newsreel
Vol. 9, No. 600
(Universal)

Universal Newsreel devotes release No. 600 to the American Legion's New York convention exclusively, and in so doing provides many an exhibitor with another of those special attractions which, if properly exploited, will bring patrons to the theatre who could think of a dozen excuses for not wanting to go ordinarily.

This is a reel which should find a ready-made audience, small or large, in every city and hamlet in the country. An estimated 250,000 Legionnaires, representing every state in the Union, were in New York for the convention. Every one of them, their families and friends, will want to see this release. Millions of other Legionnaires and ex-service men who were unable to attend the convention will want to see this panoramic of the New York gathering, presented in liberal footage. In addition to these, the average individual, who loves a parade, excitement and color—there were an estimated 2,000,000 of them in New York who bore discomforts watch the parade—will pay to see at their ease the same sights.

The reel is well photographed, interestingly narrated, and edited with a sightseer's eye for spectacle and contrast. It should repay any exhibitor who features it in his advertising, emphasizing the fact that it is a complete reel, not merely a flash clip.

Running time, 10 mins. K.

Re-sign Virginia Field
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Twentieth Century-Fox has extended the contract of Virginia Field.

Independents Hit Chicago Release Plan

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Claiming that the present release system is causing them an untold amount of grief, Chicago's independent exhibitors are seeking a way to have the release plan changed to what they feel is a more equitable arrangement. The thorn in the side of the independents is the playing time being given the class "A" films which open in the Loop theatres. The present system, it is reported, "milks" the pictures before they get to the smaller houses.

Currently films opening in the Chicago, Oriental, Roosevelt and United Artists Theatres play these houses for two to three weeks usually. Following this they are booked into the Apollo or Garrick in the Loop for another stay of a week or two, from there they go to the "A" houses for a week's engagement and by the time they reach the first-week-of-release theatres—10 weeks after the Loop opening—they have been "milked" dry, exhibitors claim.

Weakens Big Pictures

It is this system that has been the reason for many of the bigger pictures being pulled after one day's engagement in the independent theatres, even in "C" week. The past few months have seen pictures which do tremendous business in the Loop theatres and the "A" houses, fail miserably in the "C" week and subsequent run theatres.

With big pictures teamed together for dual combinations in the "A" and "B" week theatres and not available in that form for the smaller theatres, business for these small houses has been off to an alarming degree, independent theatre executives state.

The present double feature situation which was slated to be changed, according to reports, some weeks ago, is apparently here to stay. The theatres that started it can't get rid of it, having allowed themselves no way out. In the meantime the independents are seeking a change that will enable the releasing plan to be more flexible and give them a chance at all films sooner.

Ayres, Campbell Cast

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Lew Ayres and Louise Campbell have the leads in "They Knew What Happened," which Paramount placed on its production schedule today. The story, by Vera Caspary, will go before cameras Oct. 4. It will be produced by Harold Hurley.

of Newark were named directors in addition to the executives elected.

In a lengthy talk before the members of the local organization, Abram F. Myers, general counsel of the national association, sought a "little NRA" for the film industry, similar to the Guffey Bill.

Declaring that Congress only awaits the statement of what independent exhibitors want, he said: "We have reached a point where opinion of independent theatre owners must be molded for some one definite program.

"If further progress is to be made, Congress says, 'bring us something concrete and let us put it in the hopper.'

"The majority of Congress understands the motion picture business requires legislative attention," Myers said.

Asks Impartiality

"A Government board, not of reformers, amateurs or politicians, a board selected for experience in the business but with no present connection or investment in any one branch of the film industry, and with no axes to grind. A code of fair conduct. A tax of 25 or 30 per cent of gross receipts (the Guffey Bill tax is for 19½ per cent) and a provision as in the Guffey Bill that the tax is to be imposed unless business is a member of the code and obeys it. There you will find the teeth so sadly lacking in the late NRA."

Following the traditional system, the New Jersey group did not adopt a formal resolution endorsing this plan. Leaders explained their way of working is to crystallize opinion, then go to work. The Allied of New Jersey members said that the Myers plan is favored unanimously.

Myers asserted that "one intelligent independent tells me that for protection against invasion he pays yearly tribute of $35,000 to $50,000. The taxed independent says he pays when he signs up for more pictures than he needs, to keep producers' and distributors' circuits out."

To Fight Paramount

Leaders stated today that they will carry on with their fight against Paramount. Myers, called in as spokesman on this issue, said: "A decent regard for opinions of mankind is the very least a commercial organization could show to retain goodwill towards its customers. When a reasonable protest is made by Allied against holding out six pictures he promised, because of which exhibitors had signed at higher prices, Adolph Zukor replied with a letter of the wonderful value of Paramount productions. He insulted the intelligence of everyone involved by speaking of everything else but the point at issue."

Myers went into a lengthy tirade against Paramount for withdrawing six pictures from the current schedule.

The annual banquet was held tonight in the main dining room of the hotel with several prominent guests on hand.

First Run Patrons Oppose Duals, Theatre Poll Shows

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—The tabulation of the returns thus far on the questionnaires in the Fanchon & Marco-St. Louis Star-Times poll of local film preferences seems to indicate that the patrons of the first run theatres, such as the Ambassador, Fox and Missouri, prefer single feature pictures in conjunction with short subjects and stage shows while the men, women and children who patronize the neighborhood houses are strong for two full-length pictures on their programs.

But it is still too early to draw definite conclusions, since a grand total of 400,000 questionnaires are to be distributed through the cooperation of the 30 houses that are participating in the big poll, one of the largest and most comprehensive of its kind ever undertaken in the industry.

The 30 houses are included in the local holdings of the Fanchon & Marco interests and their affiliates, the St. Louis Amusement Co., and Ansell Bros. Circuit. The houses participating are: Fox, Ambassador, St. Louis, Missouri, Aubert, Capitol, Congress, Florissant, Granada, Gravois, Hi-Pointe, Kingsland, Lafayette, Lindell, Maffitt, Manchester, Maplewood, Mikado, Pageant, Shady Oak, Shaw, Richmond, Ritz, Shenandoah, Tivoli, Union, Uptown, Varsity and the West End and the Washington in Granite City, Ill.

Comedy Preferred

If the returned questionnaires may be accepted as a criterion of what the cash customers want, their present preference is for pictures in a lighter vein, heavy dramas and mystery pictures being taboo. Musical comedies and straight comedy rank first and second in the list of picture preference, while melodrama and mystery films are far below them. Historical pictures and the love-romance types are also popular, while war and gangster films have few followers.

Among short length pictures cartoons are the most popular by a wide margin with newsreels second and travel pictures third. Pictures typed as sports, musical, science, animal and industry follow in the order named.

Some Like Vaudeville

Among those seeking stage shows in conjunction with a single feature picture a strong majority is in favor of vaudeville. Others have expressed a preference for prominent bands and orchestra and still others want certain singers and dancers.

A further analysis of 7000 returns shows that most of the persons who go to see films range in age from 16 to 40 years.

The latest returns (as published by the Star-Times under date of Sept. 22) show the following standing for stars:

Actresses: Myrna Loy, 604; Claudette Colbert, 355; Loretta Young, 320; Kay Francis, 284; Ginger Rogers, 272; Norma Shearer, 240; Barbara Stanwyck, 234; Joan Crawford, 230;

Remember?

When Adolph Zukor and his wife, on their recent visit to Paris, went to the Casino de Paris, where Maurice Chevalier is the star, their seats were in the front row. When Chevalier came out to sing, he barely began when he suddenly stopped, leaned over and shook hands with the executive and Mrs. Zukor.

Then he explained to the audience who Zukor is and the part he played in the Frenchman's success here. At that point the Zukors took the spotlight themselves.

record business to "100 Men and a Girl," now playing in 50 spots.

A cable from C. M. Woolf on the trade showing of the film at the Phoenix in London reported the showing a great success. The picture will have its first European showing in Vienna on Oct. 14.

To Reopen Omaha House

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—Plans for reopening the 3,000-seat Paramount and installation of a new marquee at the Orpheum were discussed by A. H. Blank, president of Tri-States and Central States, at a session here with District Manager Evert R. Cummings.

Jeanette McDonald, 213, and Bette Davis, 192.

Child stars: Shirley Temple, 2,143; Jane Withers, 1,342; Freddie Bartholomew, 766; Deanna Durbin, 347, and Mickey Rooney, 264.

With the addition of a large ratio of questionnaires tabulated today from the neighborhood theatres, the late movie fan poll totals are changing, showing the differences between the neighborhood and first run audiences. Clark Gable leads in both groups followed by Robert Taylor. Neighborhoods pick Dick Powell for third choice. First runs select William Powell. Paul Muni rates fourth in first runs and ninth in neighborhoods. Myrna Loy, Claudette Colbert and Loretta Young are one, two, three in first runs with Myrna Loy, Ginger Rogers and Loretta Young in that order in the neighborhood fans' choice. Shirley Temple first in both by wide margin in child star group followed by Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew. The influence of the younger element in neighborhood group is shown in the rating of gangster pictures which accounted for 9 per cent of the total features in neighborhoods and rated only 4 per cent of feature totals in first run voting. Short films show same selection in both groups with cartoons, news reels and sports in that order. Two features versus one feature and shorts: neighborhoods very strong for two features. First run fans about evenly divided.

Directors to Abandon Talks With Studios

tinuance of these conditions no semblance of an excuse has been offered. Whether the guild will desire to defer its efforts pending judicial determination of issues improperly raised is a matter which must be left for the determination by the entire guild.

"In any event, it is not our present purpose to discuss again the issues involved. In the face of the Wagner law the producers have declined to recognize this guild as the agency designated by its members for the purpose of collective bargaining. The choice has been willful and deliberate and upon them must rest the full responsibility therefor. So far as our committee is concerned, we feel free to discharge ourselves of further obligation to secure an amicable settlement of the controversy."

It is understood a vote of guild members will be taken either by mail or in a meeting, but no choice of means or date has been disclosed as yet.

Three Circuits Sign Pact in Springfield

Loew's, Paramount and Warners yesterday concluded negotiations with the I.A.T.S.E. for operators and stagehands at Springfield, Mass. Under terms of the new pact, union help will receive 10 per cent increases. Loew's has the Poli in that city and Harry Shaw, New England division manager, yesterday sat in on the negotiations.

William Finney, midwest division head for Loew's, will go to Indianapolis next Tuesday to conclude negotiations for new contracts in that city.

Roach Bullish On Italians' Filming Plans

picture business and I'm going in with him."

Then the M-G-M producer declared himself and told of his plans.

"We're not going to make pictures for the American market unless they're good enough. We want to make them first in Italian. Then we will determine where we will go from there. We have to see what angle they want."

Asked how he would figure in the deal, Roach said: "I'm in sort of an advisory capacity. Mussolini wants his son to go into business. Vittorio decided on the film business and I'm sort of a chaperon for him."

"How many pictures do you plan?" he was asked.

"There is no definite amount. I haven't any number in mind. We may make one or two to see how they turn out."

One of the reporters started to laugh, when Roach gritted his teeth.

Not "Fly-by-Night"

"It's not going to be a fly-by-night company, as you think," the producer shot back. "I went over cold as a cucumber, but I soon warmed up."

Then reporters asked him about releasing arrangements and financing.

"M-G-M has nothing to do with this. This is strictly a Hal Roach proposition. Neither M-G-M nor any other American company will release the pictures. Nor do we want them to!"

The reporters insisted in trying to get a concrete figure on the number of films Roach had in mind.

"We will probably make four the first year and eventually hope to increase this to 20 a year. All will be produced for Italian consumption. Italy at the present time makes 40 a year."

"Can't you tell how much you plan to spend on a picture?"

"We plan to spend in American money from $40,000 to $1,000,000 on each picture."

Undecided on Studio

"How about studio arrangements?"

"We may have our own studios, or rent space there." Seven stages have already been completed in the new Italian plant and eight more are planned, according to Roach.

Mussolini's son will remain in this country until Oct. 16 and then return to Italy.

Although no cast is set, the first picture, tentatively set, will be "Rigoletto," by Verdi, Roach said.

Queried on the producing company, Roach said that the name of it is RAM, a combination of Roach and Mussolini.

"I have a five-year contract with the company, which, by the way, is financed by Italian banks. The agreement stipulates I cannot produce in any other foreign country and the same goes for Vittorio Mussolini."

Roach added he held a half-interest in the company.

"My arrangement does not affect my American setup. I'm going to spend as much time in Italy as I see fit. I'm going back in a month or so to start preparations for the first picture."

Prodded further by the gentlemen of the press, Roach said:

"There's really not a deuce of a lot to talk about. Up to three days before I left Naples, the talks were entirely financial. Until we get started, Mussolini will learn production methods on the coast."

"How will these pictures affect the quota?" he was asked.

"There's no quota regulation in Italy at present and this deal will have no effect on a possibility of such an act."

"No Propaganda"

Asked about propaganda, Roach said: "There will be no propaganda in the pictures and there will be no Government interference. Likewise, there will be no Government financing."

"Does Louis B. Mayer figure in on the deal?" was another question.

"Mr. Mayer doesn't even know the deal exists. I have just talked with Mr. Schenck about those stories in the papers (they said that M-G-M would put up $2,000,000 to finance the deal) and explained to him how the misstatements got into the papers."

"Will M-G-M release the films in this market?" he was then asked.

"Not unless I make a grade 'A' picture will we offer it to M-G-M. We may offer them to other companies, however."

M-G-M Definitely Out

Nettled by reporters who insisted on mentioning the company, Roach stressed this in no uncertain terms: "Please don't mention M-G-M in this deal. M-G-M doesn't want to be mentioned and, if you do, not only will this company be sore but Italy as well."

"You see, M-G-M is a big company over there and before you know there will be claims that M-G-M is trying to freeze out the small independent companies. This is not so; it was never intended."

"Will your plans for 20 pictures a year give you a monopoly on the film industry?"

"No!"

"Are you the president of RAM?"

"No; I am vice-president. Vittorio Mussolini is president."

"Who else came over with you besides Mussolini's son?"

"Mario Del Papa, who will be an associate. He worked with M-G-M in Hollywood and in Europe. He will be business manager."

"And who else?"

Pavolini Also Included

"Corrado Pavolini," Roach didn't know how to spell the name, but the spelling is listed in the official passenger list supplied by the Italian Line. He is a writer.

"All four of us are leaving by TWA plane tomorrow." The producer asked that the time not be mentioned.

"What has Mussolini's son done?"

"He wrote the screen column for his father's paper. He was the only one to knock Italian-made productions and praise American films."

There was an interlude of kidding on that score.

"What is the capitalization of the new company?"

"Please don't ask and mention dollars and cents. Those stories you've

Handclasps

Interviewed on the new Italian pier at West 52nd St., in regard to the Vittorio Mussolini-Hal Roach tieup, S. E. Fulvio Suvich, Italian Ambassador to Washington, who accompanied the party on the Rex, told Motion Picture Daily:

"While I do not know much about the film industry, I think the tieup is an excellent medium for cementing Italian and American friendship. The motion picture industry is a power in presenting propaganda on the screen and I believe this approach should have been done a long time ago."

Suvich went on to add that Italy had first-grade film stars 20 years ago and for some reason or other let them slip.

"Now," he added, "I believe this plan will enable the Italian industry to get back in the limelight again."

seen published are a lot of hokey. Someone got an idea into his head and developed it into a yarn."

"Tell us more," reporters insisted.

"I went over on the wrong premise and got in by mistake."

A giggle pervaded the room.

"I told them that they couldn't expect to make pictures unless they expected to lose money. They thought I came over to make pictures."

"But after I got on the right track, met the right people, I got set."

"You know Walter Wanger had a deal on to produce for Mussolini?"

"I beat him to it, I guess. Josef Von Sternberg arrived in Italy a week after I signed the deal. He also wanted to produce there, I understand."

"Will you be allowed to take any money out of the country?"

Finances Arranged

"I'll be permitted to take monies accountable as my end of the deal."

"How about foreign versions?"

"We'll probably make our pictures in five different versions. We may dub in English, but I don't know yet."

"Will they all be operas?"

"I don't know. The first one will be. Operas go big in Italy and, if your going to can anything over there, why not can what the people want?"

You wouldn't can olives, would you, if the people didn't like them?"

"How about your second picture?"

"I still am not certain about the first. I may decide to do the Passion Play tomorrow as a picture. How can I tell?"

Roach said he had brought along a number of operatic records and "I think I can sing 'Rigoletto' by this time." No one asked for a rendition and Roach smiled.

"Do you think it's a good deal?"

"If it's a bad deal, okay. But I think I made a very good one."

Roach insisted that M-G-M was not associated with the idea. He said that Schenck was peeved at the stories which had been printed, but "we left good friends."

The producer then went on to discuss how much good Mussolini has done for his people, adding: "I think he is the only square politician I've ever seen."

There are 2,200 theatres in Italy. When Roach leaves next month for Italy, he plans to take along several technicians and possibly a production director.

Mussolini told reporters that the first picture will be made at Cinema City, just outside of Rome. He confirmed Roach in that backing for the producing company is not coming from the Government, but will be by private capital.

There is no intention to import players from Hollywood, he said, and his trip here is merely to gain technical knowledge on how films are made before "Rigoletto" is started.

Met On a Cutter

In the wee hours of the morning, about 50 newsreel cameramen, newspaper photographers and reporters left the barge office in a Government cutter to meet the incoming party.

While they were aboard the white tugboat, plans were being discussed on how to interview Mussolini's son. C. C. Pettijohn's wife was aboard to greet her husband.

Just as the cutter neared the Rex, another Government tug with Mussolini's son, Pettijohn behind him, Fulvio Suvich and Roach steamed up the Hudson. Three special plainclothesmen, assigned to guard Il Duce's son, tried to stop the tug.

The three policemen tried to summon one of the two police launches so that they could get on and chase the other boat. But it was no use. The police launch thought it was too dangerous to slide up to the cutter and continued alongside of it, but not close enough to transfer the policemen. There was also an Italian delegation on the cutter. The men managed to salute in Fascist style and sorrowfully watched as their guest of honor disappeared.

Docked at 34th St.

At first it was reported that the visitors were being taken to the Newark airport to avoid demonstrations. From Newark, they were to take a plane to the coast. Later it was learned that the Government boat with Mussolini docked at 34th St.

Pettijohn had to go to the new Italian Line pier at 52nd St. to meet his wife, coming in on the Rex. Suvich boarded the liner again at the dock to return to his wife and entourage.

It was a beautiful day for sailing up the Hudson yesterday, but 50 reporters, newsreel men and photographers didn't seem to enjoy it.

"Dodd" Leads Minneapolis With $11,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 23.—Although total grosses were slightly over average for the Twin Cities, business lagged this week with "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" and Duke Ellington and revue on the stage taking the lead with an $11,000 take at the Minneapolis Orpheum, over normal by $5,000.

Other above average grosses were those of "Thin Ice," which did $7,500 at the Paramount, where average is $5,500, and "You Can't Have Everything," which did $6,000 at the St. Paul Orpheum, where $4,000 is usual. The start of school and a relapse after fair week weakened the takes.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $29,800. Average is $27,000. Total first run business in St. Paul was $18,400. Average is $15,000.

Estimated takes:

To Rebuild at Flint

DETROIT, Sept. 23.—E. C. Beatty, president of W. S. Butterfield Theatres, Inc., has completed plans for rebuilding the Garden at Flint. A long-term lease has been signed with A. M. Davison, owner. Work will start next March. Construction will be of brick, steel and concrete.

Canada Openings High

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Statistics compiled in trade circles in Toronto bring out the fact that no less than 86 new theatres have been opened across Canada during the eight months ending Aug. 31. Approximately two thirds of these are in Ontario.

Murphy at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Sept. 23.—Frank M. Murphy of Loew's Orpheum, Boston, is the new manager of Loew's Parkway here, succeeding Roger R. Drisel, who has been transferred to Loew's State, Norfolk.

"Sleuth" $14,000 Lead in Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—"Super Sleuth" introduced the new season's policy of screen-plus-stage attractions at Loew's and stood out with a take of $14,000 against recent average of $8,000. The stage attraction was "Hollywood Hotel" revue.

"Thin Ice" skated to a good high of $10,500 at the Capitol where it was doubled-billing. The average there is $9,500. "Topper," sharing the dual program at the Princess, accounted for $7,000, equal to par.

Total first run business was $38,500. Average is $35,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 18:

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)
"THE LADY ESCAPES" (20th-Fox)

PRINCESS—(2,272), 25c-30c-35c-50c-65c, 7 days. Gross: $7,000. (Average, $7,000)

"Varsity" on Dual Best in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—The Mainstreet made the best comparative showing of a mild week for first runs, grossing $9,700, $1,700 over the line, with "Varsity Show" and "Hideaway." Box-offices generally felt the widespread fear of infantile paralysis.

"Thin Ice" pulled $7,800, $1,600 up, in the six days of its second week at the Fox, and was moved to the Uptown for a third go. Big money went to the Midland, where "Lost Horizon" took $12,800.

Total first run business was $37,100, excluding Empress. Average is $36,200.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending Sept. 15:

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)
FOX—(2,200), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days, 2nd week. Stage: Sunnie O'Dea, Jack Leonard, Kendall Capps & Junior, the 3 Arnolds. Gross: $7,800. (Average, $6,200)

Cambridge Opens Sunday

CAMBRIDGE, O., Sept. 23.—Films now will be shown here Sundays. The City Council has passed an ordinance permitting them.

"Ice" Is 2nd Week Indianapolis Hit

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 23.—"Thin Ice" supported the Apollo like anything except thin ice and gave the house $5,500 for its second week, $1,500 to the good and the best on a percentage basis of any first run in town.

"The Life of the Party" and "She's No Lady" brought $700 into the black for the Circle, where a total of $5,200 was taken. "Lost Horizon" did good second-week business at Loew's, where it pulled $6,000. "Think Fast, Mr. Moto" with a stage show headlining Roscoe Ates, had an $8,600 take at the Lyric.

Total first run business was $25,300. Average is $23,500.

LYRIC—(2,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Stage: Roscoe Ates, Helen Denison, Loria Brothers, Miss "Chic" Kennedy plus other acts. Gross: $8,600. (Average, $8,000)

"Horizon" Is Seattle High With $10,000

SEATTLE, Sept. 23.—"Lost Horizon" was something of a sensation at the Liberty. It rolled up $10,000, double average and was held.

"Thin Ice," on a dual with "One Mile from Heaven," also was in the money, the $9,250 gross at the Fifth Avenue being $2,250 over par. This bill also was held. "Topper" and "Think Fast, Mr. Moto" at the Orpheum took $6,100 and were moved to the Music Box.

Total first run business was $41,150. Average is $36,500. Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 17:

"THE GREAT GAMBINI" (Para.)

"Shanghai" Retitled

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—"Daughter of Shanghai" will be the release title of Paramount's "East of Shanghai."

"Thin Ice" in 2d Week Tops Boston Gross

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—"Thin Ice," on a dual with "Annapolis Salute," held over at the RKO Memorial, continued to register in a week of rain and cool weather. The second week drew $18,000, $6,000 above average.

"Broadway Melody" at the Loew's Orpheum and Loew's State proved a good attraction at both houses. The Orpheum did $3,000 over average with a $15,000 gross, while the State drew $1,000 above the line with $12,000.

"On Such a Night" dualled with "Wild and Woolly" did not draw at the Paramount and Fenway. The Paramount grossed $6,500, $500 under average, while the Fenway took $4,000 on the week, also $500 under the line.

Total first run business was $105,000. Average is $96,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 16:

"Dead End" Is Buffalo Top With $24,000

BUFFALO, Sept. 23.—Chilly weather and a red-hot film week came hand-in-hand to the local Rialto.

The Buffalo's "Dead End" took top money as every house in town marched into the fall season over par. It drew $24,000, just double average figures, and was moved to the Hipp.

"Lost Horizon" did $9,200, $3,200 over normal, in the picture's holdover week at the Lafayette.

"Souls at Sea" had a good second week at the Great Lakes, with $8,500, over par by $1,200, and "Artists and Models" drew $9,300 in a holdover week at the Hippodrome to go over average by $2,000.

Total first run business was $59,000. Average is $38,400.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 18:

"DEAD END" (U. A.)
BUFFALO—(3,000), 30c-50c, 7 days. Gross: $24,000. (Average, $12,000)

"ARTISTS AND MODELS" (Para.)

"WILD AND WOOLY" (20th-Fox)
"THINK FAST, MR. MOTO" (20th-Fox)
CENTURY—(3,000), 25c, 7 days. Gross: $7,500. (Average, $5,800)

"LOST HORIZON" (Col.)
LAFAYETTE—(3,300), 25c, 7 days (second week). Gross: $9,200. (Average, $6,000)

Epidemic Damages Grosses at Omaha

OMAHA, Sept. 23. — With even adults in a panic because of the infantile paralysis epidemic, patrons continued to stay away from local houses last week. Only the Brandeis was able to slip over the line for some profit, getting $4,300, or $300 better than average, for "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" and "It Happened in Hollywood."

"Souls at Sea" and "Sing and Be Happy" fell $100 under par at the Omaha for a $5,400 gross on a seven-day run. "The Road Back" and "Flyaway Baby," which followed in at the Omaha for five days, got only $3,900, compared to $5,500 for a seven-day average.

Total first run business was $20,400. Average is $16,700.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending Sept. 11:

"SOULS AT SEA" (Para.)
"SING AND BE HAPPY" (20th-Fox)
OMAHA—(2,200), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $5,400. (Average, $5,500)

Week Ending Sept. 15:

"MR. DODD TAKES THE AIR" (W.B.)
"IT HAPPENED IN HOLLYWOOD" (Col.)
BRANDEIS—(1,200), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $4,300. (Average, $4,000)

Week Ending Sept. 16:

"PUBLIC WEDDING" (W.B.)
ORPHEUM—(3,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $6,800. (Average, $7,200)

"THE ROAD BACK" (Univ.)
"FLYAWAY BABY" (W.B.)
OMAHA—(2,200), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $3,900. (Average, $5,500)

Out Hollywood Way

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Grand National has a monkey used in scenes of "He Wanted to Marry" for which the publicity department is claiming the simian sprint record. The monkey escaped from the studio and was found in Santa Monica, 10 miles away, a half hour later. . . . For the expansion of studio facilities during its new building program, M-G-M will install the largest studio telephone switchboard on the coast. It will have 900 stations, require seven operators and will take three months to install. . . . ALEX HYDE has been signed as associate musical director to assist NAT FINSTON at M-G-M.

Songwriters LOUIS ALTER and PAUL WEBSTER, with writer FRED SAIDY, have organized a 16 mm. film club in Hollywood. They plan to write, direct and shoot one production every two months. . . . JOY HODGES has left for New York to take the lead in the MOSS HART-GEORGE S. KAUFMAN play, "Hold Your Hat, Boys" . . . JACK SHERRILL, DEANNA DURBIN's manager, has married FRANCES COFFEY. . . . EDGAR BERGEN and CHARLIE MCCARTHY reported to the Goldwyn lot this week for "The Goldwyn Follies," after making personal appearances at the Michigan State Fair. . . . After six years away from the lot, CHARLES STALLINGS returns to M-G-M as unit manager for "Navy Blue and Gold." . . . RKO has changed the title of "Female of the Species" to "Women Have a Way."

Casting — LOUELLA PARSONS will enact a role in Warners' "Hollywood Hotel" . . . BILLY GILBERT to "Hitting a New High," RKO. . . . HARRY CAREY joins the cast of RKO's "Highway to Hell," featuring SALLY EILERS and JOHN BEAL. . . . DONALD MEEK to "Young Man's Fancy," Universal. . . . HELEN WESTLEY to "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," 20th Century-Fox. . . . ELIZABETH RISDON and GUINN WILLIAMS to "Bad Man of Brimstone," and WALTER PIDGEON's first assignment at M-G-M under his new contract will be in "Four Marys" . . . EDWARD J. BROPHY to "The Last Gangster," M-G-M. . . . BILLIE BURKE and SAMUEL S. HINDS to "Navy Blue and Gold," M-G-M.

For the first time in about 14 years, NOAH BEERY will appear in the same picture with WALLACE, his brother. He's been cast in M-G-M's "Bad Man of Brimstone." . . . KAY LINAKER to "Charlie Chan at Monte Carlo," and the dance team of CHILTON and THOMAS to "Love and Hisses," both 20th Century-Fox. . . . LINA BASQUETTE and LOUISE CAMPBELL to Paramount's "The Buccaneer." . . . BEN BLUE has been set for three Paramount pictures—"The Big Broadcast of 1938," "College Swing" and "Paris Honeymoon," the last to be a BING CROSBY vehicle.

FRANK MCGLYNN, Sr., again will play Lincoln on the screen. He's cast for that role in Paramount's "Wells Fargo." . . . TOM KENNEDY, KERNAN CRIPPES and JAMES ROBBINS to "He Wanted to Marry," and HARRY TYLER and NORA CECIL to "Mr. Boggs Buys a Barrel," both Grand National. . . . CHESTER CONKLIN to "La Vida Bohemia," Cantabria Films. . . . CHARLES WINNINGER has been borrowed from Universal for Major's "Every Day's a Holiday," MAE

This Little Pig

London, Ont., Sept. 23.—A little pig brought plenty of woe to Manager Lloyd Mills of the Centre here when he announced that a baby would be given away at the theatre, the same being the pink-nosed porky.

Following the stunt announcement, the Provincial Dep't. of Public Welfare, the Children's Aid Society, Crown Attorney Norman Newton and the local police all jumped into action. The gag was spoiled when the manager was forced to reveal that a human child was not involved.

WEST vehicle. . . . LUIS ALBERNI to "Hitting a New High," and D'ARCY CORRIGAN to "Women Have a Way," both RKO.

Directors—SAMUEL GOLDWYN has loaned H. C. POTTER to Paramount to direct "The Yellow Nightingale," in which GLADYS SWARTHOUT and JOHN BOLES will be co-starred. . . . BURT SPURLIN, veteran property man at M-G-M, has been made an assistant director in the short subject department. . . . EDDIE DMYTRYK, film editor, has been made the director of the second unit of Paramount's "Hold 'Em Navy" . . . D. ROSS LEDERMAN has been signed by SOL LESSER to handle the first GLEN MORRIS Tarzan picture, "Tarzan's Revenge."

Writers—Paramount assignments: J. P. McEVoy on "Artists and Models of 1938"; MICHAEL FESSIER on untitled story of highway racketeers; WILLIAM HURLBUT on "East of Shanghai"; JOHN C. MOFFITT on "Ensenada"; JACK CUNNINGHAM on "Things Began to Happen" . . . RKO assignments: VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE on "Women Have a Way"; CARL HARBAUGH to gags for "Hitting a New High"; JOHN MONKS, JR., to "The Mad Miss Manton"; W. W. WATSON and MAXWELL SHANE to "She's Got That Swing"; PHILIP EPSTEIN to "They Didn't Want Love" . . . WANDA TOUCHOCK has been signed by SOL LESSER to script "Stowaway in Paradise," the next BOBBY BREEN picture.

Contracts—DAVID L. LOEW has signed PAUL VOGEL to a year's contract to handle photography on the JOE E. BROWN and other features. . . . Grand National has extended the contract of EVELYN DAW, singer who debuted in films with "Something to Sing About." Her next vehicle will be "The Strad," original story and music by VICTOR SCHERTZINGER, who will produce. . . . 20th Century-Fox has extended the pacts of DIXIE DUNBAR, IRMA WILSON and ELIZABETH PALMER.

"Stowaway" for Breen

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—"Stowaway in Paradise," Don Blanding novel, will be Bobby Breen's next vehicle, supplanting "Fisherman's Wharf."

"Zenda" Sets Denver Pace With $16,000

DENVER, Sept. 23.—"The Prisoner of Zenda" took the Denver by storm and turned in a smashing $16,000 on the week. This was more than double average. It was moved to the Aladdin.

"Thin Ice" was strong at the Broadway with a gross of $3,500, up by $1,500. It had already played a week each at the Aladdin and Denver and it was held for a fourth downtown week.

"Lost Horizon" took a big $4,000 at the Paramount after having played a week each at the Denver, Aladdin and Broadway.

Total first run business was $38,400. Average is $27,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 15:

"WALTER WANGER'S VOGUES OF 1938" (U. A.)
ALADDIN—(1,500), 25c-40c, 7 days, following a week at the Denver. Gross: $3,000. (Average, $3,000)

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)
BROADWAY—(1,500), 25c-40c, 7 days, following a week each at the Aladdin and Denver. Gross: $3,500. (Average, $2,000)

"SOULS AT SEA" (Para.)
DENHAM—(1,500), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days, 2nd week. Gross: $4,000. (Average, $5,000)

"PRISONER OF ZENDA" (U. A.)
DENVER—(2,500), 25c-35c-50c, 7 days. Stage band. Gross: $16,000. (Average, $7,000)

"MAKE A WISH" (RKO)
"SUPER SLEUTH" (RKO)
ORPHEUM—(2,600), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $7,900. (Average, $6,000)

"LOST HORIZON" (Col.)
PARAMOUNT—(2,000), 25c-40c, 7 days, following a week each at the Denver, Aladdin and Broadway. Gross: $4,000. (Average, $3,500)

Catholics Queried On British Pictures

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The Catholic Herald has issued a reader questionnaire, asking the views of the special religious community which it serves on the moral standards of British films.

Specifically asked is if objection is taken to British produced films on grounds of: low morality, worship of material wealth, the confusion of spirituality with sentimentality, the confusion of beauty with riches. Opinions are also asked about the "crudity" of stories and publicity methods.

The object of the questionnaire is declared to be to remove the mutual misunderstanding on the part of Catholics that all films are suspect, and on the part of the industry that it is impossible to make films acceptable to Catholics.

Farr May Get Film Role

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Signing of Tommy Farr to play with Gracie Fields and Victor McLaglen in the first 20th Century-Fox picture is expected to follow the arrival of Sam Engels, producer of the Fields picture, at Denham.

Form Flandria Film

DOVER, Del., Sept. 23.—Flandria Film, Ltd., has been chartered here with a capital of $500,000 by J. M. Freer, J. A. Freer and C. R. Murphy.

Agreement in Para. Trustee Suits Signed

must be obtained also. Papers setting forth the settlement terms in detail are now being drawn by the trustee's attorneys and will be submitted to Judge Cox for hearing in the near future, with a recommendation that the settlement be authorized.

It is expected that Judge Cox's decision on the petition will have been handed down prior to the adjourned trial date of the first suit.

Judge Cox, in approving the Paramount reorganization plan in 1935, specifically directed Charles D. Hilles, the continuing Paramount trustee, to continue the litigation to a conclusion.

The $2,150,000 cash settlement would be paid into the Paramount treasury by the trustee. The approximate settlement amounts which will be paid by individual defendants include $700,000 by those who were either identified with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., former Paramount bankers, or their associates. Among these are Felix E. Kahn, the estate of Otto H. Kahn, Felix M. Warburg, John Mortimer Schiff, Gilbert W. Kahn, Sir William Wiseman, Jerome J. Hanauer, Gordon Leith, George W. Bovenizer and Lewis L. Strauss.

Defendants, Amounts Listed

Other defendants and the amounts to be paid by each include Sidney R. Kent, $250,000; Sam Katz, $200,000; Adolph Zukor, $500,000; Jules E. Brulatour, $100,000; the estate of Emil Shauer, $50,000, and Frank A. Bailey, $100,000. Others who will pay lesser amounts in the settlements include John D. Hertz, Daniel Frohman, Ralph A. Kohn, Jesse Lasky, the estate of Elek J. Ludvig, and the estate of Casimir I. Stralem.

The actions were brought by the trustees in 1933 and sought the recovery of approximately $12,000,000. The recovery actions involved allegedly excessive salaries paid to officers of the company, participation in an employees' stock purchase plan and the repurchase of the company's stock which had been issued for expansion purposes at specified prices which, at the time of redemption, were in excess of the market price.

August N. Y. Ticket Tax Off to $393,838

revenue, the bureau disclosed, was the drop from $431,455 to $350,938 in box-office collections from July to August.

Night club business started on the upgrade in August with an increase in tax collections from roof gardens and cabarets from $28,324 in July to $36,205.

Other collections reported by the bureau were: Free or reduced rate admissions, $2,652 in August against $1,418 in July; tickets sold by brokers, $3,274 against $8,398; tickets sold by proprietors in excess of box-office prices, $498 against $2,696; permanent use or lease of boxes and seats, $270 against $204.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Bride Wore Red"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—With several concessions made to accommodate the demands of modern American audiences "The Bride Wore Red" is a literal picturization of Ferenc Molnar's play, "The Girl from Trieste." Generally, it attains standards expected of Joan Crawford by her clientele. Although it is fantastic in some phases of its amplification, the story is organically sound. The excessive and prolonged dialogue, however, and consistent lack of action sometimes blunts sustained interest.

The premise of the plot is that clothes and an aristocratic manner make the lady. To prove this truth to Robert Young, George Zucco sends a cabaret entertainer to a swanky Alpine resort. Not only does Miss Crawford fool herself, but she does a complete job on Reginald Owen and even has his suspicious wife, Billie Burke, half-convinced. She fools all but the village postman, a poetic son of the high altitudes. It builds to an engaging triangle situation which threatens the romantic bliss of Lynne Carver. Miss Crawford realizes that deception is not worth the price in heartache and, upon exposing herself, returns Miss Carver to Young and finds simple happiness with the bucolic Franchot Tone.

Naturally Miss Crawford dominates the picture, but Young, Owen, Miss Burke, Miss Carver and Zucco are adequate and Tone supplies the spark that gives "The Bride Wore Red" its zip. Tess Slessinger and Bradbury Foote adapted from the Molnar play. Dorothy Arzner directed. The film is aimed to engage the attention of sophisticates and may prove somewhat boring to ordinary folks.

Running time, 100 minutes. "G."

"A Bride for Henry"

(Monogram)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—A little picture with a lot of entertainment fittingly describes "A Bride for Henry." Putting a fresh face on the triangle situation and developing the theme from a comedy standpoint, blending good story, production, acting and direction, the production is a revealing example of what sometimes can be done with pictures made on a moderate budget.

Shrewdly balancing dialogue, action and characters in intriguing situations, the yarn follows the three on a honeymoon plot. When groom Henry Mollison fails to show up, bride Anne Nagel marries her lawyer, Warren Hull. But Mollison appears for the honeymoon and Hull is shunted into the background. When Hull seems to be enjoying himself with other ladies, particularly Claudia Dell, in the honeymoon hotel, and Mollison proves that he's not much of a bargain, Miss Nagel's jealousies are aroused. Amusing sequences precede the climax, which has a contrite bride nestling in her husband's arms.

Creditable performances are contributed by Miss Nagel, husband Hull and interloper Mollison, and Claudia Dell is not far behind in giving "A Bride for Henry" zip and zest. Based on a story by Josephine Bentham, Marion Orth's screenplay is soundly and naturally constructed and William Nigh's direction cleverly gets the most out of the plot and talents of the players.

The picture should prove a desirable companion piece for more seriously toned attractions.

Running time, 55 minutes. "G."

Kiesling Does Book On Film Production

RICHMOND, Sept. 23.—"Talking Pictures—How They Are Made—How to Appreciate Them," by Barrett C. Kiesling of the M-G-M studio publicity department has been published by the Johnson Publishing Co. Designed for classes in visual education, English and dramatics, the book, long in work by Kiesling, is described as the first textbook written from the production angle.

The volume traces the making of a film from the time the story is purchased and asserts in the text that 276 "arts, professions and vocations" figure in the task.

Empire Union Adds To Bombing Reward

The Empire State M. P. Operators' Union has added $500 to the $1,000 award put up for apprehension of the stench bombers who have been active recently in theatres.

In a letter to Mayor LaGuardia signed by Abraham I. Kindler, president, this charge is made: "Such activity on the part of 'hoodlums,' injuring innocent patrons of the theatre, has been done for no other reason than to undermine the financial status of the owners, so that they may be induced to lock out our operators and compel the employment of operators of another organization."

Short Subjects

"Motor Maniacs"

(20th Century-Fox)

The scenes contained in this Adventure of the Newsreel Cameraman are usually edited out. It is easy to see why. From the moment it gets under way until the last frame it is a fast-moving, bloody film, with hair-raising events offered in every cutting. Bones are broken, gore is spilled, flesh is burned, cars are smashed and what have you. The strong stomached audiences will enjoy it—warn the others. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Long Bright Land"

(Vitaphone)

In line with all the E. M. Newman travel subjects in color, this combines beauty of scene with interest and a measure of instruction. In New Zealand are seen the Auckland War Memorial, various native birds and beautiful flowers, the miniature Yellowstone Park which is the Thermal district, the native Maoris in ceremonial dances and at work, and the city of Christ Church. Excellent travel subject. Running time, 11 mins.

"It's a Good Stunt"

(Paramount)

A good assortment of clips dealing with the hair-raising and breath-taking antics of various daredevils. They perch on skyscraper ledges, hang from blimps, ride motorcycles over hazardous courses, fling knives, hatchets and pickaxes at living targets and what not. It is a thriller for the strong-stomached patron. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

(Columbia)

The highlights of a brand of film activity that will appeal to the general run of audience for the past 17 years is run off in this issue. The names, events and what-have-you that made good publicity in days gone by is unreel. Everything of importance from Rudolph Valentino to the Gene Raymond-Jeannette MacDonald wedding is shown. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Pigskin Champions"

(M-G-M)

Distinctive camera work, excellent cooperation by the Green Bay Packers, a pro football team, and fresh, humorous comment by Pete Smith make fine ingredients that blend to make top-rating entertainment. The film covers football maneuvers and tricks in a manner that will surprise and bring on hearty laughs. There are many novel plays that are caught with remarkable effects in slow motion stop action and regular speed. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Will You Stop?"

Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra" serves as the butt for some cleverly thought out slapstick by Tim and Irene here. Tim is a stage director. Irene is the daughter of the backer of the performance. It is studiously screwy. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

realtor, appraised the Roxy at the request of White & Case, attorneys for proponents of the plan. He valued the property in July, 1935, at $3,300,000 and in July, 1937, at $3,500,000. He asked for $1,500 in fees. Parsons, vice-president of Douglas Elliman & Co., acted as arbitrator to fix a reasonable rental for the lobby lease when it was renewed in September, 1936. Half of his $2,500 fee was paid by the 7th Avenue Hotel Corp., the landlords. He filed a request for the balance of $1,250.

Judgment Not Satisfied

Execution on two judgments totaling $1,050 against Amusement Parkway, Inc., and Edward Stiegel was returned unsatisfied to the U. S. District Court yesterday by U. S. Marshal John J. Kelly. A judgment for $700 was obtained in August by the RKO Distributing Corp. and another for $350 by the 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. against Amusement Parkway and Stiegel for alleged unlicensed exhibition of films.

Principal Amends Complaint

Principal Film Exchanges, Inc., filed an amended complaint in the U. S. District Court yesterday in its suit against J. D. Kendis, who allegedly does business as Jay dee Kay Prod. The original complaint named Jay dee Kay Prod. as a separate corporation. The suit is based upon the alleged breach of an exclusive license to distribute "Crusade Against Rackets" in metropolitan New York and northern New Jersey. Damages of $5,000 were asked.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Thunder Trail"

(Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Based on the Zane Grey novel, "Arizona Ames," which might have been a better title for the purposes of showmen on both sides of the Western equation, "Thunder Trail" is a far above average medium budget production. Such cast names as Gilbert Roland, Charles Bickford, Marsha Hunt, J. Carrol Naish, Monte Blue, William Duncan and James Craig argue for exploitation treatment beyond that commonly accorded subordinated attractions and the picture warrants extraordinary emphasis.

In common with most Zane Grey stories, this one has logic as well as action and plot substance as well as thrill. Boiled down to essentials, it is the one about brothers separated in their boyhood whose destinies bring them by devious paths together again in time for a finish in which they outwit the villain in the case and at the same time avenge their murdered parents. In detail and development, however, the subject matter achieves a freshness and power seldom possessed by product of this kind. There is no reason whatever for limiting exhibition of the picture to the so-called "western audience."

Performances of Monte Blue and Gilbert Roland are outstanding. The screenplay by Robert Yost and Stuart Anthony is constant in interest and Charles Barton's direction makes the most of situations and incidents adroitly integrated and proportionately effective. The photography by Karl Struss is a distinctly notable production asset.

Running time, 56 minutes. "G."

"Lost Horizon," yesterday morning's opener at the Radio City Music Hall, was previewed by wire from Hollywood on Feb. 23.

"The Good Earth," opening this morning at the Capitol, was reviewed on Jan. 30 by wire from Hollywood.

"High, Wide and Handsome," now current at the Paramount, was reviewed on July 22.

"That Certain Woman," at the Strand and "100 Men and a Girl," at the Roxy are holdovers.

Academy in Move to Improve Projection

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—The Research Council of the Academy has taken the first steps toward a revision of the dimensions of the Academy Standard Projector Aperture, adopted in 1932 and currently in use in all theatres. It is seen as likely that the size of the picture on the screen in virtually all theatres will be changed as a result of the action. It is designed to more closely coordinate studio and theatre practice, and to minimize the possibility of cutting off heads and feet from pictures on the screen.

After an extended series of tests, the committee named by the council to consider the matter, and headed by Grover Laube, has prepared a revised standard projector aperture which differs chiefly from that now used by a .015 inch increased height and .021 inch increased width, and is centered over the camera aperture.

Add to 'Robin Hood' Cast

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Herbert Mundin, Melville Cooper and Patric Knowles have been added to the cast of "The Adventures of Robin Hood" by Warners.

Mexican Exhibitors Show Modern Trend

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 23.—Major American producers and American supply houses have benefited to a large extent from the modern trend for better pictures and better theatres which has come to dominate the attitude of the exhibitors of provincial Mexico. New and modern houses are the order of the day, and the showmen make a real effort to give their patrons better films.

A new house, the Rex, seating 1,200, which was formerly an old legitimate theatre, will be opened shortly in Monterrey, near the American border. It will be operated by a Mexican syndicate headed by Gonzalo Gaza. Another new theatre, as yet unnamed, is being erected in Hermosillo, capital of the northwestern state of Sonora.

Dreher Sells His First

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Sime time ago Carl Dreher resigned as RKO director of sound recording and patent adviser to take up writing. His first effort, "The Crime of Dr. Hallet," done in collaboration with Lester Cole, has been acquired by Universal. Blue Book will publish it.

Buy Anaesthesia Story

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—M-G-M has made an unusual story buy, "The Life of William Norton," a non-fiction book on the life of the discoverer of anaesthesia by Rene Fulop-Miller, and Chapter 12 of "Triumph Over Pain and Death," by the same author.

Short Subjects

"Little Jack Horner"

(Columbia)

Here is an enactment of one of John Hix's "Strange As It Seems" items. The short plot built around the Mother Goose rhyme is done in costume and concerns Jack Horner, the Bishop of Glastenbury's messenger, who takes a deed from a batch he is delivering to King Henry the Eighth. They are concealed in a pie. Nobody ever suspected the steal. The estate of the Horner family in England as it is today is shown in conclusion. It is interesting. Running time, 10½ mins. "G."

"Stranger Than Fiction No. 42"

(Universal)

Scenes of remarkable underwater swimming highlight this issue. Other clips show a Georgia farmer giving himself a haircut, a Wichita youth drawing simultaneously with his hand and foot, the hydro-electric harnessing of tidal waters in South Carolina and two New York girls who make and sell fine pipes. A particularly good issue. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Swing Monkey Swing"

(Columbia)

Fast and hot animation of a swarm of monkeys doing standard routines to the tune of swing music. It is plotless and serves only to offer the monkeys dangling from trees, playing various instruments, dancing and singing "St. Louis Blues" in Technicolor. Running time, 7½ mins. "G."

"Kiko's Cleaning Day"

(Educational)

A vacuum cleaner runs amok in this adventure of the cartoon kangaroo and provides material for a few minutes of highly exciting and amusing animation. It is brilliantly handled novelty and the utmost is made from the comic possibilities. Will please everywhere. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Future Stars"

(Columbia)

An uninspired collection of clips showing the various sporting activities of children make up this issue of The News World of Sports. The youngsters are shown rowing, boxing, flying model airplanes and partaking in a number of other activities. Not very much to it. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Peeping Penguins"

(Fleischer-Paramount)

A color cartoon that concerns the activities of a quartette of the birds when they enter an empty house and stick their mouths into everything. The action is clever and fast moving. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Community Sing 2-3"

(Columbia)

Gene Morgan provides the comics and Donald Grayson does the vocals as the audience is invited to partake in the proceedings. The songs are of the college variety and should draw some response from the viewers. Running time, 10½ mins. "G."

WMCA Moving To New Spot On Broadway

The long current rumor that WMCA was considering a move to new studios was confirmed yesterday by Donald Flamm, president of the station, who revealed that he had signed an eight-year lease for 30,000 square feet of space on Broadway from 51st to 52nd streets, the building which houses the Hollywood Theatre.

The new WMCA studios will occupy the entire fourth floor of the building, and are to be ready for occupancy Jan. 1. The new quarters will be known as the "WMCA Building."

The plans are drawn for nine studios and 65 general administrative offices with double the space now occupied by the station. The studios will be air conditioned. A large show studio, seating 300, will be provided. Administrative offices will be situated in the penthouse of the quarters.

The move to the new studios, Flamm said, was necessitated by the expansion of WMCA in the last few years.

Narrow Bidding for Police Transmitter

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 23.—Two of the four firms bidding for installation of a 1,000-watt radio transmitter for the state highway patrol have been eliminated, but J. M. Gentry, State Commissioner of Public Safety, said he had not decided which of the two apparent low bidders is successful.

Hales-Mulally, Inc., bid approximately $17,000 for an RCA transmitter, and the Graybar Electric Co. bid approximately $20,000 on Western Electric apparatus.

Dallas Reach Co. in Syracuse

The Charles Dallas Reach Co., advertising agency, will establish a new office in Syracuse. The Syracuse agency will be complete and will not be a branch of the central office, it was stated by the company. The new office will house copy, art, layout, research and marketing, publicity and production departments.

Howard E. Sands, vice-president of Charles Dallas Reach Co., will be in charge of the Syracuse office. He will be assisted by Francis R. Risley.

Maxwell Hage Joins KFEL

DENVER, Sept. 23.—Maxwell Hage, former radio production manager for United Press in New York City, has joined the sales staff of KFEL. Hage also is former assistant manager of WJAY, Cleveland.

Barbara Stanwyck with Lux

The Lux "Radio Theatre" will offer Barbara Stanwyck in a radio adaptation of her motion picture "Stella Dallas" over CBS Oct. 11.

Most M-G-M Talent to Be Available for Air Series

While program details of the new M-G-M-General Foods Corp. series are still vague, it was stated by Benton & Bowles yesterday that, barring previous commitments, all players, stars, songwriters, directors, orchestras and literary talent under M-G-M contract will be available for the series which will get under way Nov. 4 at 9 P. M. over the NBC-Red network.

The phrase "previous commitments," it is presumed, refers to Nelson Eddy and Jeannette MacDonald, both of whom are under contract for radio appearances to opposing sponsors.

However, it has been indicated to MOTION PICTURE DAILY by several M-G-M executives that despite other radio contractual commitments, both of these players will be available for use on the M-G-M-General Foods show as "guests."

Nothing has been said, however, about the radio status of Greta Garbo, who has remained aloof from the air.

Meanwhile, it is said that the series will probably come from a special theatre on the M-G-M lot in Culver City rather than from the NBC studios in Hollywood. The series will be offered over 63 stations.

Pick Football Announcers

The Atlantic Refining Co., as a result of the mass auditions it has held in various sections of the country, has selected 44 announcers and commentators from a list of over 300 applicants to handle its intercollegiate football radio broadcast program.

The Atlantic program will be offered over 66 stations and will include a broadcast total of 163 games of 21 teams. N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., handles the Atlantic Refining account.

"Children's Corner" to CBS

Dorothy Gordon's "Children's Corner" will be heard on a new time schedule over CBS beginning Oct. 4. Thereafter the program will be offered Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 5:45 to 6 P. M. The program won the 1937 Women's National Radio Committee award for the best juvenile air show.

KDYL to Handle Own Talent

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 23.—In line with a great increase in locally produced programs, KDYL has inaugurated its own artists bureau. The bureau consists of a clearing house for all local talent, dramatic, instrumental, vocal, writing and orchestral.

Ad Club to Resume on WMCA

The series of luncheon meetings of the Advertising Club of New York will again be heard over WMCA, starting Sept. 30, from 1:15 to 1:45 P. M. The associated stations of the Inter-City network will also carry the broadcasts.

Clemens to Yodel

San Francisco, Sept. 23.—After three weeks of auditioning all available yodelers west of the Rockies for his first feature length cartoon, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Walt Disney selected Zeke Clemens, KFRC. Clemens will go south Oct. 1.

General Foods Takes An Hour on NBC-Red

General Foods Corp., through Benton & Bowles, has purchased a full hour's time, Saturdays from 8 to 9 P. M. on the NBC-Red network, to fit new broadcasting schedules for the current program featuring Bob Ripley and the forthcoming series for Jack Haley.

The Ripley show is now heard Fridays from 9 to 9:30 P. M. on the Blue. Beginning Oct. 9, the Ripley show will be offered from 8 to 8:30 P. M. on the Red. The series is in behalf of Huskies. The Oct. 8 broadcast will be omitted.

The Haley program for Log Cabin Syrup, originally scheduled to begin Oct. 8 on the Blue, instead will begin Oct. 9, from 8:30 to 9 P. M., and weekly thereafter at this time.

Air Ohio Newspaper Program

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—"WCKY's Neighbors," a program consisting of interesting and unusual items from the respective communities furnished by newspapers in 40 counties in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, is being aired over the L. B. Wilson station. Full credit is given the newspapers contributing to the program.

Schoelwer in Fourth Year

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—"Whispering" Eddie Schoelwer has begun his fourth consecutive year of broadcasting under the sponsorship of the Solway Furniture Co., over KWRC. His program of old and new songs is heard Mondays through Saturdays at 4:30 P. M. He plays his own accompaniments.

"New Horizons" on CBS

"New Horizons," a new series of programs, will be presented by the CBS Dep't of Talks in cooperation with the American Museum of Natural History over Columbia Mondays from 6:15 to 6:30 P. M., starting Oct. 4. The schedule is for 13 weeks.

The programs will feature outstanding explorers and scientists.

Eugene to Start New Series

Frank Eugene, film commentator and critic, will begin a new series of screen gossip programs over WNEW Sept. 28. Eugene will be heard twice weekly, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:15 P. M.

CBS Realigns Handling for Coast Talent

CBS and the Columbia Concerts Corp. has formed Columbia Management of California, Inc., to centralize and coordinate west coast talent activities. W. Arthur Rush has been placed in charge of the new organization, assisted by Larry White. Offices are located in the Equitable Bldg. in downtown Hollywood.

The new corporation offers agency and personal representative service for film, radio and stage appearances.

Eastern engagements of CBS artists will continue to be handled as heretofore either by Columbia Artists, Inc., New York, or Columbia Concerts Corp.

Sound Reproductions Adds to Facilities

Sound Reproductions Corp., which was recently reorganized by Eugene L. Bresson, its president, has added three more cutting machines to its equipment. This makes six machines now in use in its recording laboratory.

The reorganization brought John Mayo to Sound Reproductions as executive in charge of sales. Mayo has been associated with the industry for a number of years as production man and station operator. Jack Byers has been added to the company's recording department.

Complete New York station coverage is now available for reference recording and for the manufacture of electrical transcriptions.

Look Program Begins

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—"The Streamline Revue," a transcribed series of dance bands, choruses, vocalists, and news, weather and temperature reports, sponsored by the magazine, Look, has been inaugurated on WCKY, and will be heard six times a week from 10:30 to 11 P. M. The production is being handled by the Schwimmer & Scott agency, Chicago.

Cunningham in Anniversary

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Bill Cunningham, Boston Post sports writer, celebrated his first anniversary this week on the Kellogg sports programs. He commemorated the occasion by interviewing the coach, sponsor and stars of the Lynn American Legion Junior Baseball Team, which recently won the national championship in New Orleans.

WHDH Promotes Garrigus

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Fred Garrigus has been promoted to program director for WHDH, the so-called "Voice from Home" for fishermen at sea. Garrigus replaces John Knell, who resigned to join the local CBS staff, centering at WEEL.

NBC to Try New Pickups By Television

Outdoor television pickups will be attempted for the first time in America next month by NBC. The network is now awaiting the completion of an RCA television mobile unit, now under construction. It will be ready for use Oct. 18.

Immediately after the delivery of the mobile television station, NBC engineers will begin a series of tests to pick up outdoor scenes. Football games and other sports, parades and news events are listed in the schedule. All of the work, however, will be strictly experimental.

In the beginning the mobile station will be used primarily to study the sensitivity of instruments to average daylight conditions and to train a corps of engineers in the operation of television apparatus.

Both pictures and sound impulses will be transmitted from the test locations in the field to the Empire State Building, where the main television transmitter will rebroadcast the signals to the 100 receivers installed within the 45-mile working radius of the tower station.

The mobile unit, consisting of two vans, will operate on microwaves with a frequency of 177 megacycles, and is expected to be effective up to 25 miles from the main transmitter.

Georgia Commission Outlines WGST Use

ATLANTA, Sept. 23.—The Georgia State Radio Commission, recently created by Governor Rivers, stated after the first meeting that Georgia's state-owned station, WGST, will be used "primarily to serve the public interest by advertising Georgia and its resources to the nation, and by disseminating departmental and institutional information to the people of the state." The station is owned by Georgia Tech, but operated under private lease. Governor Rivers said that present contracts between the station and its clients would remain undisturbed. Selection of a date to take control was deferred.

Kohlmann, Musician, Dead

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—Carl Kohlmann, 75, trombonist in the ARMCO Band radio unit, died at his home here today. He was a member of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra for 41 years. A son and daughter survive. Burial will be at Walnut Hills, German Protestant cemetery, on Saturday.

Sarli Made Music Director

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—Al Sarli has been named musical director of KWK, replacing Rolla Coughlin.

New Shows On the Air

"The Dentist Says"

The old "advice" formula is ingeniously employed to get over the oral hygiene plugs on "The Dentist Says," a series of programs sponsored by the Dentists Supply Co. and broadcast twice weekly over WMCA and the Inter-City network.

The program features a Dr. George Wood Clapp and a woman introduced as "The Friendly Counsellor." Dr. Clapp offers the advice; the "Counsellor" reads the problems written by the listeners.

Yesterday's installment revolved about the problem of a woman who wrote that at 40, life held little activity for her. Among her physical ailments she listed a gum condition. Dr. Clapp, in a style reminiscent of "The Voice of Experience," painted an attractive vista of the physical, mental and psychological improvements that would be netted if the gum condition were cleared up.

Prophylactic, but hardly entertainment.

"Phil Cook's Morning Almanac"

Here is an hour-long broadcast starting at 8 A. M. and concluding at 9 A. M. that combines everything from homely philosophy, comedy organ music, excellent mimicry, to the ringing of a gong every few minutes to let the audience know how much time they have to get to their jobs. Phil Cook is not unknown to a wide audience and his manner of presentation is pleasantly serio-comic, but, nevertheless, holds attention.

Guest stars are usually to be heard doing their bits and the program on the whole is nicely handled and no doubt serves as a bracer with which to start the day's tasks.

The period is heard every weekday over CBS.

Thorgersen Signed For Sport Comment

Ed Thorgersen, sports commentator for Movietone News, has been signed by the Sun Oil Co. to share time with Lowell Thomas on the latter's five-time weekly news comment series on the NBC-Blue, 6:45 to 7 P.M. Roche, Williams & Cunningham is the agency.

Thorgersen will start his stint with the beginning of the World Series baseball games. He will offer resumes of the games for their duration. Thereafter, and for the whole of the football season, he will appear Mondays and Fridays, offering comments about the games.

Mast Raising Fails Again

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 23.—A second attempt to raise a steel mast, to which the antennae of the new Belleville police radio broadcasting station will be attached, failed when two ropes holding the mast broke crashing it to the ground and damaging it so greatly it will have to be rebuilt. With the exception of installing the antennae, the station is ready to begin broadcasting at once, other equipment having been installed and made ready for operation recently.

Radio Personals

JIM BEALLE of the publicity staff of the local J. Walter Thompson office has been transferred to the Hollywood office of the agency, where he will serve as assistant to publicity director Ed Fortman. . . . Noel Coward, who has made but two previous radio appearances, will make his third Sept. 29 as guest of the "Hit Parade" on NBC. . . . Ann Leaf has been assigned to provide the organ music for the Tony Wons series, which begins Sept. 27 over CBS. . . . Joe Di Natalie, of KFOR, Lincoln, Neb., is visiting Mutual headquarters here. . . . Laurette Peterson of WOR's publicity office has resigned to become Dave ("Hobby Lobby") Elman's secretary. She has been replaced by Rosalie Shutta. . . . Orson Welles, of all things, will play the role of the "Shadow" in the radio series of that name. . . . Martin Lewis of Radio Guide Magazine was one of the "unrehearsed" draymateurs on the Walter O'Keefe show Wednesday night. Said Marty in the microphone when asked his occupation: "I'm Martin Lewis, writer of a radio column for Radio Guide Magazine, America's national radio weekly." He forgot to add the price of the magazine. . . .

WWSW Is Signed Up For "Speed Gibson"

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—The Liberty Baking Co. of this city has signed with WWSW for "Speed Gibson," a transcribed detective series for youngsters. The show, produced with Hollywood talent by the Quality Bakers' Ass'n of New York, will go out for 15 minutes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 5:30 P.M.

Because of wire difficulties, the George Jessel-Norma Talmadge show, which will be piped in from Hollywood to WWSW under the sponsorship of the Palace Credit Clothing Co., won't start here until Sept. 26. The program is to be launched this Sunday, but it will take two weeks to iron out things at this end. The show is to be aired over the Mutual network, but WWSW has no network affiliations.

Takes "Speed Gibson" Program

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 23.—"Speed Gibson" is the title of a new transcribed program starting Oct. 3 over KFSD, local NBC-Blue outlet. The Southern California Baking Co., is the sponsor. The program, a 15-minute mystery-adventure serial, will be heard Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8:30 P.M., P.S.T. The Barns-Chase agency handled the deal.

Another new feature over the same station is "The Land of the Whatsit" a transcribed children's series sponsored by the Safeway Stores. This program is aired Mondays through Fridays at 7:00 P.M.

WMBD Stages Big Party

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 23.—A crowd estimated at 10,000 jammed the Peoria armory, city's largest auditorium to see a three-hour show presenting all of WMBD's talent and to listen to Gov. University to Test 2 Short Wave Sets

COLUMBUS, Sept. 23.—Predicting that short wave broadcasts from other nations will be used in classroom work, Prof. William S. Hendrix, chairman of the romance language department of the Ohio State University, will set up two receivers in Derby Hall to determine the difference in reception. One receiver will be of the most expensive type. The other a moderately priced set which could be purchased by any high school. A logging chart of from 15 to 20 stations will be maintained from 10 A.M. to 10 P.M., daily. At the end of the year a log of clarity and regularity of the stations will be made, together with a classification of the various broadcasts.

French and Spanish lessons have been broadcast over WCOU, the university station, for the past eight years, and an effective technique for instruction has been set up. Progress of students has been followed by periodic examinations, which also would be made under the short wave system. These broadcasts, Hendrix believes, would tend to stimulate interest in learning foreign languages in addition to their other educational advantages.

Omaha University in Broadcasting Course

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—The Municipal University of Omaha will offer a nine-week course in radio broadcasting this fall, to be taught by Announcer Bob Cunningham of KOIL. A one-hour credit will be given for the course. Class conditions will be made to simulate actual conditions of a radio studio so students will get actual experience.

Premiere for Kate

The new Kate Smith series, which will begin on CBS Sept. 30 at 8 P. M., will have as its guests that evening a number of sports champions, including Joe Louis, Joe DiMaggio, Pete Bostwick, Erna Kompa and Frances Lorne. Joe Williams, sports editor of the World-Telegram, will interview the titleholders.

Tallulah Bankhead and Henry Fonda will be heard also in a dramatization of a stage success. A Hollywood premiere effect will be achieved for the opening broadcast by Klieg lighting the CBS playhouse from which the series will emanate. Attendance will be by invitation only.

Two Stations Seek Frequency Changes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—WOO Grand Rapids, has petitioned the F. C. C. for authority to change its frequency from 1,270 to 1,010 kilocycles and reduce power from 500 to 250 watts.

WJNO, West Palm Beach, also has filed an application with the commission, seeking a change of frequency from 1,200 to 1,330 kilocycles and increase of power from 100 watts night, 250 watts day to 1,000 watts night and day.

WEW to Use Commercials

St. Louis, Sept. 23.—WEW has started broadcasting commercial programs, according to A. S. Foster, manager. The station is owned and operated by St. Louis University, a Jesuit institution. Heretofore it has been used only for educational and religious purposes.

Rev. Wallace Burke, S.J., formerly in charge of Station WWL operated by Loyola University at New Orleans, has been placed in charge of WEW. He brought Foster with him.

Air Traffic School Starts

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 23.—"The Traffic School of the Air" presented over KOMA at 3 P.M. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, a new series of 15-minute programs from the street, has been started here. The program is sponsored by the Oklahoma City police department.

KPO-KGO Has 10 New Accounts

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—New accounts using KPO-KGO include Chevrolet Motors, Standard Oil of California, Wesson Oil and Snowdrift, J. W. Marrow Mfg. Co., Sperry Flour, Howe, Inc., Lady Alycia Beauty Products and Thomas Leeming & Co.

Elsie Lichtenstul Returns

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—Following a year's illness, Elsie Lichtenstul has returned to broadcasting in a commercial program for the Rhea Baking Co. Miss Lichtenstul's program will be a News Digest of the week and will go out over WCAE for 10 minutes Sunday afternoons at 2 P.M.

Summer Shows Hold Up in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—More programs carried over from the spring through the summer than ever before in the case of one of the major stations here, a condition true of others. This holds true of both local and chain programs, and is taken to indicate that advertisers apparently are realizing that summer no longer is the off radio season it used to be.

A significant factor in connection with this is that during the past two summers local radio set distributors have reported as high as 40 per cent increases in the sales of receivers. Retailers report substantial increases, and are finding it not at all difficult to sell radios in the summer.

WCKY Signs New Accounts

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—New accounts signed by WCKY include: Dodge Bros. trucks, seven spot announcements; Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc., agency; McKesson & Robbins, Inc., (Pursang) 26 spot announcements; H. W. Kastor & Sons, agency; Churngold Corp., Churngold (Margarine) 300 spot announcements, direct; W. S. Industrial Alcohol Sales Co., minimum of 52 spot announcements; Lambert & Feasley, Inc.; Ohio Apple Institute, "For Women Only," program for one year; Nesbitt Service Co.

Complete WOW Mobile Unit

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—Chief Control Operator Joe Herold and Engineer Bill Kotera have completed WOW's new mobile unit. It is mounted on a ton and a half truck.

Features of the unit are a 100-watt short wave transmitter which has a practical distance of between 100 and 150 miles, a gasoline motor generator capable of developing 1,500 watts, demountable recording equipment, a 20-foot aerial, short wave packs and a standard auto radio to test program quality from the main transmitter.

Oklahoma Net Starts Three

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 23.—Three new programs have been started on the Oklahoma network schedule. The Arkansawyers, a family string band, are heard each weekday morning at 7:30 to 8. The Dixie Boys are on with a program at 12 noon. The Ross Rhythm Rascals, lately of Dallas, have started a weekday program at 4:30 P.M. Jack Caldwell, organist, is broadcasting over KVSO and the Oklahoma network each weekday morning at 11:30 A.M.

Weed Gets WLEU and WHBL

WLEU, Erie, Pa., and WHBL, Sheboygan, Wis., have named Weed & Co. as national representatives, effective immediately.

WLEU is operated by Leo J. Omelian, and is affiliated with the NBC-Blue. WHBL is owned by the Sheboygan Press, and is a 500-watt, full-time unit, with no network affiliation.

Lawrence Witte Joins KYW

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Lawrence Witte of the N. W. Ayer agency handling publicity for the Atlantic Refining account, has joined the KYW talent staff for a weekly air gossip series on radio personalities, "Mike Notes." Witte also bylines a "Static" radio column syndicated in 112 newspapers along the eastern coast.

WIP Forms Classes To Train New Talent

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Program Director James Allen at WIP has organized the WIP Dramatic Ass'n, the members of which will include local residents who are anxious to get into broadcasting but find their lack of experience a barrier. Regular classes in radio dramatics will be held at the WIP studios, with a course of instruction outlined to include microphone technique, dramatic direction, script writing, radio production and operation of sound effects. No fees are charged. As the classes progress, members will be given an opportunity to appear in regularly scheduled dramatic shows on WIP.

KXBY Starts Sunday Forum

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—KXBY has instituted a quarter-hour radio mailbox forum each Sunday at 1:15 P.M. Two Kansas City lawyers will conduct the forum, listeners will participate in discussions of important questions of the day.

Leake Engaged by WNAD

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 23.—Harold H. Leake, graduate of the University of Oklahoma, has been named full time assistant in charge of radio production for WNAD, university broadcasting station.

"THE WEAKER SEX"

She says women are NOT the weaker sex by a long shot ... and sets out to prove it by writing a snappy, breezy 15 minute newscast once a week ... she tells of the almost unbelievable things women have accomplished during the week ... she gives some slants on women in the sports-light ... and she gives some mighty sound advice on how to enjoy strenuous athletics, and still keep a truly feminine figure.

Who would be more capable of writing about the women in the news than this versatile figure in the international world of sports?

Who has a better right to brag about the accomplishments of women in this day and age of competition in all walks of life?

And who (you can see for yourself) has a more perfect reason to prove that women can accomplish what they set out to do?

I. Dollinger President of N. J. Allied

Meet Hears Myers' Plea For "Little NRA"

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 23.—Irving Dollinger of Linden today was elected president of Allied of New Jersey in the last business session of the three-day annual convention held here at the Ritz-Carlton. Simon Meyers of Moorestown was named vice-president; David Snaper of New Brunswick, treasurer; Jacob Unger of Hillside, secretary.

Dollinger succeeds Lee Newbury, who has been in the post for two years. He recently told MOTION PICTURE DAILY that business pressure would not permit him to continue that post for a third time.

Maurice Miller of Passaic was elected assistant treasurer; William C. Hunt of Wildwood, Frank P. Gravatt of Atlantic City and Louis Gold

Kansas Letter Fails To Reach Will Hays

Will H. Hays has not received the letter which was supposed to have been sent him by the Kansas City, Kan., Chamber of Commerce requesting his aid in repairing the damage done to civic pride by the refusal of Kansas City, Mo., exchange and theatremen to make a "first run town" of Kansas City, Kan., a spokesman for the M. P. P. D. A. head said yesterday.

The loyal Kansans believe their Granada and Electric merit first runs, but the economic royalists on the Missouri side refuse to waive their 14 to 28-day protection over the two houses. Hence the reported plea for Hays' intervention.

Roach Bullish on Il Duce; Will Produce with Junior

By BILL ORNSTEIN

Hal E. Roach, accompanied by Vittorio Mussolini, son of Il Duce; Mario Del Papa, writer; and C. C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the Hays organization, returned on the Rex from Italy yesterday 100 per cent sold on Premier Mussolini and what he has done for the poor and rich of that country.

There has been a lot printed on what Roach was supposed to have accomplished in Italy. Some of it is true, according to the producer, but most of it can be discounted for less than one per cent.

In an interview at his office late yesterday afternoon, Roach spoke on the score as it stood as far as he was concerned. He had just left Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's and M-G-M, and was late. But he gave reporters about a half-hour and spoke his piece.

"Vittorio Mussolini is here on a holiday as far as the kid is concerned," Roach began. "He's going into the

Ampa to Hold Series Of Company Meets

Plans are being considered by the Ampa board of directors to turn one meeting over to each company. Executives and film personalities of each firm will be invited to speak to the members of the Ampa and the industry at large.

Yesterday's session at Sardi's was virtually turned over to RKO with the exception of one former film star. She was Olga Baclanova. Oscar Straus, who wrote the music for "Make a Wish," and Marion Claire, who sings several numbers in the same Bobby Breen picture, flanked Ralph Rolan on the dais.

None, apparently, was in a talkative mood. All preferred to take a bow and let it go at that.

Roxy Allowances of $12,869 Are Sought

Petitions for allowances totaling $12,869 in the Roxy reorganization were the first filed in the U. S. District Court yesterday. Addison S. Pratt, Russell V. Cruikshank and Argyll R. Parsons were the petitioners.

Pratt, who acted as special master to determine the fairness of the Roxy plan, asked $10,000 in fees and $119 in disbursements. His petition stated that he spent two months holding hearings; that 2,659 pages of testimony were taken and that he submitted a 78-page report together with 53 pages of opinion. HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—In a public statement issued last night, John Ford, A. Edward Sutherland and Howard Hawks, the committee of the Screen Directors' Guild, indicated the guild's decision to break off negotiations with the Producers Ass'n and leave the next step in the controversy up to a vote of the membership.

The carefully phrased utterance reviews the previous exchange of documents between the directors and the producers and continues, "Some months have passed since the guild has attempted to secure the alleviation of conditions affecting the rendition of services by its members. For the con-

Agreement in Para. Trustee Suits Signed

Total of $2,150,000 to Await Court Approval

An agreement to settle for $2,150,000 in cash the two actions brought by the Paramount reorganization trustees against officers and directors of the company during the period 1927 to 1931, and certain other defendants, was reached and signed yesterday by the parties to the actions, MOTION PICTURE DAILY learned from official sources.

As a result of the settlement agreement, trial of the first of the two suits, which was scheduled to begin on Monday, will be adjourned until late in October, and trial of the second suit until an even later date. The first case is set for trial before Justice Isidor Wasservogel in N. Y. Supreme Court, which reconvenes on Monday after the summer recess. The adjourned dates will be decided when the case is called at that time, although the trustee's attorneys endeavored yesterday to agree upon the dates in advance.

The adjournments are necessary inasmuch as the suits cannot be withdrawn without the permission of Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, whose approval of the settlements

'Blow Ye Winds' Becalmed; A Dull, Badly Written Job

By PLAYBOY

The cyclorama was properly and romantically blue. The boat, filling most of the stage in front of it at the Forty-Sixth Theatre was a salty and nautical-looking affair with plenty of sail and a boom seemingly accurate as to detail. The sea-going department, by the time we tacked into the wind in Times Square and ultimately reached the haven of the midnight typewriter, had warped in for the night. That left us pretty much on the sand bar Henry Fonda made for in "Blow Ye Winds." The idea was to somehow verify our slight seafaring knowledge that the boat used in this play by Valentine Davies was a yawl. For yawl suggested yawn which was what this endeavor turned out to be. In our unfunny manner, we abjectly hoped the line might be humorous.

But skipping over this as painlessly as you will permit, we go adamant on you and positively insist upon the yawn. Eight scenes in three acts meant carrying this pretty far. It had to do with a great deal of bother about practically nothing. Doris Dalton goes a-summering, meets Fonda. They have an affair, but this, mind you, is love. She is an A.B., an A.M. and a Ph.D. and not a very interesting person, to boot. Anyhow, the conflict is between her love for Fonda and her career and Fonda, his love for her and his boat.

Mostly Verbiage

If a cohesive drama, or comedy for that matter, can be made of that Valentine Davies didn't do it. The talk goes on and on. And on, Fonda and Miss Dalton wear down the hinges on the door leading into her living room by their convenient appearances and re-appearances. When it's all over, Miss Dalton plays an emphatically dirty trick on faithful Joe, who has been hanging around and hoping, and goes back to Fonda and the Borealis, third angle in this dull and uninspired triangle.

Walter Wanger gave up Fonda for this part. Wanger could not have read the script and Fonda apparently was not much impressed himself. Miss Dalton struck us as a pretty bad actress or, at least, pretty bad on this occasion. But Edgar Stehli, as crusty Dr. McKnight, had little to do, yet did it so well he made the others recede far into the background which was what they deserved anyway.

Arthur Hopkins, the producer, originally planned "Blow Ye Winds" for a Tuesday night opening. Legionnaire traffic was blamed for the postponement until last night. It would have been just as well if the traffic snarl had continued.

Durkee Men Shifted

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23.—With the opening of the newest Durkee house, the Northway, here, some changes in personnel have taken place. Joseph Schlee has been made manager with James Airy as assistant; William Liebig has gone from the Fulton to the Gwynn; George Elders from doorman at the Ambassador to assistant manager at the Fulton and Dean Thurman from assistant at the Patterson to manager at the Gwynn.

Daylight saving time comes to an end next Sunday morning at 2 o'clock.

It will be all right to turn the clocks back upon retiring or getting up in the morning.

G. B. Regional Meet To Be Held Sunday

G. B. will hold a meeting of eastern sales forces at the home office on Sunday, Arthur A. Lee stated yesterday. Meetings of this kind are to be held before the release of each production, he said, in accord with the plan of selling pictures individually. "Non-Stop New York" will be discussed.

Among those who will attend will be: Marcel Mekelburg, Boston; Charles Leach, New Haven; Herbert Given, John Schaeffer, Philadelphia; W. A. V. Mack, Joseph Kaliski, Washington; George Rosenbaum, Buffalo, and Joseph Loeffler, Cleveland. Home office men who will be present will include: George W. Weeks, Arthur Greenblatt, Albert Margolies, Al Selig, Claude Macgowan, C. F. Schwengeler, B. J. Kearney and Basil Shea. Clinton M. White, newly appointed assistant general manager, will preside.

A's which, therefore, is directly interested in the Hollywood jurisdictional claims of the I. A. This is the first recognition to be given those claims by the eastern theatrical union.

Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the Screen Actors' Guild, is due here by motor from the coast early next week, and undoubtedly will confer further with the local union officials on the Hollywood situation. He is also scheduled to hear the objections of Educational Pictures and March of Time to signing the guild's "closed shop" contract.

C.A.D.U. Strike Unsettled

Representatives of the Fleischer Studio and the Commercial Artists & Designers Union, meeting yesterday in an effort to settle the four months' old strike of studio employes, failed to reach an agreement. The settlement negotiations will be continued today, it was said.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Ebb Tide"

(Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Technicolor gets its sea legs in this fascinating picturization of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Ebb Tide" and film audiences the world around get something different, substantial and satisfying to thrill to and talk about. It is doubtful if color film ever has had so severe a test or has given so fine an account of itself. The purely pictorial quality of the production would distinguish it, if it were half so sound as it is dramatically. So would the powerful performance of Oscar Homolka in his first appearance before an American lens.

These are, however, but highlights of a rounded whole produced on a grand scale by Lucien Hubbard and directed with superbly distributed emphasis by James Hogan from Bertram Millhauser's well developed screenplay.

Frances Farmer and Ray Milland play the romantic leads adequately and Lloyd Nolan makes a somewhat fantastic villain seem credible, but the major histrionic honors go to the dour Homolka and the droll Barry Fitzgerald, both of whom portray vile characters deservedly discontinued by gunfire before the final fadeout.

Stevenson's story, it will be recalled, picks up three South Sea Island beachcombers, places one of them in command of a pestilence-stricken sailing vessel with his associates as mate and steward and brings them through typhoon and thwarted piracy to an uncharted island under the illicit rule of a sophisticated white fanatic. Two of the beachcombers are destroyed by sustained subservience to alcoholic thirst and criminal ambition while the third is regenerated. Incidents involved in the working out of this result are far from commonplace and the tempo of their presentation is in consonance with the tidal movement suggested by Stevenson's title and traced out in his story.

Scenes ashore and afloat are spectacularly beautiful and many of them are dolly shots achieving third dimensional effect in a remarkable degree. The typhoon sequence in mid-picture drew a salvo of applause from a preview audience.

"Life Begins in College"

(20th Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—The merry, madcap Ritz Brothers, in their own starring vehicle, which is at the same time a fast-stepping, well-told college football yarn of amusing improbabilities, offer ace laugh entertainment for any audience. In a word, the boys go to town, which means that their own peculiar brand of insane comedy hits the high spots.

Sharing the laughs is Joan Davis with her characteristic song renditions and in expert support are Tony Martin and Gloria Stuart, for the romance; Fred Stone, the coach; Nat Pendleton, the Indian who shows them how football should be played. A smart touch was the introduction of Ed Thorgersen, Movietone News ace sports commentator, to handle the broadcast of the big game. He is natural and offers a touch of the real thing with his clear, incisive voice.

There are a flock of tunes, all good, done by Pollack and Mitchell, of which "Sweet Varsity Sue" should be heard for many a football day. It was the work of Charles Tobias, Al Lewis and Murray Mencher. William A. Seiter directed for speed and comedy and did a fine job. The screenplay was by Karl Tunberg, and Don Ettlinger, suggested by a series of stories by Darrell Ware. Sidney Kuller, Ray Golden and Samuel Pokrass were responsible for the Ritz Brothers material.

The Ritzes are a trio of insane tailors on the campus of Lombardy, and they bounce in and out of the picture, whose story concerns the effort of Stone to hold his job by turning out a winning team. The Ritz Brothers discover that Pendleton is an oil well millionaire, force the dean to let the coach have another chance and Pendleton cleans up for the team. Through the yarn, as well, runs the romance of Martin, star replaced by Pendleton, and Miss Stuart, the coach's daughter. Complications arise through misunderstandings and the efforts of a jealous girl to spoil the romance.

The football games are real, loaded with punch, and interspersed with hilarious comedy as the Ritz boys go in—and out—of the games. Even the last minute winning touchdown is accomplished by them—on a wild comic note, as one of them drives right through a goal post.

Running time, 93 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"Air Express"

(Universal)

The three monkeys, Meany, Miny and Moe operate an air service. Moe flies the airplane. They have valuable diamonds to deliver, and a baby ostrich consigned to Eddie Bonns. The ostrich raises merry hell in the air, swallowing the diamonds and finally wrecking the ship. Moe, surviving the crash, revenges himself by switching on the ignition after the ostrich has swallowed the motor. There are fine touches of clever animation in the film and a number of laughs. It will satisfy. Running time, 6 mins. "G."

"Screen Snapshots 16-13"

(Columbia)

Outstanding clips in this reel are the scenes of Gene Autry putting his horse, Champion, through its paces; a premiere on a rainy afternoon and the opening of Bing Crosby's race-track. The rest of the reel is also interesting, but to a lesser degree. The avid filmgoers should enjoy it. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Mexican Mural"

(20th Century-Fox)

An expert and beautifully handled collection of shots that embraces the better aspects of the Mexican scene. The negative was shot in sepia tint and the well-cut sequences are backgrounded with appropriate tunes. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Framing Youth"

(Roach-M-G-M)

The "Gang" is in radio here in this latest chapter of its childish interests. Spanky, as manager of the station, is threatened by "Butch" to keep "Alfalfa" from an amateur contest. However, Spanky cannot do this and face "Alfalfa," so they go on. Spanky gets a shiner for his reneging, but you should see the other fellow. It's fine for the child audiences. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"The Big Apple"

A meager plot concerning the lighter side of college life serves as an introduction for the acrobatic brand of terpsichore that is at present the thing. There is nothing much to it, but it has many youthful faces and much activity when the boys and girls start to give out. A little publicity in a trailer will draw the audience for this short. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"The Boss Didn't Say Good Morning"

(M-G-M)

Indigestion in his boss's interior almost wrecks Jack Mulhall's home, family and mind in this short which will interest a great audience. The ailment causes the grouchy superior to let the morning salutation slip by. This worries Mulhall and his imagination starts to run amok. But in the later sequences things work out satisfactorily and there is peace in the Mulhall domicile again. It is different stuff that will hold attention. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Newsreel Parade

Movietone News

Vol. 20, No. 4
(20th Century-Fox)

The extraordinarily clear weather and the length of time it took the American Legion parade to pass up 5th Ave. enabled Movietone cameramen to get a variety of shots of the big parade. The photography is outstanding.

Army planes are shown at an angle with the Empire State Bldg. in the background, from the air looking down on the kaleidoscopic scene and from buildings. It is exceptionally well done.

Four other clips make up the reel. One shows Jacqueline Cochrane making a new woman's plane record of 293 miles an hour. It is described by Helen Claire. Another is the crowning of the Kansas City Jubilesta queen. A third is another of Lew Lehr's Newsettes showing something flying like a bird, with closeups following which give the details of the mechanical freak. Lehr's dialect description is funnier than anything he has done in a long time.

Both the Yankees and Giants, prospective World Series contenders, are shown in action. This clip is handled expertly. Four out of five of the numbers are very much worthwhile.

Running time, 9½ mins. J.

News of the Day

Vol. 9, No. 202.

(M-G-M)

The American Legion parade is the first and best clip in this number of the reel. Closeups, shots of the crowd, roof-views of the 18-hour march and shots of the squadron of planes overhead combine to make this first class coverage, indicative of the magnitude of the parade.

Short clips include views of the Dinosaur Park, composed of figures of prehistoric animals, being built in the west; a good clip for women has Perc Westmore telling and showing them how to use makeup and dress their hair to the best advantage for various types of faces, an ingenious farmer whose tractor-plow is rigged on a maypole and plows the farm in an unending circular manner as a wire draws it closer at each circle. Sport shots finish the reel with speed and entertainment as the Yale team is shown in practice and the international polo match supplies some fast action.

Running time, nine minutes. A.

Paramount News

No. 15.

(Paramount)

The Legion parade up 5th Ave. is the highlight of this newsreel. About eight minutes of clips have been added to the regular issue, some of the footage supplying a few laughs, while other scenes will rouse cheers in home towns where exhibited.

Again, the entire list of new commentators is introduced, each being an expert in his line. Sidney Walton describes the record run established by Ab Jenkins, American speed king, at Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah.

President Roosevelt congratulates A. J. Richard on the 10th anniversary

"An Asset to Our Country"

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

My dear Mr. Richard:

I learn with pleasure that your newsreel is celebrating its tenth anniversary.

Since the inception of newsreels, I have been a constant and interested observer of them. Their function has become more and more important.

Only through accurate and fairly presented news, regardless of its presentation on paper in print, or depicted upon the screen, can the public decide the questions of the day.

Efforts of the newsreel industry to meet these higher requirements are an asset to our country.

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. A. J. Richard,
Editor, Paramount News,
New York, N. Y.

of the newsreel. The letter is shown and read by Gabriel Heatter, chief commentator. Mark Hawley handles the sequence which shows a Spanish warship putting into an English port for repairs at Falmouth, Loyalist refugees at Bayonne, France; Indians at work at Celilo Falls, where Chinook salmon is being caught; and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and his bride taking up residence at Charlottesville, Va., near the University of Virginia where the President's son is studying law.

Bill Slater comes through with a dramatic pigskin review of last year, showing several of the top notch players in action.

Running time, 16 minutes. O.

Pathe News

Vol. 9, No. 19

(Pathe)

The war in China occupies first position in the latest issue of this reel. The material is well cut, graphically showing the feverish activity behind the lines and many quick glimpses of first-hand action. One stark scene, in particular, shows the execution, unedited, of a group of suspected spies. The stuff is gory and will bring gasps from the audience.

The bulk of the reel offers shots of that farmer in Louisiana who lets his tractor run an 80 mile circuit, unattended, while he reads a newspaper; a tuna contest in the Bay of Fundy, Wall Street big-wigs flying to work in seaplanes and almost slipping into the drink, an explosion in Paris believed to be the work of terrorists. Finally, the lengthy American Legion parade. The reel is good.

Running time, 8½ minutes. P.

Universal Newsreel

Vol. 9, No. 600

(Universal)

Universal Newsreel devotes release No. 600 to the American Legion's New York convention exclusively, and in so doing provides many an exhibitor with another of those special attractions which, if properly exploited, will bring patrons to the theatre who could think of a dozen excuses for not wanting to go ordinarily.

This is a reel which should find a ready-made audience, small or large, in every city and hamlet in the country. An estimated 250,000 Legionnaires, representing every state in the Union, were in New York for the convention. Every one of them, their families and friends, will want to see this release. Millions of other Legionnaires and ex-service men who were unable to attend the convention will want to see this panoramic of the New York gathering, presented in liberal footage. In addition to these, the average individual, who loves a parade, excitement and color—there were an estimated 2,000,000 of them in New York who bore discomforts watch the parade—will pay to see at their ease the same sights.

The reel is well photographed, interestingly narrated, and edited with a sightseer's eye for spectacle and contrast. It should repay any exhibitor who features it in his advertising, emphasizing the fact that it is a complete reel, not merely a flash clip.

Running time, 10 mins. K.

Re-sign Virginia Field

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Twentieth Century-Fox has extended the contract of Virginia Field.

Independents Hit Chicago Release Plan

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Claiming that the present release system is causing them an untold amount of grief, Chicago's independent exhibitors are seeking a way to have the release plan changed to what they feel is a more equitable arrangement. The thorn in the side of the independents is the playing time being given the class "A" films which open in the Loop theatres. The present system, it is reported, "milks" the pictures before they get to the smaller houses.

Currently films opening in the Chicago, Oriental, Roosevelt and United Artists Theatres play these houses for two to three weeks usually. Following this they are booked into the Apollo or Garrick in the Loop for another stay of a week or two, from there they go to the "A" houses for a week's engagement and by the time they reach the first-week-of-release theatres—10 weeks after the Loop opening—they have been "milked dry, exhibitors claim.

Weakens Big Pictures

It is this system that has been the reason for many of the bigger pictures being pulled after one day's engagement in the independent theatres, even in "C" week. The past few months have seen pictures which do tremendous business in the Loop theatres and the "A" houses, fail miserably in the "C" week and subsequent run theatres.

With big pictures teamed together for dual combinations in the "A" and "B" week theatres and not available in that form for the smaller theatres, business for these small houses has been off to an alarming degree, independent theatre executives state.

The present double feature situation which was slated to be changed, according to reports, some weeks ago, is apparently here to stay. The theatres that started it can't get rid of it, having allowed themselves no way out. In the meantime the independents are seeking a change that will enable the releasing plan to be more flexible and give them a chance at all films sooner.

Ayres, Campbell Cast

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Lew Ayres and Louise Campbell have the leads in "They Knew What Happened," which Paramount placed on its production schedule today. The story, by Vera Caspary, will go before cameras Oct. 4. It will be produced by Harold Hurley.

Take Kentucky Houses

HAMILTON, O., Sept. 23.—Southio Theatres, Inc., a Paramount subsidiary, has taken over the Kentucky and State, at Danville, Ky., formerly Warner operations.

Invite Dorothy Lamour

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—Dorothy Lamour has been invited to serve as honorary queen of the Rice Festival to be held at Crowley, La., Oct. 5, by Gov. Richard Leche.

I. Dollinger President of N. J. Allied

of Newark were named directors in addition to the executives elected.

In a lengthy talk before the members of the local organization, Abram F. Myers, general counsel of the national association, sought a "little NRA" for the film industry, similar to the Guffey Bill.

Declaring that Congress only awaits the statement of what independent exhibitors want, he said: "We have reached a point where opinion of independent theatre owners must be molded for some one definite program."

"If further progress is to be made, Congress says, 'bring us something concrete and let us put it in the hopper.'"

"The majority of Congress understands the motion picture business requires legislative attention," Myers said.

Asks Impartiality

"A Government board, not of reformers, amateurs or politicians, a board selected for experience in the business but with no present connection or investment in any one branch of the film industry, and with no axes to grind. A code of fair conduct. A tax of 25 or 30 per cent of gross receipts (the Guffey Bill tax is for 19½ per cent) and a provision as in the Guffey Bill that the tax is to be imposed unless business is a member of the code and obeys it. There you will find the teeth so sadly lacking in the late NRA."

Following the traditional system, the New Jersey group did not adopt a formal resolution endorsing this plan. Leaders explained their way of working is to crystallize opinion, then go to work. The Allied of New Jersey members said that the Myers plan is favored unanimously.

Myers asserted that "one intelligent independent tells me that for protection against invasion he pays yearly tribute of $35,000 to $50,000. The taxed independent says he pays when he signs up for more pictures than he needs, to keep producers' and distributors' circuits out."

To Fight Paramount

Leaders stated today that they will carry on with their fight against Paramount. Myers, called in as spokesman on this issue, said: "A decent regard for opinions of mankind is the very least a commercial organization could show to retain goodwill towards its customers. When a reasonable protest is made by Allied against holding out six pictures he promised, because of which exhibitors had signed at higher prices, Adolph Zukor replied with a letter of the wonderful value of Paramount productions. He insulted the intelligence of everyone involved by speaking of everything else but the point at issue."

Myers went into a lengthy tirade against Paramount for withdrawing six pictures from the current schedule.

The annual banquet was held tonight in the main dining room of the hotel with several prominent guests on hand.

First Run Patrons Oppose Duals, Theatre Poll Shows

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—The tabulation of the returns thus far on the questionnaires in the Fanchon & Marco-St. Louis Star-Times poll of local film preferences seems to indicate that the patrons of the first run theatres, such as the Ambassador, Fox and Missouri, prefer single feature pictures in conjunction with short subjects and stage shows while the men, women and children who patronize the neighborhood houses are strong for two full-length pictures on their programs.

But it is still too early to draw definite conclusions, since a grand total of 400,000 questionnaires are to be distributed through the cooperation of the 30 houses that are participating in the big poll, one of the largest and most comprehensive of its kind ever undertaken in the industry.

The 30 houses are included in the local holdings of the Fanchon & Marco interests and their affiliates, the St. Louis Amusement Co., and Ansell Bros. Circuit. The houses participating are: Fox, Ambassador, St. Louis, Missouri, Aubert, Capitol, Congress, Florissant, Granada, Gravois, Hi-Pointe, Kingsland, Lafayette, Lindell, Maffitt, Manchester, Maplewood, Mikado, Pageant, Shady Oak, Shaw, Richmond, Ritz, Shenandoah, Tivoli, Union, Uptown, Varsity and the West End and the Washington in Granite City, Ill.

Comedy Preferred

If the returned questionnaires may be accepted as a criterion of what the cash customers want, their present preference is for pictures in a lighter vein, heavy dramas and mystery pictures being taboo. Musical comedies and straight comedy rank first and second in the list of picture preference, while melodrama and mystery films are far below them. Historical pictures and the love-romance types are also popular, while war and gangster films have few followers.

Among short length pictures cartoons are the most popular by a wide margin with newsreels second and travel pictures third. Pictures typed as sports, musical, science, animal and industry follow in the order named.

Some Like Vaudeville

Among those seeking stage shows in conjunction with a single feature picture a strong majority is in favor of vaudeville. Others have expressed a preference for prominent bands and orchestra and still others want certain singers and dancers.

A further analysis of 7000 returns shows that most of the persons who go to see films range in age from 16 to 40 years.

The latest returns (as published by the Star-Times under date of Sept. 22) show the following standing for stars:

Actresses: Myrna Loy, 604; Claudette Colbert, 355; Loretta Young, 320; Kay Francis, 284; Ginger Rogers, 272; Norma Shearer, 240; Barbara Stanwyck, 234; Joan Crawford, 230;

Remember?

When Adolph Zukor and his wife, on their recent visit to Paris, went to the Casino de Paris, where Maurice Chevalier is the star, their seats were in the front row. When Chevalier came out to sing, he barely began when he suddenly stopped, leaned over and shook hands with the executive and Mrs. Zukor.

Then he explained to the audience who Zukor is and the part he played in the Frenchman's success here. At that point the Zukors took the spotlight themselves.

record business to "100 Men and a Girl," now playing in 50 spots.

A cable from C. M. Woolf on the trade showing of the film at the Phoenix in London reported the showing a great success. The picture will have its first European showing in Vienna on Oct. 14.

To Reopen Omaha House

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—Plans for reopening the 3,000-seat Paramount and installation of a new marquee at the Orpheum were discussed by A. H. Blank, president of Tri-States and Central States, at a session here with District Manager Evert R. Cummings.

Jeanette McDonald, 213, and Bette Davis, 192.

Child stars: Shirley Temple, 2,143; Jane Withers, 1,342; Freddie Bartholomew, 766; Deanna Durbin, 347, and Mickey Rooney, 264.

With the addition of a large ratio of questionnaires tabulated today from the neighborhood theatres, the late movie fan poll totals are changing, showing the differences between the neighborhood and first run audiences. Clark Gable leads in both groups followed by Robert Taylor. Neighborhoods pick Dick Powell for third choice. First runs select William Powell. Paul Muni rates fourth in first runs and ninth in neighborhoods. Myrna Loy, Claudette Colbert and Loretta Young are one, two, three in first runs with Myrna Loy, Ginger Rogers and Loretta Young in that order in the neighborhood fans' choice. Shirley Temple first in both by wide margin in child star group followed by Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew. The influence of the younger element in neighborhood group is shown in the rating of gangster pictures which accounted for 9 per cent of the total features in neighborhoods and rated only 4 per cent of feature totals in first run voting. Short films show same selection in both groups with cartoons, news reels and sports in that order. Two features versus one feature and shorts: neighborhoods very strong for two features. First run fans about evenly divided.

tinuance of these conditions no semblance of an excuse has been offered. Whether the guild will desire to defer its efforts pending judicial determination of issues improperly raised is a matter which must be left for the determination by the entire guild.

"In any event, it is not our present purpose to discuss again the issues involved. In the face of the Wagner law the producers have declined to recognize this guild as the agency designated by its members for the purpose of collective bargaining. The choice has been willful and deliberate and upon them must rest the full responsibility therefor. So far as our committee is concerned, we feel free to discharge ourselves of further obligation to secure an amicable settlement of the controversy."

It is understood a vote of guild members will be taken either by mail or in a meeting, but no choice of means or date has been disclosed as yet.

Three Circuits Sign Pact in Springfield

Loew's, Paramount and Warners yesterday concluded negotiations with the I.A.T.S.E. for operators and stagehands at Springfield, Mass. Under terms of the new pact, union help will receive 10 per cent increases. Loew's has the Poli in that city and Harry Shaw, New England division manager, yesterday sat in on the negotiations.

William Finney, midwest division head for Loew's, will go to Indianapolis next Tuesday to conclude negotiations for new contracts in that city.

Fairbanks, Jr., Signed

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will play opposite Ginger Rogers in her solo starring vehicle, "Having Wonderful Time."

HIGH

A new HIGH in audience reaction has been achieved as...

Paramount's
"HIGH, WIDE and HANDSOME" stirs its onlookers to such praise as . . .

"We are glad we saw the picture. Tom liked the action, the fights. I loved the music and the romance," say Tom White, 88 Freeport Ave., Point Lookout, L. I. and Marion Semler, 3429—80th Street, Jackson Heights, L. I.

"Randolph Scott is just grand in this marvelous picture, and so is Miss Dunne," says Mrs. Robert Kent, Homer, Louisiana.

"Swell entertainment, Irene Dunne is gorgeous," says Kenneth K. Cole, 1922½ N. Hoover St., California.

"A fine picture. Deserves all the fine criticisms and comments I have heard about it. It has the sweep of 'Cimarron' and the glamour of 'Show Boat'," says James Gallagher, 729—8th Ave., New York City.

"I think 'High, Wide and Handsome' was grand. Give me Randolph Scott after seeing this picture. He gave me a big thrill," says Harriet Dillon, 2470 Tremont Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

"Really topnotch entertainment! I recommend it highly! Music is superb — picture has great sweep," says Levon E. Horton, New York City.

"Everything in the picture is grand. The love scenes got me," says Rita Ryan, 5927 Lislig Ave., Riverdale, N. Y.

"Boy, it is really a whale of a picture. It has more sweep and scope than any picture I have seen since 'Cimarron'," says Charles Roberts, 510 W. 110th Street, New York City.

picture business and I'm going in with him."

Then the M-G-M producer declared himself and told of his plans.

"We're not going to make pictures for the American market unless they're good enough. We want to make them first in Italian. Then we will determine where we will go from there. We have to see what angle they want."

Asked how he would figure in the deal, Roach said: "I'm in sort of an advisory capacity. Mussolini wants his son to go into business. Vittorio decided on the film business and I'm sort of a chaperon for him."

"How many pictures do you plan?" he was asked.

"There is no definite amount. I haven't any number in mind. We may make one or two to see how they turn out."

One of the reporters started to laugh, when Roach gritted his teeth.

Not "Fly-by-Night"

"It's not going to be a fly-by-night company, as you think," the producer shot back. "I went over cold as a cucumber, but I soon warmed up."

Then reporters asked him about releasing arrangements and financing.

"M-G-M has nothing to do with this. This is strictly a Hal Roach proposition. Neither M-G-M nor any other American company will release the pictures. Nor do we want them to!"

The reporters insisted in trying to get a concrete figure on the number of films Roach hand in mind.

"We will probably make four the first year and eventually hope to increase this to 20 a year. All will be produced for Italian consumption. Italy at the present time makes 40 a year."

"Can't you tell how much you plan to spend on a picture?"

"We plan to spend in American money from $40,000 to $1,000,000 on each picture."

Undecided on Studio

"How about studio arrangements?"

"We may have our own studios, or rent space there." Seven stages have already been completed in the new Italian plant and eight more are planned, according to Roach.

Mussolini's son will remain in this country until Oct. 16 and then return to Italy.

Although no cast is set, the first picture, tentatively set, will be "Rigoletto," by Verdi, Roach said.

Queried on the producing company, Roach said that the name of it is RAM, a combination of Roach and Mussolini.

"I have a five-year contract with the company, which, by the way, is financed by Italian banks. The agreement stipulates I cannot produce in any other foreign country and the same goes for Vittorio Mussolini."

Roach added he held a half-interest in the company.

"My arrangement does not affect my American setup. I'm going to spend as much time in Italy as I see fit. I'm going back in a month or so to start preparations for the first picture."

Prodded further by the gentlemen of the press, Roach said:

"There's really not a deuce of a lot to talk about. Up to three days before I left Naples, the talks were entirely financial. Until we get started, Mussolini will learn production methods on the coast."

"How will these pictures affect the quota?" he was asked.

"There's no quota regulation in Italy at present and this deal will have no effect on a possibility of such an act."

"No Propaganda"

Asked about propaganda, Roach said: "There will be no propaganda in the pictures and there will be no Government interference. Likewise, there will be no Government financing."

"Does Louis B. Mayer figure in on the deal?" was another question.

"Mr. Mayer doesn't even know the deal exists. I have just talked with Mr. Schenck about those stories in the papers (they said that M-G-M would put up $2,000,000 to finance the deal) and explained to him how the misstatements got into the papers."

"Will M-G-M release the films in this market?" he was then asked.

"Not unless I make a grade 'A' picture will we offer it to M-G-M. We may offer them to other companies, however."

M-G-M Definitely Out

Nettled by reporters who insisted on mentioning the company, Roach stressed this in no uncertain terms: "Please don't mention M-G-M in this deal. M-G-M doesn't want to be mentioned and, if you do, not only will this company be sore but Italy as well."

"You see, M-G-M is a big company over there and before you know there will be claims that M-G-M is trying to freeze out the small independent companies. This is not so; it was never intended."

"Will your plans for 20 pictures a year give you a monopoly on the film industry?"

"No!"

"Are you the president of RAM?"

"No; I am vice-president. Vittorio Mussolini is president."

"Who else came over with you besides Mussolini's son?"

"Mario Del Papa, who will be an associate. He worked with M-G-M in Hollywood and in Europe. He will be business manager."

"And who else?"

Pavolini Also Included

"Corrado Pavolini." Roach didn't know how to spell the name, but the spelling is listed in the official passenger list supplied by the Italian Line. He is a writer.

"All four of us are leaving by TWA plane tomorrow." The producer asked that the time not be mentioned.

"What has Mussolini's son done?"

"He wrote the screen column for his father's paper. He was the only one to knock Italian-made productions and praise American films."

There was an interlude of kidding on that score.

"What is the capitalization of the new company?"

"Please don't ask and mention dollars and cents. Those stories you've

Handclasps

Interviewed on the new Italian pier at West 52nd St., in regard to the Vittorio Mussolini-Hal Roach tieup, S. E. Fulvio Suvich, Italian Ambassador to Washington, who accompanied the party on the Rex, told Motion Picture Daily:

"While I do not know much about the film industry, I think the tieup is an excellent medium for cementing Italian and American friendship. The motion picture industry is a power in presenting propaganda on the screen and I believe this approach should have been done a long time ago."

Suvich went on to add that Italy had first-grade film stars 20 years ago and for some reason or other let them slip.

"Now," he added, "I believe this plan will enable the Italian industry to get back in the limelight again."

seen published are a lot of hoovey. Someone got an idea into his head and developed it into a yarn."

"Tell us more," reporters insisted.

"I went over on the wrong premise and got in by mistake."

A giggle pervaded the room.

"I told them that they couldn't expect to make pictures unless they expected to lose money. They thought I came over to make pictures."

"But after I got on the right track, met the right people, I got set."

"You know Walter Wanger had a deal on to produce for Mussolini?"

"I beat him to it, I guess. Josef Von Sternberg arrived in Italy a week after I signed the deal. He also wanted to produce there, I understand."

"Will you be allowed to take any money out of the country?"

Finances Arranged

"I'll be permitted to take monies accountable as my end of the deal."

"How about foreign versions?"

"We'll probably make our pictures in five different versions. We may dub in English, but I don't know yet."

"Will they all be operas?"

"I don't know. The first one will be. Operas go big in Italy and, if your going to can anything over there, why not can what the people want? You wouldn't can olives, would you, if the people didn't like them?"

"How about your second picture?"

"I still am not certain about the first. I may decide to do the Passion Play tomorrow as a picture. How can I tell?"

Roach said he had brought along a number of operatic records and "I think I can sing 'Rigoletto' by this time." No one asked for a rendition and Roach smiled.

"Do you think it's a good deal?"

"If it's a bad deal, okay. But I think I made a very good one."

Roach insisted that M-G-M was not associated with the idea. He said that Schenck was peeved at the stories which had been printed, but "we left good friends."

The producer then went on to discuss how much good Mussolini has done for his people, adding: "I think he is the only square politician I've ever seen."

There are 2,200 theatres in Italy. When Roach leaves next month for Italy, he plans to take along several technicians and possibly a production director.

Mussolini told reporters that the first picture will be made at Cinema City, just outside of Rome. He confirmed Roach in that backing for the producing company is not coming from the Government, but will be by private capital.

There is no intention to import players from Hollywood, he said, and his trip here is merely to gain technical knowledge on how films are made before "Rigoletto" is started.

Met On a Cutter

In the wee hours of the morning, about 50 newsreel cameramen, newspaper photographers and reporters left the barge office in a Government cutter to meet the incoming party.

While they were aboard the white tugboat, plans were being discussed on how to interview Mussolini's son. C. C. Pettijohn's wife was aboard to greet her husband.

Just as the cutter neared the Rex, another Government tug with Mussolini's son, Pettijohn behind him, Fulvio Suvich and Roach steamed up the Hudson. Three special plainclothesmen, assigned to guard Il Duce's son, tried to stop the tug.

The three policemen tried to summon one of the two police launches so that they could get on and chase the other boat. But it was no use. The police launch thought it was too dangerous to slide up to the cutter and continued alongside of it, but not close enough to transfer the policemen. There was also an Italian delegation on the cutter. The men managed to salute in Fascist style and sorrowfully watched as their guest of honor disappeared.

Docked at 34th St.

At first it was reported that the visitors were being taken to the Newark airport to avoid demonstrations. From Newark, they were to take a plane to the coast. Later it was learned that the Government boat with Mussolini docked at 34th St.

Pettijohn had to go to the new Italian Line pier at 52nd St. to meet his wife, coming in on the Rex. Suvich boarded the liner again at the dock to return to his wife and entourage.

It was a beautiful day for sailing up the Hudson yesterday, but 50 reporters, newsreel men and photographers didn't seem to enjoy it.

"Dodd" Leads Minneapolis With $11,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 23.—Although total grosses were slightly over average for the Twin Cities, business lagged this week with "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" and Duke Ellington and revue on the stage taking the lead with an $11,000 take at the Minneapolis Orpheum, over normal by $5,000.

Other above average grosses were those of "Thin Ice," which did $7,500 at the Paramount, where average is $5,500, and "You Can't Have Everything," which did $6,000 at the St. Paul Orpheum, where $4,000 is usual. The start of school and a relapse after fair week weakened the takes.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $29,800. Average is $27,000. Total first run business in St. Paul was $18,400. Average is $15,000. Estimated takes:

Murphy at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Sept. 23.—Frank M. Murphy of Loew's Orpheum, Boston, is the new manager of Loew's Parkway here, succeeding Roger R. Drisel, who has been transferred to Loew's State, Norfolk.

"Sleuth" $14,000 Lead in Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—"Super Sleuth" introduced the new season's policy of screen-plus-stage attractions at Loew's and stood out with a take of $14,000 against recent average of $8,000. The stage attraction was "Hollywood Hotel" revue.

"Thin Ice" skated to a good high of $10,500 at the Capitol where it was doubled-billing. The average there is $9,500. "Topper," sharing the dual program at the Princess, accounted for $7,000, equal to par.

Total first run business was $38,500. Average is $35,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 18:

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)

"THE LADY ESCAPES" (20th-Fox)

PRINCESS—(2,272), 25c-30c-35c-50c-65c, 7 days. Gross: $7,000. (Average, $7,000)

"Varsity" on Dual Best in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—The Mainstreet made the best comparative showing of a mild week for first runs, grossing $9,700, $1,700 over the line, with "Varsity Show" and "Hideaway." Box-offices generally felt the widespread fear of infantile paralysis.

"Thin Ice" pulled $7,800, $1,600 up, in the six days of its second week at the Fox, and was moved to the Uptown for a third go. Big money went to the Midland, where "Lost Horizon" took $12,800.

Total first run business was $37,100, excluding Empress. Average is $36,200.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending Sept. 15:

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)

FOX—(2,200), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days, 2nd week. Stage: Sunnie O'Dea, Jack Leonard, Kendall Capps & Junior, the 3 Arnolds. Gross: $7,800. (Average, $6,200)

Cambridge Opens Sunday

CAMBRIDGE, O., Sept. 23.—Films now will be shown here Sundays. The City Council has passed an ordinance permitting them.

"Ice" Is 2nd Week Indianapolis Hit

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 23.—"Thin Ice" supported the Apollo like anything except thin ice and gave the house $5,500 for its second week, $1,500 to the good and the best on a percentage basis of any first run in town.

"The Life of the Party" and "She's No Lady" brought $700 into the black for the Circle, where a total of $5,200 was taken. "Lost Horizon" did good second-week business at Loew's, where it pulled $6,000. "Think Fast, Mr. Moto" with a stage show headlining Roscoe Ates, had an $8,600 take at the Lyric.

Total first run business was $25,300. Average is $23,500.

"Shanghai" Retitled

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—"Daughter of Shanghai" will be the release title of Paramount's "East of Shanghai."

"Thin Ice" in 2d Week Tops Boston Gross

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—"Thin Ice," on a dual with "Annapolis Salute," held over at the RKO Memorial, continued to register in a week of rain and cool weather. The second week drew $18,000, $6,000 above average.

"Broadway Melody" at the Loew's Orpheum and Loew's State proved a good attraction at both houses. The Orpheum did $3,000 over average with a $15,000 gross, while the State drew $1,000 above the line with $12,000.

"On Such a Night" dualed with "Wild and Woolly" did not draw at the Paramount and Fenway. The Paramount grossed $6,500, $500 under average, while the Fenway took $4,000 on the week, also $500 under the line.

Total first run business was $105,000. Average is $96,500.

"Dead End" Is Buffalo Top With $24,000

BUFFALO, Sept. 23.—Chilly weather and a red-hot film week came hand-in-hand to the local Rialto.

The Buffalo's "Dead End" took top money as every house in town marched into the fall season over par. It drew $24,000, just double average figures, and was moved to the Hipp.

"Lost Horizon" did $9,200, $3,200 over normal, in the picture's holdover week at the Lafayette.

"Souls at Sea" had a good second week at the Great Lakes, with $8,500, over par by $1,200, and "Artists and Models" drew $9,300 in a holdover week at the Hippodrome to go over average by $2,000.

Total first run business was $59,000. Average is $38,400. Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 18:

Epidemic Damages Grosses at Omaha

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—With even adults in a panic because of the infantile paralysis epidemic, patrons continued to stay away from local houses last week. Only the Brandeis was able to slip over the line for some profit, getting $4,300, or $300 better than average, for "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" and "It Happened in Hollywood."

"Souls at Sea" and "Sing and Be Happy" fell $100 under par at the Omaha for a $5,400 gross on a seven-day run. "The Road Back" and "Flyaway Baby," which followed in at the Omaha for five days, got only $3,900, compared to $5,500 for a seven-day average.

Total first run business was $20,400. Average is $16,700. Estimated takings:

Week Ending Sept. 11:
"SOULS AT SEA" (Para.)
"SING AND BE HAPPY" (20th-Fox)
OMAHA—(2,200), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $5,400. (Average, $5,500)

Week Ending Sept. 15:
"MR. DODD TAKES THE AIR" (W.B.)
"IT HAPPENED IN HOLLYWOOD" (Col.)
BRANDEIS—(1,200), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $4,300. (Average, $4,000)

Week Ending Sept. 16:
"100 MEN AND A GIRL" (Univ.)
"PUBLIC WEDDING" (W.B.)
ORPHEUM—(3,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $6,800. (Average, $7,200)
"THE ROAD BACK" (Univ.)
"FLYAWAY BABY" (W.B.)
OMAHA—(2,200), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $3,900. (Average, $5,500)

Out Hollywood Way

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Grand National has a monkey used in scenes of "He Wanted to Marry" for which the publicity department is claiming the simian sprint record. The monkey escaped from the studio and was found in Santa Monica, 10 miles away, a half hour later. . . . For the expansion of studio facilities during its new building program, M-G-M will install the largest studio telephone switchboard on the coast. It will have 900 stations, require seven operators and will take three months to install. . . . ALEX HYDE has been signed as associate musical director to assist NAT FINSTON at M-G-M.

Songwriters LOUIS ALTER and PAUL WEBSTER, with writer FRED SAIDY, have organized a 16 mm. film club in Hollywood. They plan to write, direct and shoot one production every two months. . . . JOY HODGES has left for New York to take the lead in the MOSS HART-GEORGE S. KAUFMAN play, "Hold Your Hat, Boys" . . . JACK SHERRILL, DEANNA DURBIN's manager, has married FRANCES COFFEY. . . . EDGAR BERGEN and CHARLIE MCCARTHY reported to the Goldwyn lot this week for "The Goldwyn Follies," after making personal appearances at the Michigan State Fair. . . . After six years away from the lot, CHARLES STALLINGS returns to M-G-M as unit manager for "Navy Blue and Gold." . . . RKO has changed the title of "Female of the Species" to "Women Have a Way."

Casting—LOUELLA PARSONS will enact a role in Warners' "Hollywood Hotel" . . . BILLY GILBERT to "Hitting a New High," RKO. . . . HARRY CAREY joins the cast of RKO's "Highway to Hell," featuring SALLY EILERS and JOHN BEAL. . . . DONALD MEER to "Young Man's Fancy," Universal. . . . HELEN WESTLEY to "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," 20th Century-Fox. . . . ELIZABETH RISDON and GUINN WILLIAMS to "Bad Man of Brimstone," and WALTER PIDGEON's first assignment at M-G-M under his new contract will be in "Four Marys" . . . EDWARD J. BROPHY to "The Last Gangster," M-G-M. . . . BILLIE BURKE and SAMUEL S. HINDS to "Navy Blue and Gold," M-G-M.

For the first time in about 14 years, NOAH BEERY will appear in the same picture with WALLACE, his brother. He's been cast in M-G-M's "Bad Man of Brimstone." . . . KAY LINAKER to "Charlie Chan at Monte Carlo," and the dance team of CHILTON and THOMAS to "Love and Hisses," both 20th Century-Fox. . . . LINA BASQUETTE and LOUISE CAMPBELL to Paramount's "The Buccaneer." . . . BEN BLUE has been set for three Paramount pictures—"The Big Broadcast of 1938," "College Swing" and "Paris Honeymoon," the last to be a BING CROSBY vehicle.

FRANK MCGLYNN, SR., again will play Lincoln on the screen. He's cast for that role in Paramount's "Wells Fargo." . . . TOM KENNEDY, KERNAN CRIPES and JAMES ROBBINS to "He Wanted to Marry," and HARRY TYLER and NORA CECIL to "Mr. Boggs Buys a Barrel," both Grand National. . . . CHESTER CONKLIN to "La Vida Bohemia," Cantabria Films. . . . CHARLES WINNINGER has been borrowed from Universal for Major's "Every Day's a Holiday," MAE

London, Ont., Sept. 23.—A little pig brought plenty of woe to Manager Lloyd Mills of the Centre here when he announced that a baby would be given away at the theatre, the same being the pink-nosed porky.

Following the stunt announcement, the Provincial Dept. of Public Welfare, the Children's Aid Society, Crown Attorney Norman Newton and the local police all jumped into action. The gag was spoiled when the manager was forced to reveal that a human child was not involved.

WEST vehicle. . . . LUIS ALBERNI to "Hitting a New High," and D'ARCY CORRIGAN to "Women Have a Way," both RKO.

Directors—SAMUEL GOLDWYN has loaned H. C. POTTER to Paramount to direct "The Yellow Nightingale," in which GLADYS SWARTHOUT and JOHN BOLES will be co-starred. . . . BURT SPURLIN, veteran property man at M-G-M, has been made an assistant director in the short subject department. . . . EDDIE DMYTRYK, film editor, has been made the director of the second unit of Paramount's "Hold 'Em Navy" . . . D. ROSS LEDERMAN has been signed by SOL LESSER to handle the first GLEN MORRIS Tarzan picture, "Tarzan's Revenge."

Writers—Paramount assignments: J. P. McEVoy on "Artists and Models of 1938"; MICHAEL FESSIER on untitled story of highway racketeers; WILLIAM HURLBUT on "East of Shanghai"; JOHN C. MOFFITT on "Ensenada"; JACK CUNNINGHAM on "Things Began to Happen" . . . RKO assignments: VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE on "Women Have a Way"; CARL HARBAUGH to gags for "Hitting a New High"; JOHN MONKS, JR., to "The Mad Miss Manton"; W. W. WATSON and MAXWELL SHANE to "She's Got That Swing"; PHILIP EPSTEIN to "They Didn't Want Love" . . . WANDA TOUCHOCK has been signed by SOL LESSER to script "Stowaway in Paradise," the next BOBBY BREEN picture.

Contracts—DAVID L. LOEW has signed PAUL VOGEL to a year's contract to handle photography on the JOE E. BROWN and other features. . . . Grand National has extended the contract of EVELYN DAW, singer who debuted in films with "Something to Sing About." Her next vehicle will be "The Strad," original story and music by VICTOR SCHEERTZINGER, who will produce. . . . 20th Century-Fox has extended the pacts of DIXIE DUNBAR, IRMA WILSON and ELIZABETH PALMER.

"Stowaway" for Breen

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—"Stowaway in Paradise," Don Blanding novel, will be Bobby Breen's next vehicle, supplanting "Fisherman's Wharf."

"Zenda" Sets Denver Pace With $16,000

DENVER, Sept. 23.—"The Prisoner of Zenda" took the Denver by storm and turned in a smashing $16,000 on the week. This was more than double average. It was moved to the Aladdin.

"Thin Ice" was strong at the Broadway with a gross of $3,500, up by $1,500. It had already played a week each at the Aladdin and Denver and it was held for a fourth downtown week.

"Lost Horizon" took a big $4,000 at the Paramount after having played a week each at the Denver, Aladdin and Broadway.

Total first run business was $38,400. Average is $27,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 15:

"WALTER WANGER'S VOGUES OF 1938" (U. A.)
ALADDIN—(1,500), 25c-40c, 7 days, following a week at the Denver. Gross: $3,000. (Average, $3,000)
"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)
BROADWAY—(1,500), 25c-40c, 7 days, following a week each at the Aladdin and Denver. Gross: $3,500. (Average, $2,000)
"SOULS AT SEA" (Para.)
DENHAM—(1,500), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days, 2nd week. Gross: $4,000. (Average, $5,600)
"PRISONER OF ZENDA" (U. A.)
DENVER—(2,500), 25c-35c-50c, 7 days. Stage band. Gross: $16,000. (Average, $7,000)
"MAKE A WISH" (RKO)
"SUPER SLEUTH" (RKO)
ORPHEUM—(2,600), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $7,900. (Average, $6,000)
"LOST HORIZON" (Col.)
PARAMOUNT—(2,000), 25c-40c, 7 days, following a week each at the Denver, Aladdin and Broadway. Gross: $4,000. (Average, $3,500)

Catholics Queried On British Pictures

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The Catholic Herald has issued a reader questionnaire, asking the views of the special religious community which it serves on the moral standards of British films.

Specifically asked is if objection is taken to British produced films on grounds of: low morality, worship of material wealth, the confusion of spirituality with sentimentality, the confusion of beauty with riches. Opinions are also asked about the "crudity" of stories and publicity methods.

The object of the questionnaire is declared to be to remove the mutual misunderstanding on the part of Catholics that all films are suspect, and on the part of the industry that it is impossible to make films acceptable to Catholics.

Farr May Get Film Role

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Signing of Tommy Farr to play with Gracie Fields and Victor McLaglen in the first 20th Century-Fox picture is expected to follow the arrival of Sam Engels, producer of the Fields picture, at Denham.

Form Flandria Film

DOVER, Del., Sept. 23.—Flandria Film, Ltd., has been chartered here with a capital of $500,000 by J. M. Freer, J. A. Freer and C. R. Murphy.

must be obtained also. Papers setting forth the settlement terms in detail are now being drawn by the trustee's attorneys and will be submitted to Judge Cox for hearing in the near future, with a recommendation that the settlement be authorized.

It is expected that Judge Cox's decision on the petition will have been handed down prior to the adjourned trial date of the first suit.

Judge Cox, in approving the Paramount reorganization plan in 1935, specifically directed Charles D. Hilles, the continuing Paramount trustee, to continue the litigation to a conclusion.

The $2,150,000 cash settlement would be paid into the Paramount treasury by the trustee. The approximate settlement amounts which will be paid by individual defendants include $700,000 by those who were either identified with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., former Paramount bankers, or their associates. Among these are Felix E. Kahn, the estate of Otto H. Kahn, Felix M. Warburg, John Mortimer Schiff, Gilbert W. Kahn, Sir William Wiseman, Jerome J. Hanauer, Gordon Leith, George W. Bonizer and Lewis L. Strauss.

Defendants, Amounts Listed

Other defendants and the amounts to be paid by each include Sidney R. Kent, $250,000; Sam Katz, $200,000; Adolph Zukor, $500,000; Jules E. Brulatour, $100,000; the estate of Emil Shauer, $50,000, and Frank A. Bailey, $100,000. Others who will pay lesser amounts in the settlements include John D. Hertz, Daniel Frohman, Ralph A. Kohn, Jesse Lasky, the estate of Elek J. Ludvig, and the estate of Casimir I. Stralem.

The actions were brought by the trustees in 1933 and sought the recovery of approximately $12,000,000. The recovery actions involved allegedly excessive salaries paid to officers of the company, participation in an employees' stock purchase plan and the repurchase of the company's stock which had been issued for expansion purposes at specified prices which, at the time of redemption, were in excess of the market price.

revenue, the bureau disclosed, was the drop from $431,455 to $350,938 in box-office collections from July to August.

Night club business started on the upgrade in August with an increase in tax collections from roof gardens and cabarets from $28,324 in July to $36,205.

Other collections reported by the bureau were: Free or reduced rate admissions, $2,652 in August against $1,418 in July; tickets sold by brokers, $3,274 against $8,398; tickets sold by proprietors in excess of box-office prices, $498 against $2,696; permanent use or lease of boxes and seats, $270 against $204.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Bride Wore Red"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—With several concessions made to accommodate the demands of modern American audiences "The Bride Wore Red" is a literal picturization of Ferenc Molnar's play, "The Girl from Trieste." Generally, it attains standards expected of Joan Crawford by her clientele. Although it is fantastic in some phases of its amplification, the story is organically sound. The excessive and prolonged dialogue, however, and consistent lack of action sometimes blunts sustained interest.

The premise of the plot is that clothes and an aristocratic manner make the lady. To prove this truth to Robert Young, George Zucco sends a cabaret entertainer to a swanky Alpine resort. Not only does Miss Crawford fool herself, but she does a complete job on Reginald Owen and even has his suspicious wife, Billie Burke, half-convinced. She fools all but the village postman, a poetic son of the high altitudes. It builds to an engaging triangle situation which threatens the romantic bliss of Lynne Carver. Miss Crawford realizes that deception is not worth the price in heartache and, upon exposing herself, returns Miss Carver to Young and finds simple happiness with the bucolic Franchot Tone.

Naturally Miss Crawford dominates the picture, but Young, Owen, Miss Burke, Miss Carver and Zucco are adequate and Tone supplies the spark that gives "The Bride Wore Red" its zip. Tess Slessinger and Bradbury Foote adapted from the Molnar play. Dorothy Arzner directed. The film is aimed to engage the attention of sophisticates and may prove somewhat boring to ordinary folks.

Running time, 100 minutes. "G."

"A Bride for Henry"

(Monogram)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—A little picture with a lot of entertainment fittingly describes "A Bride for Henry." Putting a fresh face on the triangle situation and developing the theme from a comedy standpoint, blending good story, production, acting and direction, the production is a revealing example of what sometimes can be done with pictures made on a moderate budget.

Shrewdly balancing dialogue, action and characters in intriguing situations, the yarn follows the three on a honeymoon plot. When groom Henry Mollison fails to show up, bride Anne Nagel marries her lawyer, Warren Hull. But Mollison appears for the honeymoon and Hull is shunted into the background. When Hull seems to be enjoying himself with other ladies, particularly Claudia Dell, in the honeymoon hotel, and Mollison proves that he's not much of a bargain, Miss Nagel's jealousies are aroused. Amusing sequences precede the climax, which has a contrite bride nestling in her husband's arms.

Creditable performances are contributed by Miss Nagel, husband Hull and interloper Mollison, and Claudia Dell is not far behind in giving "A Bride for Henry" zip and zest. Based on a story by Josephine Benthall, Marion Orth's screenplay is soundly and naturally constructed and William Nigh's direction cleverly gets the most out of the plot and talents of the players.

The picture should prove a desirable companion piece for more seriously toned attractions.

Running time, 55 minutes. "G."

Kiesling Does Book On Film Production

RICHMOND, Sept. 23.—"Talking Pictures—How They Are Made—How to Appreciate Them," by Barrett C. Kiesling of the M-G-M studio publicity department has been published by the Johnson Publishing Co. Designed for classes in visual education, English and dramatics, the book, long in work by Kiesling, is described as the first textbook written from the production angle.

The volume traces the making of a film from the time the story is purchased and asserts in the text that 276 "arts, professions and vocations" figure in the task.

Empire Union Adds To Bombing Reward

The Empire State M. P. Operators' Union has added $500 to the $1,000 award put up for apprehension of the stench bombers who have been active recently in theatres.

In a letter to Mayor LaGuardia signed by Abraham I. Kindler, president, this charge is made: "Such activity on the part of 'hoodlums,' injuring innocent patrons of the theatre, has been done for no other reason than to undermine the financial status of the owners, so that they may be induced to lock out our operators and compel the employment of operators of another organization."

Short Subjects

"Motor Maniacs"

(20th Century-Fox)

The scenes contained in this Adventure of the Newsreel Cameraman are usually edited out. It is easy to see why. From the moment it gets under way until the last frame it is a fast-moving, bloody film, with hair-raising events offered in every cutting. Bones are broken, gore is spilled, flesh is burned, cars are smashed and what have you. The strong stomached audiences will enjoy it—warn the others. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Long Bright Land"

(Vitaphone)

In line with all the E. M. Newman travel subjects in color, this combines beauty of scene with interest and a measure of instruction. In New Zealand are seen the Auckland War Memorial, various native birds and beautiful flowers, the miniature Yellowstone Park which is the Thermal district, the native Maoris in ceremonial dances and at work, and the city of Christ Church. Excellent travel subject. Running time, 11 mins.

"It's a Good Stunt"

(Paramount)

A good assortment of clips dealing with the hair-raising and breath-taking antics of various daredevils. They perch on skyscraper ledges, hang from blimps, ride motorcycles over hazardous courses, fling knives, hatchets and pickaxes at living targets and what not. It is a thriller for the strong-stomached patron. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

(Columbia)

The highlights of a brand of film activity that will appeal to the general run of audience for the past 17 years is run off in this issue. The names, events and what-have-you that made good publicity in days gone by is unreel. Everything of importance from Rudolph Valentino to the Gene Raymond-Jeanette MacDonald wedding is shown. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Pigskin Champions"

(M-G-M)

Distinctive camera work, excellent cooperation by the Green Bay Packers, a pro football team, and fresh, humorous comment by Pete Smith make fine ingredients that blend to make top-rating entertainment. The film covers football maneuvers and tricks in a manner that will surprise and bring on hearty laughs. There are many novel plays that are caught with remarkable effects in slow motion stop action and regular speed. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Will You Stop?"

Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra" serves as the butt for some cleverly thought out slapstick by Tim and Irene here. Tim is a stage director. Irene is the daughter of the backer of the performance. It is studiously screwy. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

realtor, appraised the Roxy at the request of White & Case, attorneys for proponents of the plan. He valued the property in July, 1935, at $3,300,000 and in July, 1937, at $3,500,000. He asked for $1,500 in fees. Parsons, vice-president of Douglas Elliman & Co., acted as arbitrator to fix a reasonable rental for the lobby lease when it was renewed in September, 1936. Half of his $2,500 fee was paid by the 7th Avenue Hotel Corp., the landlords. He filed a request for the balance of $1,250.

Judgment Not Satisfied

Execution on two judgments totaling $1,050 against Amusement Parkway, Inc., and Edward Stiegel was returned unsatisfied to the U. S. District Court yesterday by U. S. Marshal John J. Kelly. A judgment for $700 was obtained in August by the RKO Distributing Corp. and another for $350 by the 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. against Amusement Parkway and Stiegel for alleged unlicensed exhibition of films.

Principal Amends Complaint

Principal Film Exchanges, Inc., filed an amended complaint in the U. S. District Court yesterday in its suit against J. D. Kendis, who allegedly does business as Jay dee Kay Prod. The original complaint named Jay dee Kay Prod. as a separate corporation. The suit is based upon the alleged breach of an exclusive license to distribute "Crusade Against Rackets" in metropolitan New York and northern New Jersey. Damages of $5,000 were asked.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Dave Silverstein, former Republic producer, has joined the Nat Levine unit at M-G-M.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Thunder Trail"

(Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Based on the Zane Grey novel, "Arizona Ames," which might have been a better title for the purposes of showmen on both sides of the Western equation, "Thunder Trail" is a far above average medium budget production. Such cast names as Gilbert Roland, Charles Bickford, Marsha Hunt, J. Carrol Naish, Monte Blue, William Duncan and James Craig argue for exploitation treatment beyond that commonly accorded subordinated attractions and the picture warrants extraordinary emphasis.

In common with most Zane Grey stories, this one has logic as well as action and plot substance as well as thrill. Boiled down to essentials, it is the one about brothers separated in their boyhood whose destinies bring them by devious paths together again in time for a finish in which they outwit the villain in the case and at the same time avenge their murdered parents. In detail and development, however, the subject matter achieves a freshness and power seldom possessed by product of this kind. There is no reason whatever for limiting exhibition of the picture to the so-called "western audience."

Performances of Monte Blue and Gilbert Roland are outstanding. The screenplay by Robert Yost and Stuart Anthony is constant in interest and Charles Barton's direction makes the most of situations and incidents adroitly integrated and proportionately effective. The photography by Karl Struss is a distinctly notable production asset.

Running time, 56 minutes. "G."

"Lost Horizon," yesterday morning's opener at the Radio City Music Hall, was previewed by wire from Hollywood on Feb. 23.

"The Good Earth," opening this morning at the Capitol, was reviewed on Jan. 30 by wire from Hollywood.

"High, Wide and Handsome," now current at the Paramount, was reviewed on July 22.

"That Certain Woman," at the Strand and "100 Men and a Girl," at the Roxy are holdovers.

Academy in Move to Improve Projection

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—The Research Council of the Academy has taken the first steps toward a revision of the dimensions of the Academy Standard Projector Aperture, adopted in 1932 and currently in use in all theatres. It is seen as likely that the size of the picture on the screen in virtually all theatres will be changed as a result of the action. It is designed to more closely coordinate studio and theatre practice, and to minimize the possibility of cutting off heads and feet from pictures on the screen.

After an extended series of tests, the committee named by the council to consider the matter, and headed by Grover Laube, has prepared a revised standard projector aperture which differs chiefly from that now used by a .015 inch increased height and .021 inch increased width, and is centered over the camera aperture.

Have Hollywood Satire

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Jerry Mack, dance director, and Jimmy Fritz, publicity agent, are producing a play, "Alias, Hollywood," or "From Peanuts to Borscht," described as a satire on Hollywood.

Add to 'Robin Hood' Cast

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Herbert Muddin, Melville Cooper and Patric Knowles have been added to the cast of "The Adventures of Robin Hood" by Warners.

Mexican Exhibitors Show Modern Trend

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 23.—Major American producers and American supply houses have benefited to a large extent from the modern trend for better pictures and better theatres which has come to dominate the attitude of the exhibitors of provincial Mexico. New and modern houses are the order of the day, and the showmen make a real effort to give their patrons better films.

A new house, the Rex, seating 1,200, which was formerly an old legitimate theatre, will be opened shortly in Monterrey, near the American border. It will be operated by a Mexican syndicate headed by Gonzalo Gaza. Another new theatre, as yet unnamed, is being erected in Hermosillo, capital of the northwestern state of Sonora.

Dreher Sells His First

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—Some time ago Carl Dreher resigned as RKO director of sound recording and patent adviser to take up writing. His first effort, "The Crime of Dr. Hallet," done in collaboration with Lester Cole, has been acquired by Universal. Blue Book will publish it.

Buy Anaesthesia Story

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—M-G-M has made an unusual story buy, "The Life of William Norton," a non-fiction book on the life of the discoverer of anaesthesia by Rene Fulop-Miller, and Chapter 12 of "Triumph Over Pain and Death," by the same author.

Short Subjects

"Little Jack Horner"

(Columbia)

Here is an enactment of one of John Hix's "Strange As It Seems" items. The short plot built around the Mother Goose rhyme is done in costume and concerns Jack Horner, the Bishop of Glastenbury's messenger, who takes a deed from a batch he is delivering to King Henry the Eighth. They are concealed in a pie. Nobody ever suspected the steal. The estate of the Horner family in England as it is today is shown in conclusion. It is interesting. Running time, 10½ mins. "G."

"Stranger Than Fiction No. 42"

(Universal)

Scenes of remarkable underwater swimming highlight this issue. Other clips show a Georgia farmer giving himself a haircut, a Wichita youth drawing simultaneously with his hand and foot, the hydro-electric harnessing of tidal waters in South Carolina and two New York girls who make and sell fine pipes. A particularly good issue. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Swing Monkey Swing"

(Columbia)

Fast and hot animation of a swarm of monkeys doing standard routines to the tune of swing music. It is plotless and serves only to offer the monkeys dangling from trees, playing various instruments, dancing and singing "St. Louis Blues" in Technicolor. Running time, 7½ mins. "G."

"Kiko's Cleaning Day"

(Educational)

A vacuum cleaner runs amok in this adventure of the cartoon kangaroo and provides material for a few minutes of highly exciting and amusing animation. It is brilliantly handled novelty and the utmost is made from the comic possibilities. Will please everywhere. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Future Stars"

(Columbia)

An uninspired collection of clips showing the various sporting activities of children make up this issue of The News World of Sports. The youngsters are shown rowing, boxing, flying model airplanes and partaking in a number of other activities. Not very much to it. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Peeping Penguins"

(Fleischer-Paramount)

A color cartoon that concerns the activities of a quartette of the birds when they enter an empty house and stick their mouths into everything. The action is clever and fast moving. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Community Sing 2-3"

(Columbia)

Gene Morgan provides the comics and Donald Grayson does the vocals as the audience is invited to partake in the proceedings. The songs are of the college variety and should draw some response from the viewers. Running time, 10½ mins. "G."

WMCA Moving To New Spot On Broadway

The long current rumor that WMCA was considering a move to new studios was confirmed yesterday by Donald Flamm, president of the station, who revealed that he had signed an eight-year lease for 30,000 square feet of space on Broadway from 51st to 52nd streets, the building which houses the Hollywood Theatre.

The new WMCA studios will occupy the entire fourth floor of the building, and are to be ready for occupancy Jan. 1. The new quarters will be known as the "WMCA Building."

The plans are drawn for nine studios and 65 general administrative offices with double the space now occupied by the station. The studios will be air conditioned. A large show studio, seating 300, will be provided. Administrative offices will be situated in the penthouse of the quarters.

The move to the new studios, Flamm said, was necessitated by the expansion of WMCA in the last few years.

Narrow Bidding for Police Transmitter

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 23.—Two of the four firms bidding for installation of a 1,000-watt radio transmitter for the state highway patrol have been eliminated, but J. M. Gentry, State Commissioner of Public Safety, said he had not decided which of the two apparent low bidders is successful.

Hales-Mulally, Inc., bid approximately $17,000 for an RCA transmitter, and the Graybar Electric Co. bid approximately $20,000 on Western Electric apparatus.

Dallas Reach Co. in Syracuse

The Charles Dallas Reach Co., advertising agency, will establish a new office in Syracuse. The Syracuse agency will be complete and will not be a branch of the central office, it was stated by the company. The new office will house copy, art, layout, research and marketing, publicity and production departments.

Howard E. Sands, vice-president of Charles Dallas Reach Co., will be in charge of the Syracuse office. He will be assisted by Francis R. Risley.

Maxwell Hage Joins KFEL

DENVER, Sept. 23.—Maxwell Hage, former radio production manager for United Press in New York City, has joined the sales staff of KFEL. Hage also is former assistant manager of WJAY, Cleveland.

Barbara Stanwyck with Lux

The Lux "Radio Theatre" will offer Barbara Stanwyck in a radio adaptation of her motion picture "Stella Dallas" over CBS Oct. 11.

Most M-G-M Talent to Be Available for Air Series

While program details of the new M-G-M-General Foods Corp. series are still vague, it was stated by Benton & Bowles yesterday that, barring previous commitments, all players, stars, songwriters, directors, orchestras and literary talent under M-G-M contract will be available for the series which will get under way Nov. 4 at 9 P. M. over the NBC-Red network.

The phrase "previous commitments," it is presumed, refers to Nelson Eddy and Jeannette MacDonald, both of whom are under contract for radio appearances to opposing sponsors.

However, it has been indicated to MOTION PICTURE DAILY by several M-G-M executives that despite other radio contractual commitments, both of these players will be available for use on the M-G-M-General Foods show as "guests."

Nothing has been said, however, about the radio status of Greta Garbo, who has remained aloof from the air.

Meanwhile, it is said that the series will probably come from a special theatre on the M-G-M lot in Culver City rather than from the NBC studios in Hollywood. The series will be offered over 63 stations.

Pick Football Announcers

The Atlantic Refining Co., as a result of the mass auditions it has held in various sections of the country, has selected 44 announcers and commentators from a list of over 300 applicants to handle its intercollegiate football radio broadcast program.

The Atlantic program will be offered over 66 stations and will include a broadcast total of 163 games of 21 teams. N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., handles the Atlantic Refining account.

"Children's Corner" to CBS

Dorothy Gordon's "Children's Corner" will be heard on a new time schedule over CBS beginning Oct. 4. Thereafter the program will be offered Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 5:45 to 6 P. M. The program won the 1937 Women's National Radio Committee award for the best juvenile air show.

KDYL to Handle Own Talent

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 23.—In line with a great increase in locally produced programs, KDYL has inaugurated its own artists bureau. The bureau consists of a clearing house for all local talent, dramatic, instrumental, vocal, writing and orchestral.

Ad Club to Resume on WMCA

The series of luncheon meetings of the Advertising Club of New York will again be heard over WMCA, starting Sept. 30, from 1:15 to 1:45 P. M. The associated stations of the Inter-City network will also carry the broadcasts.

Clemens to Yodel

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—After three weeks of auditioning all available yodelers west of the Rockies for his first feature length cartoon, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Walt Disney selected Zeke Clemens, KFRC. Clemens will go south Oct. 1.

General Foods Takes An Hour on NBC-Red

General Foods Corp., through Benton & Bowles, has purchased a full hour's time, Saturdays from 8 to 9 P. M. on the NBC-Red network, to fit new broadcasting schedules for the current program featuring Bob Ripley and the forthcoming series for Jack Haley.

The Ripley show is now heard Fridays from 9 to 9:30 P. M. on the Blue. Beginning Oct. 9, the Ripley show will be offered from 8 to 8:30 P. M. on the Red. The series is in behalf of Huskies. The Oct. 8 broadcast will be omitted.

The Haley program for Log Cabin Syrup, originally scheduled to begin Oct. 8 on the Blue, instead will begin Oct. 9, from 8:30 to 9 P. M., and weekly thereafter at this time.

Air Ohio Newspaper Program

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—"WCKY's Neighbors," a program consisting of interesting and unusual items from the respective communities furnished by newspapers in 40 counties in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, is being aired over the L. B. Wilson station. Full credit is given the newspapers contributing to the program.

Schoelwer in Fourth Year

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—"Whispering" Eddie Schoelwer has begun his fourth consecutive year of broadcasting under the sponsorship of the Solway Furniture Co., over KWRC. His program of old and new songs is heard Mondays through Saturdays at 4:30 P. M. He plays his own accompaniments.

"New Horizons" on CBS

"New Horizons," a new series of programs, will be presented by the CBS Dep't of Talks in cooperation with the American Museum of Natural History over Columbia Mondays from 6:15 to 6:30 P. M., starting Oct. 4. The schedule is for 13 weeks.

The programs will feature outstanding explorers and scientists.

Eugene to Start New Series

Frank Eugene, film commentator and critic, will begin a new series of screen gossip programs over WNEW Sept. 28. Eugene will be heard twice weekly, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:15 P. M.

CBS Realigns Handling for Coast Talent

CBS and the Columbia Concerts Corp. has formed Columbia Management of California, Inc., to centralize and coordinate west coast talent activities. W. Arthur Rush has been placed in charge of the new organization, assisted by Larry White. Offices are located in the Equitable Bldg. in downtown Hollywood.

The new corporation offers agency and personal representative service for film, radio and stage appearances.

Eastern engagements of CBS artists will continue to be handled as heretofore either by Columbia Artists, Inc., New York, or Columbia Concerts Corp.

Sound Reproductions Adds to Facilities

Sound Reproductions Corp., which was recently reorganized by Eugene L. Bresson, its president, has added three more cutting machines to its equipment. This makes six machines now in use in its recording laboratory.

The reorganization brought John Mayo to Sound Reproductions as executive in charge of sales. Mayo has been associated with the industry for a number of years as production man and station operator. Jack Byers has been added to the company's recording department.

Complete New York station coverage is now available for reference recording and for the manufacture of electrical transcriptions.

Look Program Begins

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—"The Streamline Revue," a transcribed series of dance bands, choruses, vocalists, and news, weather and temperature reports, sponsored by the magazine, Look, has been inaugurated on WCKY, and will be heard six times a week from 10:30 to 11 P. M. The production is being handled by the Schwimmer & Scott agency, Chicago.

Cunningham in Anniversary

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Bill Cunningham, Boston Post sports writer, celebrated his first anniversary this week on the Kellogg sports programs. He commemorated the occasion by interviewing the coach, sponsor and stars of the Lynn American Legion Junior Baseball Team, which recently won the national championship in New Orleans.

WHDH Promotes Garrigus

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Fred Garrigus has been promoted to program director for WHDH, the so-called "Voice from Home" for fishermen at sea. Garrigus replaces John Knell, who resigned to join the local CBS staff, centering at WEEL.

NBC to Try New Pickups By Television

Outdoor television pickups will be attempted for the first time in America next month by NBC. The network is now awaiting the completion of an RCA television mobile unit, now under construction. It will be ready for use Oct. 18.

Immediately after the delivery of the mobile television station, NBC engineers will begin a series of tests to pick up outdoor scenes. Football games and other sports, parades and news events are listed in the schedule. All of the work, however, will be strictly experimental.

In the beginning the mobile station will be used primarily to study the sensitivity of instruments to average daylight conditions and to train a corps of engineers in the operation of television apparatus.

Both pictures and sound impulses will be transmitted from the test locations in the field to the Empire State Building, where the main television transmitter will rebroadcast the signals to the 100 receivers installed within the 45-mile working radius of the tower station.

The mobile unit, consisting of two vans, will operate on microwaves with a frequency of 177 megacycles, and is expected to be effective up to 25 miles from the main transmitter.

Georgia Commission Outlines WGST Use

ATLANTA, Sept. 23.—The Georgia State Radio Commission, recently created by Governor Rivers, stated after the first meeting that Georgia's state-owned station, WGST, will be used "primarily to serve the public interest by advertising Georgia and its resources to the nation, and by disseminating departmental and institutional information to the people of the state." The station is owned by Georgia Tech, but operated under private lease. Governor Rivers said that present contracts between the station and its clients would remain undisturbed. Selection of a date to take control was deferred.

Kohlmann, Musician, Dead

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—Carl Kohlmann, 75, trombonist in the ARMCO Band radio unit, died at his home here today. He was a member of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra for 41 years. A son and daughter survive. Burial will be at Walnut Hills, German Protestant cemetery, on Saturday.

Sarli Made Music Director

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—Al Sarli has been named musical director of KWK, replacing Rolla Coughlin.

New Shows On the Air

"The Dentist Says"

The old "advice" formula is ingeniously employed to get over the oral hygiene plugs on "The Dentist Says," a series of programs sponsored by the Dentists Supply Co. and broadcast twice weekly over WMCA and the Inter-City network.

The program features a Dr. George Wood Clapp and a woman introduced as "The Friendly Counsellor." Dr. Clapp offers the advice; the "Counsellor" reads the problems written by the listeners.

Yesterday's installment revolved about the problem of a woman who wrote that at 40, life held little activity for her. Among her physical ailments she listed a gum condition. Dr. Clapp, in a style reminiscent of "The Voice of Experience," painted an attractive vista of the physical, mental and psychological improvements that would be netted if the gum condition were cleared up.

Prophylactic, but hardly entertaining.

"Phil Cook's Morning Almanac"

Here is an hour-long broadcast starting at 8 A. M. and concluding at 9 A. M. that combines everything from homely philosophy, comedy organ music, excellent mimicry, to the ringing of a gong every few minutes to let the audience know how much time they have to get to their jobs. Phil Cook is not unknown to a wide audience and his manner of presentation is pleasantly serio-comic, but, nevertheless, holds attention.

Guest stars are usually to be heard doing their bits and the program on the whole is nicely handled and no doubt serves as a bracer with which to start the day's tasks.

The period is heard every weekday over CBS. BANNER.

Thorgersen Signed For Sport Comment

Ed Thorgersen, sports commentator for Movietone News, has been signed by the Sun Oil Co. to share time with Lowell Thomas on the latter's five-time weekly news comment series on the NBC-Blue, 6:45 to 7 P.M. Roche, Williams & Cunningham is the agency.

Thorgersen will start his stint with the beginning of the World Series baseball games. He will offer resumes of the games for their duration. Thereafter, and for the whole of the football season, he will appear Mondays and Fridays, offering comments about the games.

Mast Raising Fails Again

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 23.—A second attempt to raise a steel mast, to which the antennae of the new Belleville police radio broadcasting station will be attached, failed when two ropes holding the mast broke crashing it to the ground and damaging it so greatly it will have to be rebuilt. With the exception of installing the antennae, the station is ready to begin broadcasting at once, other equipment having been installed and made ready for operation recently.

Radio Personals

JIM BEALLE of the publicity staff of the local J. Walter Thompson office has been transferred to the Hollywood office of the agency, where he will serve as assistant to publicity director Ed Fortman. . . . Noel Coward, who has made but two previous radio appearances, will make his third Sept. 29 as guest of the "Hit Parade" on NBC. . . . Ann Leaf has been assigned to provide the organ music for the Tony Wons series, which begins Sept. 27 over CBS. . . . Joe Di Natalie, of KFOR, Lincoln, Neb., is visiting Mutual headquarters here. . . . Laurette Peterson of WOR's publicity office has resigned to become Dave ("Hobby Lobby") Elman's secretary. She has been replaced by Rosalie Shutta. . . . Orson Welles, of all things, will play the role of the "Shadow" in the radio series of that name. . . . Martin Lewis of Radio Guide Magazine was one of the "unrehearsed" draymateurs on the Walter O'Keefe show Wednesday night. Said Marty in the microphone when asked his occupation: "I'm Martin Lewis, writer of a radio column for Radio Guide Magazine, America's national radio weekly." He forgot to add the price of the magazine. . . .

Special Dedicatory Program for WGAR

The special dedicatory program to be broadcast from 8:30 to 9 P. M. Sunday will mark the affiliation of WGAR, Cleveland, with CBS Sept. 26. G. A. Richards is president of WGAR; John F. Patt, vice-president and general manager. Patt, a director of the N. A. B., is well known in Cleveland as president of the Ohio Broadcasters' Ass'n. and a director of the Cleveland Advertising Club.

Yolande Langworthy Joins Radio Events

Yolande Langworthy, radio author, whose "Arabesque" programs are still a well-remembered network feature, has signed a contract with Radio Events, Inc., and will devote her full writing time to this organization.

By joining Radio Events, Miss Langworthy once again associates herself with Georgia Bachus, who was dramatic director of CBS while Miss Langworthy was with the network.

has been signed for a permanent spot on the Phil Baker show. . . . Evelyn Laye will be the guest on "Hit Parade" over CBS Oct. 2. . . . Benny Friedman, now heard over Mutual Sundays, is forecasting the results of the Saturday games in the network's Friday releases, a good stunt. . . . Martha Perry has been signed as the vocalist for Lou Breese's orchestra. . . . Claudette Colbert will make one of her infrequent guest appearances on the Chase & Sanborn program Sunday.

WWSW Is Signed Up For "Speed Gibson"

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—The Liberty Baking Co. of this city has signed with WWSW for "Speed Gibson," a transcribed detective series for youngsters. The show, produced with Hollywood talent by the Quality Bakers' Ass'n of New York, will go out for 15 minutes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 5:30 P.M.

Because of wire difficulties, the George Jessel-Norma Talmadge show, which will be piped in from Hollywood to WWSW under the sponsorship of the Palace Credit Clothing Co., won't start here until Sept. 26. The program is to be launched this Sunday, but it will take two weeks to iron out things at this end. The show is to be aired over the Mutual network, but WWSW has no network affiliations.

Takes "Speed Gibson" Program

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 23.—"Speed Gibson" is the title of a new transcribed program starting Oct. 3 over KFSD, local NBC-Blue outlet. The Southern California Baking Co., is the sponsor. The program, a 15-minute mystery-adventure serial, will be heard Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8:30 P.M., P.S.T. The Barns-Chase agency handled the deal.

Another new feature over the same station is "The Land of the Whatsit" a transcribed children's series sponsored by the Safeway Stores. This program is aired Mondays through Fridays at 7:00 P.M.

WMBD Stages Big Party

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 23.—A crowd estimated at 10,000 jammed the Peoria armory, city's largest auditorium to see a three-hour show presenting all of WMBD's talent and to listen to Gov. Henry Horner in a dedicatory speech at the station's new 5,000-watt transmitter was placed into service. Edgar L. Bill is manager of WMBD.

WORHollywood Town Pump

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23. — Mickey Mouse and the rest of the Walt Disney characters will not take to the air Oct. 19 as originally planned by Ruthrauff & Ryan on behalf of Lever Bros. The sponsors will substitute a dramatic series, until January, when the Mickey Mouse program is tentatively scheduled to start.

Double Cola Bottling Co. through Lee Ringer has placed a contract calling for 13 weeks' sponsorship of 15-minute news broadcasts on KECA starting Sept. 27. . . . Clark Gable and Virginia Bruce will enact "Cimarron" Sept. 27 on the "Lux Theatre of the Air" . . . KFVB this week begins a new Wednesday program titled "Your Los Angeles," in which the founding and growth of the city, as well as the functions of the various municipal departments, will be told. Russell Hughes will produce and direct the program . . . Jimmie Lowell and his Sons of Hawaii have replaced Lani McIntyre and His Hawaiians on KMTR from a Seven Seas night club remote broadcast. McIntyre and his troupe have gone to New York to play at the Lexington Hotel.

Reid Kilpatrick replaces John Austin Driscoll on KEHE's sports broadcasts.

Cincinnati Town Pump

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23. — Wilda Hinkle, who returned to the WLW staff after two years in New York and Chicago, will head the "Mornings in the Mountains" program over that station at 9:30 A.M., daily . . . Paul Thiel, formerly announcer for WCPO, has joined WSMK, Dayton, O., to produce and announce the "Moonlight Shadows" series, which will feature poems by Norine Freeman, local writer on the Cincinnati Post . . . Sidney Slon, WLW actor, and his wife, have returned from a tour of Europe . . . Frederick Yeiser, music editor, Cincinnati Enquirer, will be commentator on the first "Concert Hour" broadcast over WLW, the date of which has not yet been settled.

Omaha Town Pump

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—"Tea Time with Mickey," a new series, has been started on KOIL at 3:15 Wednesdays by Eda V. McCready, who interviews local culinary experts. . . . Luella Cannam of WOW's sales and program department has returned from a Hollywood vacation.

Elene and Sydney Northcott, local radio writers, have followed up their successful sale of 52 15-minute scripts, "The Memory Box of Runjit Singh," to 3UZ at Melbourne, Australia, by selling the series to the New Zealand Radio Commission for use on about 10 stations. . . . Gale Blocki, Jr., of John Blair & Co., visited WOW, local client, last week. . . . KOIL's old transmitter station on a Council Bluffs hilltop has been purchased by General Manager John Henry of Central States Broadcasting Co. for remodeling into a home.

Manager John Gillin, Jr., has signed the following new artists: Don Davis, who does a weekly 15-minute piano program; Betty Jane Perry, featured singer with the Syncopaters Sunday afternoons, and Johnny Redd,

University to Test 2 Short Wave Sets

COLUMBUS, Sept. 23.—Predicting that short wave broadcasts from other nations will be used in classroom work, Prof. William S. Hendrix, chairman of the romance language department of the Ohio State University, will set up two receivers in Derby Hall to determine the difference in reception. One receiver will be of the most expensive type. The other a moderately priced set which could be purchased by any high school. A logging chart of from 15 to 20 stations will be maintained from 10 A.M. to 10 P.M., daily. At the end of the year a log of clarity and regularity of the stations will be made, together with a classification of the various broadcasts.

French and Spanish lessons have been broadcast over WCOU, the university station, for the past eight years, and an effective technique for instruction has been set up. Progress of students has been followed by periodic examinations, which also would be made under the short wave system. These broadcasts, Hendrix believes, would tend to stimulate interest in learning foreign languages in addition to their other educational advantages.

Omaha University in Broadcasting Course

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—The Municipal University of Omaha will offer a nine-week course in radio broadcasting this fall, to be taught by Announcer Bob Cunningham of KOIL. A one-hour credit will be given for the course. Class conditions will be made to simulate actual conditions of a radio studio so students will get actual experience.

Premiere for Kate

The new Kate Smith series, which will begin on CBS Sept. 30 at 8 P. M., will have as its guests that evening a number of sports champions, including Joe Louis, Joe DiMaggio, Pete Bostwick, Erna Kompa and Frances Lorne. Joe Williams, sports editor of the World-Telegram, will interview the titleholders.

Tallulah Bankhead and Henry Fonda will be heard also in a dramatization of a stage success. A Hollywood premiere effect will be achieved for the opening broadcast by Klieg lighting the CBS playhouse from which the series will emanate. Attendance will be by invitation only.

Two Stations Seek Frequency Changes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—WOO Grand Rapids, has petitioned the F. C. C. for authority to change its frequency from 1,270 to 1,010 kilocycles and reduce power from 500 to 250 watts.

WJNO, West Palm Beach, also has filed an application with the commission, seeking a change of frequency from 1,200 to 1,330 kilocycles and increase of power from 100 watts night, 250 watts day to 1,000 watts night and day.

WEW to Use Commercials

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—WEW has started broadcasting commercial programs, according to A. S. Foster, manager. The station is owned and operated by St. Louis University, a Jesuit institution. Heretofore it has been used only for educational and religious purposes.

Rev. Wallace Burke, S.J., formerly in charge of Station WWL operated by Loyola University at New Orleans, has been placed in charge of WEW. He brought Foster with him.

Air Traffic School Starts

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 23.—"The Traffic School of the Air" presented over KOMA at 3 P.M. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, a new series of 15-minute programs from the street, has been started here. The program is sponsored by the Oklahoma City police department.

KPO-KGO Has 10 New Accounts

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—New accounts using KPO-KGO include Chevrolet Motors, Standard Oil of California, Wesson Oil and Snowdrift, J. W. Marrow Mfg. Co., Sperry Flour, Howe, Inc., Lady Alycia Beauty Products and Thomas Leeming & Co.

Elsie Lichtenstul Returns

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—Following a year's illness, Elsie Lichtenstul has returned to broadcasting in a commercial program for the Rhea Baking Co. Miss Lichtenstul's program will be a News Digest of the week and will go out over WCAE for 10 minutes Sunday afternoons at 2 P.M.

Summer Shows Hold Up in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—More programs carried over from the spring through the summer than ever before in the case of one of the major stations here, a condition true of others. This holds true of both local and chain programs, and is taken to indicate that advertisers apparently are realizing that summer no longer is the off radio season it used to be.

A significant factor in connection with this is that during the past two summers local radio set distributors have reported as high as 40 per cent increases in the sales of receivers. Retailers report substantial increases, and are finding it not at all difficult to sell radios in the summer.

WCKY Signs New Accounts

The Dixie Boys are on with a program at 12 noon. The Ross Rhythm Rascals, lately of Dallas, have started a weekday program at 4:30 P.M. Jack Caldwell, organist, is broadcasting over KVSO and the Oklahoma network each weekday morning at 11:30 A.M.

Weed Gets WLEU and WHBL

WLEU, Erie, Pa., and WHBL, Sheboygan, Wis., have named Weed & Co. as national representatives, effective immediately.

WLEU is operated by Leo J. Omeian, and is affiliated with the NBC-Blue. WHBL is owned by the Sheboygan Press, and is a 500-watt, full-time unit, with no network affiliation.

Lawrence Witte Joins KYW

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Lawrence Witte of the N. W. Ayer agency handling publicity for the Atlantic Refining account, has joined the KYW talent staff for a weekly air gossip series on radio personalities, "Mike Notes." Witte also bylines a "Static" radio column syndicated in 112 newspapers along the eastern coast.

WIP Forms Classes To Train New Talent

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Program Director James Allen at WIP has organized the WIP Dramatic Ass'n, the members of which will include local residents who are anxious to get into broadcasting but find their lack of experience a barrier. Regular classes in radio dramatics will be held at the WIP studios, with a course of instruction outlined to include microphone technique, dramatic direction, script writing, radio production and operation of sound effects. No fees are charged. As the classes progress, members will be given an opportunity to appear in regularly scheduled dramatic shows on WIP.

Playwrights' Damage Suit Names Guild

Ask $200,000, Alleging False Statements

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—The Screen Playwrights, in a surprise move last night filed a $200,000 libel suit against the Screen Writers' Guild, the Authors' League of America and the directors of the Screen Writers' Guild over the letter purportedly written by Philip Dunne, chairman of the S.W.G. membership committee to P. G. Wodehouse, which is alleged to have contained false and defamatory statements.

Half of the amount asked is for the damage allegedly done to the Screen Playwrights, which is engaged in a sharp controversy with the guild over jurisdiction relative to film writers, and the other half is sought as punitive damages.

The letter which is the basis of the Ohio ITO Attacking M-G-M Air Program

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24.—"I consider M-G-M's tieup with General Foods radio program as decidedly unfair theatre competition in the broadest meaning of that term," P. J. Wood, secretary of the I. T. O. of Ohio, here, told MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

"I wired a protest to Nicholas M. Schenck some time ago fully setting forth the views of my organization, and I'd like to see every exhibitor in the country vigorously protest to the M-G-M executives against the appearance of their stars on the air, regardless of the program, the sponsor, or the night on which the program is broadcast," he added.

Wood said he proposed to follow up the protest originally filed in behalf of the Ohio exhibitor unit.

All of Columbia's Officers Reelected

All officers of Columbia Pictures Corp. were reelected by the board of directors, meeting yesterday for the first time since the board was reconstituted at the annual meeting of Columbia stockholders, Sept. 15.

The officers are Harry Cohn, president; Jack Cohn, vice-president; A. Schneider, treasurer; Charles Schwartz, secretary; L. J. Barbano, assistant treasurer, and T. J. Elias, assistant secretary.

MPTO Seeks Cuts in Colorado Insurance

DENVER, Sept. 24.—A. P. Archer, president of the Colorado M. P. T. O., has launched a drive for lower fire insurance rates for theatres. He is having a survey made of all theatres in Colorado, Wyoming and Mexico for the purpose.

It is understood the exhibitor unit is seeking a reduction of 40 per cent in insurance premiums. Archer said that theatres are paying a premium on theatre equipment which should be included as part of the building and not as a separate premium.

Dorothy Modisette Acting Story Head

Dorothy Modisette has been named acting story editor for Samuel Goldwyn, Inc., succeeding Mrs. George Kaufman, who resigned recently, Sam Marx, Goldwyn story head, said yesterday. In addition, Julius Evans, former legitimate director and stage manager, has been named acting play editor.

Both appointments will remain of a temporary nature until Marx returns to the coast and confers further with Goldwyn, it was said.

"100 Men" $66,500 Draw in First Week

"100 Men and a Girl" and a stage show tallied $66,500 in the first week at the Roxy. Several extra shows were added during the week because of the legionnaires being in town. The picture is now in its second week and may go a third. The gross is $2,000 below the first seven days of "Thin Ice."

The third week of "Prisoner of Zenda" at the Music Hall wound up with $90,500. The average weekly take for the three weeks was estimated to be $101,500.

"Dead End" in its fourth and last week at the Rivoli garnered approximately $22,000. "Make a Wish" took in $2,400 in two days, the opening day's receipts amounting to about $1,

All Smiles

Charles R. Rogers was one complete smile yesterday. He was reporting his satisfaction over the meeting of the Universal board of directors earlier in the week when, by resolution, complete confidence of the board in the administration of J. Cheever Cowdin and Robert H. Cochran, as well as his own, was voted.

Plans of 20th-Fox Ready to January

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—Production plans for 20th Century-Fox have been completed up to January. By that time, 39 of the 53 features scheduled for this season will have either been completed or in various stages of production. Of that number, 21 will be Darryl F. Zanuck specials and 18 listed under the supervision of Sol M. Wurtzel, executive producer.

The lineup does not include the two Eddie Cantor specials, one of which has been completed and the other slated to be placed into work shortly.

Wertheimer Named As Schenck's Aide

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—Lew Wertheimer has been named as executive assistant to Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox. It is a new post.

Lew Wertheimer is a close personal friend of Joseph M. Schenck and has made a number of trips with him across the continent and to Europe.

Fox Intermountain Active—Ricketson

Activity of Fox Intermountain is at its peak, Rick Ricketson, operating head, stated yesterday. Several new theatre openings are scheduled and a number of managerial shifts have been made.

Andy Cowan, owner of the Stadium, Caldwell, Ida., has consolidated with Fox Intermountain, which has the American and Roxy in that city. At the same time Cowan becomes city manager for the three houses.

Verne Fletcher has succeeded Andy Samuels as manager of the Babcock, Billings, Mont. Tom Ward, formerly assistant manager at the Ogden, Denver, is now managing the Hiawatha, that city.

The new Fox Imperial, Alliance, Neb., seating 975 and costing $100,000, will be ready for opening about Dec. 15. This is said to be one of the finest theatres in western Nebraska. The Para. Attacks Wagner Act's Applicability

Attorneys Say Production Not Interstate

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—Paramount Pictures, the first studio to answer the summons to appear before the Regional Labor Relations Board in the hearing on the eligibility of the Screen Writers' Guild as the writers' bargaining agency, today made a specific attack upon the Wagner Act's applicability to the industry and a general attack upon the law's constitutionality, claiming that it vests discretionary powers in the labor board without supplying a definite set of rules for it to follow. Executives of the company would not state whether or not Paramount officers would attend the hearing which starts Monday.

The communication, which was filed before the board by Omelveny Teller, attorney, claimed that the production of pictures per se is not interstate as required by the act, also that the Wagner Act is not applicable to the industry inasmuch as it violates the Constitution's Fifth Amendment. Also that it is confiscatory without due process of law, also that the studio signed an agreement for collective bargaining with Screen Playwrights, Inc., last February and also that the act is unconstitutional in that it gives discretionary power to the board to call employees' elections without prescribing a definite set of rules.

Concluding, the letter said that no issue or controversy has arisen between the writers and Paramount.

IATSE Claims Aim Is to Help Workers

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—In the first public statement since it claimed jurisdiction over talent as well as other studio workers, the I. A. T. S. E. today declared that it was not interested in the high salaried workers, but was seeking to protect the interests of the lower bracket employees.

The statement charges that the

Palumbo Again Wins Warners' Golf Prize

Leonard Palumbo, perennial winner of Warner Club golf tournaments, took first prize for low gross at the club's 1937 tourney held yesterday at the Old Oaks Golf Club in Rye. It was Palumbo's third straight victory in the annual event. Pat Marcone took second place and was followed by Larry Golob in third position.

In the low net division Larry Roberts led the pack with Lou Aldrich the runner up and Ed Barrison taking third.

Joe Goldstein, Phil Raff and Roy Winkler ran one, two and three among the Class B players.

Lester Rieger hit the longest drive to beat Bill Brook, his nearest competitor.

Among the foursome prize winners were: Brooks, Jess Gourlay, Major Albert Warner, Sam Schneider, W. A. Halliday, Rocco Vocco, Bob Williams, Jules Girden, Saul Immerman, Harold Bareford, Palumbo, W. G. Wallace, Winkler, Mike Dolid, Cy Wood, Charles Baily, Goldstein, Al Trojack, Marcone, Ellis Shipman, Sol Shernow, Jake Wilk, Harry Rosenquest and Abel Vigard.

Stewart MacDonald, attired in kilts, won the vote as best dressed golfer over Jules Levey. Stanleigh Friedman was honored with the title of "worst dressed." The various prizes—70 in all—were awarded by Jack Alicoate who acted as master of ceremonies at the dinner held last night. Attendance totalled 175, of which 110 jousted on the links.

Skouras, Ricketson Bump Off Elk, Moose

DENVER, Sept. 24.—Charles Skouras, operating head of Fox West Coast; Rick Ricketson, head of Fox Intermountain; Harry Sherman, independent producer for Paramount, and Dick Dickson, district manager for F.W.C., went hunting in the Jackson Hole area just above the timberline between Montana and Idaho. Here is the score:

Dickson bagged the finest specimen of elk killed in this country in the last three years. The prize is said to be even better than the set of antlers Mickey Cochran got two years ago. Sherman killed a moose with a 56-inch spread from spade to spade. Skouras and Ricketson each got a moose and an elk, but they were nothing compared to the Dickson and Sherman killings.

Those spades are antlers. They don't refer to the bridge game which followed.

Poll Standings Continue

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24.—Trends of popularity and preference as reflected in the poll being conducted by Fanchon & Marco through the St. Louis Star-Times remain practically unchanged as the number of ballots passed the 25,000 mark. Clark Gable leads Robert Taylor; Myrna Loy retains her lead over Loretta Young and Shirley Temple maintains her position far ahead of Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew.

The final questionnaires will be distributed Sunday evening. Complete findings will be published probably on Thursday, Sept. 30.

guilds are doing nothing for minor employes. It was in the form of an open letter addressed to Robert Montgomery, president of the Actors' Guild; Charles Brackett, acting president of the Writers' Guild, and Lewis Milestone, acting president of the Directors' Guild, and was signed by Harland Holmden, vice-president of the I. A. T. S. E.

Holmden pointed out that the I. A. T. S. E. has obtained 20 per cent raises for its members and has assisted other organizations in the past two years to obtain closed shop conditions.

"We don't believe that you have any interest in the small salaried individual and his working conditions," the letter read. "We do believe, however, you are holding onto these people and giving them nothing. They, in turn, are greatly contributing to your protection through their combined memberships and that you, better than anyone else, fully realize the value of this."

Pointing out that various leaders of the guilds had advised members to stick together, Holmden said: "You know and I know that producers cannot and dare not tell you not to join the I. A. T. S. E. as the law of the land prevents just that. How false these leaders are to their trust in doing the bidding of employers against the welfare of those they are supposed to protect is self-evident by a glance back over the past to see what has been done to date by the so-called guild leaders for their memberships. This is easily and truthfully answered by just one word—'nothing.' The memberships have received only the well-known run-around which is as the producers had planned it."

Holmden said that the I. A. T. S. E. did not need additional membership, but would open the door to those seeking admission.

William Bioff, coast head of the I. A. T. S. E., and production directors of the studios led by Joseph Schenck, met today in a lengthy conference in an effort to settle the question of jurisdiction. No statement could be obtained from either faction.

of the special meeting of the board of the Associated Actors & Artists of America which had been called at the request of the guild to discuss the Hollywood situation.

The meeting was cancelled on brief notice yesterday, also at the request of the guild. Although no official explanation of the change in plans was offered either by the guild or the Four A's, it was generally believed in quarters close to both organizations that it resulted from a guild decision to confront I. A. officials either here or in Washington within the next few days with a showdown demand. Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the guild, is expected here early next week.

While the guild is chartered by the Four A's, the parent A. F. of L. organization for the talent unions, it was pointed out that the Four A's never has received any official notification from the I. A. that it claimed jurisdic-

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Perfect Specimen"

(Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—This riotous addition to the lengthening train of open-faced comedies had a preview audience in stitches after the first three minutes and had it sewn up for keeps at the finish. Much of what goes on the "The Perfect Specimen" couldn't, possibly, but most enjoyably does. The upshot of this haphazard reconciling of the incredible is, of course, an exhilarating release of escape mechanism.

Errol Flynn, Joan Blondell, Hugh Herbert, Edward Everett Horton, May Robson, Allen Jenkins, Dick Foran and Beverly Roberts are the principal contributors to the gurgling gaiety of the goings-on, but no fair accounting of the acting assets would be complete without mention of minor comedy bits honed to razor-edge by Harry Davenport and Tom Henning. Neither would it be Hoyle to skip notation of the four screen playwrights who translated the chuckling Samuel Hopkins Adams Cosmopolitan story into terms of breakneck action. They are Norman Reilly Raine, Lawrence Riley, Brewster Morse and Fritz Falkenstein. Director Michael Curtiz presided over the proceedings with his usual unerring understanding and associate producer Harry Joe Brown has a bright new feather for his cap.

The story introduces Flynn as an heir to millions, educated under forced draught and behind bulwarks by a crochety grandmother who is determined to make him the perfect specimen of the title. Miss Blondell crashes her roadster through the wall around his estate and lures him outside with tales of Don Quixote and adventure. They scurry thence through a series of hilariously exciting incidents while the forces of law and order flounder in pursuit of imagined kidnappers. The laughter of the audience will be practically constant throughout the last half-hour.

Running time, 88 minutes. "G."

"Fight for Your Lady"

(RKO)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—Short in running time but long in amusement quality, "Fight for Your Lady" is a pleasing series of gags built for fun purposes held together by the required love story. The film gaily kids romance, wrestling and duelling. It has a song number too, sung by John Boles, but for the most part it has Jack Oakie at his whimsical best, expertly aided by Eric Rhodes and Billy Gilbert. This comedy kept a preview audience laughing continually.

The title is the gag. Boles loses all interest in life when Margot Grahame, his fiancée, weds Gordon Jones, a wrestler who double-crossed his manager, Jack Oakie, by winning a hilarious bout. Boles and Oakie, two disillusioned sons of fate, team up. Ida Lupino reanimates Boles and when the jealous Rhodes menaces his life with a challenge to duel, Oakie, threatened with the loss of his meal ticket, takes charge. There ensues burlesque sword play which takes on the atmosphere of a cliff-hanging western thriller until Oakie, dressed as an old woman, pleads with "Killer" Rhodes to spare the life of his enemy. Strung along in that theme is a running series of refreshing asides sometimes relevant, often otherwise that had the audience in stitches.

The intent to amuse was undoubtedly inspired by Jean Negulesco and Isabel Leighton in the creation of the original story. The same purpose was in the back of the minds of Ernest Pagano, Harry Segal and Harold Kusell who did the screenplay. No such thing as seriousness bothered Ben Stollhoff when he went about the job of directing. The comparative shortness in running time may create the impression that "Fight for Your Lady" is not a Class A attraction, but if only the amusement quality is considered the picture is a legitimate "A" that should interest specialized and general audiences.

Running time, 67 minutes. "G."

tion over the screen actors. Hence, the Four A's feels that it cannot proceed to contest a jurisdictional claim involving one of its affiliates while such a claim is not before it officially. It was suggested, however, that the guild might proceed on its own initiative to determine from authoritative I. A. sources how its jurisdictional claims affect the guild and, providing the claim to jurisdiction is being made in good faith, on what basis it is being advanced.

With considerations such as these established, the guild could present its case to the Four A's board which then would be in a position to take definite steps either by interceding with the I. A. or appealing to the A. F. of L. executive board, it was indicated. The impression persists in union quarters here that the I. A.'s claims to jurisdiction over the guild could not be substantiated in A. F. of L. councils inasmuch as the guild is duly chartered as an accredited A. F. of L. union and has actively organized its chartered field.

Short Subjects

"The Carnival of Champions"

(Super Sports Attractions)

Three of the outstanding rounds of each of the four championship contests held at the Polo Grounds on Thursday night are offered here. The matches were important from the exchange of titles involved and the novelty of having four first-rank bouts to fill the card. The fighting is well photographed and has effective angle shots. The sound effects are real—the audience will even be able to hear the referee telling the combatants to "break it up." They'll come in flocks to see these pictures. Running time, 33 mins. "G."

Chief, Pocatello, Ida., with a seating capacity of 1,300, will be opened the week before Christmas. The Serf, Las Vegas, N. M., is slated to open Oct. 1. The house, which will seat 800, is said to cost $60,000. Floyd Bender will be the manager.

The Rex, Rock Springs, Wyo., has been leased to the Newberry department store.

Rotha Due on Monday

Paul Rotha, English producer and writer on films, will hold a conference on Monday afternoon at the Museum of Modern Art Film Library. Rotha will arrive Monday from London and will spend five months working with the director of the library on the production of a documentary film on the technique of production.

Barrie Picture Barred

ALBANY, Sept. 24.—Dr. Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education, has upheld the New York censor board ban on "How to Undress," a short starring Elaine Barrie.

script, a story revolving about a waif of the streets, for Pepsodent at NBC the other afternoon. Bobby Breen is contracted to play the leading part in this show in the event it is sold. From a private source, however, it is learned that the audition did not impress the client.

Accordingly, Lord & Thomas has dispatched its director of radio, Tom McAvity, to Hollywood, where he will seek new talent and a new idea for a Pepsodent series. McAvity departed for the film capital yesterday afternoon aboard the Century. McAvity is understood to have been commissioned also to seek a new program idea for the American Tobacco Co., sponsors of the "Hit Parade" series.

Burns & Allen for Packard

George Burns and Gracie Allen, currently co-starred in the film, "A Damsel in Distress," will be heard on the Packard Hour over NBC at 9 P. M., Sept. 28.

Radio Personals

DAVID SARNOFF, president of RCA and board chairman of NBC, will arrive aboard the Paris tomorrow . . . Mario Cozzi, NBC baritone, will sing the leading roles in three operas for the Boston Opera Co. in Boston Oct. 4, 5 and 6 . . . Frank Luther, tenor, has turned band-leader and is now auditioning the unit for CBS . . . Victor Bay, who conducted the music for the CBS Shakespearean series, has been signed under management of the network's artists bureau and will be placed as a staff conductor . . . Richard Maxwell was signed for his new WOR commercial by Paul Ross of the CBS artist bureau . . .

Atlantic Arranges Localized Football

Supplementing its extensive schedule of play-by-play descriptions of intercollegiate games, the Atlantic Refining Co. has arranged also for localized sports programs. Seven local stations plus the Quaker State and New England CBS networks will carry the programs.

The programs will be aired on either Thursday or Friday evenings, depending on the locale concerned. The station setup, and commentators, is as follows:

WBT, Lee Kirby; WRVA, Ted Reams; WBAL, Don Riley; WCAE, Claude Haring; WHAM, Frank Silva; WSYR, Dan Dwyer; WNBS, Harry Tenner; Quaker State network, Jack Barry; New England network, Jack Ingersoll.

Start Coast Football Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—The 1937 season of football broadcasts, sponsored by Associated Oil Co. will be inaugurated over coast networks tomorrow. Doug Montell will describe the California-St. Mary's contest over the NBC-Red web outlets in California. Harry Lantry will mike the Gonzaga-Washington State game at Spokane, over northwest stations.

A total of 19 Saturday gridiron clashes will be covered during the autumn.

King, Allen on Football

John Reed King and Mel Allen, announcers, have been signed to handle the broadcasts of the Fordham University football team by the Kellogg Co., sponsors of the broadcasts. Mack Davis of the CBS artists bureau handled the pact.

Pick Up Honolulu Program

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—A 10-minute pickup from Honolulu, relayed to Point Reyes, 30 miles above San Francisco, and fed into the Mutual network via KPRC, will feature Sunday's hour and one-half salute to 12 Pacific Northwest stations, recently added to the Mutual-Don Lee webs.

The dedicatory show, aired at 1:30 E. S. T., will include music from San Francisco, Helen Gahagan in Hollywood, Ray Perkins, Sylvia Froos and variety from New York.

New Shows On the Air

"Commentator" Magazine

Adult and thoroughly enjoyable entertainment just about sums up what can and should be said of the new Commentator Magazine series offered twice weekly over the Mutual network.

Each stanza is for 15-minutes, and the opener Thursday night featured a timely, well-spoken and intelligent talk by Upton Close, war correspondent and author, on the cause and the possible after-effects of the undeclared warfare between China and Japan. Charles Payson, publisher of Commentator, serves as quizzier.

Close back-tracked more than a century to the days of Admiral Perry and the forcing of the "Open Door" policy on China to seek the core of the present day hostility. Space is not available for a thorough analysis of his remarks; suffice it to say that his explanation was thorough and quite plausible. He said he understood, but was not in sympathy, with the Japanese policy of seeking new territory.

BANNER

Palmolive to Drop Two of Its Series

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet will drop two of its current night programs, "Beauty Box Theatre" and the Floyd Gibbons shows. The latter will fade next week, the former Oct. 6. The company is planning to add a new mid-afternoon script series in CBS, however.

Jessica Dragonette, star of the "Beauty Box" presentations, is forsaking radio to make a nationwide concert tour, her first. She will make her initial concert appearance Nov. 22 at the Philadelphia Academy of Music. Her second engagement is for Nov. 30 in Hartford. The Columbia Concert Bureau is setting the tour.

Wells on "Magic Key" Series

Linton Wells, author of "Blood on the Moon," has been signed for 26 weeks on the RCA "Magic Key" series, replacing John B. Kennedy. He will start Oct. 3 on the WJZ and Blue network of 97 stations from 2 to 3 P. M. Sundays. The program is in addition to Wells' own 15-minute series over WEA and the Red network Saturdays from 8:30 to 8:45 P. M.

To Search for Missing Heirs

The Skelly Oil Co. will institute a weekly search for missing heirs over 20 midwest and mountain states stations of CBS, starting Oct. 11, with a program titled "Skelly Court of Missing Heirs." The contract is for 39 weeks through Blackett-Sample-Hummert, Inc. The series will originate in the studios of WBBM, Chicago.

"Garden of Memories" on WOR

A new half-hour program, "Garden of Memories," will make its bow over WOR Sept. 26 from 1 to 1:30 P. M., and weekly thereafter. Richard Maxwell and Bernard Ocko will be featured.

suit was sent on Aug. 23, last, according to the complaint. The entire contents of the letter is said to have been published and circularized by the guild and the Author's League. The complaint quoted the letter in full.

The parts specifically objected to include: "Screen Playwrights, Inc., was formed last year by the producers and a small group of writers for the express purpose of wrecking the Screen Writers' Guild."

The letter explains the breakaway of the Playwright organizers from the guild, and said, "They broke the guild, all right, but at the cost of the respect of all the decent people in the industry, whether writers or not. I don't know who are your intimates in Hollywood, but ask them at random what they think of the Screen Playwrights' leadership. . . . What I am asking you to do is this, to resign from the Screen Playwrights at once. I don't ask you to join the guild. . . . If you stay on in the movies for a while you will be assigned automatically, but not, I assure you, without your permission. But for your own sake and that of all other decent writers get out of the Playwrights."

The Strand was hit by the legionnaires and finished the first seven days of "That Certain Woman" with about $22,000.

Denies Caruthers Fees

A request for $2,500 for attorney's fees sought in the unsuccessful defense of the $1,000,000 copyright infringement suit by Allen Caruthers against RKO Radio Pictures was "reluctantly" denied in the U. S. District Court yesterday by Federal Judge John M. Woolsey.

When Judge Woolsey dismissed the suit on Aug. 17, he said he would allow reasonable counsel fees required for defending the case. In yesterday's opinion, Judge Woolsey reversed himself on the ground that the suit was brought for violation of a common law copyright rather than a statutory copyright and that no allowance for counsel fees could be made. The opinion pointed out that imposition of additional costs "served as a deterrent on wholly unfounded copyright claims of which this case furnishes an example." Caruthers' claim was based upon an alleged infringement of his unpublished manuscript, "The Sooners," in "Cimarron."

TEN CENTS

ITOA-Allied Merger Talks Start Today

Three Men to Represent Each Organization

Committees of the I.T.O.A. and Allied of New Jersey will meet today to discuss the possibility of merging both organizations.

Maurice Fleischman, chairman of the I.T.O.A. board, proposed a move to amalgamate the two local exhibitor units at the Allied of New Jersey convention last week at Atlantic City. Harry Brandt, president of the unit, was supposed to speak, but could not make the trip due to business.

Allied of New Jersey appointed three men, Irving Dollinger, new president; Louis Gold and I. Marks as a committee to confer with the I.T.O.A. group. Fleischman will head the I.T.O.A. threesome.

Indications are that the merger proposal will be discarded and in its stead will come a recommendation to solidify the relationship between the U. A. Partners Will Convene in November

A regular meeting of United Artists partners is slated to be held on the coast in November. Dr. A. H. Giannini, president and chairman of the board, stated Saturday prior to leaving for Hollywood.

Charles Chaplin is now on a cruise, Douglas Fairbanks is in Europe, Alexander Korda is due shortly from England, and Mary Pickford is vacationing with her husband, Buddy Rogers, in New York, Giannini said. There is no definite schedule set for the meeting, he added.

Asked to comment on his recent trip abroad and his stay here, Giannini said: "There is nothing to say."

Ticket Taxes Up 2 Million In One Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Admission taxes collected from box office admissions during the fiscal year ended June 30, last, showed a gain of $2,365,000 over those of the preceding fiscal year, it was reported tonight by the Bureau of Internal Revenue in a preliminary analysis of 1937 revenue collections.

Total collections from the admission tax during the fiscal year were $19,740,191.78, a gain of approximately $2,628,000 over the 1936 figure of $17,112,175.46. Collections at the box-office totaled $17,367,439.19 against $15,001,741.49.

The bureau's analysis showed that taxes collected from free or reduced rate admissions totaled $560,444.74 against $578,806.27 in the preceding year; leases of boxes or seats, $51,393.20 against $59,849.48; admissions sold by proprietors in excess of established prices, $35,514.01 against $15,379.87; ticket brokers' sales, $170,047.82 against $117,463.25; and roof gardens and cabarets, $1,555,352.82 against $1,338,935.10.

Box-office admissions increased in 1937 in all states and territories except Colorado, Delaware, Hawaii, Kentucky, Montana, New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota and Utah. The greatest gain was in New York, where an increase of $1,105,600 was recorded in tax collections, while the heaviest loss was in Kentucky,

Industries Census May Be Called Off

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Tentative plans for another census of the amusement industries, covering business of the current year, have been halted by officials of the U. S. Census Bureau because of the apparent impossibility of securing necessary funds.

The amusement survey was an important phase of the censuses of American business made by the Government in 1930, 1934 and 1936, covering activities of the preceding years. The first of these surveys showed the

Announcers' Guild Meets In N.Y. Soon

The first national convention of the American Guild of Radio Announcers and Producers will take place in New York City Friday, Oct. 1. Representatives from all the various A. G. R. A. P. chapters, in addition to several hundred of the local membership will attend.

The entrance of the American Federation of Radio Artists into the field of organizing radio talent and particularly announcers has not affected the progress of A.G.R.A.P. according to Roy S. Langham, president of A.G.R.A.P. Since the entrance of A.F.R.A. and the announcement that it will organize announcers and sound effect technicians, A. G. R. A. Violated Sherman Law, Court Holds—Appeal Is Planned

DALLAS, Sept. 26.—United States District Judge W. H. Atwell on Saturday found the Interstate Circuit and 10 major distributing and producing companies were operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws in an opinion handed down after a three-day trial instituted by the Government.

The respondent companies declined to comment and went into an immediate huddle. An appeal is automatically expected to follow.

In the opinion, the court viewed as a sharp issue in the case whether the respondents conspired together to bring about the fixing of a minimum 25-cent admission by subsequent run exhibitors. It was held that the facts showed so conclusively that one would be held indeed to say otherwise but that Karl Hoblitzelle and Robert J. O'Donnell, chief executives of Interstate, discussed formation of some plan to protect their interests from subsequent runs. It was further expressed as the court's opinion that, beyond the citing of the testimony is the irrefutable fact that such contracts as the exhibitor respondents made with each of the distributors was in itself a violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

"Contract agreement conspiracy is merely the meeting of minds. Such a

Will Ask Court to Approve Para. Pact

A petition for court approval of the $2,150,000 cash settlement of the Paramount trustee's suits against officers and directors of the company from 1927 to 1931, which was agreed to last Thursday by the litigants, will be submitted to Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox within the next week or 10 days, it was learned on Saturday.

Trial of the first of the two suits was scheduled to begin today before Justice Isidor Wasservogel in N. Y. Supreme Court, but attorneys for the Paramount trustee will request a postponement this morning until late October in order to obtain Judge Cox's approval of the settlement. Judge Cox's decision is expected before the end of October, and, if the trustee's petition is granted, the state court suit will be withdrawn.

SMPE Fall Session To Open Here Oct. 11

The Society of M. P. Engineers will hold its annual fall convention at the Hotel Pennsylvania, here, from Oct. 11 to Oct. 15, inclusive. The progress made in film engineering during the past year will be the theme of the meeting, expressed in demonstrations and papers indicative of the advancement.

The convention will open Monday morning, Oct. 11, with a business and general session, to be followed by an informal luncheon at which Martin Quigley and Louis Nizer will be the chief speakers. One of the outstanding papers will be "Safeguarding and Developing Our Film Markets Abroad," by Nate D. Golden, of the M. P. Section, Dept. of Commerce. The annual banquet will be held Wednesday evening, at which leading industry figures will speak and the society's Progress Medal and Journal awards will be made. The sessions include: photographic and laboratory, sound, engineering practice, lighting and studio, projection practice, apparatus symposium and manufacturers' announcements.

Order Owners to End Games in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 26.—Police Inspector Hugo Schranz has issued warnings to six exhibitors to discontinue Bank Night and the city attorney's office has indicated that prosecutions will be started against those refusing to comply.

Warnings were also issued to nine drug stores to discontinue Prize Night, which is operated in a manner somewhat similar to Bank Night. The city attorney's office declared that the state lottery law covers the local situation and that the district attorney could prosecute Bank Night and Prize Night operators.

At Ashland, A. I. and Bertha Latts, operators of the Royal, face charges of promoting a lottery in connection with weekly Bank Night at the house. The defendants have been released on their own bonds of $100 and the action is slated for an early hearing in Municipal Court.

Arrested on Lottery Charge

MOOSUP, Conn., Sept. 26.—Attempting to hold several drawings for distribution of funds accumulated under the former Sweepstakes system in his theatre, John Hess, operator of the Moosup, was arrested and placed under a $250 bond for alleged violation of the lottery law. Windham County, unlike Fairfield, New Haven and Litchfield Counties, has no local arrangements for the continuance of cash giveaways pending the outcome of the Bank Night test case against Ernest Dorau, manager of the Palace, Middletown.

"Big City" Is $15,250 Draw In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—"Big City" at the Penn led the field at $15,250. The picture started out like a world-beater, but fell off after the first three days.

On its holdover at the Warner, "Dead End," which had previously chalked up a big gross at the Penn, had enough stuff left to get an excellent $7,800. Only the Stanley fell below par, with "Confession" and Dick Stabile's band, able to get only $16,500.

Total first run grosses were $52,425. Average is $44,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 23:

"LOVE UNDER FIRE" (20th-Fox)
ALVIN—(2,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $6,600. (Average, $5,500)

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)

"CONFESSION" (F.N.)
STANLEY—(3,600), 25c-60c, 7 days. Stage: Dick Stabile's band, Gracie Barrie, Shaw and Lee, Noll and Nolan, Paula Kelly, Burt Shaw. Gross: $16,500. (Average, $18,000)

"DEAD END" (U.A.)
WARNER—(2,000), 25c-50c, 7 days, 2nd week. Gross: $7,800. (Average, $5,000)

"Zenda" a $19,000 Hit at Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26. — "The Prisoner of Zenda" was in the big money with $19,000 at the RKO Albee, upping average by $7,000. It was moved to Keith's.

"Wife, Doctor and Nurse" went $2,700 over the line with a $12,700 take at the RKO Palace, and was continued at the RKO Capitol. "Dead End," playing a second downtown week at Keith's, got $7,200 compared with a $6,500 average, and "Stella Dallas," in its third stanza downtown, gave the RKO Grand $3,500 on a six-day run.

Total first run business was $61,150. Average is $58,700.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 23:

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA" (U.A.)
RKO ALBEE—(3,300), 35c-42c, 7 days. Gross: $19,000. (Average, $12,000) Moved to Keith's.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Great Garrick"

(Le Roy Prod.-Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—Like "The Guardsman," "The Great Garrick" has that peculiar quality that grows upon one. The nature of the picture is satire, the locale of this mid-eighteenth Century costume film being London and the French wayside. In its comedy spirit it is up-to-date and as refreshing as 1937.

It treats of a legendary episode in the career of David Garrick, the great actor of his day. Basically, it tells of a hazing dealt out to an artist. Aware of what is going on, and without their realizing it, he, in turn, hazes his tormentors. Likewise it tells of the predicament that befalls a man who is so much a master of simulated emotions that he does not recognize real love when he comes within its spell.

In the title role Brian Aherne does a splendid job. Many times he could easily have gone overboard. Under the intelligent direction of James Whale, he plays the character to a nicety. He is pompous when he must be and contrite when it is necessary. His work here is sure to win much commendation.

So should the work of Melville Cooper and Olivia De Havilland merit praise. Although the roles of Edward Everett Horton, Lionel Atwill, Henry O'Neil, Luis Alberni and Etienne Girardot are hardly more than bits they are important in the story delineation.

The picture reflects an intensive effort to provide something unique and different in comedy. The original screenplay by Ernest Vajda, although wordy, sparkles with intriguing dialogue and situations. Whale's direction aims at endowing the costume play with the breath of modernism. A Mervyn LeRoy production, it is up to the standard he has established in other personally supervised films. The people who appreciate smart comedy should grasp it quickly. There is also a chance that the necessary mass audiences will follow along.

Running time, 95 minutes. "G."

"The Westland Case"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—"The Westland Case" augurs well for Universal's "Crime Club" series, of which this is the first. A lively moving, comedy mystery story, it has a presentable cast including Preston Foster, who adds another to his list of versatile characterizations; Frank Jenks, who is rapidly gaining favor in a type of comedy role similar to Lionel Stander's, and a feminine contingent of Carol Hughes, Barbara Pepper and Astrid Allwyn, all of whom deliver capably. And then, too, there is Alice Belcher in a bit part. Although she draws no screen credit, she is responsible for more laughs per foot of her screen appearance than any other member of the cast.

While obviously made as a "B" picture, the acting, direction by Christy Cabanne, the screenplay by Robertson White and production by Irving Starr earn for "The Westland Case" something above that rating in entertainment.

Foster is a heavy drinking detective hired with his stooge, Jenks, to save Theodore von Eltz, facing the chair after his conviction of the murder of his wife. By assembling all of von Eltz's supposed friends daily up until the time set for the execution, Foster solves the crime.

Running time, 62 minutes. "G."

Book "Sophie Lang"

"Sophie Lang Goes West" has been booked into the Criterion, following "Shanghai Express." The opening date is Wednesday.

Anna Neagle on Stage

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Anna Neagle will play "Peter Pan" in a stage production for Christmas at the Palladium.

Short Subjects

"The Big Squirt"

(Columbia)

Charley Chase is an ardent reader of crime magazines in this comedy. He is also a soda jerker. In between he devotes a lot of time to comparing crime photographs with various individuals in the hope of getting a reward. He even spots the police chief in one comparison. But in later sequences Chase meets a real criminal and the humor of the film revolves around his capture by Chase and his family. The picture has a number of fair comedy moments. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

"Rest Resort"

(Universal)

Meany, Minny and Moe, the cartoon characters, are proprietors of a hotel here. They are dozing when interrupted by Mrs. Jumbo, an elephant, and her son. Her great size and her son's weight provide the comedy. The film has touches of cleverness and will satisfy. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Teddy Bergman's Bar-B-Q"

(Mentone-Universal)

The popular dialectician does his amusing stuff while he tries to sell his establishment to a prospective buyer. He is aided and somewhat abetted by Carl Freed and his harmonica orchestra; Floria Vestoff; Mae McKim and her Three Boy Friends; Cliff Hall and Jeannie Parillo. What evolves is a floor show with the usual singing, dancing and comedy. It manages to be entertaining. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

"The Private Life of the Gannets"

(Educational)

The nesting, breeding, love-life, and feeding habits of gannets on the island of Greenholm are shown in this excellent documentary film which was supervised by Julian Huxley, the British biologist. The birds are magnificently photographed particularly in shots where they dive into the water after fish. The presentation of the subject is in a facile manner and the entire reel is pleasant natural history. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Fireman's Picnic"

(Universal)

A fire in the firehouse provides the excitement for this record of the further adventures of Meany, Minny and Moe, the cartoon apes. Fireworks and the usual lackadaisical attitude of the trio adds to the fun which comes to a climax when skyrockets go off. It is diverting and has its moments. Running time, 6½ mins. "G."

"Stranger Than Fiction No. 41"

(Universal)

The usual and reliable assortment of oddities is again offered in this latest issue of the subject. The material ranges from Oregon to New York City and is cleverly filmed, narrated and presented. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Wild Money" High in Big Denver Week

DENVER, Sept. 26.—"Wild Money" led a series of remarkable grosses here for the week. It more than doubled par with a take of $10,500 at the Denham.

"Thin Ice" was outstanding. It took $4,500 at the Broadway in its second week, after the film had played a week each at the Aladdin and Denver. Normal for the house is $2,000. "Big City" and "Riding on Air" were $4,000 over par on a take of $10,000 at the Orpheum for 10 days.

Total first run business was $45,000. Average is $27,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 22:

"PRISONER OF ZENDA" (U. A.)
ALADDIN—(1,500), 25c-40c, 7 days, following a week at the Denver. Gross: $5,500. (Average, $3,000)

"THIN ICE" (20th-Fox)
BROADWAY—(1,500), 25c-40c, 7 days, 2d week following a week each at the Aladdin and Denver. Gross: $4,500. (Average, $2,000)

"WILD MONEY" (Para.)
DENHAM—(1,500), 25c-35c-40c, 7 days. Stage show. Gross: $10,500. (Average, $5,000)

"IT'S ALL YOURS" (Col.)
DENVER—(2,500), 25c-35c-50c, 7 days. Stage show. Gross: $12,500. (Average, $7,000)

"BIG CITY" (M-G-M)
"RIDING ON AIR" (RKO)
ORPHEUM—(2,600), 25c-35c-40c, 10 days. Gross: $10,000. (Average, $6,000)

"BORNEO" (20th-Fox)
"MARRY THE GIRL" (W. B.)
PARAMOUNT—(2,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $2,000. (Average, $3,500)

Plan 200 Projectors In British Churches

LONDON, Sept. 17.—At least 200 British churches will be equipped with film apparatus before the end of October, under the plan sponsored by the Religious Film Society in combination with Gaumont British and J. Arthur Rank, who has provided the bulk of the funds.

Already reported is the fact that G. B. Instructional proposed to make special films, also to provide suitable subjects from the entertainment list, and to supply complete "film services" including a hymn, Bible reading, the Lord's Prayer and a benediction, all on sound track, as well as a feature, for a fee of approximately 30/-. Non-flam film will be used.

Special studios for future religious productions will be opened at Norwood on Sept. 28 and formally dedicated by the Bishop of Lichfield. The aim is to accumulate a library of religious films.

meeting may be evidenced by a written instrument or by identical action. The case exhibits unanimity of action at a given time with reference to an identical matter. We recognize the moving picture is the greatest school people have. We must not by any contract or law keep away from them (the poorer classes) that which they should have and we enjoy.

"That one seeks amusement in a hovel, a badly smelling and poorly seated, cramped hall is no insuperable obstacle to furnishing amusement that is not also ill-odored or of a character that is debasing."

In describing Hoblitzelle as "one of the city's finest characters," the court stated the circuit operator had sought legal advice before the disputed contract had been entered upon. "The results of the transaction," ruled the court, "were to take from others that which they have a right to believe and to know shall not be taken. It is as certainly theirs as the right to breathe and the right to live."

Opinion Stresses Intent

Some legally minded expressed considerable interest in one paragraph of the decision which read:

"Exhibitor respondents have a legal right to contract for the exclusive exhibition of copyrighted pictures. If they should do that as a result of a common understanding, it is illegal. But if they do that without any such common understanding and agreement, it is free from condemnation so far as the law is concerned."

The Government action was brought against the circuit and distributor defendants last spring and went to trial Sept. 20. The hearings lasted only three days, the bulk of the evidence having been supplied in advance by stipulations covering approximately 80 per cent of the essential facts involved.

Phillips, Schreiber Present

No home office sales officials were subpoenaed for the hearings, the witnesses being confined to local exhibitors, Interstate Circuit officials and local distribution representatives. Louis Phillips of the Paramount home office legal staff, and Sidney Schreiber of the M.P.P.D.A. legal staff attended the hearings as observers.

The contracts involved in the Government action were made with several of the Hoblitzelle first run houses and provided that films shown in them at a designated minimum admission could not be shown in any other theatre in the territory for less than another designated minimum admission. The contracts likewise prohibited the use of "bargain" attractions, such as double features, in connection with the showing of the selected films.

The Government charged that the contracts were discriminatory and in restraint of trade and produced witnesses who testified that their patronage would not pay the minimum prices prescribed in the contracts. The defense stressed the right of copyright owners to control the use of their material and its marketing.

Looking 'Em Over

"Le Juif Polonais" "The Polish Jew"

(Franco-American Film)

This French adaptation of the play, "The Bells," which was played years ago on the stage by Sir Henry Irving and Richard Mansfield, has been done in admirable fashion. It is, of course, heavy drama, but at the same time offers an excellent vehicle for the surpassing skill of Harry Baur.

There are a few faults in production technique, but on the whole the film is an example of the better type of production which is turned out in the French studios. The direction of Jean Kemm is commendable. The film, whose English subtitles make for ready understanding of the story without a knowledge of French, should be of interest for those patrons of American theatres who are followers of the better films from foreign studios.

The simple story revolves about the old theme of the almost forgotten murder, the recurrence of bitter memory and the action of an unrelenting conscience. The film opens with the toasting of Baur, new town mayor, when the talk drifts to an incident 15 years before, when a Polish Jew arrives at the inn, with considerable money, and next morning has disappeared. Baur was the murderer, and, when the son of the murdered man appears and demands a reopening of the inquiry into his father's death, the conscience of the mayor brings about the film's climax and affords an opportunity for the type of performance Baur does so well.

Running time, 85 minutes. "A."

Overseas Preview

"Non-Stop New York"

(Gaumont British)

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The setting of this picture interestingly anticipates a development of the near future, the greater part of the action being placed in a London-New York plane. It includes two mid-air murders, including that of the pilot, a parachute escape by the criminal, and a sequence showing the great plane rushing uncontrolled to destruction and saved by a spectacular climb by the hero along the gale-swept wings into the pilot's cabin.

Popular stuff this, and done convincingly enough to have most audiences on the seat edges, even though the story into which it fits never quite carries conviction. Comedy relief is responsible for that; it sometimes is carried over into burlesque of the whole proceedings. Nevertheless, the air thrills are well done and, their exploitation value at this time taken into account, should put the picture over.

An English chorus girl in New York witnesses the bumping off of a lawyer whose desire to go straight is inconvenient to his big crook employer. To keep the girl quiet until an innocent hobo is sent to the chair for the crime, she is sent to an English jail on a trumped-up charge. Her sentence ended, she learns that a world radio appeal has been circulated for the missing witness. The air journey is the only way by which to beat the clock and save the innocent man from the chair. She stows away on the plane, on which also are the crook, a British detective and a blackmailer who is after the big fellow. There is also a musical prodigy who, by tampering with the parachute, accidentally sends the criminal to death when he thinks he is leaping to safety.

Anna Lee is the girl and John Loder her detective lover; Francis Sullivan, the crook and Frank Cellier, the blackmailer. Comedy is in the hands of the latter, in a cockney accent, and also is aided by Desmond Tester as the violinist prodigy who prefers the saxophone and by Athene Seyler as his aunt-manager. Robert Stevenson directed. Running time 72 mins. "G."

two groups by uniting on mutual problems.

The attitude of the New Jersey organization on the Paramount situation has not changed, it was learned Saturday. Members of the organization will continue to refrain from buying the company's product, it was said, until a satisfactory agreement is reached with the distributor on the six features which were withdrawn from the 1936-'37 schedule.

Jack Unger, secretary, made a survey of current season's releases, but did not discuss the pictures themselves. He said that an analysis by the eastern regional committee of Allied showed that the number of new contracts closed by major companies revealed that 20th Century-Fox was first with 120 pacts, Columbia was second with 90, and M-G-M third with 77. Paramount was at the bottom of the list with 29 contracts.

No mention of a proposed film and theatre equipment buying combine came up. Friday, the last day of the three-day meeting, was all-recreation day. About 300 attended the banquet at the Ritz Thursday night.

Dollinger, who operates the Plaza, Linden, has already taken up his new duties as president.

Chicago Ban Lifted; Kids at Films Today

Saturday in an effort to get the ban lifted for weekend performances. Losses from the order are reported to be near the $1,000,000 mark. Exhibitors report the poorest business in years since Sept. 7 when the rule was put into effect.

Milwaukee Extends Ban

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 26.—Local health authorities have extended a second time to Oct. 4 the ban on children under seven from schools and public gatherings. With the exception of West Allis, which has lifted its ban, other suburbs have also extended their orders with Greenfield and Franklin townships expected to bar children nine years or under indefinitely. Whitefish Bay has broadened its ban to cover all youngsters up to, but not including, seventh graders.

Kansas City Takes Hurt

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 26.—Public schools of Kansas City reopened almost three weeks late. The delay was occasioned by the paralysis scare, and cut into theatre receipts in Greater Kansas City very sharply. Booneville, Mo., theatres, churches and schools on Sundays, and two towns in Kansas, Wathena and Troy, closed schools temporarily.

Republic Closes Deals

Republic has closed a deal with the Loew metropolitan circuit for the playing of its 1937-'38 product. The new season's program has also been sold to the S. Varbalow Circuit of New Jersey and Pennsylvania houses.

Industries Census May Be Called Off

volume of retail and wholesale business in the last of the pre-depression years, at the depth of the depression and as the country began to emerge from its difficulties.

Through these surveys, the film industry secured information as to the number of film and legitimate theatres in each state, the average number of persons employed, payroll expenditures and box-office receipts.

The three studies made were financed by allocations from relief funds, but the curtailment of relief expenditures is seen as probably making impossible the securing of money for a fourth canvass. Congress made no provision for the census last session.

Hearing on Writer Guild's Plea Today

with the major studios. The producers and playwrights, the latter indicated its desire to file an intervening petition, will both claim that the Wagner Labor Act does not apply to writers, and that the Regional Labor Relations Board has no jurisdiction over the matter, because of the asserted inapplicability of the act and because production of films, per se, is not interstate commerce, as required under the Wagner Act.

On Friday, Paramount made a specific attack on the Wagner Act's applicability to the industry and a general attack on the law's constitutionality.

Ascap Board to Take Up Labor Union Move

The quarterly meeting of the Ascap board of directors, which is scheduled for tomorrow will discuss further the organization's plans for seeking a labor union status to free it from litigation charging the society with being a monopoly and to aid it in combating adverse legislation, it was learned yesterday.

The principal proposals advanced so far involve Ascap's applying for an A. F. of L. charter as a composers and authors guild or effecting an alliance with the American Federation of Musicians. Inasmuch as considerable preliminary study and legal work remains to be done before a definite step can be made by Ascap, it is believed unlikely that the board's discussion of the situation will result in any decisive action.

Oppose Sunday Shows

LAGRANGE, Ga., Sept. 26.—A group of Hogansville citizens have filed in the Troup Superior Court a petition seeking an injunction to stop film shows in the Hogansville Theatre on Sunday, claiming that it is an "illegal and a public nuisance, injurious to and affecting and injuring the people of the community."

May Make 'Trade Winds'

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—The feasibility of producing a film entitled "Trade Winds," based on a 'round-world trip of Tay Garnett, is now being discussed by the director with Samuel J. Briskin, production head at RKO.

Kiesling Production Book Worthwhile Job

In a laudatory foreword to "Talking Pictures—How They Are Made and How to Appreciate Them," by Barrett C. Kiesling of M-G-M, Will Hays declares that a production for the screen is so complex, "so many and varied are the elements involved," that no adequately critical appreciation of a film "is possible unless there is knowledge and comprehension of the problems involved." Kiesling has attempted to supply that knowledge and comprehension, and appears to have done a reasonably complete job of it.

The book, brought out by the Johnson Publishing Co., runs to 332 pages, which includes two appendices, one on types of amateur film cameras and another listing the 276 regularly used employees required in the production of pictures. A glossary, which should be of general interest and a measure of entertainment, goes through all the production terms, slang and otherwise, and the index is complete.

Nicely Illustrated

The book is liberally illustrated, with pictures which are at once instructive and examples of excellent photography, which is the least one could expect in a book on the motion picture. A host of acknowledgments are made.

Kiesling sets out at the very beginning to point out emphatically that, despite the general impression which seems to pervade the mental processes of the average patron, films are not at all easy to make. From that point the author slips into a brief history of the film's development, with liberal—and acknowledged—dippings into Terry Ramsaye's "A Million and One Nights."

Fox Midwest House Returns to Singles

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 26.—The Plaza, Fox Midwest's ace subsequent run, today went to single bills at an admission of 35 cents. This is a 10-cent increase, and comes after an unsuccessful four-week experiment with doubles.

During the week immediately preceding the policy change, the trailer announcing single bills drew plenty of noise from patrons every time it was shown. The Plaza, first subsequent run in the city, does business with the Country Club district. The house drew plenty of complaints, by letter, telephone or in person from patrons during the double bill period.

The increase is the first substantial one made by a subsequent run theatre since the depression. Other subsequent runs in the Fox group here may increase prices, depending on the success of the Plaza. A general increase was scheduled by the circuit here, but Loew's Midland, downtown first run, declined to eliminate its 25-cent balcony nights.

Columbia Signs White

George White, musical revue producer, has signed a long-term contract with Columbia. He will leave for Hollywood this week to start the first of a series of annual "George White's Scandals."

Radio Treaty For Mexican Bands Sought

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—Local radio interests are seeking to have the F. C. C. through the State Dept. undertake a reciprocal treaty with Mexico to prevent usurpation of wave bands by powerful stations built near the border in Mexico.

Barred from advertising over United States stations, patent medicine interests have become interested in erecting Mexican stations of sufficient power to be heard through parts of the United States.

It is understood that several stations have complained to the F.C.C. concerning the proposed building of XERB, 100,000-watt Mexican station at Tia Juana, which is scheduled to start Oct. 21 but which is tied up in litigation.

It is estimated that the station, if started, will be heard over the entire western half of the United States, resulting in conflict with network affiliates and independent stations over frequency ratings.

Executives of local radio outfits, which would be among the hardest hit by the new station's power, are figuring out possible angles on which to base their plea for the treaty to end conflict on the airlines.

A. H. Samuels Joins WOR as a Producer

Arthur H. Samuels has been engaged by WOR as executive producer, a newly created post in the program department. Samuels will specialize in the production of several current and new WOR-Mutual sustaining programs.

Samuels for the past seven years has been editor-in-chief of Harper's Bazaar and House Beautiful, and previously was associate editor of the New Yorker. He will assume his new duties at WOR Oct. 1.

KDKA Signs Two More

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—Two new commercials have just been sold by KDKA to the Duquesne Light Co. of Pittsburgh. The first is a 15-minute program called "Songs of Long Ago," featuring the mixed quartet of Helen Bell Rush, Dick Fulton, Viola Byrgerson and Adam McNaughton; the organ and harmonium and "Abbie and Henry." It goes on every Friday night at 7:45.

The other is a 15-minute period of organ music by Bernie Armstrong every Wednesday at 7:45 P. M.

Carborundum Back on Air

The Carborundum Co., one of radio's oldest sponsors, will return its familiar band series to CBS, Saturdays from 7:30 to 8 P. M., beginning Oct. 16. The contract is for 26 weeks. Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn is the agency.

KJBS Adds Two Accounts

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—New accounts using KJBS include the Carolina Pines Lumber Co. and the Rapid Transit Committee of San Francisco.

Bing Crosby, who has been absent from the air for almost three months, will return to the Kraft "Music Hall" Oct. 7. . . . Dan Seymour has been signed as announcer for the Tony Wons and Benny Goodman shows, through Jimmy Appell of the CBS artists bureau.

Busy Hearing Week Scheduled for FCC

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The F. C. C. calendar of hearings for the current week follows:

Sept. 27, before an examiner: Applications of Leon M. Eisfeld, Burlington, Ia., and Sherman V. Coultas, Milton Edge and Hobart Stephenson, Jacksonville, Ill., for new 1,310-kilocycle, 100-watt stations.

Sept. 28, before an examiner: Applications of Jules J. Rubens for a 1,040-kilocycle, 250-watt daytime station at Aurora, Ill.; Southern Broadcasting Corp. for a 1,500-kilocycle station at Bogalusa, La., 100 watts night, 250 watts day; KSLM, Salem, Ore., for change of frequency from 1,370 to 1,360 kilocycles and increase of power from 100 to 500 watts, and WBLY, Lima, O., for increase of power from 100 to 250 watts.

To Hear Savannah Plea

Sept. 29, before an examiner: Applications of Seaboard Broadcasting Corp. for a 1,310-kilocycle station at Savannah, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; Earl Weir for a 1,370-kilocycle, 100-watt station at St. Petersburg, Fla., and WMAZ, Macon, for increase of day power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts.

Sept. 30, before the broadcast division: Applications of Johnson City Broadcasting Co., Johnson City, Tenn.; Knoxville Journal Broadcasting Co., Knoxville, and Richard M. Casto, Johnson City, Tenn., for 1,200-kilocycle stations, 100 watts night, 250 watts day, and WSOC, Inc., for a 600-kilocycle station at Charlotte, N. C., 250 watts night, 1,000 watts day.

Oct. 1, before an examiner: Applications of Colonial Broadcasting Co. for a 620-kilocycle, 1,000-watt station at Morristown, N. J., and Sims Broadcasting Co. for a 1,210-kilocycle station at Phoenix, Ariz., 100 watts night, 250 watts day.

New Shows On the Air

"Fortune Stories"

The first of the air adaptations of the "Fortune Stories," detective yarns written by H. C. Bailey, is a noisome, dime-novelish affair, surfeited with meaningless menace and shrieks. Reggie Fortune might be a great detective on the printed page, but his gumshoeing activities on the air are somewhat asinine.

The story concerns a young boy, Michael Carey, who is accused of attempting the murder of Jenkins, a chauffeur formerly in the employ of the family. His mother and stepfather do not come to his aid, however, and this arouses the suspicion of Reggie Fortune, the detective hero. Investigating, he finds the mother in a hospital about to undergo a serious operation. The stepfather has disappeared. From this point on the plot becomes so complicated that even the author of the story, had he been listening, would have had trouble trying to follow it. Reggie Fortune, however, never the one to allow the complexities of a plot to befuddle him, finally solves the mystery.

"Fortune Stories" are offered Fridays from 10:30 to 11 P. M. on the NBC-Blue.

Kopper's Coke Program

The new Koppers Coke Co. musical program hits a pretty high water mark of light entertainment and should prove popular with listeners. Eddie Duchin's superlative orchestra is featured, and he is ably supported by a duo of vocalists, Stanley Worth and Patty Norman, and Roger Whitman, who chats informally on general household problems.

The few breath-taking moments during the half-hour air occupancy of the show were provided by Duchin when he offered piano solos of "Indian Love Call" and a medley of "fireside" tunes. There is little doubt that the youthful maestro, were he to elect to enter the field of serious music as a piano soloist, would rate among the finest. Competent music critics have long voiced this belief.

The series is offered Fridays from 7:30 to 8 P. M. on the NBC-Red.

BANNER.

New Transcribed Series

"Young Widder Jones" is the title of a new transcribed series which will be heard over 20 stations, coast-to-coast, Mondays through Fridays, beginning today. The series will be heard locally over WOR, from 4:15 to 4:30 P. M. The series is sponsored by Sterling Products, through Blackett-Sample-Hummert, Inc.

Harris Buys "Show Shopper"

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—Walt Frammer's daily "Show Shopper" program on WWSW has just been purchased by the Harris Amusement Co. to plug its 16 theatres in this district. The show, in which Frammer is assisted by his wife, Nan Grayson, goes on every day except Saturday and Sunday, at 5:45 P. M. and is a combination of news, gossip and pre-reviews.

Announcers' Guild Meets In N.Y. Soon

membership David Ross, Ted Husing, Paul Douglas, Andre Baruch, Fred Uttal, Del Sharbutt and Andrew Stanton. Many other applications have been received.

Although A.G.R.A.P. opened its organization to actors and singers before A.F.R.A. was started, the membership in Actors Equity of many in these crafts caused a great many to go with A.F.R.A. However, the enrolment of actors and singers in A. G. R. A. P. has been continuing and it is anticipated that bargaining for these crafts will begin shortly.

Bargaining is in progress at WAAT, Jersey City, and WORC, Worcester. Organization has been completed at WPEN, Philadelphia, and WFBL, Syracuse. Bargaining will be completed at 11 other stations within the next few days, according to A. G. R. A. P., which states also that enrollment has started in 12 other stations, and that individual memberships have been received from 40 other stations.

AGRAPH Has N. Y. Majority

The addition of WBNX, WNEW, WOV and two other stations which have not yet completed their organizations gives A.G.R.A.P. a majority of the stations in New York City. WABC, WOR, and WMCA have completed bargaining and have contracts. The guild also has control of sound effects technicians of CBS, and bargaining is in progress for WABC and WBBM, the latter in Chicago. Sound effects technicians of WJZ and WEAH are in the guild and now bargaining.

The first inroad among NBC announcers has been made at KYW, Philadelphia. The guild will start bargaining for this group within the next few days. And with the admission of WCAU, Philadelphia; WEEI, Boston, and WBBM, Chicago, A. G. R. A. P. now has a majority of the CBS announcers.

Sponsor Marquette Games

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 26.—Wadhams Oil Co. is sponsoring the entire Marquette University football schedule of nine games over WISN with Alan Hale at the mike. Broadcasts will be directly from the field of play, including five games to be played away from home.

Taking Ohio State Games

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26.—The Ohio State University home football games will be aired over WCOT under sponsorship of Griffin A. B. C. Shoe Polish Co., with Bob Seal, former university student at the mike.

Sam Kerner Leaves Agency

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—Sam Kerner, producer of the Olsen and Johnson show, has resigned from the Hick & O'Donnell agency and will leave this week for New York on unannounced film and radio business. Ted Sherdeman of the NBC production staff has taken over the show.

The Paramount trustee's suit for an accounting and damages from officers and directors of the company from 1927 to 1931 was taken off the N. Y. Supreme Court calendar yesterday as a result of the settlement of the action agreed upon last week. Trial of the second suit, which was scheduled for yesterday before Justice Isidor Wasservogel, and which listed former financial associates of the company as defendants, was postponed to Oct. 29 to permit closing of settlement negotiations.

Goldwyn "Hurricane" To the Astor Nov. 5

"Hurricane" is understood to be set for a two-a-day run at the Astor, beginning Nov. 5. The picture is one of Samuel Goldwyn's big ones on his 1937-38 schedule for United Artists and is said to have cost approximately $2,000,000.

Loew's, which has a six-month lease on the theatre which will expire the end of next month, is negotiating with the receivers of the property to renew on a short term lease.

"The Firefly" garnered $7,737 in the fourth week at the Astor on a two-a-day policy.

"Lost Horizon" Holds Pace At Box-Offices of Country

A cross-section glance at the box-office reports at key city theatres over the country for the past week indicates that "Lost Horizon" is holding the place it attained last week as one of the real money pictures of the period, with "Thin Ice," "Double or Nothing" and "100 Men and a Girl" chief among the other pictures more than earning their way.

In Boston, "Lost Horizon" pulled $16,000 at the Orpheum and $15,000 at Loew's State, in both cases going $4,000 over average. "Thin Ice" was strong with $11,500 in its third week at the RKO Memorial.

"Lost Horizon" stepped into first place in Montreal, with $12,000 at the Palace, $1,000 over average. "Souls at Sea" took a good $10,000 at the Capitol.

In Cleveland, "Thin Ice" led at the Allen in its second week, with $7,500, and was held a third week. "Dead End" was good at Loew's State with $17,000. "Topper" was strong in its second week.

"Double or Nothing" on a dual with "Footloose Heiress," topped par at the Omaha in Omaha, taking $8,300. "Topper" dualed with "London at Night" was good.

"Lost Horizon" did well in its second week at the Earle in Washington, with a take of $6,000. "100 Men and a Girl," at RKO Keith's in its second stanza, held up well, and will continue.

A slow Minneapolis week was headed by "Double or Nothing," which took $10,500 at the Minnesota. Nothing else in that city or the twin St. Paul could get by the par figure,

Production Falls Off to 40 in Work

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—As nine pictures finished and only six started, production dropped from 43 last week to 40 for this week. Seventeen are in final stages of preparation, and 74 are being edited.

The starts were: Paramount, "Daughter of Shanghai"; RKO, "Bringing Up Baby," "Having Wonderful Time" and "She's Got That Swing"; 20th Century-Fox, "Charlie Chan at Monte Carlo," and Universal, "A Prescription for Romance."

The tally by studio:

Columbia finished zero, shooting three, preparing three, editing seven; Goldwyn, zero, one, zero, two; Grand National, two, zero, zero, four;

Empire's Absorption Of "U" Nearly Ready

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—Absorption of Canadian Universal Films, Ltd., has been practically completed by Empire Films, Ltd., although the Universal exchanges thus far have continued intact. I. J. Allen is now general sales manager, not only for product handled by Empire but of Universal as well. Clair Hague, for years in charge here for Universal, will continue to approve contracts.

Allen, until recently, was branch manager for Empire at Montreal and before that was in charge at Vancouver. Empire now is handling Universal, Republic, Educational, Canadian Cameos and 36 British and independent features.

No Decision Yet on Dallas Case Appeal

Defendant distributors in the Government action to outlaw contracts used by Hoblitzelle Dallas theatres regulating admissions in subsequent runs are undecided on whether or not to appeal from Federal Judge W. H. Atwell's decision handed down last Saturday holding the contracts to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws, it was stated yesterday by Louis Phillips of the Paramount legal department, on his return from Dallas.

It was pointed out that the defendants have 60 days in which to move for an appeal and that no decision will have to be made immediately. There is a good probability, however, that

Ontario Loss from Epidemic $300,000

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—The infantile paralysis epidemic has brought an estimated financial loss of $300,000 to the theatres of Ontario over a period of five weeks just at the time when showmen are launching their new season attractions. The end is not yet in sight, either, as the disease is still prevalent in Toronto, although the peak has been passed in other centers and various restrictions have been raised.

Intimation has been made that Famous Players Canadian Corp. alone has lost $250,000, the loss in Toronto's large downtown theatres being estimated at $10,000 per week. This

Kuykendall to Sound Majors On Practices

Asserts Federal Probes Caused by Inaction

The attitude of distribution companies toward a voluntary trade practice agreement which would include conciliation machinery for hearing exhibitor complaints, will be determined by Ed Kuykendall, M. P. T. O. A. president, during his current stay in New York. Kuykendall arrived here yesterday from his Columbus, Miss., home.

The M. P. T. O. A. head said that no determined drive for concessions would be made unless distribution companies indicated a willingness to attempt to solve with exhibitor representatives some of the trade practices which he declared were responsible for the increasing litigation and Governmental investigation within the industry. Kuykendall stated that the M. P. T. O. A. "has not lost interest" in attempting to obtain specific trade practice regulations within the industry, but had no desire to force the issue at this time unless distribution executives were aware of the

Discuss Settlement Of Cocalis-Fox Case

Attorneys for 20th Century-Fox and Sam D. Cocalis yesterday and late last night were working on a settlement of the distributor's suit against the exhibitor for overages on six pictures, after the case came to trial before N. Y. Supreme Court Justice Aaron Steuer and a jury. There is a possibility that an agreement will be reached this morning before the court convenes. Louis Nizer is representing 20th Century-Fox and MYRON SELZNICK is accompanying his brother DAVID O. east. The entourage now on the way includes JANET GAYNOR and her mother; JACQUES DUVAL, French playwright and author of "Tovarich"—in play form—and WALTER WANGER who, it seems, just left for Hollywood.

LIONEL ROYCE, European player signed by M-G-M, who arrived here on the Paris Saturday, and VIVIENNE BERNSTEIN, sister of FELIX BERNSTEIN, M-G-M Austrian manager, will be married at City Hall on Thursday.

SI FABIAN and JOHN J. O'CONNOR, lunched together at the Tavern yesterday which led to reports that the RKO Albee in Brooklyn may shortly go into the three-theatre pool operated by FABIAN in Brooklyn.

EDWARD GOLDEN, general sales manager for Monogram, is due to return from Toronto, where he is conferring with N. L. NATHANSON, on Thursday.

RODNEY PANTAGES left yesterday for the coast by train. He is expecting another addition to the family by New Year's.

HERB OCHS, southern and western division sales head for Warners, returned yesterday from a two-week swing of exchanges.

CLIFF WORK, western division head for RKO theatres, left by plane for San Francisco over the weekend.

L. JACK SCHLAIFER, western division sales head for U. A., has returned from an extended stay in Chicago.

M. B. SHANBERG, former Kansas City theatre operator and now a resident of Miami, is in town.

MONTE PROSER may return from the coast the end of the week.

LYNN FARNOL was host yesterday to W. G. VAN SCHMUS and SAM MARX at the Rainbow Room. MARX took a few extra minutes to visit stroll around, drinking in the sight. Tomorrow; he returns to the Goldwyn studio. And in a month he expects to be a father.

LEWEN PIZOR, who has been ill in Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia, for the past week, was reported improving yesterday and is expected to leave the hospital before the end of the week.

THOMAS BECK, featured player for 20th Century-Fox, is en route east via Baltimore. He will attend the 29th wedding anniversary of his parents in his home town before coming to New York.

CHARLES K. GORDON, Paris and New York stage producer, will join a Hollywood studio as a producer. The contract is being negotiated through Everett Crosby.

MARION CLAIRE, who is featured in Sol Lesser's latest, "Make a Wish," leaves Thursday for Chicago for another operatic season.

BEN WASHER, eastern press representative for Goldwyn Prod. now expects to entrain west tomorrow.

ED LEVY, M. P. T. O. A. secretary, is in town from New Haven for a few days.

Captain, Kids in Tint

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—In line with its policy expanding the use of sepia-platinum tinting, M-G-M today stated that the cartoon series "Captain and the Kids," will be done entirely in tint, the first time it has been used for cartoons.

Coast Guild Hearing Delayed to Thursday

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—William J. Walsh, attorney for the National Regional Labor Board, over the weekend postponed the hearing on the Screen Writers' Guild petition from Monday until Thursday.

In the petition, the guild seeks to be made the sole collective bargaining agency for film writers. The fact that the special trial examiners were unable to be present today led to the postponement. Notices were sent to all subpoenaed studio executives over the weekend.

Selznick International, Major Pictures and Walter Wanger have joined the Paramount contention that the Regional Labor Board has no jurisdiction over the film industry. While not so inclusive as the Paramount list of objections, the three companies' letters were in the same vein.

Fleischer Settlement Near

A tentative agreement has been reached by the Commercial Artists & Designers' Union with the Fleischer Studio on major phases of a settlement of the four-month-old strike of the union, with a final agreement believed to be possible by today or tomorrow, it was stated yesterday by spokesmen for both sides. The agreement would provide for recognition of the union as the representative of all but the Fleischer animators, who have asked that they be permitted to designate their own representative.

Other concessions involving wage and hour and other beneficial considerations are also involved, with what was described as only "minor points" remaining to be settled.

Illinois Allied to Talk Labor

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Labor problems, which include a new contract with the projectionists' union, will be discussed by members of Illinois Allied meeting here tomorrow.

Attention will also be given to the elimination of duals and to the matter of rising film rentals which are said to be in some cases 50 per cent above last year's prices.

Aaron Saperstein today told MOTION PICTURE DAILY that solutions to all the problems are confidently expected.

Stagehand Pact Ready

The new contract between stage producers and Theatrical Protective Union No. 1, the stagehands' organization, restoring 1932 wage cuts, is scheduled to be signed this week following approval of the new pact by the union membership on Sunday.

The two-year agreement increases the pay of department heads to $82.50 weekly, from $75, and that of stagehands from $50 to $54 a week. The contract is retroactive to Sept. 6.

Giannini on Directorate

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Dr. A. H. Giannini and Oscar Deutsch, of Odeon Theatres, have been elected to the board of United Artists, Ltd., in place of Arthur Kelly and Phillip Guedella.

such old time stars as Mary Pickford, Pearl White and Douglas Fairbanks.

Returns in the poll have come in from college fraternities, army posts and social clubs and show a high ratio of valuable comments and suggestions.

Kincey Says Warner Theatre Taken Over

CHARLOTTE, Sept. 27.—Official announcement by H. F. Kincey, president of North Carolina Theatres, Inc., that his company will begin operation Oct. 1 of the Warner Broadway has been made here.

The Broadway, the second largest theatre in the city, will be operated along the plan now maintained for the Imperial and will present both stage shows and pictures. The Imperial will take the place of the State when it is given up, according to present plans.

Don Nichols, manager of the Broadway for Warners, is said to be slated to continue.

H. F. Kincey said that he would be able to announce plans in detail in a few days. It is understood that considerable redecorating will be done.

Joseph Bernhard, Warner theatre head, yesterday again denied the report that the deal for the Broadway, Charlotte, had been closed. It was admitted that negotiations are under way, but that nothing final had developed yet.

G. B. Men See, Hear About New Pictures

An outline of new product, a screening of two new pictures and short speeches by Clinton M. White, George Weeks, Arthur Greenblatt and Al Margolies highlighted the one-day eastern sales regional by G. B. Sunday at the home-office.

White discussed the new lineup and told the branch managers that additional men are being put on to bolster the local sales staffs. Greenblatt said he expected to start on a tour of eastern exchanges under his supervision in about 10 days.

Weeks made a short speech and told about his resignation, at the same time wishing White luck in his new post: Margolies discussed publicity and campaigns for "Non-Stop New York" and "Dr. Syn," which were shown earlier in the day.

Two British Actors Die

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Ion Swinley, well known Shakespearean actor, and Clifford Heatherley, character player, have died. Both had made film appearances.

Gable and Loy Still Lead St. Louis Poll

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—In the tabulation of over 22,000 of the replies to the preference questionnaires distributed among St. Louis theatre patrons in a study conducted by Fanchon & Marco and the Star-Times, Clark Gable still leads the masculine stars, Myrna Loy the feminine stars and Shirley Temple the child stars, while the overwhelming choice for type of film is musical comedy, with comedy second. In all, approximately 50,000 replies have been received and the complete tabulations of the survey will be available in a day or two.

Patrons of first run houses show a preference for stage shows, with emphasis on name bands in conjunction with pictures. The age group appears to be concentrated for the most part between the ages of 16 and 25, and is about evenly divided between men and women. The final questionnaires were distributed last night in the 30 F. & M. houses participating in the study. More than 200 actors, 225 actresses and 90 child stars' names appear on the list of names submitted.

Variety Club

Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Sept. 27.—The new social season will get under way Oct. 2, when HARRY BLACKSTONE, magician, playing a local engagement, will regale the barkers and their guests with his bag o' tricks.

H. C. BISSELL, member of Cleveland Tent No. 6, was registered among the visitors here last week.

H. J. WESSEL, chief barker, has received an orchid from National Chief Barker JOHN H. HARRIS for sticking to the by-laws in admitting to membership only men in or identified with the amusement industry, in which other tents have been lax.

Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27.—On Oct. 4 Variety Club will hold a stag dinner at its clubrooms on Flm Row to inaugurate the opening of the stag season, and talk over plans for a big dance the club will give about the middle of November.

Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—The annual election of officers will take place immediately after JOHN H. HARRIS' Monday night dinner on Oct. 18.

As a result of the recent drive for new men, only 10 more memberships remain on the club roster.

The birthdays of JULES LAPIDUS, ART MORRONE and GEORGE HEID will be celebrated at Family Night, Oct. 8.

IRVING DIETZ, who handles all of the fight pictures in this territory, is the latest non-resident member.

The HARRY KALMINES brought out the record gathering of the year for Family Night with 122 in attendance. While JIMMY BALMER broke the Monday dinner mark.

Southio Raises Scales

HAMILTON, O., Sept. 27.—Tracy Barham, general manager Southio, has increased admissions five cents at the three local houses, and the four which the company operates at nearby Middletown. The new scales range from 15 cents to 40 cents. Admission for children has been advanced from 10 to 15 cents for Sundays and holidays.

Boost Seattle Prices

SEATTLE, Sept. 27.—Admission rates at John Danz's Palomar will be increased this week. Matinee prices of 15 cents until 5 P.M. will be raised to 25 cents. The present evening and Sunday rate of 25 cents will be advanced to 40 cents. The present policy of first run pictures and five acts of vaudeville will be continued.

Pittsburgh Scales Up

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—The first rise in admissions scales among downtown theatres has just been made by the Alvin. Going from 40 to 50 cents top at night with "Lost Horizon" as an experiment, the management has decided to make the boost permanent.

That puts the Alvin in the same bracket as the Penn, the Stanley charging 60 cents with a combined stage and screen policy. The only 40-cent houses now among the first runs are the Fulton and the Warner.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"There Goes the Groom"

(RKO)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—Take a money-mad, doting mother and a half-baked son; mix well with two beautiful daughters, one a golddigger and the other a sweet lovable girl; combine them with a fabulously wealthy young man who is mildly insane; sprinkle well with laughs, slapstick and what is called sophistication; serve on a screen. That is RKO's recipe for "There Goes the Groom," and it has been brought forth for entertainment-hungry and comedy-thirsty palates and the delight of exhibitors—a madly hilarious concoction and a highly entertaining confection for any theatre's serving.

The brands of the ingredients are of high quality—Burgess Meredith, as the rich young man; Ann Sothorn, the sweet girl; Mary Boland, the ambitious mother; Louise Henry, the selfish girl and others of perhaps less popularity but of suitable calibre. The mixer was Director Joseph Santley and the head cook was Producer Albert Lewis. David Garth furnished the basis for the recipe. Icing and embellishments were written in by S. K. Lauren, Dorothy Yost and Harold Kusell. All their efforts were combined in frothy perfection of which it may be said that theatre operators may serve this cake and eat it, too.

In brief, the concoction presents the story of lovesick Dick Matthews who, upon returning from a three year stay in Alaska, finds that his girl had not waited for him. He proposes to her younger sister and she accepts. Incidents during the preparations for the wedding by her mother sicken him, so he feigns amnesia. After hilarious attempts to cure him by association of ideas, Betty discovers his ruse, and tells the doctor. Then he is thrown into ice water and otherwise roughly handled, the final fadeout coming when Betty exposes her selfish family and marriage is again agreed upon.

Running time, 66 minutes. "G."

"Idol of the Crowds"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—A zipping action picture with the background of the world's fastest game—ice hockey, "Idol of the Crowds" brings John Wayne in a new type of characterization experimented with in his previous vehicle, "I Cover the War," and apparently found successful by Producer Trem Carr. He again gives the erstwhile serious-minded, action-picture star comedy lines to inject a sprightliness in this otherwise serious melodrama which combines in good taste elements of the old-fashioned hokum about the clean country lad fighting the efforts of big time gamblers to make him throw the championship hockey matches for his personal profit.

As Wayne's next to the last picture for Universal, he is presented as a farm boy who turns to professional ice hockey to raise sufficient money to expand his chicken ranch. Becoming an overnight sensation and the mainstay of the Panthers team, Wayne is approached by the gamblers who wish him to lose the game. Having been refused, they attempt to have Sheila Bromley use her appeal on him, but the plan fails when the pair fall in love. Charles Brokaw, gambling chief, sends his henchmen to injure Wayne, but his little pal, Billy Burrud, is the victim. Wayne pretends to be injured in the second game of the three-game cup series, is taken to a hospital and put under covers until the last half of the final game, when he suddenly appears on the rink, and his team wins the decision.

Credit for the original story goes to George Waggner, who was assisted on the screenplay by Harold Buckley. Arthur Lubin turned in a competent job of directing and kept the story moving at a fast pace.

Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Rosenberg Heads Club

SEATTLE, Sept. 27.—Al Rosenberg, vice-president of Hamrick-Evergreen circuit, has been elected president of the Northwest Film Club, succeeding L. J. McGinley of Universal. Other officers are: Neal East of Paramount and Fred Mercy, Jr., of Mercy Theatre Circuit, vice-presidents; Ed Lamb of RKO reelected secretary-treasurer; and B. F. Shearer, Pete Higgins, Herndon Edmond, Roy Peacock, Neal Walton and Frank Christie, trustees. Joe Cooper will head the entertainment committee.

Bloom Leaves Regal

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—Dewey D. Bloom has resigned as manager of the special exploitation department in the British Films division of Regal Films, Ltd., here, and has left for Hollywood to seek new connections.

Weeks Has 3 Offers

George Weeks, general sales manager, who has resigned from G.B., effective Nov. 1, yesterday said he is considering three offers. He will not take a vacation abroad, as previously announced.

Short Subjects

"Paramount Pictorial 7-3"

(Paramount)

Czechoslovakia, the colorful southwest and the new styles affected by the ladies in the night spots make up this issue. The first subject is well filmed and cut material revealing the remarkable strides the central European people have made since they became an independent nation. The southwestern scenes are in fine color and beautifully filmed. David Ross delivers fitting narration. The last sequence shows flashes of Broadway and the night spots with various models self-consciously showing off their habiliments. It is an interesting reel. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"I Likes Babies and In-finks"

(Fleischer-Paramount)

Popeye and Pluto toss each other about the artist's drawing board in an effort to stop Sweet Pea's heart-rending bawling. They resort to many highly imaginative tricks but to no avail. Finally Popeye swallows a can of onions instead of the usual spinach and the aroma of his breath brings the entire cast to tears, all except Sweet Pea, who thinks the situation is funny and ceases his crying. Plenty of laughs and originality. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Hula Heaven"

(Paramount)

Eddie Peabody can play anything with a string on it and do it with a degree of novelty. Here he is a guest at a party thrown by a Hawaiian chief and he chips in and does his bit. His versatility on the banjo, guitar and violin provide pleasant musical entertainment with a hula-dancing background. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Bashful Ballerina"

(Educational)

An obvious farce-burlesque featuring Imogene Coca as a student of the ballet. Miss Coca emotes through a series of situations in a manner reminiscent of Beatrice Lillie. The plot is one of those trite things in which two ballet maestros pass off the clumsy Miss Coca on each other in an effort to spoil the other's production. Miss Coca, in her effort to "express" something, provides all the merriment. The film should have fair reception. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

Saville Joins M-G-M

LONDON, Sept. 27.—M-G-M British has signed Victor Saville as producer and director and Griffith Jones to an actor contract. Both are long-term deals. Greer Garson, feminine stage star, has been signed to a Metro Hollywood contract.

Paul Rotha Arrives

Paul Rotha, English film writer and producer of documentary films, arrived here yesterday on the Europa. Rotha will spend the next five months as a special assistant to the director of The Museum of Modern Art Film Library.

Discuss Settlement Of Cocalis-Fox Case

Bruce Bromley of Cravath, De Gersdorf, Swaine & Wood is counsel for the defendant.

The first day's testimony centered chiefly about the determination in advance of operating expenses for the theatres involved. Harry H. Buxbaum and Joe Lee of the local 20th Century-Fox exchange and E. C. Grainger, former eastern division sales head for the distributor and now film buyer for Feiber & Shea, testified yesterday.

The distributor is seeking $20,000, which it claims is due the company on a separate accounting of the six pictures, while the defendant contends that the overage clause in the standard contract provides for a cumulative accounting. The suit was dismissed before trial more than a year ago, but the Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the lower court and ordered a new trial.

Neil F. Agnew, Jules Levy, Gradwell L. Sears and Matthew Fox are scheduled to testify today in the event the suit is not cleared from the calendar by agreement.

No Decision Yet on Dallas Case Appeal

The decision will be made as soon as the distributors' attorneys have had an opportunity to confer with home office officials, which will be within a few days.

The court decree, which is expected to order immediate discontinuance of the use of the contracts, has not been entered yet.

Para. Club Votes Today

The annual election of officers of the Paramount Pep Club will be held at the home office today. Charles Gartner is the unanimous choice for president and will continue for another term.

Central Finishes Tenth

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 27.—Central Films, Ltd., with studios at Victoria, B. C., has completed its 10th picture, "Murder is News" and will start its 11th production for release by Columbia under the quota. Kenneth J. Bishop, president of the company, left today for Hollywood to confer with Columbia officials.

On Film Committee

CHARLOTTE, Sept. 27.—J. E. Hobbs, Universal branch manager here, has been named chairman of a committee of film men to supervise production of a picture to be used by the community chest in its forthcoming campaign. Other members are Ralph McCoy, Lester C. Sipes, B. Bishop, Merritt Davis and Roy Smart.

Out Hollywood Way

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—Warner's now have 58 writers adapting what the studio estimates is $5,000,000 worth of story properties for the 1937-'38 season. This total of writers is the greatest in the history of the studio.

RKO's "Radio City Revels" is now in the casting stage. ANN MILLER has drawn the feminine lead, joining a tentative cast of BOB BURNS, MILTON BERLE, VICTOR MOORE, HELEN BRODERICK, BUSTER WEST and MELISSA MASON. "Danger Valley" has been chosen as the title of the third JACK RANDALL musical western for Monogram. DON BLANDING, the vagabond poet of the tropics, has been signed as technical adviser on "Stowaways in Paradise," his novel which SOL LESSER has bought for the next BOBBY BREEN vehicle.

For the first time in many years, a Hollywood studio will send a location unit to Cuba. Paramount will send a crew next month to shoot scenes for "Lady in the Tropics" with ISA MIRANDA. Paramount is to make another historical epic, "Millions for Defense," to be based on Stephen Decatur's victory over the Barbary pirates of the Mediterranean, all of which ties up with current submarine piracy in that vicinity, but the incidents will deal with the period shortly after the War of 1812. GEORGE RAFT, FRANCES FARMER and RAY MILLAND, the first two of whom were in "Souls at Sea," are tentatively set for leads. DARMOUR has started shooting on "Murderers Welcome," a PHILIP WYLLIE Liberty Magazine story, for which JACK HOLT, KATHERINE DEMILLE, CRAIG REYNOLDS, GRANVILLE BATES, PURNELL PRATT and LUIS ALBERNI have been cast. Coronet pictures, producing the Buck Jones westerns for Columbia, has moved from Grand National studios to permanent quarters at Selznick International. RKO will have a total of 51 speaking parts in "Having Wonderful Time," GINGER ROGERS starring vehicle.

Contracts—M-G-M gave JEAN CHATBURN, wife of FRANK ORSATTI, a new contract before she and ORSATTI left for New York. Also drawing new contracts at M-G-M were HUGO BUTLER, writer, for one year, and JOHN NICKOLAUS, laboratory department head, for five years. Paramount extended the contracts of DOROTHY HOWE, JOYCE MATHEWS and LOLA JENSEN, stock players. RKO lengthened the pacts of LEE PATRICK, DIANA GIBSON, CYNTHIA WESTLAKE, players; VICTOR BARAVELLE of the music department, and ERNEST PAGANO, writer. M-G-M has placed TED PEARSON, radio singer and musician, under term contract after New York screen tests, and has given him a part in "Navy Blue and Gold."

Directors—Selznick International, apparently having given GEORGE CUKOR, who is to direct "Gone With the Wind" next year, a leave to do an outside picture. HARRY LACHMAN draws the directorial assignment on Columbia's "The Night Before," from a PAUL GALLICO story. MARY ASTOR and RICHARD ARLEN have the leads. GEORGE ARCHAINBAUD will direct Paramount's "They Knew What Happened."

Story Buys and Writers—Paramount has purchased the play, "Linger Longer Lettie," which CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD used as one of her most popular vehicles, and the studio will place MARTHA RAYE in the top role. BETTY LAIDLAW and ROBERT LIVELY have been assigned to do the continuity and dialogue on "Honolulu Honeymoon," which ZION MYERS will produce for Grand National.

Sales Tax Appeals Will Be Heard Soon

ALBANY, Sept. 27.—The Court of Appeals, which reconvened for its fall term today, is scheduled to hear two appeals by New York City officials involving several millions in sales tax revenue. The appeals involve appellate court rulings that merchandise ordered in New York City, but delivered from plants outside the city is not subject to the sales tax.

New York film distributors at one time considered the advisability of moving their exchanges from the city to escape payment of the tax.

Charlotte to Fight "Forced" Ad Sales

CHARLOTTE, Sept. 27.—The M.P.T.O. of North and South Carolina is preparing a protest against the alleged "forcing" of accessories with new season pictures in this city and vicinity.

A recent survey by the organization, which is headed by Charles W. Picquet, disclosed that the practice is not general throughout the exchange territory and is being opposed on the grounds that it is discriminatory against Charlotte exhibitors.

Omaha Organization To Boost Vaudeville

OMAHA, Sept. 27.—Twenty acts of vaudeville will be presented at the City Auditorium Oct. 30 and 31 by the Midwest Talent Ass'n, recently organized here with the aim of reinstating vaudeville in 70 midwestern theatres and providing jobs for 3,000 persons.

Dante Piccotte is president; Harry Brader, vice-president; Margaret Arthur, secretary; Emilie Allen, treasurer, and Max Kaplan, business agent.

U. A. Party Eastbound

David O. Selznick, Walter Wanger, Myron Selznick, George Cukor, Jacques Duval and Barbara Keon will arrive here next Monday by train for conferences with John Hay Whitney. Selznick's principal concern is plans for "Gone with the Wind." They will be here about three weeks.

Produce Short in Texas

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—Louis Lewyn and Basil Wrangell of M-G-M's short subject department are in Dallas to produce a musical short with a Texas Centennial background.

Moss Opens Rebuilt House at Cedarhurst

B. S. Moss has opened the New Central, Cedarhurst, L. I., which was partially destroyed by fire last May. The theatre has been rebuilt. The 49th St., at 49th St. and Broadway, will be opened by Moss Nov. 1.

Bernard Shapiro has taken over the Gem on Eighth Ave., formerly operated by Consolidated Amusements. Ben Levy is now operating the Lincoln, Brooklyn, which up to a short time ago was booked by the Brandt circuit for Max A. Goldbaum.

Casey & Wheeler expect to open the new Playhouse, Princeton, N. J., soon. It is a 1,250-seat house. Sloane & Smith, who operate the Washington and St. Cloud at Washington, N. J., have acquired the Belvedere, Belvedere, N. J. The Hawthorne, Hawthorne, N. J., has been transferred by William Herman to Rapf, Rudin & Lederer.

The Beacon is not included in the group of Upper Broadway houses recently taken over by the Skouras circuit. Theatres now being operated by the circuit include the Thalia, Olympia, Stoddard, 77th St., Symphony and Carlton.

Ambassador Pictures Asks 2nd SEC Delay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—A second request for deferment of the effective date of its registration, filed Aug. 25, has been asked of S. E. C. by Ambassador Pictures.

The company's registration covered a proposed issue of 1,176,000 shares of $1 par capital stock, of which 600 shares are to be offered publicly. The first request for continuation was filed Sept. 9.

Fred Stanley Resigns

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—Fred Stanley, publicity director for Columbia for two months, is out of the post and George Brown, of the Biow Agency of New York, is taking his place.

Kuykendall to Sound Majors On Practices

need for such regulation and were prepared to act immediately. This will be determined, he said, within the next few days.

Asked for his opinion of the M-G-M studio show which goes on the air beginning Nov. 4 with General Foods sponsorship, the M. P. T. O. A. president said that he believed all radio programs using outstanding Hollywood names "will hurt theatre attendance." He added that no specific protests had been received from M. P. T. O. A. officers or units and that there was little likelihood that the organization would inject itself into Metro's radio activities before it was determined whether the program actually does compete with theatres and, if so, to what extent.

Kuykendall said that he had heard few complaints against Hollywood radio programs from exhibitors recently and attributed this to a general belief among theatre men that as much has been done to safeguard their interests as is possible, and that if special cases arise in the future, special action may be warranted.

Will Attend Variety Outing

Kuykendall plans to go to Philadelphia for the Variety Club outing Oct. 1 and will go from there to Memphis for the semi-annual convention of the Tri-States T. O. A., Oct. 3 and 4.

The M.P.T.O.A. head also plans to attend the annual convention of the Northwest Exhibitors' Ass'n at Seattle, Oct. 22, and may attend the convention of the M.P.T.O. of North and South Carolina at Pinehurst Dec. 6. The attitude of exhibitor leaders in various parts of the country on the current need for trade practice regulation may also be sounded by Kuykendall in the course of his projected coast to coast tour.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 27.—The RKO Palace has changed from Friday to Thursday openings. It is understood that changes are contemplated for the Albee and Shubert, thus providing three different opening days in the week.

"Lost Horizon" Holds Pace At Box-Offices of Country

except "Gow," with a personal appearance of Capt. A. E. Salisbury, at the World.

Business was weak in Houston, but three films managed to equal, but not exceed average: "Dead End," at Loew's State; "Double or Nothing," at the Majestic, and "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938" at the Metropolitan.

In Detroit, "The Toast of New York," aided by a Major Bowes unit on the Michigan stage, did well with $26,000, up by $6,600. "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," with a stage show at the Fox, took a good $24,500, over par by $4,500. "Stella Dallas" drew a strong $12,500 at the Madison.

The Midwest in Oklahoma City came through with a good $5,200 with "100 Men and a Girl." "Thin Ice" also bettered par, taking $5,200.

Frisco's "Big City" Strong

San Francisco was led by "Big City" at the Paramount on a dual with "Talent Scout," the bill drawing $16,000, $3,000 over average. "The Life of Emile Zola" at the St. Francis was good in its two-day run, and "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," dualled with "Footloose Heiress" held up at the Warfield, but the rest could not make the grade.

In Chicago, "100 Men and a Girl," shared high honors with "Lost Horizon," the former taking $28,500 at the Palace, and the latter $42,000 at the Chicago, both well over average. "Topper" was strong at the Roosevelt and "Stella Dallas," in its second Oriental week, showed well.

The best comparative gross in Kansas City was taken by "100 Men and a Girl," at the Tower, with $11,200, over par by $3,400. "Broadway Melody of 1938" was good for $12,400, up $900 at the Midland, but the rest were weak.

Milwaukee Likes "Horizon"

"Lost Horizon," paired with "Walt Disney's Academy Award Revue," at the Fox Palace in Milwaukee, took $7,000, over average by $2,000. No other house was able to exceed par.

Holding its pace in the second week, "Lost Horizon" at the Liberty in Seattle drew $8,900 and was moved to the Fifth Avenue to continue its run. "Thin Ice," paired with "One Mile from Heaven" at the Fifth Avenue, was a strong holdover and was moved to the Music Box.

"Dead End" took a good $17,000 at the Earle in Philadelphia and appears set for three weeks. "Lost Horizon" was good for $14,000 at the Boyd.

In New Haven, "Double or Nothing" was dualled with "Reported Missing" and took $7,000. The film was held. "Lost Horizon" was $1,000 over par at Loew's Poli, with $9,000.

Julius Evans to Goldwyn

Julius Evans, producer of the WPA Caravan Theatre, has resigned that post to become eastern play representative for Goldwyn Prod. He succeeds Mrs. Beatrice Kaufman.

Dorothy Modisette will be in charge of surveying the books here.

"Greatest Jews"

Chicago, Sept. 26.—David Sarnoff and Paul Muni are included in a list of 120 "greatest living Jews" prepared by Ivrim, honor society of Jewish students in this city. The compilation is international and collectively is described as a Jewish Hall of Fame.

hind the organization, a membership drive is under way. According to Dollinger, it is expected to get as many independent exhibitors as possible in the fold in the next two weeks.

George Gold, and not Louis Gold, has been elected to the directorate.

A meeting between committees of Allied and the I.T.O.A. is expected to be held shortly for the purpose of discussing a merger of both local organizations. No date has been set. A meeting, slated for yesterday, to decide on the date, was called off when two of the Allied men failed to appear.

The next general meeting of Allied will probably be held Oct. 5. The I.T.O.A. gathering is scheduled for Oct. 6 at the Astor.

of sums "in excess of reasonable compensation" paid to officers during the designated period and sought an accounting from the directors for losses alleged to have been incurred by Paramount in the redemption of its stock at guaranteed prices which had been issued for expansion purposes. The settlement terms of this action are scheduled to be presented to Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe for approval in the near future. If Judge Coxe's approval of the settlement is not obtained the suit can be restored to the state court calendar, attorneys stated.

The second suit, settlement of which is still in process, seeks the recovery of profits alleged to have been made by the defendants through participations in a Paramount employees' stock purchase plan, and of sums said to have been lost by Paramount through such participations.

Paramount London Meet Ends

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Paramount's foreign sales meeting ended here yesterday, with representatives from Continental Europe and Great Britain present. The two-day session concluded with screenings of "Ebb Tide" and parts of "The Buccaneer" and "Wells Fargo." The meeting, held at Grosvenor House, was attended by more than 100 men, and was presided over by John Cecil Graham, in charge of Great Britain, and Fred W. Lange, in charge of Continental Europe. Adolph Zukor and John W. Hicks, Jr., foreign head, also attended.

Messages were read to the delegates from Barney Balaban, president; Neil Agnew, William Le Baron and Cecil B. DeMille.

A.F.M. and Web Executives Negotiating Musician Pact

The first of a series of discussions between the A. F. of M. and network executives took place at Federation headquarters yesterday for the purposes of evolving a standard form of contract for musicians in the key network cities—New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles.

Yesterday's meeting was confined merely to a discussion of the situation, it was said at the Federation. Another meeting will be scheduled later this week.

Mark Woods, of New York, and Niles Trammell, of Chicago, represented NBC. Edward Klauber, Lesley Atlass, Melford Runyon and Lawrence Lowman, Jr., all vice-presidents, upheld CBS interests.

Signs Philadelphia AFM Pact

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—WPEN-WRAX is the first of the local stations to sign a music pact with the A.F.M. Sharing time on the same wavelength, operated by John Iraci predominantly for foreign language audiences, the union agreement calls for 12 musicians at $60 weekly, playing both commercial and sustaining programs four hours daily.

Vancouver Musicians Stop Remote Control

VANCOUVER, Sept. 27.—Dance orchestras which have been broadcasting by remote control over Vancouver stations have gone off the air, under orders from the Musicians' Union.

E. A. Jamieson, union secretary, states that in the past musicians have been allowed to give their services by remote control without payment. He says the union has instituted a new regulation setting a minimum wage scale of $1 per man per half hour for remote control broadcasting. The ruling will cut off the majority of remote control dance broadcasts in Vancouver, as they are, at present, used as sustaining features only.

WHK-WCLE to Feed Mutual

WHK-WCLE, Cleveland, will feed five local sustaining periods to the Mutual networks, beginning Oct. 4. The programs are "Singland," "Girl Meets Boy," "Don't Look Now," "Black and White," and a musical show featuring Lou Rich's orchestra and a mixed chorus.

Tidewater Takes Games

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—The Tidewater Associated Oil Co. has signed to sponsor the outstanding intercollegiate west coast football games over split NBC Blue and Red networks. Nineteen games will be offered. Lord & Thomas is the agency.

Signed for 104 weeks on the NBC-Pacific Coast Red is a new series, "I Want a Divorce." The Sussman Wormser Co. will sponsor. Emil Brisacher & Staff, Inc., is the agency.

Renew "Cavalcade of America"

"Cavalcade of America" has been renewed for an additional 52 weeks, effective Oct. 6. The series, sponsored by the DuPont Co., is broadcast over 45 CBS stations, Wednesdays from 8 to 8:30 P. M. Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn is the agency.

Air Warner Party

Harry M. Warner will play host to 65 Congressmen and their wives on the Warner lot in Hollywood, Oct. 1, and the event will be broadcast over the Mutual network that date, from 4:30 to 5 P. M.

CBC Will Go on Air For 12 Hours Daily

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—The Canadian Broadcasting Corp., will increase its schedule of direct broadcasting from six to 12 hours each day, effective Oct. 3. This means a considerable reduction in time for local and commercial programs over the Canadian network.

With the completion of 50,000-watt stations by the commission at Vercheres, Que., and Hornby, near Toronto, the Canadian corporation plans to step up its daily schedule from 12 to 16 hours each day on a gradual scale. The new station at Vercheres will be devoted to French-language programs.

Baker Goes to Coast For Benton & Bowles

William R. Baker, Jr., partner and vice-president of Benton & Bowles, has been named head of the Hollywood headquarters of the agency and will assume his new duties there early in October.

Baker's appointment to Hollywood has been brought about principally by the signing last week for the General Foods M-G-M radio program.

Baker joined Benton & Bowles in 1933 as an account executive on the General Foods account. He was appointed vice-president in 1935.

Adam in Football Series

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—The Adam Hat Co. has signed with WWSW for three five-minute spots every Saturday afternoon during the football season to broadcast up-to-the-minute football scores. Joe Tucker, the station's sports announcer, will handle the account and the times are 5:15, 6:15 and 7 P. M. Another WWSW football account has Al Abrams, sports writer for the Post-Gazette, on every Friday night with predictions of the following day's scores for the Duquesne Brewing Co.

Crosley Ball Chairman

CINCINNATI, Sept. 27.—Powel Crosley, Jr., president of Crosley Radio Corp., has been named honorary chairman of a citizens committee in charge of the Navy Day ball to be held at the Netherland Plaza Oct. 30.

Wally Frank to Try Radio

Wally Frank, Ltd., Pipes and Tobaccos, will increase its advertising appropriation to include radio. A test program is being prepared. Bachheimer, Dundas & Frank, Inc., is the agency.

Report Para. Studying New Air Program

according to a studio explanation, will have the purpose "of listening to certain novelty types of radio entertainment that can be lined up to see what picture possibilities performers might have." However, the announcement continued, "This promotional-scouting trip will not conflict with anything that the Paramount talent department is doing."

It is understood here that Cowan is definitely seeking material for screen and radio, with the possibility that the studio, having many of its top names already tied up on other broadcasts—such as W. C. Fields, Dorothy Lamour, and others—is killing two birds with one stone, drafting already proved radio material for the films, but keeping in mind their possibilities for a studio created ether program.

Part Time in New York

Cowan plans to spend about a third of his time in New York, and, en route back to the studio, will stop at Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and possibly St. Louis and Kansas City. It may be, also, the purpose of his trip to contact various radio and exhibitor interests in these spots for opinions on the probable new program.

RKO also is becoming interested in a possible deal for a radio show exploiting its talent, having signed Frank Healy as studio radio contact man, as told exclusively in MOTION PICTURE DAILY last Tuesday. Healy's initial duties, however, will be confined to getting the maximum benefit out of radio programs using RKO talent and music.

Columbia Artists to Expand Its Services

Columbia Artists, Inc., a division of CBS, has extended its managerial activities to include the contracting of talent in the writing, producing and directing fields, marking the first time that Columbia Artists has assumed as part of its regular operation the handling of talent other than performers and announcers.

Lawrence W. Lowman, vice-president in charge of operations of CBS, yesterday stated that management contracts have already been signed with Brewster Morgan, Irving Reis, Earl McGill, William Robson and Nila Mack. Other names will be announced shortly, he said.

CBS to Start New Program

The CBS Department of Talks will inaugurate a new weekly series of news and reviews combining news reports and an analysis of the events beginning Oct. 3 from 10:30 to 11 P. M. H. V. Kaltenborn, Bob Trout and Pierre Bedard will provide the talks. The CBS symphony will round out the programs with musical interludes.

Lux Gets Huston, Sutherland

Walter Huston and Nan Sutherland will be presented in a radio adaptation of "The Copperhead" on the Lux "Radio Theatre" over CBS Oct. 4.

Reviews of New Air Shows as Fall Season Sweeps In

"Vick's Open House"

The agency nitwit who prevailed upon Jeanette MacDonald to offer those two ridiculous anecdotes about her experiences with film directors Robert Leonard and "Woody" Van Dyke in her series opener for the Vicks Chemical Co. Sunday night should be dipped into a bucket of the client's cold compound. Miss MacDonald sounded more like Dolly Dimple at the mike than the adult personality we've always believed her to be. We pass mercifully over her closing remark: "Good night—don't catch cold." That floored us, and we still haven't recovered.

Miss MacDonald's anecdotes were of the "cute" variety usually found in film fan magazines and prattling, childish nonsense. This will convey the idea:

On the lot while recording a song for one of her pictures, the chirp of a cricket was detected in all the voice play-backs. The cricket was finally located and destroyed. The next day, believe it or not, Miss MacDonald and the others of the cast reported for work armed with those toy crickets of the tin variety. They had a hell of a time, according to Miss MacDonald, clicking the little instruments every time she recorded. Poor Bob Leonard was so, so distracted!

One Not Enough

The other anecdote revolved about a practical joke Van Dyke played on Miss MacDonald while on location, and vice versa. He tossed her into a swimming pool, costume and all, and she, in turn, sneaked up on "Woody" and returned the compliment.

The nonsense disposed of, Miss MacDonald was in glorious voice and each of her offerings, selected from her pictures, was thoroughly enjoyed. Her numbers included "Indian Love Call," "Italian Street Song," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," "Gianina Mia," "Rose Marie," and "Coming Through the Rye." Josef Pasternak's orchestra and a chorus were fine. "Vick's Open House" is offered Sundays from 7 to 7:30 P. M. over CBS. Morse International is the agency.

"Romantic Rhythms"

The Chevrolet program returns to the air a very much inferior show to the one heard in seasons past. Seymour Simon's orchestra, Barry McKinley, baritone, and Sally Nelson, contralto, comprise the new talent. They hardly measure up to Rubinoff, Virginia Rea and Jan Peerce, previous Chevrolet standard bearers.

The show is preeminently an orchestral one, with the vocalists contributing only incidental choruses. Presaged as being one of the season's rare finds, Simon's orchestra proved to be a pleasing, although highly standardized, unit. There are many like it in radio.

"Romantic Rhythms" is the new program title, and in keeping with it the offerings were all Tin Pan Alleyish love laments. The tunes included "Always," "Remember," "What'll I Do," "Afraid to Dream," "Can I Forget You?" "Make Believe," "First Time I Saw You," "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," "Whispers in the Dark," and others of that calibre.

The series is offered over CBS, Sundays from 6:30 to 7 P. M. The agency is Campbell-Ewald.

"Interesting Neighbors"

The F. W. Fitch Co. has taken Jerry Belcher's sustaining series, "Let's Go Visiting," changed its title to "Interesting Neighbors," and is now presenting it as the company's network feature. Save for the fact that it is now necessary to listen to commercial blurbs, the show is just as interesting as it always has been. Belcher has an uncanny knack of coming up with good programs that wean sponsors to it after periods of sustaining tryouts.

The opening sponsored show emanated from Elgin, Ill., and the home of Dr. Charles Edward Sharp who maintains a school for pupils of 70 years old, or more. From this unique institution, Belcher presented a quartet, the youngest member of which was 70, the oldest 85, and interviews with several of the inmate "scholars." Interest in the show was sustained throughout.

"Interesting Neighbors" is offered Sundays from 7:45 to 8 P. M. on the NBC-Red. L. W. Ramsey Co., Davenport, Ia., is the agency.

WGAR-WHK Dedications

From CBS and NBC, listeners tuned to stations linked to these networks learned all there is to know, past and present, about the city of Cleveland. The programs were dedicatory ones, CBS welcoming WGAR to its network; NBC bidding WHK to its ranks.

It takes strong resolution to keep tuned to any dedicatory program and Sunday's station salutes were no better, nor worse, than any of that variety.

WGAR offered its best local attractions to the CBS audience—Norbert Brown's station orchestra, vocalists Johnny Allen and Bert Kramer, and one or two other Cleveland favorites. John F. Patt, vice-president and general manager of WGAR spoke briefly about the station's background.

The WHK salute was more varied, coming from the station itself, Chicago, New York and Hollywood. New York contributed an excellent skit featuring Burgess Meredith; Vivian della Chiesa was heard from Chicago;

Werner Janssen's orchestra from Hollywood.

WGAR joins CBS as a unit with 500 watts night power, 1,000 watts by day. WHK comes to NBC's Blue with a day and night power of 1,000 watts.

BANNER

"Tom Mix Straight Shooters"

Tom Mix returns from a summer of performing with a circus. He is at the festive board when the sheriff arrives and asks to see him privately, you know. That starts off the train of events. This ether brand of cow-wrangling is effective and draws the interest of the youngsters. There is much of that well known western drawl and talk to give the story color. The T M Bar ranch operates for Ralston Purina Co. through the Kenyon & Eckhardt agency. It is heard every weekday from 5:45 to 6 P. M. over the NBC-Blue.

P.

"Jack Armstrong"

A radium deposit, whatever that is; the jungle interior of New Guinea and the search for the lost "Captain Hughes" are vital to this children's program which is sponsored by General Mills and plugs Wheaties. As it is aimed at juvenile listeners it will find many ears. Much of the dialogue is of the question and answer variety. There are clever sound effects and the performers do their stuff without a hitch. It is to be heard every weekday from 5:30 to 5:45 P. M. over the NBC-Red network. Blackett-Sample-Hummert is the agency.

P.

"Doctor Friendly"

Five times a week for the next 26 weeks, Mondays through Fridays from 4 to 4:15 P. M. the troubles of Mary Hall and her brother will be aired. Her problem is how to get back into the good graces of "Middletown," which is every small town. It is revealed that she went to a reform school for two years on a forgery rap. On her return she is faced with Henry Black, his heart the color of his name. He will have none of her and does his bit at every turn to drive her from his fair hamlet. Aligned on Miss Small's side are Dr. Friendly and Dr. Ames, the former a great surgeon seeking rest and the latter a young country doctor. In the first installment the two champions best Black by taking the girl and her brother to live in the surgeon's house. Black practically has a mortgage on every Middletown house but Friendly's.

That is the start of this series. The performances are convincing in their way and the program should give the women at home something to occupy their minds. It is sponsored by Kruschen Salts. Stack-Goble is the agency. It goes out over the WLW line from WHN.

P.

"The Romancers"

The Sunday evening lounge-about-the-house has another good program to occupy his time in "The Romancers." The 15-minute period offers tastefully done solos and mixed singing backgrounded with organ music. The program returned to the air Sunday night sponsored by the Weston Biscuit Co. Adelaide French directed.

The selections on the initial program were standard, often-played numbers such as "Ziguener" from Noel Coward's "Bitter Sweet," and "Rose of the World" from "The Rose of Algiers." Mary McNeil, Willard Amison, Eric Rolf and Louise Wilcher, the latter at the console of the organ, performed the vocals and accompaniment in a pleasant and satisfying manner.

"The Romancers" is heard on Sundays from 9:15 to 9:30 P. M., over WOR.

P.

"Rye Krisp Presents Marion Talley"

Marion Talley returned to the air on Sunday with a varied repertoire for her 30-minute program starting at 5 P. M. on the NBC Red. The program, emanating from Hollywood, is sponsored by Rye Krisp.

Miss Talley's selections were in a popular vein, keyed to general audience likes as well as to those of the operatic star's personal following. The program included some impressive choral work, rounding out a thoroughly pleasing musical half-hour. Josef Koestner and his orchestra furnished the music.

Ralston Purina is the sponsor. The agency handling the account is the Gardner Advertising Co., St. Louis.

K.

"The Shadow"

Orson Welles made his debut as "The Shadow" with the resumption of the Blue Coal Co. mystery program on WOR and the Mutual network Sunday from 4:30 to 5 P. M. The part was capably handled and maintains the high interest level of this series.

The initial episode contained its full share of mystery and suspense, was well dramatized and held the listener's interest to the end. The unravelling of the problem presented by the conviction of an innocent man for the murder of a policeman during a bank holdup, just before he is to go to death in the electric chair, is told in a fast-moving, punchy script. The Shadow's success in uncovering the one clue left behind by the murderer and springing the trap which results in his capture provides this episode

Queen's Mail

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Venida Jones, KMOX and CBS organist, recently selected by listener vote as the most popular midwestern organist, received a letter addressed merely to "The Queen of the Console, U. S. A."

The address was lettered over a carefully drawn picture depicting an American eagle.

Welsh to Resume

Bill Welsh, sports editor for KFEL, Denver, is getting ready to defend his top honors among mountain region football forecasters, a distinction he earned during the 1936 season when he made a higher percentage of correct choices than any other selector in the mountain regions. He predicted results of 250 games, for a season's percentage of .775.

Pictures Improving, Says Legion Officer

Rev. John J. McClafferty, executive secretary of the National Legion of Decency, speaking on the subject "The Movies Move" on the "Church of the Air" over CBS, recognized a marked improvement in the moral tone of American films since the inception of the Legion and voiced an appeal to Catholics and non-Catholics alike to aid "decent producers to produce decent films."

Father McClafferty quoted statistics showing that of 1,119 features reviewed in the 19 months prior to February, 1936, less than one per cent were given the classification of wholly objectionable. In the 12 months from Feb., 1936, to Feb., 1937, of 750 features reviewed and classified in the weekly list of the National Legion of Decency, he said, only one American made picture was placed in the "wholly objectionable" category. Father McClafferty said that in the seven months of the current year from Feb. to Sept. 5 American made pictures were so classified.

Two Stations Seek Changes from F.C.C.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Application for a change of frequency from 1,200 to 1,300 kilocycles has been asked of the F. C. C. by WJBL, Decatur, Ill.

A change of frequency from 1,210 to 1,240 kilocycles and an increase of power from 100 watts night, 250 watts day to 500 watts night, 1,000 watts day, has been asked by WHBF, Rock Island, Ill.

To Feature Oklahoma Fair

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27.—The Oklahoma network of eight stations will carry many commercial and interesting sustaining programs during the week of the Oklahoma State Fair, Sept. 25 to Oct. 2, in Oklahoma City.

A new series, "The Rhythm Girls," will be one of the broadcasts from the fair grounds. The "Ross Rhythm Rascals," string band, will also give their programs from the fair grounds and will be featured at other periods during the week.

Throughout the eight days of the fair the Oklahoma Network will broadcast sidelights from the state exposition grounds at various times over KTOK here.

Award Police Radio Contract

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27.—A $20,000 contract for a 1,000-watt radio transmitter to direct operations of the state highway patrol was awarded recently to Hales-Mullaly, Inc., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma RCA representatives.

The transmitter will operate on a frequency of 1,626 kilocycles assigned by the F.C.C. and will enable radio directions from headquarters to blanket the state.

KGB Gets Heat Program

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 27.—The Consolidated Gas and Electric Co., will sponsor a new series of 15-minute programs over KGB Mutual Don Lee outlet, starting Sept. 28. The programs, a series of true stories on early modes of heating, will be narrated by Howard Nugent, and aired Tuesdays and Fridays at 8:15 P.M., P.S.T. Ed. Davidson is the agency.

with an unusual device for the solving of crimes. Ruthrauff and Ryan is the agency.

Varady of Vienna

Ted Weems, whose orchestra offers pleasant music in the modern, but not too modern manner, is featured in this program, the soloists being Elmer Tanner and Harry Como, the former a whistling specialist, the latter a crooner of ordinary capabilities.

A number of popular numbers were rendered, with Tanner especially effective. The best of them was a modern interpretation of "In a Persian Market," and a song vocalized by Tanner called, "I'm the Sound Effects Man," which was amusing and well delivered. Weems's "hit of the week" was "Harbor Lights." The announcer was Pierre Andre and his cosmetic commercials were brief and wholly unobtrusive. It is a pleasant musical program.

The program is heard over WOR on Sunday afternoons from 1:30 to 2 P.M., sponsored by Varady of Vienna and placed by Baggaley, Horton and Hoyt, Inc., Chicago.

"Garden of Memories"

Dedicated to the selling of the beauty and appointments of two memorial parks in New Jersey, this program offers a pleasant Sunday afternoon period of good music, although it borders perhaps a bit too closely on the heavily sentimental. Richard Maxwell, tenor soloist, has a pleasant voice. Too many of the musical numbers, which featured strings and an organ, were hymnal in character.

The commercials were well spoken and unobtrusive, but it appeared unnecessarily bad taste to tell the listening audience that a book containing fine bits of literature would be given free to residents of several New Jersey counties, but that letters from other communities would not even be acknowledged.

The program is heard over WOR on Sunday afternoons, from 1 to 1:30 P.M., sponsored by the Restland and Graceland Memorial Parks and placed by the Hudson Advertising Agency.

A.

Henry Busse and Orchestra

Nothing unusual in this program to get dial tuners at 11:45 Sunday mornings to turn to WEA and the NBC Red. Henry Busse, his orchestra and Donald Huston furnish the entertainment and Lola Marro and a male announcer deliver talks on the qualities of the oil which pays for the show.

In the opening program, the following numbers were played: "Why Talk About Love," "Remember Me," with Huston singing; "Tea for Two," with Busse soloing on a muted trumpet; "Josephine" and a closing tune which was not given by name, but with Busse trumpeting to the strumming of guitars.

The sponsor is the J. W. Marrow Mfg. Co., for Mar-O-Oil shampoo and consumed more than three minutes of the opening 15 for the usual sales

To Cover Opening

The premiere of Kate Smith's new program Thursday night over CBS will be covered by WNEW, marking it is believed, the first instance of one station ballyhooing a program from another. The WNEW broadcast will be offered from 7:30 to 8 P. M., and will feature interviews of celebrities attending the premiere. At 8 and 8:30 P. M. CBS will carry the regular show.

ballyhoo. The agency is Baggaley, Horton and Hoyt, Inc., Chicago.

"Look for the Woman"

Peggy Grady got off to a bad start with the first of this new series. She was nervous, her voice pitched too high and the incidents she referred to in most cases anything but newsy and interesting.

Deltah Cosmetics, sponsors of this 15-minute program over WOR, are offering prizes for the best news events of the week in which women figure. The contest closes Wednesday and indicates that whatever happens in the last three days of the week is not news, or something that can't be fitted into the program the last few days.

The wife of this reviewer listened in, too, but unless the program is made real interesting here is one radio fan that will turn to another station.

"Look for the Woman" is offered Sundays from 11:15 to 11:30 A.M. over WOR. The Arthur Rosenberg Agency handles the account.

"Fighting Crime"

In the third of the "Fighting Crime" series, a sustaining program of the CBS Dep't of Talks, Thomas E. Dewey, special investigator for the City of New York and now Fusion and Labor candidate for district attorney, held the stage.

His was an extremely interesting and informative 15-minute discussion, in which he described crime as a national industry. Criminal syndicates today, he said, have more brain than brawn and are set up like regulation industrial enterprises in which the "big shot" is president and in which the "business" is routinized in the form of departments from "strong arm to legal." Dewey, who has made a noted career in exposing rackets in this city, declared the approach of law enforcement on crime today must be different; that it is not sufficient to be content with the apprehension of an individual criminal. He described the new approach as one which calls for the uncovering of the organization behind the lone hand bandit and added the method of prosecution must be altered to meet this hitherto unknown circumstance.

The "Fighting Crime" series, originally held to four talks, is to be extended. It is heard from 6:45 to 7 P. M. each Saturday.

means that many regular patrons have missed big productions which had been saved for season openings, but the neighborhood theatres are counting on a harvest in the weeks to come when they play the same pictures. Suburban theatres have also been hit, of course, the case being cited of an important outlying house having a total take of $4.90 for the matinee one Saturday. This theatre caters to youngsters and the usual Saturday matinee gross is around $200.

Because of the improvement in the local health situation, the medical authorities at London, Ont., have raised the ban on the admission of children to theatres and, elsewhere, there has been a gradual return to normal.

Expect Omaha Termination

OMAHA, Sept. 27.—The city health department is expected to lift the order barring theatre attendance by children under 18 because of the infantile paralysis epidemic by Oct. 2, two days before schools open.

A survey of exhibitors shows losses during the six-week ban have ranged from 25 to 60 per cent. Downtown theatres suffered less heavily than neighborhoods, about half of which closed during midweek because of the epidemic.

Chicago Ban Lifted

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The grade schools here opened today after being closed for three weeks as a result of the epidemic of infantile paralysis. Children seven years of age and over may now attend the theatres.

It is estimated that the ban on attendance cost theatres $800,000.

Bexley O., Bars Children

COLUMBUS, Sept. 27.—As a precautionary measure due to infantile paralysis, children under 16 are barred from the Bexley, in suburban Bexley, and opening of schools has been deferred.

Ad Mat Costs Increase

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—Operating costs for Canadian theatres went up another notch when the film exchanges decided that a raise in the price of press book ad mats to exhibitors would be necessary because of the increase in the cost of materials and labor. Effective immediately, the charge for ad mats has been increased from 15 cents to 25 cents per column width regardless of depth measurement. A two-column mat now costs 50 cents instead of 30 cents while one of three columns will be 75 cents as against the previous charge of 45 cents.

Enters Denial in Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27.—The Midwest Enterprises Co. has filed a petition in Federal District Court disclaiming any part in the filming of a house being sawed in half here. Mrs. Fern Chadwick has asked $25,000, naming Midwest, Universal, Warner Theatres and Standard Theatres Corp.

Plan Six for Odeon

LONDON, Sept. 17.—A building contract for £240,000 has been placed for six Odeon theatres in Scotland, the first to be erected at Ayr.

Para. Plans British Films On Big Scale

To Start in 6 Months, Declares Zukor

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Adolph Zukor, on his arrival from the Continent, reaffirmed Paramount's intention to engage in large scale British production.

"We will start within six months and the pictures we will aim to make will be of the same quality as our Hollywood product and on a scale justifying world distribution," he said.

Al Mingalone, Paramount News cameraman, went aloft at Old Orchard Beach yesterday, in a saddle attached to 32 bunched balloons, to catch some odd shots for the reel. But the rope which attached the balloons to a tree parted, and Mingalone went for a ride. Father James A. Mullins tried with a rifle.

Mingalone hit 2,000 feet, dropped his camera, was too weak to use the gun in his pocket, and finally landed, unhurt, at Vay's Mills, 13 miles away.

"Lab" Deal with Korda Revives Talk of M-G-M Financing Him

London, Sept. 28.—The laboratory at the Denham studio, home of London Films, is about to undergo a change in ownership. A contract is poised whereby Metro British and 20th Century-Fox each will acquire one-third of the shares. The present owners are Continental bankers, chiefly, plus Alexander Korda.

Those along Wardour St., London's Film Row, who are familiar with the deal are speculating if this does not tie in with the story reported in Motion Picture Daily on Sept. 7 that M-G-M had arranged to extend finances to Korda through the British-American Bank.

Today, preparation for "Dangers in Mourning," Victor Saville's next, was stopped on word of his new deal with Metro. The latter company may get rights to "The Citadel."

Rolan Leaves Time For Post with RKO

Ralph Rolan, vice-president in charge of promotion for March of Time since its inception, resigned yesterday to join RKO on Oct. 4 as special executive. He will work with Jules Levy, general sales manager, and S. Barret McCormick, advertising and publicity director.

Prior to joining March of Time, Rolan was on the Cleveland Plain Dealer. He is now president of Ampa. His former duties at March of Time will be divided among Otis P. Swift, who will handle publicity on the reel, William Geer and John Wood.

Duals Out, Prices Up in Kansas Spots

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28.—"Goodbye Double Bills!" was the caption of an advertisement placed by the Fox Plaza this week when it turned away from an unsuccessful four-week experiment with doubles and launched singles at an admission increased from 25 to 35 cents, and thereby joined the general move for increases.

Another Fox Midwest suburban, the Rockhill, this week advanced from 15 to 20 cents, and may go to 25 cents.

Other admission boosts include C.

Benny's Program Is Renewed 144 Weeks

The Jack Benny program for Jello has been renewed for 144 weeks, effective Oct. 3, at which date Benny will return to the series. The series is offered from 7 to 7:30 P.M. over 86 NBC Red network stations.

The comedian several months ago was signed to a three-year contract guaranteeing his exclusive services to the General Foods Corp. Young & Rubicam is the agency.

Milwaukee Meeting To Discuss Scales

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 28.—A citywide meeting of exhibitors has been scheduled for Oct. 4 to discuss possibilities of a general increase in admission prices and the re-writing of a zoning and clearance plan.

Also slated for discussion is the matter of bargaining with the local projectionists' union. The present contract expires Oct. 31 and an effort will be made to determine whether local members of the I. T. P. A. will deal separately with the union or through a citywide committee including circuits as well as independents.

Settlement Reached In Cocalis-Fox Suit

A settlement for $10,000 was reached yesterday in the suit by 20th Century-Fox against Sam D. Cocalis in the accounting of overages on a number of pictures. The original complaint was for $9,200, but because another picture was played after the complaint was filed, the amount was increased to $12,400.

Under terms of the settlement the defendants conceded that percentage pictures sold in a group should be accounted for individually. This was

Legislation Final Move, States Kuykendall

Support of Allied or any other group of exhibitors will be welcomed by the M. P. T. O. A., if distributors continue an attitude of non-cooperation in solving industry problems, Ed Kuykendall indicated in a statement issued yesterday.

Universal 3-Month Loss Is $627,933

Universal Pictures, Inc., and subsidiaries report a net loss of $627,933 for the third quarter of the current fiscal year ending July 31. This is after all charges, Federal and foreign income taxes, and depreciation.

It compares with a net loss of $579,379 in the same period a year ago.

Has to Wait

The tumult occasioned by the hammering and sawing on the eighth floor of the Warner Bldg. has died; the carpenters and joiners have departed, and in their place there stands the new and elaborate office of Joseph Bernhard, fragrant with the aroma of knotted pine paneling, wax-finished throughout. The only item lacking is the occupant, general manager of the Warner circuit.

Bernhard is at home with a heavy cold and his thrill will have to wait.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

WHILE Benito is dabbling at the international canvas in larger and bolder strokes, the Associated Press reports from Bostock, Germany, that Mussolini, the father, is not too busy as Mussolini, the dictator, to keep a paternal eye on the American jaunt of Vittorio. The dispatch from Germany understands Il Duce was not eager about his son's jaunt because of possible Communist and anti-Fascist demonstrations. Vittorio, however, is safely in Hollywood. He is, of course, comfortably settled in Hal Roach's home, which, of course, must be a large and extended establishment. He attended a circus on Sunday. The international tension, through family eyes this time, has eased. Il Duce's worries, as a father, seem to have lightened. . . .

There is something to catch the eye in Junior's first act upon arrival on the coast. He went to a circus: And that seems a reasonable enough thing to have done. Probably Roach, as host, accompanied him and that fits even closer. It ties in so very neatly with RAM—the "R" from Roach and the "M" from Mussolini—and the hazy agenda which that poorly defined company has set out to fulfill. A great deal, naturally, has been printed about the first visit of a Mussolini to this country. It was news. But if you will indulge what may focus in the spotlight of immodesty, we should like to refer for a spell to the interview with the amazing Roach which MOTION PICTURE DAILY published following his arrival last week. . . .

Nothing aware of the circus Mussolini attended, it could not have been half the circus Roach let himself in for. By dint of careful reading, the conclusion might be drawn he was to make pictures with Vittorio in Italy. How many and with whom? How much and when? When Mussolini learns all there is to learn about production after two weeks of studios and parties in Hollywood? Pertinent questions all, vaguely and foggily answered. The impression emerged that Roach dimly thought he had a big idea, but a big idea about what was something he did not, or could not, answer. Could not, appears much more like it. . . .

Mussolini and Hitler in Germany, giving the world a renewed case of the ague. Vittorio and Hal in Hollywood, giving the American film industry what ought to be a sweating bee of its own. Ludicrous, you might think, to draw a parallel. But is it? Dictators cannot afford to countenance rebuffs. Mussolini, Duce and father, will not look kindly upon any hit-and-miss success for Vittorio and his film aspirations. If not for the son's sake, then for the sake of the father's ego. Any films, if any are made, by Roach and young Mussolini in Rome are very apt to confront the American industry with the embarrassing matter of distribution here. Unofficial as Vittorio's enterprise may be, it is official enough that he is his father's son; the rest might be filled in by anyone who may have read thus far. The possibility thereby becomes a powder keg for any large American company to envision in the face of Fascist ideology which raises no enthusiasm here and the flirtations of Fascism and Nazism which induce even less. . . .

For film deals come and go. And so may Roach's. But where the ordinary transaction may leave no scars except to one or the other of the parties involved, this reckless lark of Roach's is vastly different. A breakdown or a rift for no matter what reason and regardless of fault suggests an American industry imperiled. In Italy. And in Germany as well as in Japan and in other countries where the Mussolini-Hitler-Nipponese military sphere of influence sounds its impact. No one individual has the right to consort with such a danger for his industry. Yet this is what Roach, unthinkingly or otherwise, has done. He has turned Metro nervous. He is seemingly unaware of the damage he may do his own product in this market. He has aroused and angered the sensibilities of many liberal-minded men in the business. He has brought over a Mussolini, a product of a freedom-destroying despot. Roach in 1937! A big idea, but a big idea about what? . . .

Pathe's board of directors will hold a regular meeting this afternoon. Routine matters are scheduled. O. Henry Briggs, president, who recently returned from the coast, will preside.

Capitol Gets Time
To File an Appeal

Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox yesterday allowed the Moredall Realty Corp., owners of the Capitol, until Sept. 30 to file its record on its appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals against the decision in favor of Edward Sheldon and Margaret Ayer Barnes.

Sheldon and Barnes, playwrights, obtained an order for an accounting of profits in the U. S. District Court against the exhibitor because of an alleged infringement of their play, "Dishonored Lady" in the M-G-M picture, "Letty Lynton," which was shown at the Capitol 84 times. The accounting was sent to a special master for hearing, but was stayed pending the appeal. An accounting of the profits by M-G-M still pends.

Delay Warner-Gielow Suit

Trial of the $500,000 plagiarism suit of Irving Gielow against Warners was postponed by Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox in the U. S. District Court yesterday for 30 days to permit examination before trial of Robert Montgomery and William Elfeldt in California.

Gielow claims infringement of his play, "Give Me This Night," in "Flirtation Walk." Two songs, "I Can't Believe" and "Mr. and Mrs. Is the Name" are also alleged to be infringements. Warners asked for the examination of Montgomery because of his familiarity with the story on which the picture was based. Elfeldt wrote and arranged the music for the picture. An accounting of the profits and a permanent injunction are asked in addition to the damages.

Appeal Vice Film Ban

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28.—The appeal taken on the injunction against the showing of "Smashing the Vice Ring" came before Judge Eli Frank in City Court here today after the jurist had viewed the film and conducted a preliminary hearing yesterday. Owners were invited to make changes and re-submit the film to the censors.

Montague Lunch Host

Abe Montague, Columbia general sales manager, was host at a fish luncheon at Roth's yesterday to 32 company officials. He had caught the fish over the weekend. Among those present were: Jack Cohn, N. Hollywood Reporter:—"M-G-M's 'Bride Wore Red' superb entertainment. Crawford at best in absorbing drama. Even in a season marked for its exceptional tide of excellent pictures, there must be some which stand out as a little ahead of the rest. 'The Bride Wore Red' is one of these, a picture in which all the elements—drama, color, music, performance, direction and production—unite with a splendid perfection to provide superior entertainment. Once more, M-G-M has given to Joan Crawford and her superlative supporting cast the full tide of its production powers and the result is certain box-office and new laurels for everyone concerned. There isn't a weak spot in the cast. Joan Crawford offers one of her finest characterizations, with delicately shaded nuances which are a delight."

Included in the world events are scenes of the war-stricken Shanghai area depicting the plight of the natives, President Roosevelt at Cheyenne, Wyo., and a mock aerial attack of Berlin's main district.

New styles in dress for women are on parade with black and silver as the predominating colors. Lehr's talk on a chimpanzee fishing is a whopper.

Daniel J. Doherty's election as commander of the American Legion, Vittorio Mussolini saying a few words before departing for Hollywood and scenes of John D. Biggers assuming his new job of directing an unemployment census are among the highlights of the news.

Among the sports events are the first pigskin games by Navy against William and Mary at Annapolis and Ohio State against Texas Christian at Columbus. Then there is the motorboat race on the Potomac for the President's cup with Notre Dame taking the coveted prize. The amateur fisticuffs for the benefit of the American Legion is a slam bang affair from start to finish, and that's just how this reel finishes.

News of the Day

Vol. IX, No. 203
(M-G-M)

The release is varied enough to be interesting. President Roosevelt is shown speaking from the rear of a train in Wyoming and some of the Yellowstone Park backgrounds are strikingly beautiful.

The Shanghai scenes show action, but not of the kind that has been provided lately. Japanese troops use artillery on a roof, fire engines battle futilely to stop conflagrations. Another fire scene was made in Vienna. It's spectacular.

Young Vittorio Mussolini doesn't shine as an actor. He is shown being interviewed in a hotel room and alighting from a plane in California. A football sequence made in California is exceptional. The light was so strong, the play so open that the telescopic lens almost makes the players recognizable.

Jean Paul King will start an argument among those who have always thought finis was "finnis" or "feenee." He pronounces it "feye-nis," and, believe it or not, that's the way the dictionary has it.

"Paramount News"

No. 16

(Paramount)

President Roosevelt visiting the Northwest, the war in Spain, European military maneuvers and war preventative measures, a quick resume of personalities, styles and drinking customs of 10 years ago; the American Legion winding up its convention with the election of a new national commander, the arrival of Vittorio Mussolini, scenes about war-torn Shanghai and the best plays of last weekend's football games make up this issue of the reel.

The material is generally interesting. The China scenes are well filmed. The comment on each sequence is ably handled and is in keeping with the general trend of the action.

Running time, 10 mins.

Pathe News

Vol. 9, No. 20
(RKO)

There is plenty of thunder and action in this number of the Pathe reel, with two spectacular fires, a flash at the war in China and a demonstration of fast army tanks in action.

The number opens with the Shanghai war scenes, taken by a Japanese cameraman, and is concentrated, perhaps too much, on the push of the Japanese army in north China, picturing the successive victories of the Mikado's troops, with no indication of Chinese defense. It looks a trifle one-sided.

A $500,000 gasoline blaze in San Francisco and the destruction by fire of the famed old Rotunda in Vienna make for lively material. There is plenty of action, as well, in the defeat of Texas Christian by Ohio State, and in the girls' track meet at Trenton, both of which Clem McCarthy handles incisively. For the rest, the Army demonstrates amazing flexibility and strength in the 60-mile-an-hour tanks, the President visits Yellowstone against beautiful scenery, and young Mussolini opines that he will like America.

Running time, 8 mins.

Universal Newsreel

Vol. 9, No. 601
(Universal)

Two exclusive shots appear in this subject, one taken by Cameraman John Henry of society girls riding motor scooters at Oakland, Cal., and the second featuring Don Stevens, Hollywood office boy for Universal, who manipulates a glider plane with a stunt man switching from an auto to the plane at Muroc Dry Lake, Cal. George Krainukov and Howard Winner are at it again with new scenes of the Sino-Japanese warfare. The scenes pictured show Chapei in flames after bombings and refugees taking to the waterways as a means of escape.

Other clips show President Roosevelt at Yellowstone Park, Vittorio Mussolini boarding a TWA plane at Newark, en route to the coast to study production; Daniel Doherty taking over the commandship of the American Legion at the convention in New York; a giant oil blaze with firemen trying to save six big tanks from spreading into the heart of the San Francisco business section; the R. A. F. piracy control at Portsmouth, Eng., taking off in search of pirate submarines, and the army tank maneuvers at Indiantown Gap, Pa.

Graham McNamee furnishes the descriptive lines and does a good job at it.

The opening half of Kuykendall's two-page statement is devoted to a review of the efforts of the past two years to secure voluntary concessions from distributors. No effort has been made at coercion by this organization, Kuykendall says, and no effort was made to conceal the plain fact that unless the industry could and would solve its commercial problems voluntarily it will ultimately be done by legislation, "however unsatisfactory that method may prove to be."

A vibrant, stylized illustration of a city street at night, likely New York City. The scene is filled with a large crowd of people, a yellow taxi, and a sign for 'THE THEATRE'. Overlaid on the image is the text 'and the praise still thunders!' in a large, red, bubbly font with a yellow outline. The background shows a cityscape with buildings and a street sign for 'W 42 ST'. The overall mood is celebratory and energetic.

Direct Transmission Of Television Gains

LONDON, Sept. 21.—An increase of direct transmissions of outside events of news interest is a feature of immediate television program plans disclosed by the BBC.

There are to be scenes on three successive days of the activities of the King George V dock, and of the famous Gallion's Reach of the Thames. Football is to be demonstrated, with illustrations of team tactics, by the Arsenal team, and the North London exhibition will be broadcast on Oct. 13, with detailed illustrations of household time saving equipment.

Ballet figures in two early programs, "Carnival" being scheduled for performance by the Vic-Wells company and "Portsmouth Point" and "Siesta" by a specially assembled troupe. An opera, "La Serva Padrona," will be presented.

Pay Tribute by Television

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Sir Bernard Pares broadcast a tribute to the late Dr. Masaryk in the television program from the Alexandra Palace. It is the first time vision has been used on an occasion of this sort.

WLW Line Exchange To Be Daily Feature

Due to increased commercial demands on the WLW Line, a constant exchange of sustaining and sponsored programs of the line will now be a daily feature with WHN both receiving and sending broadcasts from the various stations in the link.

The new policy starts this week and includes stations WBAL, Baltimore; KQV, Pittsburgh, WFIL, Philadelphia; WLW, Cincinnati, and WHN, New York.

Program Flashes

"Camel Caravan"—The Jack Oakie portion of the Camel program blew hot and cold alternately but principally it was indifferent. The Goodman swing band blew hot throughout.

"General Johnson"—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson in a typically "Johnsonesque" talk blistered the airways with a 15-minute commentary on war and its horrors. He is a Grade A radio asset.

"Famous Jury Trials"—Famous courtroom cases (using fictitious names) over WOR and WGN. Plenty of suspense.

"Flicker Fancies"—Drivel over WNEW purporting to be inside Hollywood. For the lower primary classes.

"Bachelor's Children"—Again the kindly, helpful old doctor. Morning advice distributed from CBS.

"Little Orphan Annie"—The NBC-Red offers the comic strip character well prepared and naturally attractive for the children.

"Young Widder Jones"—She of the title role is struggling to keep the wolf from the door and to decide on one of two suitors. Well performed. Mutual network.

These programs will be reviewed in full in a coming issue of MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

Times Are Changed For NBC Programs

Changes in broadcasting time for two programs over NBC have been effected.

The Pontiac Motor Co.'s "Variety Show," originally scheduled to be heard over the Blue from 8 to 8:30 P.M., beginning Oct. 1, will be heard at that date and time for the first broadcast. The following week, however, it will be offered regularly Fridays from 9 to 9:30 P.M.

"Grand Central Station," for the Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., slated to begin on NBC last night, will not begin until Oct. 8, when it will be heard Fridays over the Blue from 8 to 8:30 P.M., the period which Pontiac will vacate.

McAvity Discussing Warner Air Program

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28.—Tom McAvity, head of the radio department of Lord & Thomas, is here from New York to map final details of an agreement under which Warner talent and studio facilities will go to American Tobacco Co. in a national web show designed to replace the Lucky Strike "Hit Parade" show. The show will be built around Dick Powell as master of ceremonies and will include previews of new Warner product.

R. E. MacAlearney on WQXR

Robert Emmet MacAlearney, former city editor of the New York Post and Herald Tribune, has been added to WQXR's staff as a news commentator. MacAlearney is now heard Monday through Friday from 6:45 to 7 P.M.

Beginning Oct. 2 over WQXR, John Gassner, dramatic critic of The Forum, will present a series titled "The Week in the Theatre." He will be heard from 5:45 to 6 P.M.

Earle Ferris to Coast

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Earle Ferris, president of Radio Features Service, left here today en route to Hollywood to confer with his staff there on the opening of four major programs for which he handles exploitation. The programs are Jack Benny's, Joe Penner's, Phil Baker's, and the "Silver Theatre," all of which open on Sunday.

Two New Jewish Series Set

The Zion National Kosher Sausage Factory will sponsor a variety show on WMCA beginning Oct. 4 from 8:30 to 9 P.M. Jewish stage stars will be featured.

Another Jewish program over WMCA will be sponsored by Junket. Titled "Voice of Jerusalem," it will start Sept. 30 from 8:15 to 8:30 P.M.

To Start New WNEW Sports

Earl Harper will commence a new nightly series of sports broadcasts over WNEW at 10:45 P.M. Oct. 2. The series will be titled "The Sportscope."

Allied of Michigan To Meet Oct. 12-13

many important business matters brought up for consideration, among them appointment of a general manager to succeed H. M. Richey, who recently resigned to become director of public relations for Co-Operative Theatres of Michigan.

In a pre-convention statement just issued by Ray Branch of Hastings, four-time president of Allied and chairman of its state affairs committee, he declares that "Allied of Michigan is far from being a passing organization, but rather that it is much strengthened from the standpoint of its state personnel."

"I firmly believe by the time we hold our annual meeting we will have a greater number of members than we ever had before," he concluded.

N. E. Allied Claims "Strike" Progresses

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—A claim that only 10 per cent of the members of New England Allied have contracted for Paramount's new product was voiced at a meeting of the organization held here today.

Members are being asked to make individual buying deals and to continue the protest moves aimed at Paramount.

At Arkansas City, Kan., the Fox Burford went from 20 and 25 cents to 35 cents on the weekend change, remaining 25 cents the last half of the week. The Starr, now Fox controlled, which has been five and 10 cents, went to 10 and 20 cents; and the Howard, W. D. Fulton's theatre, advanced from 15 cents to 20 cents. Children's admissions now are uniformly 10 cents. They have been, at times, five cents.

grounds, would send over stars and production units from Hollywood, added Zukor.

During the next few weeks Zukor will study the British studio situation. It is Paramount's intention to lease space in one of the modern plants.

A combination of Continental scenes with others shot in England was another possibility foreshadowed by Zukor.

Flash Previews

"Lancer Spy"—Striking production values brings this World War spy melodrama into the division of first class entertainment of its kind.

"Outlaws of the Orient"—Jack Holt in a typical action film, centered about the depredations of Chinese brigands hampering an oil development. Lively fare.

These pictures will be reviewed in full in a forthcoming issue of MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

Settlement Reached In Cocalis-Fox Suit

the argument presented by Louis Nizer of Phillips & Nizer, representing the distributor in the action. Also, Cocalis personally must endorse the checks for payment.

The settlement was arranged yesterday morning after a conference between Nizer and Bruce Bromley, attorney for the defendant, in the chambers of N. Y. Supreme Court Justice Aaron Steuer.

Negotiations are now under way to settle a similar suit against Consolidated Amusements. The figures involved are to be determined by accountants who are going over the books.

When the case came before the N. Y. Supreme Court last year, the court held by four to one that collective accounting should be enforced and dismissed the suit. Later, the Court of Appeals held seven to nothing in favor of individual accounting and ordered a new trial.

Testifying in the action on Monday were Harry H. Buxbaum, Joe Lee and E. C. Grainger. Gradwell L. Sears, Jules Levy and John J. O'Connor were experts on the case, but were not called to testify.

Erpi to Continue in England, Says Bach pointed out that Erpi has been a licensing rather than a manufacturing company and that its decision to license other concerns to make certain parts of equipment has no significance here.

The percentage of British sound equipment made by W. E. is so high, says the Bach statement, that it is only necessary to import equipment when demand exceeds British manufacturing facilities, which ordinarily take care of British demands in strict accord with the specifications of the Bell Telephone Laboratories and Electrical Research Products.

Utilize Radio To Boost B.O. In Michigan

United and Butterfield Share Exploitation

DETROIT, Sept. 29.—Radio is again in action as a ticket-selling medium throughout the Michigan territory. The first of the new season's radio previews was broadcast by United Detroit Theatres on "Double or Nothing" for the engagement of that film at the Michigan starting Oct. 1.

These radio previews, which were first instituted by United Detroit in cooperation with Robert M. Gillham, director of advertising for Paramount, are broadcast simultaneously on five Detroit stations and aired throughout the state on the Michigan network of nine stations.

The program originates at the studios of WXYZ, Detroit. It runs a half hour and is a combination of both drama and music, with an orchestra of 30, a chorus of 16 voices, several solos and a dramatic cast of from eight to 15, depending on the character of the dialogue taken from the Hollywood script. The story is told up to the point of arousing curiosity with dia-

Theatre Fight

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A newsreel film showing Japanese troops marching into Shanghai last night precipitated a fight in a newsreel theatre in Leicester Square. The applause of Japanese in the theatre brought the Chinese sitting nearby into battle and other Japs and Chinese in the the house leaped into the fight. Several persons were beaten.

English Labor Opposes Alien Infiltrations

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Trade Union Congress, meeting at Norwich, has adopted the resolutions, put forward by the National Ass'n of Theatrical and Kinematograph Employees, in favor of legislation establishing efficient British film production as a "national necessity," safeguarding British employes, and preventing "alien disarrangement and infiltration" of British cultural standards. The Ass'n of Cine Technicians was associated with the N.A.T.K.E.

That half the cotton exports of England were needed to pay for imported films was a statement made by T. O'Brien, N.A.T.K.E. secretary, who

Universal Decides To Reduce Expenses

A policy of retrenchment, designed to effect economies in operation, has been determined upon at Universal. It will hit the clerical force largely and in its present form, at least, is not designed to touch any employes in the upper and semi-upper brackets.

J. Albert Hirsch, advertising manager, has resigned and will be succeeded by Lew Pollock, who has been assistant.

YEAR'S FIRST RUN TAKES 73 MILLION

Total Compiled from 1936-'37 Weekly Key City Grosses as Gathered by Motion Picture Daily

Copyright, 1937, Quigley Publishing Company, Inc.

Key city first runs grossed $73,035,993 last season, a recapitulation of box-office reports published in MOTION PICTURE DAILY reveals.

The national index is based on estimates from 30 cities for 40 weeks from the theatre week ending Sept. 4-5, 1936, to the theatre week ending June 4-5, 1937, and on estimates from 24 cities from the week ending June 11-12 to the week terminating Aug. 27-28 of this year. In June, the number of reporting cities was cut with elimination of such points as Louisville; Lincoln, Neb.; Portland, Ore., and Providence among others. It was felt, for instance, that Cincinnati, as the largest city in its area, might be construed as generally reflecting the manner in which product was going. Louisville, as a consequence, was eliminated. Likewise, since Boston and New Haven were viewed as a representative cross-section of New England, Providence was deleted.

Music Hall to Take 3 More U. A. Films

Three more United Artists films have been booked into the Music Hall. "Stand In" is tentatively dated for the week of Oct. 28 and will be followed by "Nothing Sacred," either Nov. 4 or Nov. 11. "Tom Sawyer" will be dated later.

The trio makes six of the distributor's 1937-38 product booked by the Music Hall so far.

"Double or Nothing" tallied approximately $35,000 in the third week at the Paramount. A stage show supplements the picture. "On Such a Night" garnered $6,500 at the Rialto and "Shanghai Express" took in about $6,000 at the Criterion.

"Something to Sing About" at the Globe finished the first seven days with about $8,000. "Make a Wish" was a disappointment at the Rivoli and chalked up about $8,000 for seven days. "Life of the Party" is slated to open at the theatre Saturday.

Columbia to Resume Stage Productions

Columbia again has decided to enter the Broadway legitimate producing field, according to an announcement yesterday. No specific arrangements have been completed, but it was stated a substantial budget for a number of productions has been set aside.

About two years ago, Richard Aldrich joined Columbia as head of a newly created department. He left shortly after to produce on his own. Aldrich has just returned from a tour of the country, but whether he will put on the Columbia shows is uncertain.

Ed Kuykendall, president of the M.P.T.O.A., will leave here for Philadelphia tomorrow, and it is reported he may enter the Paramount buying strike situation in an effort to bring about an amicable settlement of the dispute between Paramount and the U.M.P.T.O. Kuykendall refused to discuss the matter yesterday.

He is not representing either side, it is understood, but may act as a mediator. His interest in the matter lies in part in the fact that the U.M.P.

Queries on the Kansas City clearance situation will have to be made in the meantime, it was said.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S
HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW"Lancer Spy"

(20th Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—Actually straight melodrama of the activities of a British spy in Berlin during the World War, "Lancer Spy" has been endowed with such striking production values as to bring it into the classification of first-class action entertainment of its kind. It has speed, maintains a fine pace and is loaded with suspense.

All credit to Gregory Ratoff, who directed and had a large hand in the preparation of story and screenplay, and to George Sanders, who, in the lead, is splendid in the difficult dual role of a British naval officer and a German officer of the Lancers. The makeup transformation is excellent and the shift in personality and speech is entirely commendable. The performance marks a long step forward for Sanders.

In support are Dolores Del Rio as the German spy who falls in love with Sanders and saves his life and his mission; Lionel Atwill as the British secret service officer; Joseph Schildkraut in one of his fine characterizations as the high German staff officer, and Peter Lorre, who is excellent as the soft-spoken, crafty German intelligence officer. Virginia Field does well in a small part as Sanders' wife.

When a German officer is captured, his striking resemblance to Sanders is noted by the British intelligence. And after watching him for weeks, Sanders takes on the German's identity, is permitted to escape, and is welcomed as a national hero in Berlin. His adventures in pursuit of German high command plans make for suspense-laden drama, and his escape from Germany, after Miss Del Rio sacrifices herself for him, are a high spot in action material.

Running time, 83 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over"Ave Maria"

(Itala Films-UFA)

A simple but sincerely acted, love story, the excellently recorded voice of Beniamino Gigli and a finished production give this imported film many pleasing and entertaining qualities. The scenario is not new, but it serves well for the insertion of Gigli's magnificent singing. The photography of Italian sequences backgrounded with the Bay of Naples is excellent.

In the opening shots it is revealed that Gigli, as Tino Dossi, a famous tenor, mourns for a dead girl, his first and only love. He is persuaded to give a concert in Paris, however, by his manager. The manager later gets drunk in a cafe where Kathe von Nagy is singing and tells Gigli's secret to Miss Nagy and Harald Paulsen. They plot to reap publicity by this knowledge. There is also a hint of blackmail. Miss Nagy manages to meet Gigli at a church. She poses as an innocent country girl with a story similar to the tenor's. They become good friends and Gigli offers to drive Miss Nagy back to her home. She is clever and works a humorous game with him, giving the appearance that her stepfather has thrown her out of his house. Gigli then takes her to his home in Italy. There romance blossoms. In the meanwhile, Gigli's manager catches up, learns of what has been taking place and sets out to tell Gigli. Gigli learns of it soon enough, but he also becomes aware that Miss Nagy has really fallen in love with him. After she is injured in an accident they are reconciled.

Miss Nagy is a talented actress and she does very well with her role. Gigli sings better than he acts. The music is played by the Berlin State Orchestra and consists of an original piece based on the title; arias from "La Traviata" and Schubert's "Ave Maria." The dialogue is in German and Italian. There are adequate English titles. Johannes Riemann directed. The music was arranged by Alois Melichar.

Running time, 89 minutes. "A."

Sustain Argentine Verdict on Appeal

By N. BRUSKI

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 29.—The Criminal Court of Appeal here has upheld the lower court decision of Judge Artemio Moreno committing for trial the members of the Argentine Film Distributors' Ass'n for violation of the anti-trust laws of the country.

The court also had imposed a bond of 15,000 pesos on the property of each member. Practically all the major American companies are members of the Argentine organization. The directorate of the association, upon whom fines probably will be levied, includes: Guy P. Morgan, United Artists; Harry Novak, Warners; Sigfried Bauer, M-G-M; John Nathan, Paramount; Charles Margen, Columbia; Monroe Eisen, Universal; Adolph Wilson, Terra; Charles Glucksmann, Radio Lux, and Judge Joly, Joly Co.

Liberty and M-G-M In Tieup on Shorts

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—Details of the national exploitation campaign for M-G-M shorts with Liberty Magazine, which started in the Sept. 18, issue, were disclosed today. Pete Smith is seeking new material for short subject specialties, and Liberty is tying in with the drive in a "Whoppers" campaign.

The "Whoppers" are not to be more than 300 words in length, and, if accepted by M-G-M as production material, will get screen credit for the writer and a substantial cash award besides.

Liberty has agreed that if any of the "Whoppers" are used for the basis of a Smith short, it will give a minimum of three full pages publicizing the picture, with additional space in affiliated magazines, and will use radio, newsstands and carrier boys for further promotion. Pete Smith, Fred Quimby, general M-G-M shorts manager, and Fulton Oursler, Liberty editor, will act as judges in the contest.

Darrioux Reception

Danielle Darrioux, French film player who will arrive today on the Normandie will be greeted as she comes up the bay by M. C. de Ferry de Fontnouville, French consul; R. H. Cochrane, J. Cheever Cowdin and Charles R. Rogers, Universal executives. The actress will spend four days in New York before proceeding to the Universal studios in Burbank.

Delay Ziegfeld Sale

The sale of the right and title to 72 musical comedies and plays which are among the assets of the estate of Florenz Ziegfeld, which was to have been held yesterday in White Plains, was postponed to Oct. 15 by County Treasurer William S. Coffey. The postponement was taken at the request of a Hollywood group seeking to protect its interests.

No Ampa Meeting Today

No meeting of Ampa will be held today. A program of entertainment including what Ralph Rolan and Lester Thompson describe as a surprise is to be furnished next week.

GB to Hold Chicago Regional Saturday

G.B. will hold the second in a series of regional sales meetings at the Hotel Blackstone, Chicago, next Saturday with Arthur Lee, vice-president, presiding.

Clinton M. White, assistant general manager, and Arthur Greenblatt, eastern division manager, will leave tomorrow. Others who will attend will be: A. H. Fischer and Max Mazur, Chicago; Harlan Starr, Detroit; Herman Booth, Cincinnati; Fred Wagoner, Indianapolis; Al Kent, St. Louis; Bill Marshall, Milwaukee; Fred Abelson, Minneapolis; Douglas Desch, Kansas City, and Bob Selig, Denver.

Following the meeting, White will go to Des Moines and Greenblatt will go to Cincinnati.

"Zola" in Flying Start

Warners reported "The Life of Emile Zola" had a $5,100 opening day at the Fox, Philadelphia, yesterday and had outdistanced the opening of "Maytime," "Anthony Adverse" and "Thin Ice" at the same theatre. It was the first popular price engagement for the Muni film.

NED E. DEPINET and "DEAC" AYLESWORTH among those at "21" yesterday. But that was not all. HERMAN ROBBINS and GEORGE DEMBOW were lunching with ED KUYKENDALL. RALPH ROLAN, now about to join RKO, was with DON MERSEREAU. SAM MARX, in one corner, cupped his lips to say he was returning to the coast today, when yesterday originally was the day. DOROTHY MACKAILL also was there, as was DUDLEY MURPHY. SAM DEMBOW was host to M. B. SHANBERG, who already is thinking seriously about plans to reopen his Miami Beach residence. KUYKENDALL starts on his cross-country trip Friday with JAY EMANUEL's annual golf tournament in Philadelphia, then Memphis, then New Orleans, then Seattle and other western cities. Those stories about a feature with JOE LOUIS, the night club entertainer, not the pugilist, incidentally concern EDWARD SHANBERG, who is M. B.'s brother.

CHARLES BOYER and PAT PATERSON are due from the coast tomorrow and a flock of publicity men are expected to meet them at the train. BOYER is a star on the WALTER WANGER roster and recently finished a part in "Madame Walewska" for M-G-M and a role in "Tovarich" for Warners. His wife has just completed a part in "52nd Street." And, to top it off, "Mayerling," in which BOYER appears, is current at the Filmarte.

OWEN DAVIS, JR., will celebrate a triple event on Oct. 6, his birthday, the release date for "Luck of Roaring Camp," in which he is starred, and also the starting date for his road tour in "Yes, My Darling Daughter."

JANET GAYNOR, who leaves the coast tomorrow with DAVE SELZNICK and WALTER WANGER and their parties, will stop over at Chicago for a few days before coming to New York.

JED PROUTY and KENNETH HOWELL, who play father and son, respectively, in the Jones Family series, are vacationing here. PROUTY shortly will head for New England, HOWELL for Europe.

LEW WERTHEIMER, newly appointed executive assistant to JOSEPH M. SCHENCK; BENNY THAU and HOWARD STRICKLING will arrive today on the Normandie.

"Outlaws of the Orient"

(Columbia)

Make it an oil field in the Gobi Desert of China instead of a cattle ranch, make the menace a gang of double-crossing Chinese brigands instead of cattle rustlers, put the hero in a flying suit instead of chaps and on foot and in a plane instead of on a cow pony, and you have "Outlaws of the Orient," which is the usual western type of material in a different setting.

Otherwise all the ingredients are there. The fight of the hero to save the oil field and his brother, the one from the depredations of bandits and the other from liquor and a job too big for him, the inclusion of a slight romance between the brother and the girl, the renunciation of the fiancée who won't wait, while the hero goes to the rescue, all are present and accounted for.

The result is routine, but occasionally exciting action material, considerably unconvincing, of course, but probably satisfactory for the fans who like their film fare fast.

Jack Holt is his usual he-man self in the lead, supported by Mae Clark, as the girl; Harold Huber, as the Chinese bandit chief; Ray Walker, whose comedy is not too comic, and James Bush, as the weak younger brother, who finds love and himself. Ernest B. Shoedsack directed from a screenplay by Charles Francis Royal and Paul Franklin, and a story by Ralph Graves.

Running time, 61 minutes. "G."

FERNAND GRAVET, SONJA HENIE, JACK BUCHANAN and RAMON NOVARRO also are due today on the Normandie.

PAUL LUKAS, who has been appearing in pictures in London, arrives on the Roma today and later will appear in "A Doll's House" on the stage, of course.

MARK GOLDMAN, Pittsburgh branch manager for G. B., returned to his office yesterday after attending the regional sales conference here.

OTTO BOLLE sailed yesterday on the Berengaria headed for South Africa where he will open an office for 20th Century-Fox.

GENE and HARRY MARCUS, independent exchange operators in Salt Lake City and Denver, are visiting for a few days.

FELIX JENKINS, general counsel for 20th Century-Fox, will leave tomorrow via American Airlines for the coast.

JACK BUCHANAN is coming over for a lead in "Between the Devil," another in the rising crop of stage efforts.

JACK COHN will sail tomorrow on the Normandie for London. He said yesterday he's going for "a weekend."

ROBERT GILLHAM is in Hollywood on one of his periodic visits. Gone for about two weeks more.

BILL SUSSMAN is back from a tour of 20th Century-Fox exchanges under his supervision.

HARRY COHN, NATE SPINGOLD and GEORGE WHITE will leave today for the coast by plane.

Short Subject

"March of Time"

(RKO)

A focal figure in the current political spotlight, the war boom in the scrap metal business and a phase of English liquor control make up the body of this issue, No. 2 of Vol. 4, and the combination provides an interesting and significant pictorial study, done in the usual and, by now expected, excellent Time style.

Far and away the highlight, chiefly by reason of current excitement, is the pictorial record of the highlights in the rise of Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia. The Mayor, aided by Police Commissioner Valentine, Special Prosecutor Dewey, Secretary of Interior Ickes, department heads and others, reenacts scenes indicative of his remarkable reformation of the character of the government of New York, dating from the original spanking of Tammany four years ago, through his smashing of racketeers, slum clearance, park, bridge and playground building. LaGuardia enters into the film making with verve, and the result is interesting and important.

Using the novel and entertaining device of focusing upon an Elizabeth, N. J., junk dealer, the next episode points to the significant increase in the scrap metal market, with war the obvious reason for the boom, and the resulting prosperity for America's 250,000 junk dealers. Seen is the method of crushing miscellaneous scrap into compact bundles for various countries, especially Japan.

The last sequence describes the effect of the DORA (Defense of the Realm Acts) in England, which mount to a type of prohibition and have caused the growth in the country of evasion of the sort which made the American speakeasy popular not many years ago.

Brighton Theatres May Close Sundays

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The closing of Brighton houses on Sundays, as a protest against the increase of the compulsory charity levy on receipts on that day, was advocated at a meeting of the local C. E. A.

Brighton had unconditional Sunday opening before the passing of the Sunday Entertainments Act, which imposed the payment of £1,050 by Brighton exhibitors jointly. Now the local Council is considering making the levy 8.75 per cent of Sunday takings.

If the closing threat is carried out, it will be accompanied by an appeal for public support, on the grounds that a service demanded by the community has been rendered impracticable by official action.

Any action in Brighton would probably be imitated in other districts. There is considerable resentment against the act which makes Sunday opening conditional on a charity contribution, the trade argument being that the exhibitor is entitled to profit if he supplies a legal entertainment.

Complete 'Yank' Casting

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Ben Goetz has signed Vivien Leigh and Griffith Jones for the principal British roles in "A Yank at Oxford," MGM's first at Denham. Robert Taylor and Maureen O'Sullivan, American leads of the picture, will be supported from Hollywood by Tully Marshall as well as Lionel Barrymore. British castings already include Edmund Gwenn, C. V. France, Edward Rigby, Robert Coote and Noel Howlett.

Jubilesta Drew 200,000

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—The nine-day Jubilesta, Municipal Auditorium show which closed here over the weekend after displaying more than $100,000 worth of entertainment, drew over 200,000 attendance, and left exhibitors' box-offices limp from exhaustion.

The event probably will be held again next fall.

Music Corp. of America, which handled the show, placed big "thank you" ads in both papers.

Goldburg Leaves Firm

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—Jessie J. Goldburg, back from England and the Continent where he represented Burroughs-Tarzan Enterprises and the Citizens National Bank of Los Angeles in the sale of the European rights of the film company, has severed his partnership arrangements with Ben S. Cohen and George W. Stout.

Harris Buys 2nd Site

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29.—Another piece of property, upon which a new 1,200-seat house will be erected, has just been acquired by the Harris Amusement Co. The lot is in the North Side district, at Perrysville Ave. and East St., and is this circuit's second real estate deal in as many months.

Circuit Replaces Scott

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—Glen W. Dickinson has named Ted Siler to replace Jack Scott, son of Ward Scott, district manager of 20th Century-Fox, as manager of the Dickinson at Hiawatha, Kan. Jack Scott will take a short vacation and then return to Kansas University for the fall term.

LeRoy Buys "4th Estate"

Mervyn LeRoy has purchased "The Fourth Estate," newspaper story by Saul Elkins and Sally Sadlin.

Circuit Acquires Three

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—United Amusement, Ltd., here, subsidiary of Famous Players Canadian Corp., has added three theatres in the Greater Montreal district, the Maska and Corona in Ste. Hyacinthe and the Victoria in St. Lambert, across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal.

Plan Monogram Drive

Monogram will start a sales drive named after Eddie Golden in the near future. Money prizes will be awarded offices reaching quotas.

Booth Rules in B. C. Postponed for Year

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 29.—New Government regulations, which would allow one qualified operator and an apprentice, instead of two men as at present, have been postponed for a full year.

The delay was granted by the Provincial Government on protests by the projectionists' union. Regulations were to have gone into effect Jan. 1, 1938, and have been postponed until Jan. 1, 1939.

At present projectionists and theatre owners are negotiating new contracts, and a strike was threatened by the projectionists. The deadline for the strike was to have been Sept. 18, but was delayed until Oct. 4, when N. L. Nathanson, Famous Players Canadian executive, is expected. The number of operators in a booth was the chief point of contention, and it is now expected that the new contracts will be negotiated satisfactorily.

Table Sunday Measure

CAMBRIDGE, O., Sept. 29.—An ordinance to legalize the showing of pictures on Sunday was tabled at its final reading by the City Council after having been passed by a 4 to 3 vote at two previous readings. The measure, vigorously opposed by church and religious groups, was designed to "prohibit the showing of pictures before noon and between 6:30 and 8:30 P. M. on Sundays."

There is a possibility that the proposal will be submitted to a referendum.

Sunday Films Banned

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Sept. 29.—The Board of Aldermen has decided that Sunday films will not be permitted in Goldsboro.

Palette Asks Pact End

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Another of the growing number of suits affecting film players and their agents reached court this week when Eugene Palette petitioned for cancellation of his managerial contract with John Zanft, Ltd., Inc., agency.

M-G-M Signs Huston

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—Walter Huston has been signed by M-G-M to play the lead in "Benefits Forged," a Civil War story. It will be his first film role since "Dodsworth."

Illinois Allied Asks B & K Monopoly Suit

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Charging that Balaban & Katz have monopolized the theatre business here for years, Allied of Illinois is planning a legal attack on the circuit alleging that B. & K. has dictated clearance systems and arranged releases to conform to its own desires.

The attitude of exhibitors at today's meeting appeared to be determined and it is felt that they are serious in their intention to press the monopoly suit unless B. & K. agrees to eliminate duals.

A conference with members of the operators' union was held this afternoon at which a five per cent wage increase was discussed. Exhibitors are refusing to go beyond this figure.

Kuykendall May Act In Paramount Strike

T.O. is an affiliate of the M.P.T.O.A. Despite the fact that the exhibitor organization won a legal victory in the course of the strike, they have made no effort to picket or otherwise demonstrate. Their efforts appear to be centered about the development of a buying combine where Paramount is concerned. Kuykendall is expected to confer with Lewen Pizor, president of the Philadelphia exhibitor group, and probably will leave over the weekend for a tour of various cities in the south and Pacific northwest.

Jap Planes Strafe Cameramen of U. S.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—Two Japanese planes bombed and used machine guns on a group of American cameramen here today. The men were accompanying a Chinese officer to the front near the North Station area.

The cameramen deserted their car and fled to a field, where a bomb landed within 200 yards of them. Then they were machine gunned before they could reach a dugout. There were no casualties. The men were Eric Mayell, Movietone News; Arthur Menken, Paramount News; Rudolfo Brandt, N.E.A., and H. S. Wong of News of the Day.

"U" to Sign Circuit Deal

Universal will close a deal with the McNeil Naify circuit today for the 1937-'38 lineup. It covers 62 situations. J. R. Grainger will sign for Universal, with William Heinemann and Barney Rose sitting in. R. A. McNeil and Mike Naify are acting for the circuit.

Monte Hance Resigns

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 29.—Monte Hance, manager of the Saenger, has resigned, effective in about a week. His successor has not been announced. Hance came here from Biloxi, Miss., about a year ago.

"Dead End" $7,000 In Houston Slump

HOUSTON, Sept. 29.—Three features held their own in the box-office lineup, each breaking par in a week of sub-normal business due to public schools and college openings. These were "Dead End," which had a take of $7,000 at Loew's State; "Double or Nothing," taking $7,000 at the Majestic, and "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938," grossing the same figures at the Metropolitan. Normal at each of the theatres is $7,000 for seven days.

The Kirby with a split week program had a take of $4,800, or $200 under par. The pictures were "Wild and Woolly" and "Imitation of Life." Total first run business was $25,800. Average is $26,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending Sept. 23:

"WILD AND WOOLLY" (20th-Fox) KIRBY—(1,450), 15c-35c, 4 days. Gross: $2,900. (Average, 7 days, $5,000)

"IMITATION OF LIFE" (Univ.) KIRBY—(1,450), 15c-35c, 3 days. Gross: $1,900. (Average, 7 days, $5,000)

"DEAD END" (U. A.) LOEW'S STATE—(2,700), 25c-50c, 7 days. Gross: $7,000. (Average, $7,000)

PARAMOUNT NEWSREEL

Celebrates 10th Anniversary

Inaugurates New Departure in Screen Reporting with "Voice Staff" of Nine Nationally Known Radio Commentators, headed by Gabriel Heatter.

GABRIEL HEATTER, Chief of Paramount Newsreel "Voice Staff." Vibrant, dynamic personality. No one better than he at mixing big news with colorful human-interest stories. Selected by Women's National Radio Committee of 20,000,000 club women as Radio News Commentator No. 1. Commercially sponsored by more evening advertisers than any other news commentator on the air.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

My dear Mr. Richard:

I learn with pleasure that your newsreel is celebrating its tenth anniversary.

Since the inception of newsreels, I have been a constant and interested observer of them. Their function has become more and more important.

Only through accurate and fairly presented news, regardless of its presentation on paper in print, or depicted upon the screen, can the public decide the questions of the day.

Efforts of the newsreel industry to meet these higher requirements are an asset to our country.

Very sincerely yours,

Franklin D. Roosevelt

Mr. A. J. Richard,
Editor, Paramount News,
New York, N. Y.

SIDNEY WALTON

JOSEPH BOLEY

MARK HAWLEY

Triumvirate to Cover Spot News. Trio of well known radio commentators will be the voices behind spot news for the Paramount Newsreel. These keen-voiced gentlemen are Sidney Walton, Joseph Boley and Mark Hawley. Walton at one time was identified with WBAL (Baltimore) as news editor and commentator. Later joined WHN (New York) where he wrote and presented his own news program. Boley was staff announcer for WJAS (Pittsburgh) and later at KQV. Hawley, with considerable experience as announcer on some of America's greatest stations, is now transatlantic news commentator over WOR, with largest local audience in the country.

BOB CARTER covers horse racing. Started life as an aviator. Did about ten years of newspaper work. Has announced sports, special events and news at WODA, WNJ, WOV, WIP. Now assistant chief on WMCA.

FRANK KNIGHT owns the "voice" that will report foreign stories, especially those from the British Empire. Handles important air programs for WOR and the Mutual System, and is a keen student of international politics.

GREGORY ABBOTT will specialize on disasters, war and tragedy. Has been with the Paramount Newsreel since 1931. Has also been announcer on radio stations WOR and WMCA. When he's not describing events for the newsreel, he spends his time singing and composing songs in connection with his work as a church soloist.

BILL SLATER owns the "voice" behind the football games. Has been doing sports broadcasting for more than seven years, and is rated as an expert commentator on track and field events, baseball, hockey, boxing, football, basketball, polo, swimming and tennis. For past three years has broadcast all major football games over NBC.

JOE BOLTON will cover baseball, track events, college athletics. Is sports announcer for WCAU (Philadelphia) and staff announcer at WOR (New York). Has large following for his own program—"The Man About Town." Varies the monotony of life by Mc-ing nationally sponsored radio programs.

"PARAMOUNT NEWSREEL, as always, concentrates on service"...

"Service above everything else," states Paramount Newsreel Editor A. J. Richard, as his organization starts second decade of achievement.

"We believe exhibitors and the public want news presentation to be the primary function of a newsreel. We are not departmentalizing the news. We have selected these nine specialists from radio because we feel that their voices will lend added impetus and audience interest to photographed news happenings."

FCC Approves Extension of Air Licenses

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The F.C.C. has licensed the new station, WJRD, constructed by James R. Doss, Jr., at Tuscaloosa, Ala., to operate on 1,200 kilocycles with 250 watts power, daytime only.

The commission also granted a number of stations one-month extensions of license, among them WWSW, Pittsburgh; KMAC, San Antonio; WBRC, Birmingham; WHIO, Dayton; KVOR, Colorado Springs; WJBO, Baton Rouge; WNBZ, Saranac Lake; WLBL, Stevens Point, Wis.; KGBU, Ketchikan, Alaska; WGRG, New Albany, Ind., and WTNJ, Trenton.

At its weekly meeting, the broadcast division ordered hearings held on the applications of Arlington Radio Service, Inc., for a new 1,150-kilocycle, 1,000-watt daytime station at Arlington, Va.; Roberts-McNab Co., for a 1,210-kilocycle station at Livingston, Mont., 100 watts night, 250 watts day; Allen R. DuMont Laboratories, Inc., for a television station at Upper Montclair, N. J.; W. H. Kindig for a 710-kilocycle, 500-watt station at Hollywood, using the facilities of KMPC, Beverly Hills, and WMBG, Richmond, Va., for increase of power from 500 to 1,000 watts; WRTD, Richmond, Va., to change frequency from 1,500 to 1,050 kilocycles and increase power from 100 to 500 watts.

Increases Granted

Acting upon examiners' reports, the commission granted the application of WNBC, New Britain, Conn., to increase day power from 250 to 1,000 watts; WLB, Minneapolis, to change frequency from 1,250 to 760 kilocycles and increase day power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts, and WCAI, Northfield, Minn., to change frequency from 1,250 to 760 kilocycles and increase day power from 2,500 to 5,000 watts, and denied applications of the Rapids Broadcasting Co., for a new station at Cedar Rapids, and WTCN, Minneapolis, for extension of operating time. The commission also dismissed application of the Honolulu Broadcasting Co. for a new station at Honolulu.

Three New Stations Sought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The F.C.C. has received applications for three new broadcasting stations, the Sentinel Broadcasting Corp., asking for a 620-kilocycle, 500-watt station at Syracuse; the Piedmont Broadcasting Corp., for a 1,500-kilocycle, 100-watt, daytime station at Salisbury, N. C., and the Mountain Top Trans Radio Corp., for a 1,370-kilocycle station at Denver, 100 watts night, 250 watts day.

Chicago Program to Test Out Telepathy

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—What men call "hunch," what women call "intuition" and what science calls telepathy, was divulged as the nature of the programs being broadcast over the NBC-Blue network at 9:00 P.M., C.S.T., on Sundays by the Zenith Foundation.

Commander E. F. McDonald, Jr., president of the Zenith Radio Corp., entertained members of the press on his yacht Mizpah on Lake Michigan last Sunday night. The so-called "premiere" of this program was a feature of the party at which McDonald explained the reasons for this unusual type of program.

"We plan to entertain the public by making it think," McDonald stated. "If our program succeeds we will continue it for several years if the occasion demands. Much interest has been shown in telepathy for years, but never before has it been brought out for comprehensive consideration by the general public."

The Zenith Foundation is working out the programs under the supervision of university scientists. Listeners are asked to cooperate in order to help determine the nature of telepathy. Different experiments are being worked out each week and the idea is to dramatize them so they will be both educational and entertaining.

Last Sunday's experiment dealt with the selection of two colors, white or black. Ten senders, who concentrated on the machine-selected colors, were stationed in the studios and the radio audience was asked to write down and send in, the color they had in mind after each selection. These results will be tabulated and broadcast next week. By scientific calculation it is possible to determine the effect of such tests.

Star Radio Signs 14 Stations

Star Radio Programs, Inc., this week has signed 14 new stations for its women's program series, "Good Morning, Neighbor." Requests of several stations for the program have been declined because priority rights for the show had already been granted in their areas.

Star has just signed Edith Barnwell to write a special series of programs, the nature of which will be announced within two or three weeks.

Mutual-BBC Deal

A new agreement has been effected between Mutual and the B.B.C., thus affording Mutual on its third anniversary equal recognition with other American networks in releasing and exchanging programs in England and this country.

Tom Jackson Named Manager of WGPC

ALBANY, Ga., Sept. 29.—Tom Jackson, former program director of WRBI, Columbus, Ga., has been named manager of WGPC, in this city. Bob Finch, former manager of the Albany baseball team, has been made commercial manager of the station.

logue and the high spots of both orchestral and vocal music from the film's score. Other Detroit stations airing the program include WWJ, WJR, WMBC and WJBK.

The Butterfield Circuit ties in with spot announcements at the close of the program on the local stations in Lansing, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Bay City, Battle Creek, Flint and other cities. Each localized announcement includes the opening date and name of the theatre where the picture will be shown.

Trailers on the screens of the United Detroit Theatres in Detroit and the Butterfield houses throughout the state call attention to the program, as do special newspaper ads which are used on the radio pages of all local daily newspapers.

W. B.-Lucky Program About Set—McAvity

for the first time that the studio heads approved of their end of the deal which would have Warner stars and musical talent and scripts on other programs.

McAvity is here lining up writers and talent for the first of the programs to be waxed for approval by American Tobacco Co. He also revealed that he would be stationed here permanently as head of radio activities of Lord & Thomas.

The Warner show, if approved, would replace "The Lucky Strike Hit Parade" on the NBC-Red Wednesdays and would be one hour long. Dick Powell and Leo Forbstein, studio musical director, would be permanent features of the program with other lot talent utilized from time to time.

Don Becker of Transamerican has taken offices at the Warner lot to help arrange the show and waxing, calling in the service of Major Nathan Levinson, studio sound department head. Recording will be finished in about three weeks.

McAvity admitted that several other film studios are seeking other outlets for their talent but said that no definite deals have been considered. His moving out here on the coast however, is an indication that Lord & Thomas will attempt to swing other huge film-radio deals.

Concerning Pepsodent, McAvity said that no successor to Amos 'n' Andy has been chosen yet but that it was possible that a film personality would get the nod.

Renew "Hit Parade"

The American Tobacco Co., through Lord & Thomas, has renewed its CBS "Hit Parade" for another 13 weeks, effective Nov. 6. The series is heard over 91 stations, Saturdays from 10 to 10:45 P. M.

Douglas Romine Joins KARK

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 29.—Douglas Romine, formerly on KLZ, Denver, and KVOO, Tulsa, is the newest addition to the KARK announcing staff.

New Shows on the Air

Cantor and Family

Eddie Cantor, still advertising Texaco gasoline, his wife, Ida, and his five daughters, returned as the "mayor" of "Texaco Town" last night, to the huge delight of the studio audience.

This department knows better, of course, but if it didn't it would wager a quid or two that the Cantor studio audiences are hand-picked. They laugh and howl and applaud at anything the comedian says or does. No man can be that terrific. They even gave Eddie a hand when, midway in the program, he said he was about to pause to allow Jimmy Wallington to deliver a commercial.

Perhaps it is because Cantor plays up to his studio audience as much as he does. A sketch last night had Pinky Tomlin acting as a baby, and Eddie was prepared with real props—a baby cap, a high chair, even the bowl of gruel. The studio audience rocked with glee, but we didn't and neither did the audience at large, we suspect.

Present with Cantor at last night's opening were Deanna Durbin, Jacques Renard's orchestra, Wallington, and Helen Troy (Saymore Saymore). Deanna offered the difficult aria from Madame Butterfly, "One Fine Day." She rendered it beautifully. Pinky Tomlin, in addition to stooging, collaborated with Eddie in offering a song from his forthcoming picture, "Ali Baba."

"Texaco Town" is offered Wednesdays from 8:30 to 9 P. M. over CBS. Buchanan & Co. is the agency.

Eddie Duchin for Arden

Eddie Duchin, a busy young maestro with two commercials and one sustaining series, bowed in last night for the second time this week with a sponsored program—"Hour of Romance" for Elizabeth Arden cosmetics.

The series is a straightforward popular music show, with the Duchin orchestra offering melodies in a finished, beautifully orchestrated style. His numbers last night included "The Loveliness of You," "My Cabin of Dreams," "Whispers in the Dark," "Some of These Days," "Stop, You're Breaking My Heart," "Hasta Manana," and "Huguette Waltz." Stanley Worth is the vocalist. Elizabeth Arden was present to offer a toney commercial.

"Hour of Romance" is broadcast from 8 to 8:30 P. M. on the NBC-Blue. The agency is Cecil, Warwick & Legler.

"Camel Caravan"

The new "Camel Caravan," ballyhooed as radio's first "double feature" program, comes from Hollywood the first half-hour, with Jack Oakie and an extensive supporting cast, while Benny Goodman's band "swinging" from the east, consumes the final 30 minutes.

In a flash preview, this department has already stated that the Oakie portion of the show blew hot and cold alternately, but that principally its efforts were puerile. The comedy was far from being hilarious and too much time was consumed in laying the ground work for the sketch, resulting in long stretches of dialogue barren of even a half-born chuckle. We had been led to believe that the script was the work of George Marion, Jr., who is rated as one of the better Hollywood writers, but have just learned that, for some reason or other, Marion has severed his connection with the program and that the stint was turned out by Milt Gross, the writer-cartoonist. We have great respect for Gross' ability, but his efforts will have to improve. Stuart Erwin's stint was of the infinitesimal variety and, as a consequence, it is almost impossible to determine his worth to the program.

The Goodman swing band thumps noisily and brassily, but unquestionably he has a great audience.

"Camel Caravan," sponsored by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Corp., is offered Tuesdays from 9:30 to 10:30 P. M. over CBS. William Esty is the agency.

General Hugh S. Johnson

General Hugh S. Johnson, never the one to observe the niceties of speech, delivered a gruff and unpretty talk on the horrors of war in his second air appearance for Grove Laboratories over NBC. His compelling personality comes over the microphone in thunderous fashion, but his voice betrays him badly.

The General started his talk by explaining in authoritative fashion the purpose behind the Rome-Berlin axis, then plunged swiftly into the causes for the wars now raging in Spain and China. His verbal picture of the ugliness of war was the highlight of his 15-minute program. Romantic illusions about war, he said, pass away quickly when one sees or has seen "the bowels of soldiers blown out." NBC censors no doubt will have to battle the General on every script, but our money is on the General.

As for the General's voice, it plays him a bad trick. We don't mean to be funny, but so help us, he sounds enough like Joe Penner, minus the trick Penner catch phrases, to be Joe's brother!

General Johnson is presented over the NBC-Blue, Mondays and Thursdays from 8 to 8:15 P. M., Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10 to 10:15 P. M. Stack-Goble is the agency.

"Famous Jury Trials"

"Famous Jury Trials," a highly popular radio series which depicts actual court room cases save that the characters are guised with fictitious names, returned to WOR and WGN of the Mutual network Monday evening with a gory, but effectively dramatized, tale of a murder. It took little imagination to tie up the dramatization with a recent and notoriously publicized crime in the metropolitan area, wherein a mother who disappeared of an affair between her daughter and a neighbor was slain with a hatchet by the boy and girl.

The grim, rigidly routinized atmosphere of the court room is faithfully retained throughout these dramatizations, making for exciting listening. Credit for this is due to Martin H. Young, an ex-jurist, who supervises the script for the sponsor.

It's rather unfortunate that a show as invariably enjoyable as this one is should be plagued with one of the worst cases of commercialitis extant. The commercials are excessively long and are as insistent almost as a sergeant's order to a buck private in the army. If the sponsor takes our advice, he'll shorten and tone down the sales blurbs. "Famous Jury Trials," incidentally, last season made a more than excellent showing in the Fame and MOTION PICTURE DAILY program popularity poll.

The series is sponsored by the Mennen Co. Kiesewetter & Co., is the agency. Aired Mondays from 10 to 10:45 P. M. BANNER

"Flicker Fancies in Tea Time Tempo"

Another of those Hollywood-film comment programs that is likely to sicken the discerning but which may be found engrossing by that great audience whose mental age hovers around three years. Frank Eugene handles the material.

Eugene reviews films by his own unique traffic light system using red, yellow, green and gold in that order. He devoted much of yesterday's time to Mary Astor's chance to land a leading role in Deanna Durbin's next picture. He hinted on various obstacles that may come Miss Astor's way. His method of delivery is sing-songish and he involves poetic phrases in his rhetoric that may sound well to some fans, but which otherwise ring off-key. And the first hundred listeners writing in will get a photo of Ronald Colman free. The period is a sustainer heard Tuesday and Thursday from 3:15 to 3:30 P. M. over WNEW. P.

"Bachelor's Children"

Perhaps the point in broadcasting this script period so early is to hint to the housewife that the product sponsored will come in handy as she goes about her tasks. It goes on at 9:45 A. M. and concludes at 10 A. M.

The story is one of those routine things about a kindly doctor and his circle of friends. Their problems are his and he brings general understanding to all concerned. Other medicos also enter the picture with professional and romantic interests. The story settles around "Dr. Bob's" announcement that he would like to cure Vivian White, a young woman who has been crippled for nine years. The story in ensuing broadcasts doubtless will revolve around that angle.

It is rather interesting and, no doubt, will find many listeners. Old Dutch Cleanser sponsors over CBS each morning. Roach, Williams & Cunningham is the agency. P.

"Little Orphan Annie"

The syndicated cartoon strip is a good radio serial for the children. The adventures and developments in the script are well done and handled. The sound effects fit perfectly. The sound of the train arriving and departing on yesterday's period was realistic background for the dramatic structure of the story.

Annie does it all for Ovaltine. The program goes out over the NBC-Red network from Chicago every weekday from 5:45 to 6 P. M. P.

"Young Widdler Jones"

The plight of Ellen Jones and her two children is the story in this transcribed series which is heard daily over Mutual from 4:15 to 4:30 P. M. California Syrup of Figs sponsors.

It is rudimentary stuff set in a small town. The young widow bakes cakes and makes candy to keep ahead of the wolf. She cannot repay borrowed money and her neighborly creditors lurk around her house gossiping about the proposal of marriage she received from Herbert Temple, the richest man in Simpsonville. Another suitor is Peter Turner. That briefly outlines the material which is performed well and should draw a certain amount of interest. Blackett-Sample-Hummert handles the account. P.

M-G-M "Censorship" Seen for Programs

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—The first indication of M-G-M's new policy of maintaining a watchful eye over the outside radio commitments of its players came to the fore today with Bill Bacher, producing next Sunday's Vicks program starring Jeanette MacDonald, "loaned" to Morse International Agency to produce "The Student Prince," Miss MacDonald's Sunday vehicle.

This supposedly is in line with an approximate "censorship" by M-G-M of programs in which top players appear.

A. C. A. Recognition Fight Resumes Today

The fight for recognition of the American Communications Association, a C.I.O. affiliate, to represent technical employees of CBS in owned and operated stations, currently being waged before trial examiner H. R. Korey of the National Labor Relations Board, was adjourned until today after both sides had entered stipulations.

Sidney E. Cohen, counsel to the A.C.A., said that he had entered charges against CBS, alleging that the network had given financial aid to the Associated Broadcast Technicians, allegedly a company union. The latter organization, formerly known as Associated Columbia Broadcast Technicians, now holds a contract from CBS. Cohen has asked that the A.C.A., which formerly was known as the American Radio Telegraphists Association, be certified as the collective bargaining agency of the technical staff of WABC. The hearing will be resumed this morning.

MCA Opens Frisco Office

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Preparing well in advance for an increase in dance bookings, expected during the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, offices have been opened here by Music Corp. of America.

Lyle Thayer will be local manager, located in the NBC Bldg. His assistant will be Dorsey Forest, until recently manager of Hal Kemp's band. Opening of the local office brings the M.C.A. branches to six in the United States.

English Labor Opposes Alien Infiltrations

also said that 80 per cent of the world trade in films was controlled by American companies. He urged the necessity of preventing "American domination" of the British production industry.

The White Paper, forecasting the Government's scheme for the new Films Act, was declared inadequate by O'Brien and by G. Elvin, for the technicians, who said British film workers had not had to square deal because of the foreign control of the industry.

There was opposition to the resolution, Secretary Bradfield of the Shop Assistants' Union, praising American films which had attacked British imperialism and revolutionary Russian films.

Findings Authoritative

The Trade Union Congress is the annual delegate meeting of all British trade unions, and its resolutions are regarded as indicating the official political policy of labor.

The endorsement of the N.A.T.K.E.-A.C.T. motion was expected. It indicates that labor members in the House of Commons may generally be found in support of the attitude, in regard to the new Films Act, expressed by the independent producers and, to some extent, by the C.E.A. Both these interests want specific protection for native production, as opposed to production in England by foreign companies, and favor increased Government supervision as one of the means by which it may be obtained.

British Film Plans Up to Jack Warner

Teddington, which came into the foreign field under his control.

"We are in business at Teddington to make pictures for profit. We are doing the best we know how there, to give British exhibition value to British exhibitors, and our pictures are not just made to comply with quota legislation, though it does so comply.

"The act was passed to aid British exhibitors among others and we figure exhibitors will support British films made honestly to offer exhibition value. The record of Teddington in that respect speaks for itself. It was the first attempt on the part of an American company to produce instead of buying British films and it has been a much more successful policy than if Max Milder and Dave Griffiths had had to search here, there, and everywhere for their British pictures. So far there has been no decision to make pictures in England for world distribution. If Warner does so decide it will not be half done."

The Warner Theatre, on the site of Daly's, would probably open in May, said Morris. Warners' took over the building on Sept. 29. The house will be a 2,000-seater, he said, and will follow a long-run policy with Warner products. Warner-British films would also be shown.

Thompson Hears Guild Objections

Kenneth Thompson, executive secretary of the Screen Actors' Guild, and Mrs. Florence Marston of the guild office here, yesterday heard the objections of Mentone Prod., Educational and the March of Time to signing agreement with the guild.

It was decided to bring the March of Time contention that it is a news-reel and thus not subject to the guild stipulations, before the full board of directors of the guild in Hollywood for decision. Educational's objections were described as of minor importance and will be placed before an arbitration committee, also on the coast, which will be composed of neutral representatives of the guild and the producers. No agreement could be reached in the case of Mentone, and the unit was placed on the unfair list, which means in effect that no member of the guild or any other talent organization affiliated with the guild may work for Mentone.

There was no discussion of the I.A.T.S.E. jurisdictional claims, Thompson said, and he sees no likelihood that the matter will be brought up as far as he is concerned. The guild takes the position that the situation is non-existent, since it has not been officially informed of the I.A. demands. Thompson will leave for the coast by automobile tomorrow or Saturday.

Expect Strike End Today

Final settlement of the Fleischer studio strike was delayed again yesterday, despite the fact that all major considerations involved in the settlement have been approved by both sides. The remaining minor details will be ironed out and the agreements signed today, it was predicted by representatives of both the studio and the striking Commercial Artists & Designers Union.

Delay 306 Conference

A meeting between representatives of major circuits and Local 306 to discuss new terms for the next two years in the operators' agreement was postponed yesterday until early next week. Meanwhile, projectionists have been given a 10 per cent increase, retroactive to Sept. 1.

Rosenzweig-Gulkis To Build 2 Houses

Dave Rosenzweig and Julius Gulkis will shortly begin construction of two new theatres on Long Island. Both will be 600-seat houses.

The first will be built at Parsons Boulevard near Grand Central Parkway in Jamaica, and the second will be at Northern Boulevard and 238th St., Flushing. Plans for the first have been completed and A. Sandbloom is now drafting those for the second.

The two new additions will make eight houses in which Rosenzweig will be interested.

Randforce will open the new Rainbow in the Ten Eyck development in Brooklyn late next month. This will make 49 for the circuit. Although RKO recently took over operation of the Republic, Brooklyn, Randforce retains a 50 per cent interest.

Decision in Dallas Appeal Coming Soon and until it has been distributors will remain uncertain of their future rights in regard to the contract. If the decree permits distributors to enter into contracts such as those in question, when not acting in concert, there is little likelihood that an appeal will be taken to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. If, however, the decree finds the contract itself to be illegal, and prohibits any individual distributor from entering into such a contract, it is believed that several distribution companies will seek an appeal to obtain a better definition of their individual rights. The decree is expected to be entered within the next few days.

Gazette Amends Complaint

The National Police Gazette changed its $50,000 suit based on "Klondike Annie" against Paramount Pictures from a copyright infringement action to a libel suit by filing an amended complaint in the U. S. District Court yesterday. One of the scenes in "Klondike Annie" showed Miss West reading a copy of the Police Gazette. The complaint sets forth that Miss West portrayed a lewd and indecent woman and that the impression was created that the Gazette is read by persons "of low and vulgar taste." It is alleged that a loss in circulation resulted.

O'Connor Fees Awarded

Basil O'Connor, attorney for Milton C. Weisman, receiver of the Fox Theatres Corp., was awarded $7,525 for legal fees for services rendered for the receivership for the six-month period ending June 30 by Circuit Judge Martin T. Manton in the U. S. District Court yesterday.

O'Connor disclosed in his petition for allowance that the $1,250,000 rent claim of the Lexington Ave. & 59th Street Corp. has been compromised for $100,000. He also stated that the first five per cent dividend to creditors totalled $291,942.

Bartholomew Pact Holds

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—The validity of M-G-M's contract with Freddie Bartholomew has been upheld by the Superior Court and a temporary injunction has been granted preventing him from working for any other studio until trial of the company's demand for a permanent injunction.
